It will try to write you a few lines this morning. I am feeling very well. It is raining here, so we haven't much to do. My Doctor gave me a light duty slip and said it would take time before I get to feeling better. If I do much I have spells with my nerves. I am a good way from the front lines so should get better soon.

Well I guess you all are cutting tobacco and corn now. It won't be long till winter in Kentucky, then I guess Pop can go up town and run for mayor, or raise a winter crop by the stove, they are the best kind as it only takes a little tongue work, and Pop has plenty of that.

The war news seems to be good today, maybe it won't last much longer.

This day makes me think of when we used to live up the branch and we would be stripping tobacco. Did the man on the farm have a good crop this year like you always had?

I guess you all have a lot of fruit this year. The crops here are mostly wheat and grapes.

I am out of the hospital and in a tent close by. I haven't received any mail since I left the hospital, but it should be coming in now.

I went to the show the last three nights and Sunday I went to church both morning and evening. You should see the crowd we have at church 5,000 or more.

There are mountains all around our tents, they are nice to look at but I would rather be home looking at the hills.

I don't know how long I will be here, but maybe it will be over soon. I will close with lots of love,
Jesse

LETTER TO EDITOR

The Editor received the following letter from Leon Pennington who is stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss.

Dear Mr. Meadows

Just few lines tonight to say "Hello." How are things going with you and the Advertiser? I'm getting along fine and like Camp Shelby.

Kentucky Wildcats Tackle Carnegie Tech Saturday Afternoon at Lexington

DOC FERRELL GUARD

LEWIS McDONALD CENTER

HUGH SHANNON TACKLE

KENTUCKY LINE STALWARTS—Mainstay along the front row of Kentucky's football defense this year will be Hugh Shannon, 215-pound tackle from Huntington, W. Va.; Doc Ferrell, 210-pound guard from Richmond, Ky.; Henry Paul, 220-pound tackle from Paducah, Ky., and Louis McDonald, 190-pound freshman center, also from Paducah.

OAK RIDGE

It seems that all the good war news is coming at once and that all of our local boys in service are either being heard from regularly or many of them who have been overseas and others too are getting furloughs.

Seaman Arnold Perry arrived home September 22, after serving in the Pacific area. All his friends and relatives were glad to see him after all these months. He has 18 days.

Seaman Eld Richardson has now arrived home after serving overseas also. He has served in the Navy Air Corps in England. He has 30 days. Jimmy Gerth of the U. S. Navy has arrived home after service overseas. He has been to Trinidad.

Johnny Piper arrived home from Pearl Harbor on Wednesday. He was welcomed by his wife Pat and little son, Johnny Jr. whom he had never seen. He has been transferred to Washington as a civilian worker in the Navy Yards.

Miss Jill Yates is now settled in her new home at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. She is attending the Oak Ridge High School there.

Misses Rose Recker, Dorothy Lieberman, Jean Bindel and Henry Bindel and Donald Newson attended the Rodeo at Crosley Field last Sunday. Henry Bindel and Donald Newson also attended the "Big G" on Saturday.

NAVY

The Navy plans 600,000 new inductions this fiscal year so that its total strength, by July, 1945, will be 3,308,000.

PLEASE DON'T FORGET

About My Eyes!

"I know you older folks are busier than you ever were before. But I've only got one pair of eyes—and if you don't help me take care of them, you and I may both regret it some day."

It's a fact that many people are too busy—and too worried to take the simple precautions that help conserve eyesight. Here are four easy rules anyone can follow:

- 1 Do all reading, studying, sewing or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.
- 2 Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.
- 3 Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your work or book. Shadows strain eyes.
- 4 Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision will be greatly helped with proper glasses.

When the war is over we are all going to have Better Light for Better Sight. In the meantime, take care of your eyes, but don't waste light.

JESUS' PROGRAM FOR MEETING LIFE'S PROBLEMS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 4:1-4; 6:21-34; Luke 4:1-13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God—Matt. 4:4.

Problems, sorrows, needs, anxieties—how they press in on mankind from every direction. What is he to do about them? He cannot meet them in his own strength. They worry him almost to the point of distraction. What shall he do?

There is just one answer, and it is blessedly simple and completely satisfying. Take your burdens to the Lord and leave them there! Cast all your care upon Him, for He careth for you (1 Pet. 5:7).

From the teachings of Jesus our lesson tells us why and how we may do this. Let us not miss its glorious and convincing message.

I. We Can Overcome Temptation Through Christ Matt. (4:1-4)

Temptation is the common lot of all mankind (1 Cor. 10:13). The strongest and most noble of men are subject to it. Angels were tempted, and our scripture reveals that even Jesus was tempted. We recognize that Jesus was tempted as the Messiah (vv. 3, 4) and as one without sin (Heb. 4:15), but it is also true that He was tempted in all points as we are, apart from sin, and that we may learn from His temptation how we may meet and overcome our temptations.

We learn of our Lord that temptations may be victoriously overcome—

1. By the right use of Scripture. If Jesus needed that weapon, how can we do without it? But how can we use Scripture if we do not study it and hide it in our hearts?
2. By dependence on God. Every Scripture used by Jesus honored God. We cannot fight Satan in our own strength. To attempt to do so is to fail utterly. The real victory for the Christian is to bring Satan back to the cross where Christ won a decisive victory over him.
3. By denouncing Satan. Jesus sent him on his way. We may do the same in Jesus' name. It is always a serious error to try to argue with Satan or to engage in any discussion with him. Let us meet him with Scripture and say "Get thee hence."

II. We Can Learn to Trust God for our Daily Needs (Matt. 6:31-34).
Some want to be rich. Their folly is made clear in verses 19-24. But then there are some who while not wanting to be rich, are in constant anxiety about food and raiment for the morrow.

What is the answer of the Lord Jesus? Consider the birds. They are not able to work, nor are they able to nav, but God feeds them. Consider the lilies. They grow, they flourish, they are clothed in glory, and they are not able to work, nor are they able to nav, but God feeds them.

Generally Speaking

By NADINE HARKINS
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

GENERALLY speaking, this is a daffy war. I mean like Joe O'Brien, for instance. Back in the States he always groused about the British and poked fun at the lace curtains in Buckingham Palace and the changing of the guard and so forth. Then he joins up and where does the Army send him but straight across the big drink smack into the heart of London.

And in nothing flat Joe's a one-man Chamber of Commerce for the island, a booster for Britain de luxe. He gets to attend Queen Mary on a personal tour and winds up thinking he's the Prince Consort. Now Joe writes he's marrying the sweetest girl in the world, a little English schoolteacher. I suppose when these shooting galleries empty and we all go home Joe'll be wearing a monocle and calling his pals old boys, old sock, old top.

Yeah, daffy war. Take me, for instance. Generally speaking, I'm no dope. I mean a guy's gotta have a little gray matter to get to be a corporal, don't he? So maybe I don't warm up to Attu like Joe does to England. I still don't make no bones about it much, even if it ain't no hot-air furnace. I just want to be a good soldier, wash out these Nipples and get home to Barbara.

I am thinking of Barbara that night in the ice-cold foxhole with the stars big as kites and the night so still. She sure is a sweet kid and the best jiterbug in the gang. Generally speaking, I'm not the complaining type, but we've been crouched here too long to suit me, trying to outsmart a Jap trap on the side of the snowy slope below us. Thinking of Barbara sort of warms me up, and when I get warmed up, I get mad. I mean I keep thinking about Barbara and the gang and the good times we had down at the roller-skating rink or the dance palace or Jake's Spa with the juke box moaning a hot

Then, too, let us learn of Him that we are to serve those who are most needy and possibly neglected, serving their physical needs, but above all bringing to them the light of God's redeeming grace.

Berries Can Be Grown On Fertile, Drained Soil

Any gardener that has fertile soil, well-drained and deep, can grow fine crops of strawberries and raspberries. If winter temperatures go down to minus 20 degrees, a hardy variety of raspberry is the only safe one to plant.

Spring planting of both kinds of berries should be as early as the ground can be worked. The soil should be made moist, well, and tilled thoroughly before the plants are set. It is best to let the soil settle for a few days after tillage before planting strawberries. Buy or set only sturdy young runner plants of strawberries with white or straw-colored roots. Black roots denote old plants. Get disease-free raspberry plants from an inspected nursery, to avoid mosaic and other pests that reduce yields.

Plant red raspberries 3 feet apart in rows 7 feet apart; black and purple raspberries 3 or 4 feet apart in rows 7 or 8 feet apart. Set the plants 2 or 3 inches deeper than they stood in the nursery. Plant strawberries as deep as they grew before, 1 1/2 feet apart in the row, in rows 3 to 3 1/2 feet apart. Firm the soil around the roots so a quick jerk on a leaf stem breaks the stem instead of pulling up the plant.

Many Accidents Caused by Vehicles Hitting Trains

Approximately 30 per cent of highway-railroad grade-crossing accidents in 1943 were caused by a passenger automobile, motor bus, truck, or motorcycle being driven into the side of a train, it is disclosed in a report issued by the bureau of airport economics and statistics of the Interstate Commerce commission.

Of the 3,206 highway-railroad grade-crossing accidents that took place last year, the report shows that 937 resulted from such causes with 236 persons being killed and 1,400 injured.

The digest shows that 235 of these accidents occurred in daylight, whereas 702 took place during the dark. "Daylight" and "dark" are the terms used in the analysis and are not based upon the particular hour.

The factor of limited visibility is reflected in the number of accidents in which a motor vehicle was driven into the side of a train after dark. Seventy-five per cent of these accidents occurred after dark, causing about 70 per cent of the fatal and 77 per cent of the non-fatal injuries.

Seed Corn
High quality seed corn stored in a dry place is practically as good for planting after one year as new seed. However, unless seed corn is of high quality, it will lose in yield, ability to stand up to one year's storage, according to G. H. Duncan of the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

"Reduction in yield from old seed is caused by a decrease in field stand and also to a less extent by a lowered yield per plant. Therefore, a germination test which indicates a high viability and strong seedling vigor is a safe guarantee that one-year-old seed is good to use."

"Planting in a warm soil favors the success of old seed. So for replanting purposes and for late planting good seed corn held over a year will give satisfactory results," Duncan said.

U. S. Capitals
New York City was the first United States capital under the Constitution. It was moved to Philadelphia on December 6, 1790, remaining here until May 4, 1800. Washington, D. C., became the capital in November of that year. Various cities were meeting places of the continental congress and seat of the government during the Revolutionary war and until the founding of the national capital. They were: Philadelphia, September 5, 1774; Baltimore, Md., December 20, 1776; Philadelphia, March 4, 1777; Lancaster, September 27, 1777; York, September 30, 1777; Philadelphia, July 2, 1778; Princeton, N. J., June 30, 1783; Annapolis, Md., November 26, 1783; Trenton, N. J., November 1, 1784; New York, January 11, 1785.

First Raincoats
Rubber, now one of the world's most vitally needed products, remained unknown to Europe until the discovery and subsequent exploration of Caribbean America. The early Spanish settlers, unaccustomed to the tropical climate and heavy rains of Caribbean America, contrived to protect themselves from the inclement weather in a very ingenious manner. Noting that rubber as employed by the natives did not absorb water, these Spaniards in Mexico and other parts of the New World used the gum for waxing their canvas cloaks to make them water-resistant. And thus the first raincoats were born.

Castor Oil
Castor oil is now being used by chemists in the preparation of milady's favorite perfumes. A more important function of the oil, which is made from the seed of the castor plant, commonly found all over Middle America, is its use in the manufacture of inks, imitation leather and in dyeing cloth. Castor oil also is used in aviation and gunnery.

FLORENCE School News

The Florence baseball team will go to Burlington this week to play their first game. The boys have been working hard in practice and it looks as if we should have a very good team. The team is made up of high school boys who have been picked in the recent practice drills. Mr. Rodamer, the Burlington Principal has said that he is confident that his boys will give our a sound beating. Our boys are confident that he is wrong as he has never seen us. We intend to go to Burlington and beat them as soundly as they think they are going to beat us! Scott or Horton will go to the pitcher's box for us while Benson or Brown will throw them over for the Burlington nine.

THE BAND

Members of the Florence Band had their first meeting Tuesday, September 19. Mr. Dean Bloss, our director, had all students that were interested in music to meet in the music room. We are trying to make this our best year. We are having trouble in getting instruments. We should be glad if anyone having any to sell would inform a member of the band or Mr. Bloss.

JUNIOR GIRL RESERVE

The Junior Girl Reserve held their election of officers at their regular meeting this week. Jacqueline Goshorn was elected president; Nancy Bonar, Vice-president; Hazel Benton, Secretary and Carolyn Rouse, Treasurer.

The eighth grade welcomes three new girls to their class. They are: Sophia Utley from the Roosevelt School in Springfield, Ohio; Norma Jean Easton from Verona; and Juanita Baker from the County School of Constance.

Wednesday evening, the Hi-Y took the Senior Girl Reserve on a hike. Mrs. Reimer, our chaperon, didn't think it was wise for us to go for the weather had been misty all day but after much persuasion from the girls and boys, she relented and granted our request. We are grateful to Mr. and Mrs. William Loftin for the use of their woods for our camp fire. The Girl Reserve hopes to be able to entertain the Hi-Y very soon. Thanks to all fellows, we had a swell time.

With one exception, all participants in the wedding of Miss Frances Belle Poer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Poer, Covington and granddaughter of Mr. J. A. Farris of Walton, and Pfc. Fred Cleverly Vogel, which was performed with beautiful simplicity at 7 o'clock September 25th at the Wesley Gospel Center, Covington, were either students or former students at Asbury College, Wilmore, Ky.

The bridegroom is the son of Captain F. W. Vogel, with the U. S. Army in New Guinea, and Mrs. Vogel, of New York.

Dean J. B. Kenyon, of Asbury College, officiated at the impressive service.

Miss Virginia Poer was her sister's maid of honor and Mr. Bill Moon, of Santa Monica, Calif., was the best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for friends and family connections in Covington and friends of the couple from Asbury College.

SMALL GRAIN CROPS EXCELLENT

Small grain crops of rye, wheat, and barley are making excellent growth in the county, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Farmers in some instances, are already grazing early seedlings. Pasture from small grain seedlings gives promise of being of greatest value to the acute hay and roughage feed shortages.

Small grain crops may be seeded late as October 15th and occasionally later. The later seedings probably give larger yields of grain but less pasture. Grazing of early seedlings increases the grain yields.

Balbo rye remains the best small grain crop for grazing. A bushel per acre is considered enough seed if grass and clover crops are to be seeded as companion crops. Common rye and wheat (Thorne, one of best varieties) are the next best successful grains to seed. Barley on tobacco land seeded early also gives good results.

It is important that every farmer seed this fall a small grain crop of some kind on all his cultivated land of the past season.

NICHOLSON

Rev. W. T. Gardner has been called to the pastorate of the Bullsville Baptist Church.

Selman I-c Dick Bolen is enjoying his furlough at home, after several months in England.

THINKINGS DOINGS SEEINGS

By Ye Editor

Ye editor has not had much time for thinking—it's been mostly doing here of late—some weeks ago we lost our right hand man, Guy Olen, and we sure miss him—and right hand men are hard to find these days—but there are a few little things that have come to the attention of the old man's eyes.

As a little reminder to the different church groups who have their announcements in the Advertiser each week, that the time on most of them, we think, is wrong—won't each one send in a corrected list to us as soon as possible.

Our service board is now really a credit to our town and boys in service, but I think we should have some kind of dedication—I am sure with all the candidates making speeches everywhere we surely could at least get a senator to speak at a dedication—but all joking aside, it is a nice board and the ladies have done a nice job.

First, we received a letter from a lady the other day—not signed—asking for advice about "going out" with other men while her husband is in the Army—well, young lady (for you must be young to ask such a question) we are going to give you what we think is sound advice—if you "want" to go out with someone else while your husband is away, you go right ahead—for if you really want to go, you are not in love with your husband in the first place—and the quicker you find it out the better. Because we think that if you really love your husband (who is away fighting for your freedom) you will not have any desire whatever to go out with anyone else—we could not tell whether you were joking or not but for fear you were not, we gave you our sincere answer.

"Is Your Subscription Paid?" is a one-line ad that we run in a few places in our paper—just a gentle reminder to look at the date on the front of your paper—that's all.

They say we really missed a good time the other night when a lot of folks "surprised" Miss Daisy on her birthday—well, to tell the truth, my wife was sick and I was afraid to go where there were so many ladies by myself.

Overheard some ladies talking the other morning about the romantic scenes in "White Cliffs of Dover", and wondering why their husbands didn't act that way—well, maybe if their husbands had Irene Dunne or Betty Grable as a partner, he could do pretty good too! Huh?

To be truthful, we were a little frightened when we came to Walton because some people had told us that Walton people were a little "cold" to new inhabitants—but after about six months here, we can honestly say that we have never seen a more cordial town—and community.

We had wonderful response to our call for new correspondents a few months ago—but we want again to say that if there is any place in this section that does not have a correspondent, and you will accept the job, we will be more than glad to get the news—thanks!

TABACCO CROP WILL BE HARVESTED

Farmers are confident that with good weather this week, the tobacco crop would be saved, according to Will Smith, Farm Labor Assistant.

Approximately two-thirds of the crop has been harvested.

Farmers who have harvested their own crops are doing a wonderful job in helping neighbors. The local tobacco crop is rated as one of the largest on record and present indications are, it will weigh heavy when cured. Most farmers believe the color of the crop will not be as good as last year.

4-H CHAMPIONS COMPETE

OCTOBER 14th

Boone County 4-H club champions will compete for district 4-H championship honors at a conference to be held in Covington on October 14th, according to the County and Home Demonstration Agent's Offices. County champions will be selected from project record books turned in to the County Office this week.

Winners of the Northern Kentucky District Contests will compete for state honors. Champions in dairy, sheep, hogs, poultry, tobacco garden, labor service, clothing, foods, canning and room improvement will be selected.

PETE FRENCH . . . WHAS' announcer, sports reporter, vocalist and dramatic actor, is a favorite airborne artist. Television need hold no terrors for him. Pete's as easy on the eye as he is enchanting to the ear. Young, dark and handsome, wearing casual sports clothes and reflectively carrying a pipe, he glides smoothly into schedules, pinch hitting for others as easily as he handles his own.

Teamed with winsome Kitty Stewart at 5:30 daily, dramatizing listener's good luck stories, singing request songs, he'll MC a War Bond Show, plug for a newscaster, do commercials. The man with these cornerstone characteristics has been with us less than two years . . . hailing from Indianapolis where he attended Tech. High and Butler University. Pete rolled up a nice athletic record in school until he sustained a griddiron injury to his knee, which later caused the army to reject him.

French came to WHAS as an announcer, and it was only by chance that we learned about his voice and other musical abilities. He had been a radio entertainer before joining us. After a day on the air Pete relaxes by testing gas model airplanes which he designs, and he's doing research on radio control work that you'll hear more about later. They say you can't keep a good man down, and Pete French consistently takes to the air both at work and at play.

OUR FARM NEWS . . . . .

FARMERS URGED TO USE ONLY PUREBRED Sires

Farmers are urged to use only purebred sires of known high producing strains to produce their market livestock according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. High priced feed and probably more competition in profitable production following the war will demand more efficient livestock through which to market feed crops. There has been a tendency recently for many farmers to pay too little attention to the sire half of their herds.

Two great factors are bearing on the inherent quality of the livestock in the county. One of these factors is the breeder of purebred livestock whose job is to produce superior quality of stock of pure blood. The other is the producer of market stock. A good comparative example in crop production is the hybrid seed corn program.

Both the breeder and the market producer must get closer together and each profit more through increased cooperation and use of better sires if Boone County is either to maintain or improve her present rated high position in the livestock program. A few days ago a local Jersey breeder sent to the stock yards a fine young registered bull from high producing blood lines. This young sire should have improved 90% of the local herds. Scores of neighbors and nearby farmers were using less desirable herd sires, but were indifferent towards improvement.

The above example is only one that has happened many times the past year. The County Agent's Office is attempting to keep a list of breeders of better livestock in the county and is glad to assist producers of market livestock to locate better sires. Better sires mean not just registered or purebred, it means sires that will improve the herds on which they are used.

HENRY FARMERS TO GROW BALBO RYE

County Agent W. B. Howell says Henry county farmers will grow about 210 acres of balbo rye eligible for certification. Other farmers are planning extensive acreages that will not be certified. L. C. Smith is sowing 100 bushels of balbo rye.

Holders of lucky numbers received balbo rye and vetch seed, at a "produce and conserve feed" meeting attended by 102 farmers at Eminence. M. L. Orem, Campbellsville, won a first prize of two and a half bushels of balbo rye seed donated by D. Minor Maddox, New Castle. Other winners of rye seed, donated by Farmers Supply Company, Eminence, were Ernest Lancaster, Eminence and James Theobald, Louisville. Joel Clubb, Pleasureville, won 10 pounds of vetch seed given by Arthur Blackaby, Eminence.

FOUR GARMENTS FOR THE PRICE OF ONE

Four wool suitcases for the price of one proved the economy of home sewing to the women of Daviess county attending the annual meeting of the homemakers' association. Modeling the tailored garments Mrs. Fred Bratton of Whitesville had made, were her daughter, Charlotte, 15, wearing a gold flannel suit; two younger daughters 7 and 10, wearing tweed coats and Dutch hats, while Mrs. Bratton herself wore a black wool suit. Total cost of material for two suits, two coats and two hats, plus linings, buttons and other findings, was $48.75 or less than price of one suit comparable quality, reported Home Agent Venice M. Lovelady.

SOWS GRASS MIXTURE

J. G. Hieatt of Henry county this fall sowed 19 acres to barley and added 7 pounds of phosphate per acre, 7 pounds of alfalfa and 6 pounds of bluegrass to the acre. An additional 7 pounds of orchard grass seed will be sowed to the acre in February. Two tons of limestone and 350 pounds of phosphate were applied an acre. Phosphate also has been applied a few years ago. The field will be used at first for orchard grass seed production and later for pasture. County Agent W. B. Howell says the nitrogen added by the alfalfa should increase the yield of orchard grass seed.

4-H'ERS HELP TO FILL HOME JARS

Seventy-nine 4-H club members under 11 years old in Madison county, helped their mothers can this summer, when they worked 689 hours in picking vegetables, washing and preparing them, and otherwise helping to put up every available jar of food. Eighty-six members 11 years old or older, had canned 760 quarts by the latter part of August, according to Home Agent Sara T. Campbell. Oftentimes only a jar or two at a time could be canned because of dried-up gardens. Approximately 1,000 hours were devoted to canning by 4-H girls in the county.

FINDS BALBO RYE CROP PROFITABLE

The production of balbo rye seed was profitable for Lon Jarvis of Marshall county, as related by Pafm Agent H. E. Rothwell. Jarvis planted five and three-tenths acres which produced 130 bushels of seed. He sold 110 bushels to his neighbors at $2.75 per bushel, giving him an income of $302.50, in addition to the 20 bushels of seed which he saved for his own use. It is estimated that about twice as many farmers in the county will sow this crop this year, as it has proved to be one of the most profitable winter crops.

NEWSPAPER STORIES SAVE BENEFIT LOSS

At least two residents of Boone County are grateful to the press for a story which appeared some time ago, according to Mr. Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager of the Covington, Kentucky office of the Social Security Board explaining why claims for old-age and survivors insurance should be filed promptly.

The first person who saved money by calling the Board is still employed but his present earnings are considerably less than his average earning up to the end of 1942. By applying now, he has prevented a reduction in monthly insurance payments of as much as $5.00 per month (depending on the length of time he continues to work at the reduced rate).

The second was a widow who would have lost more than $50 if she had called at the office one week later than she did. She told the Board employee who interviewed her that she was going to wait until fall, since her husband's insurance was more than enough to provide for her until then.

If she had waited until fall to apply for payments for herself and her three children, she would have lost three months' payments, or more than $150 in all.

Other counties in the area serviced by the Covington, Kentucky office of the Board have produced similar situations. Mr. Decker concluded, "If you know of anyone who has suffered the loss of a husband or father or child, whose job had been covered by Social Security, you might suggest that he call at the nearest office of the Board at once. Delay may be costly."

NO EXACT END

Officials more and more incline to the theory that there will be no clear-cut "end of the war" with Germany, but that the Nazis will simply disintegrate under continuing military pressure. Isolated groups are expected to stage bitter resistance.

V-MAIL

A total of 789,539,390 V-Mail letters have been transmitted to and from members of the armed forces since the system was established in mid-1942, according to the OWI.

Dick Bray To Broadcast Football Games Over WLW

Football fans are in for a treat this Autumn when Station WLW's nationally-known Sportscaster, Dick Bray, broadcasts play-by-play descriptions of major gridiron games on 10 successive Saturdays over the Nation's Station.

Other games in the series are: Oct. 7, Tulane-Notre Dame; Oct. 14, Northwestern-Michigan; Oct. 21, Wisconsin-Notre Dame; Oct. 28, Notre Dame-Illinois; Nov. 4, Notre Dame-Navy; Nov. 11, Pittsburgh-Ohio State; Nov. 18, Northwestern-Notre Dame; Nov. 25, Michigan-Ohio State.

Bray will arrive in each city from which games are to be broadcast on the preceding Thursday to obtain detailed information on personnel of the teams plays to be used and to scan the scouting reports. Because of his many years' experience as a leading midwest official, Bray is closely acquainted with all big-time coaches and thus is able to secure the kind of information required for adequate and detailed coverage of the games.

Fifteen minutes preceding each game, Bray will be on the air to set the stage for the game with detailed information about each player on both teams, and "color" reports of the scene to make it more realistic for listeners.

A native of Cincinnati, Bray was an outstanding football, basketball and baseball player during his college days. After leaving college, he became an official of big-time football and basketball games, as well as a radio sportscaster, and for many years he was the only sportscaster who also was a recognized Big Ten Conference official.

Thus listeners to Station WLW broadcasts of the 10 major football games this Autumn are certain to hear authoritative as well as colorful descriptions of the plays as they are viewed from Bray's perch in the pressbox.

An 11,000 bushel peach crop, one of the largest on record, was harvested in Boone county this year. It is estimated that more than 12,000 Victory gardens were grown in Jefferson county this year.

News From The State Capital

A net increase of $3,898,055 in State expenditures during the 1943-1944 fiscal year, which ended June 30, over 1942-1943, has been announced by Finance Commissioner Clarence Miller in his annual report. Miller listed increased expenditures in some departments aggregating $4,410,288 and reductions in others amounting to $512,233.

Chief among the increased expenditures were $1,006,557 in the Governor's special fund, all except $1,827 of which was explained to have been incurred in special capital outlay for institutional rehabilitation, and a net $2,423,190 for common schools, due mainly to a supplementary $3,000,000 appropriation for retroactive increases in teacher salaries.

An extra expense listed in the "increases" was $275,743 for the biennial session of the Legislature.

Other increases were listed as $42,049 for new lands and buildings; $149,186 in the Department of Conservation, chiefly for acquisition of land for Cumberland Gap Park; $48,792 for welfare institutional expense, $360,588 for welfare public assistance, $9,836 for Department of Education administration $10,782 for the University of Kentucky, $17,408 for the Department of Mines and Minerals, and other minor items.

Miller reported the financial affairs of all State funds in "sound condition."

John E. Shepard, Covington, former assistant district attorney of the Eastern District Federal Court, has been appointed a member of the State Workmen's Compensation Board by Gov. Simeon Willis.

He will replace in the $4,000-a-year post E. Poe Harris, Catlettsburg, recently appointed a judge of the Court of Appeals.

The other two board members, also Republicans named by Willis, are C. B. Latimer, Glasgow, and Claude Hammons, Corbin.

State Park Commissioner Russell Dyche announced today that one State park and a museum would be closed this winter to cut down on operating expenses.

Dyche said McDowell House at Danville, a State subsidized museum would be closed about October 1 until spring. He said tentative plans also called for closing Audubon Park from mid-October until April 1. Dyche said all of the State parks had failed to meet expenses during the last year and this, together with a reduction of $6,000 in park appropriations made the closing necessary.

The Director said he was considering closing other parks, but had no definite plans, adding that staffs at most of them likely will be reduced during the winter.

He said caretakers would be kept at McDowell House and Audubon Park during the closed period and would be available to guide visitors on tours.

The State Fire Marshal, Clyde Smith and Supervisor of the field force, Paul Ward, together with the Deputy Fire Marshals of the Frankfort office recently attended the Firemen's Convention in Paris, where Smith spoke on "The Fire Chief and The Fire Marshal." A training school was held at the office of the State Fire Marshal following this meeting in Paris, where the Deputies were instructed thoroughly in their line of work.

Employees whose working hours conflict with the hours election polls are open must be given enough time off to total four consecutive hours in which to vote, Industrial Relations Commissioner L. C. Willis has pointed out.

Basing his statement on an opinion by Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit, Willis pointed out that in any instance where an employee can get the required number of hours consecutively outside of employment the employer is not required to pay for voting time off.

With the polls open from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m., a man who begins work at 6 a. m. and works until noon on election day has four hours before polls close in which to vote, Willis stated as an example. In another instance, he said, a worker who reports for duty at 8 a. m. must be given two hours' paid time off to 10 a. m., giving him four consecutive hours from 6 a. m.

The State Department of Health had, at the recent Kentucky State Fair, an educational exhibit which attracted a great deal of attention. John W. Kelly, Director, Division of Public Health, Education for the Department, announced today.

This exhibit was in direct charge of Roy McGee, Teacher-Coordinator for the State Department of Health and the State Department of Education, and E. Van Roberts, Field Educator attached to the Division of General Diseases, State Department of Health. It was featured by motion pictures dealing with various phases of public health activities. The films, 17 in number, were shown an aggregate of 107 times to a total audience of 10,038.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home."

"I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men...and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away...either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

24 TOBACCO CROPS FOR SAME PATCH

A half-acre on the farm of Buddy Bryant in Adair county this year produced its 24th straight tobacco crop. Last year 1,486 pounds of leaf were taken off the patch, selling for $636, and Mr. Bryant thinks he has a better crop this season.

The tobacco was Ky. 16, and County Agent R. B. Rankin says the stand was almost perfect. Topped high, it averaged almost 7 feet. It was allowed to ripen fully before cutting.

Crimson clover and barley were turned under and manure applied generously, and fertilizer was broadcast and also used along the row.

BIG PASTURE WHEN LAND IS TREATED

Graves county farmers cooperating with Tennessee Valley Authority and the Kentucky College of Agriculture report good returns from using phosphate, nitrate and limestone on rye and wheat.

S. C. Holloway said balbo rye on treated land furnished pasture at the rate of one cow an acre for three months. Also, cows running on the rye did not require as much grain as other cows, he said.

Oliver Goin said wheat on treated land doubled milk production in his herd. He estimated wheat pasture worth $33 a month for five cows for four months. A good yield of grain also was harvested.

USE OF NITRATE PAYS BIG PROFIT

Robert Wade of Simpson county reported to County Agent Woodrow Coats that he got back $10 worth of feed and seed for every dollar he spent in applying ammonium nitrate to orchard grass.

A 10-acre field was treated in early spring with 150 pounds of nitrate to the acre, with part left untreated so results could be checked. The hay yield was increased from 1,437 pounds to 4,400 pounds to the acre.

The treated part of the field produced 274 pounds of seed to the acre; the untreated part, 96 pounds. Also the seed was higher quality on the treated land.

Richwood Homemakers' In First Meeting

After several months vacation the Homemakers' met last Tuesday at the Richwood Community House for the first meeting of the new year. The retiring president Mrs. Mamie Moore, opened the meeting, the group joined in singing "America," and giving the salute to the Flag, the meeting was then turned over to the new president, Mrs. Alice Johnson, who named her committee chairman for the year as follows: Landscaping, Mrs. Emily Cleek; Reading, Mrs. Alice Johnson; and Citizenship, Mrs. Mamie Moore. Mrs. Kitty Taylor was elected vice-president to take the place of Mrs. Nan Ransom who was previously elected to that office, but could not serve as she will teach at Walton this year.

After a delicious covered dish luncheon, Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Cleek gave the lesson on making dress forms. Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Griffin were chosen as leaders to go to Leader's Training Class in October. Our next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Johnson on October 17.

POULTRY CALENDARS NOW AVAILABLE

Poultry calendars giving timely recommendations and forms for record keeping are available, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Those poultrymen who are interested in keeping a record on their flocks for the new year beginning October 1st, should secure one of these books at the County Office.

Walton P. T. A. Meeting

All ladies of the community are urged to attend the all day meeting of the P. T. A. at the school building on Oct. 12. The day will be spent in preparation for the opening of the school lunch room in the near future.

At the noon hour a covered dish luncheon will be served. In the afternoon the regular business meeting, and in addition we will be entertained by the 7th and 8th grades with a Columbus Day program. New members and visitors will be welcomed. Come and bring a covered dish.

Mary V. Porter, Sec. and Treas.

OPA This Week

NEW SHOE STAMP DUE NOVEMBER 1

Another shoe ration stamp will become valid November 1, the OPA has announced. In addition, both of the currently valid shoe coupons—Airplane Stamps 1 and 2 in War Ration Book Three—will overlap the new stamp and will continue to be good indefinitely.

Decision as to which new stamp will be used for shoes has not yet been reached, OPA said.

MAY EXCHANGE INVENTORY COUPONS

Gasoline filling station inventory coupons, which were invalidated July 15, may be exchanged by dealers at Rationing Boards for valid ration checks, the OPA has announced.

The Board may in some cases issue a temporary receipt for the coupons while they are being checked for counterfeits and compared with records of inventory coupon issuance to the dealer.

PRICING METHOD ANNOUNCED

The Price Division of the Lexington District Office has announced that wholesalers and retailers of canned fruits and vegetables should calculate their ceiling prices on items packed in 1944 by using markups provided in Maximum Price Regulations 421, 422 and 423. The prices listed in the Community Price poster effective September 15, and now on display in stores, apply to 1943 pack items only. Community prices in the 1944 pack of fruits and vegetables will be issued later.

NEW STAMPS VALIDATED

Blue ration stamps M5, N5, P5, Q5, and R5 in War Ration Book Four become good indefinitely on October 1, 1944, for buying processed foods, and red stamps H5, J5 and K5 become valid on the same date for purchasing rationed meats and fats, the Office of Price Administration announced this week. Each of these stamps is worth 10 points. Blue tokens, used in buying processed foods, became invalid October 1.

BUTTER POINTS RAISED

The only change in either red or blue points for October is an increase to 20 red points from 16 points on creamery butter, effective October 1, the Lexington District OPA Office announced this week. This increase was made necessary, OPA explained, because of temporary seasonal decline in production.

MUST KEEP FOOTWEAR RECORDS

Dealers handling rubber rubber footwear (men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes) are to continue to keep their ration records until further notice is given, the OPA announced this week.

OPA gave assurance, however, that rubber footwear dealers will not be asked to continue keeping any longer than reasonably deemed necessary.

AUTO QUOTA UNCHANGED

The October quota of new passenger cars available for rationing will be 3,000 the Office of Price Administration announced this week. This is the same quota as was set for August.

Current inventories of new passenger cars are now below 20,000 normally less than a two-day supply.

FARMERS SHORTENS HOG-RAISING TIME

Improved methods adopted by Harvey Thrasher of Hancock county has made it possible to put hogs on the market when five to six months old instead of nine to ten months, the length of time he once used.

Mr. Thrasher recently sold a litter of nine pigs that weighed an average of 234 pounds when 5 months and 18 days old. Nine other pigs weighed an average of 231½ pounds when 5 months and 12 days old. The two heaviest pigs weighed about 250 pounds each.

Farrowed in tilted houses on clean ground, the pigs run on rape pasture and are full-fed balanced rations. No pigs were lost from mashing in the tilted houses, although losses on the Thrasher farm were as high as a fourth of the pigs farrowed when level houses were used.

ANNOUNCE DAIRY PRODUCTION COST

Cow feed cost an average of $1.29 a hundred pounds of milk and 30 cents a pound of butterfat in Kentucky dairy herd improvement associations in July.

Lowest feed costs were 88 cents a hundred pounds of milk and 17 cents a pound of butterfat, reported in the Purchase association in the extreme western part of the state.

Costs in the Davies county association were $1.89 a hundred pounds of milk and 44 cents a pound of butterfat, and in the Blue Grass association $1.84 for milk and 47 cents for butterfat.

The 11 associations in Kentucky contain 139 herds and 3,418 cows, tested under the supervision of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

More than 3,500 sheep were dipped during the past month in Marion county where the Farm Bureau vat has been in operation.

Clete Castleberry of Marshall county supported 12 cattle on 10 acres of sudan grass, after cutting off a hay crop.

Fifty-one Farms To Have Complete Soil Conservation Plan

Fifty-one farms have a complete farm plan written up on them by the Boone County Soil Conservation District, according to J. C. Acree, Soil Conservationist. Sixty-five additional applications for this service are on file in the Soil Conservation Office. Some farmers have the impression that the Soil Conservation Service is only staking out ponds and routing bulldozers. This is only one of the factors that is included in a farm plan. Possibly the major factor is land use or planning your farm operations to fit your farm. The first step in setting up a farm plan is to have a soils map made of your farm by a soil technician. Soil maps are then taken from each field and a lime, phosphate recommendation is made. A land use map is made outlining the field to be used for rotation, meadow, pasture, etc.

Those farmers who have an agreement with the district can have the services of the Soil Conservationist to lay out contour rows, terrace, and diversion lines, farm reservoir sites selected or staked out, land use recommendations, and grass seeding recommendations.

If you would like to have a farm plan for your farm, make application at the County Agent's Office, the Soil Conservation Office or to your Soil Conservation supervisors who are C. Listen Hemphill, William Presser, Hubert White, Grover Ransom, and John C. Bedinger.

A soils map of your farm will give you a different picture of your farm. Let's save the soil and improve our farms. We will bolster our pride as well as protect our capital.

W. M. U. TO MEET

The W. M. U. of the Baptist Church will meet Thursday October 19, at the church. A covered dish luncheon will be served.

4-H Fair Was Big Financial Success; Profits Paid on Debt

The Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Fair was a financial success, according to John Conner, secretary-treasurer of the 4-H and Utopia Club Council. Conner's report to the Council Monday afternoon showed that approximately $200.00 profit from concessions and $218.00 from other receipts. The Council voted to pay $681.05 on the building debt leaving a gross indebtedness of $600.00.

The Council announced Monday a goal to liquidate the entire indebtedness in 1945 and plans for improvement of the grounds during the early post-war period. Members of the Council are: D. H. Norris, John Criegler, John Conner, R. V. Lentz, Mrs. George Morith, Mrs. A. L. Pfalzgraff, Mrs. Walter King, Mrs. Hugh McArthur, Marion Toadine John Masters, Mrs. Vernon Pope, Lucian Bradford, Mrs. Eunice Pettit, Mrs. J. C. Acree, Mrs. Leo Flynn, and H. P. Baker.

The annual election of Council delegates will be held following the first fall meetings of the community 4-H and Utopia Clubs. All members of the Council serve without pay and in the interest of the agricultural, Home Economics and educational improvement program of the county.

The Boone County 4-H and Utopia Club Fair and County Picnic and Fair Grounds programs are only parts of the Council's responsibilities. The Council is also the County Advisory and Planning Committee of the Junior Agricultural and Home Economics educational and improvement programs in the county.

FARM MACHINERY OFF RATIONING LIST

The rationing of farm machinery except corn pickers has been discontinued, according to word received from War Food Administrator, Marvin Jones.

It is the policy of the War Food Administration to remove rationing restrictions as soon as they are no longer essential. These releases from rationing applies to combines, corn binders, manure spreaders, mowers, side delivery racks hay-loaders, silage fillers, pickup hay balers, wheel tractors, garden tractors, well water systems, power pumps, farm milk coolers, sheet metal water well casing, farm scales, grain drills, potato planters, potato diggers, irrigation pumps, and power sprayers.

It will therefore, not be necessary to file any applications for purchase certificates for farm machinery on any of the above named items.

Morning View Sergeant Given Bronze Star Medal For "Gallantry in Action" in Italy; Also Gets Purple Heart

The Bronze Star Medal has been awarded Sgt. Ellis L. Rust, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rust of Morning View, for "gallantry in action" near Italy June 4, members of his family have been notified.

In citing the Kenton county soldier, Maj. Gen. V. E. Pritchard, commanding officer of his armored division, said:

"Sgt. Rust war car commander of a point car that had been hit by an enemy anti-tank gun. Forced to abandon this vehicle as a result of continued anti-tank and machine gun fire from nearby infantry, Sgt. Rust kept his crew together and infiltrated them past a second friendly armored car which was burning fiercely, its cannon ammunition exploding inside the turret."

"Once past this obstacle, Sgt. Rust ordered his crew to disperse and move out under the little natural cover available. Several hundred yards were observed by four enemy soldiers who were armed with machine rifles and machine pistols. Moving quickly, Sgt. Rust, the only armed member of the crew, fired one shot, hit the stone wall behind the enemy and called out for them to surrender."

"Taken by surprise, the enemy dropped their arms which were recovered by the rest of Sgt. Rust's crew. To forestall fire from the enemy infantry in whose view this action had taken place, Sgt. Rust forced the prisoners to walk on a side of his crew until they had

Verona Homemakers' Club Met at Home of Mrs. Rouse

The Verona Homemakers' club met October 6th, at the home of Mrs. Joe Rouse for the second month of the year. Two sewing machines were cleaned at the meeting.

The club made plans for a fish fry to be held at the Verona School House Friday, October 20th. Don't forget the date—and tell all your friends and neighbors to meet you there for an evening of good entertainment.

The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Harry Chapman Friday Nov. 3rd. Visitors are always welcome.

23,922 Fish Arrive For Stocking Ponds

Twenty-one thousand, nine hundred seventy-seven bream and nine hundred forty-five large mouth bass were received Tuesday, at Burlington by 24 Boone County farmers from the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service for stocking new farm lakes in the county, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. This is the largest private lake restocking program undertaken in the county and is a part of the federal cooperative program for improved farm reservoir construction and increased food production.

The requests were filled from applications filed last summer at the County Agent's and Soil Conservation Offices through the federal cooperative programs with the Extension Services and the Soil Conservation Services. Fish are supplied only for ponds or farm reservoirs approved as suitable for stocking.

Dairy Subsidy Payments Have Been Sent Out

A large part of the Dairy Feed Subsidy Payments for July and August period have been sent out to producers in the last few days. October 31st is the closing date for filing the weights of milk and butterfat shipped during July and August. The rate of pay for July and August was 50 cents per hundred weight for milk and 8 cents per pound for butterfat.

The weights for September and October should be sent in together and may be sent at any time after the October weights are received and up until December 31, 1944.

Pfc. Paul Johnson First Walton Loss

Word has been received here by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Johnson from the War Department that their son, Pfc. Paul Harold Johnson, age 24, was killed in action in the South Pacific area.

Pfc. Johnson entered the Marines on July 13, 1942 and has been home only five days during the time he served with the Marines.

A brother, James A. Johnson, S. 1-c is in the U. S. Navy. He has two sisters, Mrs. Jane Vessels and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson.

There was no information given by the War Department except that he had been killed in action.

Paul is survived by another brother, Lawrence Johnson. Pfc. Johnson was a faithful member of the Walton Baptist Church.

Federal Tobacco Grading Demonstrations Planned

Boone County will have four federal tobacco grading demonstration meetings on either November 23rd and 24th, or November 30th and December 1st, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Federal tobacco graders will assist in these meetings.

Federal grading meetings have been held in the county for the past ten years and growers have found them both instructive and helpful in preparing their crops for market. Farmers who would especially like to see one of the meetings held in their community should notify the County Agent's Office.

5,000 POUNDS OF VETCH RECEIVED FOR DISTRIBUTION

5,000 more pounds of grant of aid vetch has been received for distribution to cooperators in the 1944 A. C. Program. This vetch is from the 1944 crop and has just been received from Oregon.

All producers who would still like to have vetch for seeding this fall are urged to make application at the Agricultural Conservation Office. The vetch is being handled by Guley and Pettit, Burlington, Ky.

As the quantity of vetch received this year has not been but a small part of the amount usually received, it has been found necessary to limit the amount of vetch to applicants based on the amount of their soil-building allowance.

ESPECIALLY TO ADVERTISER

The following is one of the very interesting articles being written especially for the Walton Advertiser, by Cpl. Vernon Franklin Lipscomb, who is located somewhere in England.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE

In 1620, the site was known as Mulberry Gardens, promoted by King James I. in order to assist the silk industry. These gardens were used as a pleasure gardens by the citizens of London. Later on the Earl of Arlington erected Arlington House on the southern portion of the site; the Earl being the same person whose name was given to the town of Arlington, Mass. It was in this same house, in the year 1665 that tea was first tasted in this country; but it should be remembered that up to nearly 1800 tea was eaten, the liquid being thrown away—hence the origin of the expression "A dish of tea."

Arlington House was demolished in 1703, and the Duke of Buckingham built a house on the site, known as Buckingham House. In 1760, George the Third purchased it, and in 1762 moved from St. James Palace into the new palace. Between 1825 and 1836, it was reconstructed in the Palladian style by the famous architect Nash, but King George IV did not like the house, and so it was not occupied until the accession of Queen Victoria in 1837; ever since then it has been the Royal residence.

The east front (the main front) was built in 1846, and a south wing and ballroom which measures 111 ft.
by 60 ft. were added in 1856.
In 1912, the east front was remodelled, being a part of the Victoria Memorial scheme.

During the last war, the roof was covered by a net to catch any bombs that may fall!

The grounds cover 40 acres, including the large 5 acre lake.

Up to 1851, the Marble Arch was situated in front of the building.

teresting reading for some of the people who think the war is over.

R. E. Smith Ph. M. 2-

U. S. S. Melville

When you read about town after town falling into our hands, you sooner or later get into the frame of mind that it's easy.

Well, here's how easy it is.
Three Yanks were killed taking a place called Troyes. Ever heard of it? Neither had we.

Anyway, it was taken. "Nice going," we said when we read about it.
"The boys are really rolling."

These boys' rolling days are done.
The town they took so "easily" was the last town they'll ever see. The rest of their outfit moved on to the next town—and took that, too. And the next—and the next. And in every town there are a few GIs like those left by the roadside.

Maybe a picture of this ought to be stuck inside every helmet liner in the ETO, and every Stetson in the States. Then every time we gloat over the headlines and take off our skimmers to pat ourselves on the head—we'd see these GIs who were hit by the silver platter on which the Nazis handed us Troyes.

LOGAN MAN PRIMES

BIG TOBACCO CROP

A demonstration showing the value of priming tobacco has been carried on by W. Gaston Coke of Logan county. Since the last week in July he has primed 5,000 sticks of burley from 17½ acres, averaging 90 leaves per stick. The cost of priming was about 3½ cents per stick. Mr. Coke primed nine and one half acres the second time, and has stripped 1,500 sticks of the first priming to total 11,000 pounds of cured tobacco. He estimates that he will strip 4,000 pounds of tobacco from the 5,000 sticks primed.

Soldiers vs. Civilians in Tomorrow's World

You hear some talk about how—when the war is over—there's going to be bad feeling between soldiers and civilians; how the country will be divided into those who fought in uniform and those who stayed at home.

Well, maybe you saw that letter from a soldier overseas, in one of our big magazines. It said that men in uniform aren't thinking any such thoughts—any more than folks at home are.

The most important thing is, that we're all engaged in one titanic struggle to preserve our freedom and our rights—not just as soldiers or civilians—but as Americans!

From where I sit, that attitude is going to win the war—and win the Peace too. If we can respect the rights of others—whether it's their right to enjoy a glass of beer, or to vote the way they please—we've got a mighty sound foundation for our peacetime world.

JESUS' UNDERSTANDING OF MAN

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 11:2-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—And needed not that any should testify of man; for he knew what was in man. John 1:25.

What is a man worth? That depends on your point of view. In a museum stands a collection of small jars containing minerals, water, etc., which make up the body of a man, and which are valued at less than a dollar. But there is more to man than his body.

And that "more"—intellectual and spiritual—is what determines his real value. Jesus understood (yes, and now He understands) man, and places a high valuation on him. That is worth knowing in a world where the price of humanity is often figured on the basis of his usefulness in warfare or the factory.

Jesus really understands man. He knows his

I. Need (v. 9).
The first thing Jesus saw in the synagogue was not the leaders, or the beautifully appareled rich, or the learned scribes. He saw a man with a withered hand, one who needed His help. The enemies of Christ complimented Him by expecting Him to see the crippled one—and they "watched him" (Mark 3:2), for it was the Sabbath.

Do we see the real need of humanity? Does it speak to us and prompt us to helpful action? If not, are we like our Lord and Master?

II. Value (v. 10-12).
They who would not hesitate to save a sheep in distress on the Sabbath did not want the man to receive help. Thus they put property above the person of man, and showed their low valuation of man. The dignity of man's personality, the fact that he is made in the likeness and image of God, the great potentialities which exist in every man—all these should urge upon the Christian church the need of a new and higher estimate of the worth of a man—or a boy or a girl. Let us look at them with God's eyes, and seek to win them for Him.

III. Faith (v. 13).
No doubt this man had tried countless times to straighten out that withered arm. It was the very thing he most wanted to do, but it was quite impossible. Jesus then, charging him with the impossible, asking him to do what cannot be done?

No, for He saw in this man the desire to be whole and faith in God's ability to make him whole. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan puts it well: "We turn from a contemplation of a withered hand and look at the face of Jesus. The moment we do this, we know that the command is possible because He commands."

IV. Weakness (v. 15-21).
Men hesitate to admit their weakness to one another, always trying to keep up the appearance of strength and success. Well, there is no need of that kind of subterfuge with God. "He knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust" (Ps. 103:14).

Jesus sympathized with those who were physically ill and He healed them (v. 15). What comfort there is in knowing that He is present at the sick bed of every believer, and that He is able to heal as it may be His will and purpose. Only He can do it.

But there is something even more precious here. Man is weak not only physically but spiritually. His spiritual light may at times be nearly out, just a smoldering wick instead of a brightly shining lamp. We might be tempted to say that it is so weak, so disagreeable, so smoky—let's put it entirely out. But not Jesus. He will, if permitted, fan it into flame again.

Then, too, man is like a broken reed. The picture is that of a stick out to use for support as one walks. And then it breaks—what shall we do? Break it into smaller pieces and throw it away? Yes, that is what we would do if we have not the spirit of Jesus.

it, however impossible it may appear. To look into that face must inevitably have meant to be certain that He was not there to reveal disability, save as He was also there to put an end to it."

IV. Enmity (v. 14, 15a).
Jesus saw the good in man. He also saw the evil. He was not unaware of the hatred and the dark devices of His enemies. Until the day when He was to permit them to take Him captive in the garden, He withdrew from them, leaving them to their evil designs and their wicked unbelief.

Sometimes when we see how the wicked seem to flourish in our day, how they appear to go on without let or hindrance, we are prone to forget that there is One who "sits in the shadows," and who knows and notes not only their ungodly deeds, but also their sinful thoughts.

He knows, and that is enough for us. Let us not be seeking vengeance, nor fretting ourselves because of evil doers. God knows, and He will care for it all.

V. Weakness (v. 15b-21).
Men hesitate to admit their weakness to one another, always trying to keep up the appearance of strength and success. Well, there is no need of that kind of subterfuge with God. "He knoweth our frame; he remembereth that we are dust" (Ps. 103:14).

Jesus sympathized with those who were physically ill and He healed them (v. 15). What comfort there is in knowing that He is present at the sick bed of every believer, and that He is able to heal as it may be His will and purpose. Only He can do it.

But there is something even more precious here. Man is weak not only physically but spiritually. His spiritual light may at times be nearly out, just a smoldering wick instead of a brightly shining lamp. We might be tempted to say that it is so weak, so disagreeable, so smoky—let's put it entirely out. But not Jesus. He will, if permitted, fan it into flame again.

Then, too, man is like a broken reed. The picture is that of a stick out to use for support as one walks. And then it breaks—what shall we do? Break it into smaller pieces and throw it away? Yes, that is what we would do if we have not the spirit of Jesus.

An Easy Two Bucks

By FRANK BENNETT
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

IT'S not every day a fellow like me has a chance to pick up an extra two bucks, so I hurried back from taking the cream to town. Like Melvin, my boss, was sitting in the sun, behind the barn, frowning at a note by unpolished foot, "Another day like this, Johnny," he said, "and we can begin the spring plowin'."

"I said, 'Too bad we don't have another team. If we had, it wouldn't take long to turn that forty.'"

"Teams is kinda scarce, Johnny." This seemed like the proper opening. "What's it worth to you to know where you can get a team at a bargain?"

"Ike eyed me shrewdly. 'Why, Johnny, if I could make a good deal, I reckon I'd be worth a dollar.'"

"You're on," I said. "Bill Ford has a team of mules he'd like to get rid of. Of course, Bill's a close trader."

"Hump!" Ike spat noisily. "A kid could out-trade Bill. Come along."

On the way to get the car, we saw a couple of farmers fighting. Ike cursed and shoved them apart. "That blamed old red rooster is always pickin' a scrap," he said. "If he wasn't so old and tough, we'd eat him."

We found Bill Ford sitting on the fence by the pig pen, his old straw hat tipped back on his graying hair, smoke belching from a decrepit corn-cob pipe.

From there the talk went to politics, taxes, the price of corn, how to win the war and, at last, to mules. "I got a good team of mules—them brown ones—that's worth all the horses in the county," Bill offered.

"Give me hosses every time. Mules is too contrary," Ike said. "Bill filled his pipe. 'Now, take these here mules, heat don't bother 'em a-tall . . .'" and Bill gave a glowing account of last summer's work, with not a few exaggerations. From this point the trade began to take shape, each man spurring for an advantage. At last Ike said cautiously, "I got a cow—half Jersey. Might swap you for them mules, not that I want 'em, but—"

Bill snorted. "I ain't got no use for no more cows."

"I got a nice red bull calf I might throw in. Course I'd be losin' money in the long run. That calf will grow up into a big profit."

Bill shook his head. "No, sir! I wouldn't part with them mules. My wife is fond of 'em, too. She'd be pretty put out at me if I traded 'em off—just for a cow and a bull calf."

He fished out a stub of a pencil and began to figure how much that cow had earned for him in the last two years.

Bill knocked the ashes from his pipe and shook his head. "These days it's the cash money what talks," he declared.

"That's scarce," Ike told him sadly. "Why, only this morning my wife says to me, 'Ike, I need a new dress for Sundays. It will cost five dollars or maybe six.' 'Why,' says I to her, 'I only got ten right now.' So I give her half my cash, Bill. Half of it!"

"Tell you what I'll do," Bill compromised. "I'll give you that cow, the calf and four dollars for them mules."

Bill's face lengthened. "Make it ten and maybe—"

"Nope. Let's go, Johnny." At the gate Ike turned and said, "I got an extra good red rooster I'll throw in. Worth a couple dollars."

Bill took off his hat and scratched his head with his pipe stem. "Well, seein' it's you, Ike, I'll trade," he said after some deliberation. "Come along, Johnny, let's get the beasts."

In the barn he reached into a pocket and pulled out two halves. "Much obliged, Johnny, for helpin' me get shed of that team. Here's the dollar I promised you in town this morning." He chuckled. "Reckon that red rooster is worth you commission."

When I got back to Ike's he grinnin' and handed me the crumpled dollar bill. "Much obliged, Johnny, for puttin' me on to this deal," he said. "It's worth the money to know that Bill's goin' to have that blamed old fightin' rooster on his hands. And that's too tough to eat!"

Yes, sir! It's not every day a fellow like me has a chance to pick up two bucks so easy!

Rev. Garrett of Walton will preach at the Baptist Church here, Sunday Oct. 15, at 3 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sleet spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Weaver of Union.

Mrs. John Conley and Mrs. Kittie Taylor were guests of Mrs. Mattie Griffith Wednesday.

Mrs. Anna Bell Stevenson spent Saturday with relatives in Covington. Harry Coggage suffered a neck injury when his car overturned near Florence last week.

A number of our ladies attended the Homemakers' Annual meeting at Florence last Tuesday and reported a very nice meeting.

The meeting of the Methodist Society at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wood, has been postponed until next Thursday.

I'm just an average citizen I work for my living. I'm paying for my home. I'm trying to raise and educate my children.

In years past I've paid no more than average attention to elections. Sure, I get a bit excited every four years—but this coming election I'm stirred down to the very soles of my shoes.

For the first time I've come to realize that my vote this November is the most important thing I've got. Yes sir, for with it I can do something about the kind of America I want to live in, work in, and pass on to my kids.

An America... Still Free! I read the papers and the magazines. I listen to the radio. I listen to all sides. But I refuse to be fooled by side issues. I'm sticking to the real question. I only know that America, My America And Yours, Needs A Change! I'm not satisfied that the road down which my country is being taken is the road I want to take, or that I want my children to have to travel in future years. Frankly, I'm voting against something that I have come to fear. But this is hard to explain. That this is what I mean.

We're going to have a Victory year of these days. I want that Victory just as soon and just as much as any American with a boy in service. But I want a Victory we can share in as Free Americans, not one that means the sacrifice of everything we have fought for on the altars of a philosophy that would barter freedom for security. This philosophy doesn't make sense to me. To me it just isn't American.

I believe we can have both freedom and security in America.

I want to be sure that this country is not going to have a national emergency every four years as an excuse to fasten on me, one by one, dictator directives, regimental bureaucracies—the 100 and 1 petty tyrannies that even now are beginning to stifle and paralyze the freedoms which have made America great.

And so I'm voting for freedom of opportunity for myself and my children—against a philosophy of government that step by step is going the opposite direction. My fight for this kind of America begins right here in my Fifth District. It begins with my vote for the representative in Congress and the Senate that hasn't lost faith in the American people—representation that will keep open the doors of opportunity and slam tight the doors of bungling bureaus and boondoggling bureaucrats.

I'm just an average citizen, but there are a lot of average citizens who feel as I do.

America Needs a Change We're not defeatists. We believe that a country worth fighting for, worth dying for is certainly worth voting for. And we'll fight with our vote for a Free America in November.

RYLAND HOMEMAKERS' MEET

The Ryland Homemakers' met recently at the home of Mrs. O. Gee, Belmont Ave. Ft. Mitchell.

Eight members answered the roll call and several interesting "Household" hints were exchanged. Mrs. G. A. Damon gave some valuable help on "Transplanting trees and shrubs."

Mrs. John Murcheson led in the major project of the day which was a discussion on "Things Women Should Know About Business Matters."

A wholesome recreational period was enjoyed, which Mrs. W. E. Dickman conducted and the topic was "Ships."

The following were present for a tasty luncheon: Mrs. W. Damon, Mrs. H. Rubble, Mrs. G. A. Damon, Mrs. W. E. Dickman, Mrs. J. P. Murcheson, Mrs. J. C. Brown, Mrs. Anna Bagby.

The next meeting will be November 7 at the home of Mrs. J. C. Brown.

Entertains Walton Literary Club

Mrs. J. L. Hamilton, in her usual genial manner entertained the Walton Womens Literary Club in her spacious residence in Verona on Wednesday October 4th. Vases of fall blossoms from surrounding gardens adorned the house.

Mrs. J. T. Mann opened the business session by announcing that Mrs. Clayton Jones had been elected to office of Recording secretary during the twenty-eighth annual district meeting held in Carrollton on Tuesday previous. As a delegate to that meeting Mrs. C. Jones gave a very complete report of the meeting.

Roll call by Mrs. D. H. Vest was answered by each member and guest giving the place of her birth. It was odd to not that not one member was born in Walton, but one guest Mrs. A. T. Hunt was born in Walton; however many were born in the county.

Mrs. H. T. Mann read her report as she had given it to the district meeting as compiled by Mrs. Cloyd Johnson club secretary last year.

Mrs. A. H. Gress as program leader announced the various women taking a part on the program entitled "Boone County, Past and Present." A solo number "Kentucky the Beautiful" words and music by D. C. Yaezer, was effectively rendered by Mrs. J. B. Johnson accompanied by Mrs. G. C. Ransom at the piano. History of Boone County was given by Mrs. C. F. Blankenknecker with her usual poise and personal touch as she assembled a group of clippings borrowed of Prof. Yealey.

An impressive talk on "Old Churches in Boone County" was so ably given by Mrs. J. C. Bedinger. A very enlightening paper on "Interesting places in Boone County" written by Mrs. J. E. McCabe, but read by Miss Emma Jane Miller brought both laughter and awe over the house. Zebulun Pike discoverer of Pikes Peak, Colorado first settled in Boone County on the banks of the Ohio River and his family plot is in a cemetery located on a farm of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Southgate.

This historical program of Boone County inspired its hearers to a feeling of gratitude for the privilege of enjoying the efforts of its pioneer people. The program was concluded by a solo by Mrs. J. B. Johnson. Mrs. J. L. Hamilton served a delicious salad course, assisted by Mrs. Alice Chapman, Mrs. D. H. Vest, Mrs. Clayton Jones and Mrs. Fred Hamilton to the following members and guests: Mrs. J. C. Bedinger, Mrs. C. F. Blankenknecker, Mrs. G. C. Caroland, Mrs. E. E. Fry, Mrs. A. H. Gress, Mrs. Pearl R. Johnson, Mrs. Cloyd Johnson, Mrs. Bessie Jones, Mrs. H. F. Mann, Miss Emma Jane Miller, Mrs. Lottie Powers, Mrs. G. C. Ransom, Mrs. D. H. Vest, Mrs. J. L. Vest, Mrs. E. B. Wallace, Mrs. Joe Collins, Mrs. W. T. Renaker, Mrs. A. T. Hunt, Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Mrs. Fred Hamilton, Mrs. Alice Chappman, Mrs. Wm. Britt and Mrs. Joe Berkshire.

ALFALFA PROVIDES RELIEF IN DROUGHT

Everett Blackwell and J. B. Martin, farmers in Lee county, report that alfalfa, sowed them over the drought period this summer, each making three cuttings, with another in prospect. Alfalfa not only provided more feed than other crops, but it also withstood the drought better. Farm Agent T. H. Jones reports that farmers generally are showing considerable interest in alfalfa.

Homemakers in Jessamine county who dehydrated and sulfured apples, are pleased with results.

It is estimated that more than 65 percent of the Negro tobacco growers in Christian county saved tobacco by pruning.

SECURITY FOR THE AGED

"There are two plans under social security to protect old people from want," Mr. Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager of the Social Security Board field office at Covington Ky., explained today. "These two plans are widely different and each one serves a special purpose. Yet people sometimes mistake one for the other. This confusion is generally the result of careless terms used in describing the plans."

Mr. Decker outlined the differences between the two. "The first plan," he said, "is old-age and survivors insurance. It is a Federal system and its provisions are the same in all parts of the country. It is an insurance plan. Wage earners pay a social security tax of one per cent of their wages, and their employers contribute a like amount. This provides monthly insurance benefits to the worker when he retires at age 65, or later, and to his wife when she reaches age 65, regardless of what other income or property they may have. If he should die, monthly benefit payments go to his family—his widow, his children, perhaps his aged parents. That's why it is known as Federal 'family' insurance. All these benefits have been paid for in advance during the working years. To inquire about this Federal 'family' insurance, come to my office, or phone me at Hemlock 5274."

"The other plan," Mr. Decker continued, "is called public assistance. It takes care of those who have been unable to build up social security insurance accounts as wage earners, and who do not have enough to live on. The Federal Government shares the cost of this system but the State, not the Federal Government, decides who shall get aid and how much shall be paid to each person. The allowance paid under this plan depends upon the individual's own need at the time during which aid is given, and any other income or resource he may have is taken into account. To inquire about old-age assistance, go to the nearest local public welfare office or write to the State public welfare agency, Frankfort, Ky."

Hear Dr. R. C. Cawdill each Sunday morning at 7:30 on W. K. R. C., and hear about the Church of God. Good singing.

WHAT PRICE---One Pair of Eyes?

Those bright, sparkling eyes of childhood! Help them keep their sparkle—their clear, perfect vision. One school child in five has lost part of that sparkle because of defective vision. More than half the people over 35 have eyesight troubles. Why not conserve that precious eyesight by following these four common-sense rules?

1. Do all reading, studying, sewing or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.

3. Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your work or book. Shadows strain eyes.

2. Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.

4. Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision can be greatly helped with proper glasses.

OUR FARM NEWS . . . . .

TOBACCO BARNS OFFER PROBLEMS

To talk intelligently about tobacco barn one must consider at least four sets of circumstances. What is good practice in one case may be wrong in another.

First there is the farmer who fills his barn at cutting time and forgets it until stripping time. He does not fire and does not bother with opening and closing ventilators. Moreover, he obtains good quality at small expense often enough to make one wonder whether any other method is worth while. The ideal barn for this farmer is an open shed having wide eaves sufficient to protect the tobacco from rain and sun.

The second set of circumstances is represented by the farmer who does not fire but who has a barn equipped with ventilators which he tries to open and close at the right time to keep his tobacco in good condition. How well he succeeds, compared with the first farmer, depends chiefly upon how much tobacco his barn contains and the effectiveness of the ventilators. During a poor curing season, this farmer is likely to have trouble.

The third set of circumstances is represented by the farmer that follows the same practice as the second except that in addition, he fires his tobacco periods of humid weather. That is, he depends chiefly upon natural ventilation and uses artificial heat only as a precautionary measure to protect his tobacco from damage during unfavorable weather.

The last set is represented by the farmer who makes firing a routine business, regardless of the weather, for at least the first two or three weeks of the curing season. This farmer probably has one or both of two purposes in view. He may fire because he thinks that under any circumstances it is good for the tobacco. Or he may have his barn crammed so full that he has no alternative to firing if he expects to obtain cured tobacco of marketable quality.

To have a clear understanding of the tobacco barn problem, one must know how to fit into each set of circumstances the relative influence of such things, as the outdoor temperature and relative humidity; direction and velocity of the wind; barn size and location; time of day, sun intensity and clouds; area and location of ventilators; area and location of cracks; size, number, location and rate of combustion of stoves; size of plants; spacing of plants on sticks; spacing of stacks on rails and the arrangement of the rails in the barn.

From all of which one may draw this moral. Don't believe or disbelieve anything your neighbor or anybody else tells you about somebody's tobacco barn until you investigate the circumstances and find out about all of the factors involved.

This is the fourth of a series of articles on tobacco curing, furnished by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

BIG LEAVES FOUND IN HENRY TOBACCO

County Agent W. B. Howell of Henry county reports measuring tobacco leaves 32 1/2 inches long and 19 inches wide on the farm of William Cowherd, half was between New Castelle and Sulphur. He says he used a yardstick to determine the actual size of the big leaves, as he found "guessing" inaccurate in getting the correct size of tobacco. Leaves of "stand-up" varieties are usually longer than they appear, Howell says.

All persons know themselves indebted to Laura D. Morris, please come forward and settle, and all persons having claims against Laura D. Morris please file same properly proven according to law.

C. B. Taylor, Executor of the will of Laura D. Morris. 31-47

Montgomery county farmers reported that No. 41-A tobacco withstood the drought better than any other variety.

About half of the fruits and vegetables in Jessamine county are being conserved by storing in frozen food lockers.

About 28,000 acres of wheat were harvested in Logan county, making one of the best crops in years.

30 STORE WINDOWS USED IN 4-H SHOW

Canning, Garden products, field crops and clothing were the principal exhibits displayed in 30 stores in Pineville, when the Bell county 4-H clubs held their annual fair in September. Nineteen of the 34 clubs in the county, representing 1,250 club members, were offered by the business men of the county, the Harmony 4-H club being the sweepstakes winner.

A 4-H club rally, in which 500 boys and girls took part, and a dress revue were special features. Prizes totaling $100 were offered by the business men of the county, the Harmony 4-H club being the sweepstakes winner.

The window displays attracted large crowds during the three-day event, and proved how successfully the live-at-home program has been carried on by the people of the county, according to Farm Agent Henry H. Pope.

FARMERS

There is discussion of a farm organization along political lines to match the similar organization of labor groups. The idea is being strengthened by the activity of the C.I.O. Political Action Committee and if it becomes a potent political force, the farmers will probably seek comparable political machinery.

TAKEN OVER

A recent tabulation shows that the Government has taken over a private business at least twenty-two times to end defiance of the War Labor Board by unions or employees, or because of failure of plants to comply with directives of WLB's predecessor, the National Defense Mediation Board.

ON KENTUCKY FARMS

Fifty-nine women in Fleming county are members of the Women's Land Army, many of them doing farm work all season.

Walter Bridges and H. B. Previtt of Montgomery county harvested over four tons of red clover hay on the acre.

Members of homemakers clubs in Boone county made 24 afghans for the Red Cross. Each required about 70 hours of work.

Christian county Negro farmers growing Thorne wheat report low tests, in some instances only 91 lbs. to the bushel.

Many Harlan county farmers sowed cover crops in July, some of them using mixtures of rye and vetch.

For Watson Dixon of Letcher county, barley tobacco Ky. 16 and 33 grew "higher than your head" this season.

Earnings from less than an acre of cucumbers planted on the contour by Everette Lamastur of Butler county were $317, with several pickings in prospect.

Ruth, Frank, Joe and Foster Pickett of Green county are feeding 27 Angus calves for the Louisville Fat Cattle Show.

In Bell county, 166 pressure cookers have been bought this year by homemakers to use in canning and meal preparation.

Georgia Witt, 4-H'er in Harlan county, sold green beans from her Victory garden at $3 per bushel. She also sold more than 50 bushels of apples.

Because of frequent, shallow hoe cultivation, G. B. Kidd of Lee county reported his tobacco was in good condition throughout the drought.

Approximately 400 men, women, boys and girls in Perry county made application to pick potatoes in Maine.

News From The State Capital

Commissioner of Industrial Relations L. C. Willis, today announced that the Department made 472 wage and child labor inspections during the month of August and that $566.43 in back wages was paid to 24 persons.

The Department's staff of field inspectors reported 260 safety inspections and 218 first aid inspections and suggested 43 corrections in various industries in order to eliminate as far as possible hazards that might lead to accidents among the employees of these places of business.

There were 1,428 accidents reported in various industrial and business establishments in Kentucky by the Workmen's Compensation Board which is an increase of 157 over the month of July.

The breakdown by industrial areas reveals that the greatest number of accidents, 256, occurred in the Louisville district. The Covington-Newport area sustained 45, Ashland-Caldwellburg 10, Owensboro-Henderson 34, Paducah-Mayfield 11, Hopkinsville-Bowling Green 10, and Lexington 19.

The Workmen's Compensation Board made 6 awards amounting to $15,094.57 in August and denied 1 claim. Total compensation on cases closed out totaled $127,130.21. There were 36 cases assigned and 53 docketed.

A total of 2,967 retail beer licenses, approximately the same number issued last year, has been issued since beginning of the current license year July 1, it was announced today.

With forty-three counties still listed as "wet," package whiskey licenses this year total 724 as compared to 725 last year and 595 drink licenses have been sold as compared to last year's 601, the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control announced.

Jefferson County, with 1,150 retail beer licenses, 243 package liquor permits and 224 drink licenses, leads other counties for this year.

A commission to study means of improving the condition of Kentucky Negroes has been appointed by Gov. Simeon Willis.

The commission of twelve, six of them Negroes, was created under an order by the Chief Executive to ascertain all the facts and conditions relating to the economic, educational, housing, health and other needs for the betterment of the Negro citizens of Kentucky.

The Chief Executive specified that the commission shall make a final report to him at least ninety days before the 1946 session of the General Assembly, and he ordered that all State agencies, including the University of Kentucky's research department, give full co-operation to the investigating body, whose members are to provide for their own expenses.

Ernest Robinson of Butler county saved about 1,800 pounds of vetch seed from six acres, and says enough seed was knocked off by the combine reel to reseed the field.

Independence R. 1

The farmers are very busy housing tobacco, and filling silos.

We are glad to report Mr. Sam Collins, who was injured by an auto at Walton a couple of weeks ago, is able to be out again and is at the home of his daughter Mrs. Lee Faulkner.

We are glad to see Dr. Chas. Petty of Independence out again. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rapp called on their daughter, Mrs. Denver Binder and family Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Miller and children of near Devon, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Emil Stein.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Keeney spent the weekend with relatives of Campbell county.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Riley and family visited Sunday with Mr. Riley's father, Mr. Chas. Riley, and helped to celebrate his birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Jim Stone of Walton spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Will Summey.

Mrs. Stacey visited over the weekend with relatives in Ohio. Mrs. Stella Richardson and Mrs. Will Gedkar spent Monday in Covington.

Mrs. Inez Chawning of Latonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hanna and son Jimmie, called on Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hanna, Sunday.

Mrs. Daisy Richardson and daughter, Helen visited recently with relatives of Hamilton, Ohio.

We were glad to see such a good number out to church services at Staffordburg, Sunday evening, to welcome our new pastor, Rev. Thomas. We will be glad to welcome all back the third Sunday morning and evening. Bring your neighbors and friends with you.

During July and August, 650 bushels of barley rye and 10,000 pounds of vetch were sowed in Harlan county, with 50 percent yet to be sowed.

With cucumber growers in Whitley county receiving good prices for their crops, it looks as though cucumbers would be a good crop in 1945.

'THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...'

"We can't argue with the Judge on that point, can we Mabel? It's not fair to penalize the many for the actions of the few."

"That, folks, is exactly what we would be doing in this country if we ever voted for prohibition again. Authorities who have made a careful study of the problem, report that only about 5% of those who drink abuse the privilege occasionally... 95% drink sensibly. Probably doesn't compare with the number of folks who overeat and do other things to excess. Prohibition certainly isn't the answer. It's not that simple. We had nearly 14 years proof of that, didn't we?

"The real answer is education and better control. In fact, the responsible members of the distilling industry are working constantly toward that end. They don't want anybody to abuse the use of their product any more than the three of us do."

"If everybody would take that sensible attitude, Judge, and cooperate as more and more are now doing, we'd be a lot better off a lot quicker."

NITRATE BOOSTS HAY 67 PERCENT

Seventeen Greenup county farmers who applied ammonium nitrate to meadows last spring got an average increase of 67 percent in hay production, according to County Agent John W. Irvine. Crops included alfalfa, lespedeza, red clover, timothy, orchard grass, redtop, bluegrass and mixtures of grasses and legumes.

Sol Bradley reported an increase of 277 percent in timothy hay production, as a result of applying 100 pounds of nitrate to the acre. Albert Hales got 120 percent increase in oats and lespedeza. At the McKell high school, bluegrass was improved 57 percent by the use of ammonium nitrate at the rate of 150 pounds to the acre.

OPA This Week

MEAT ITEMS URICES SET

Four major canned sausage items which retailers open and sell uncanned in slices or pieces, have been given dollars-and-cents ceilings, the OPA announced this week.

These items are spiced luncheon meat, spiced ham, pressed ham (boneless and chopped), and pressed pork (boneless and chopped).

The highest prices per pound that consumers may be charged for these items in the Lexington District are as follows:

In Group 1 and 2 stores: spiced luncheon meat, 57 cents; spiced ham, 59 cents; pressed ham (boneless, chopped) 60 cents; pressed pork (boneless, chopped), 58 cents.

In Group 3 and 4 stores: spiced luncheon meat, 52 cents; spiced ham, 54 cents; pressed ham (boneless, chopped) 55 cents; pressed pork (boneless, chopped), 53 cents.

OPA also announced that retailers of meat will now be allowed to sell pre-boned and pre-rolled roasts from short loins and standing ribs of utility and cutter and canner grades of beef.

These are of pre-boned and pre-rolled of an ygrade of beef except utility and canner and cutter grades is not permitted.

In Group 1 and 2 stores prices of rib roasts (boneless, rolled) is 34 cents per pound, and short ribs (boneless, rolled), 45 cents.

In Group 3 and 4 stores the ceiling prices are 31 cents for rib roasts (boneless, rolled) and 43 cents for short loins (boneless, rolled).

RATION POINTS ADJUSTED

Provision has been made for service men on leave or furlough 72 hours or longer to obtain furlough rations of processed foods on the basis of ten points for each nine meals, the OPA has announced.

The adjustment is necessary because point values of processed foods are now set in multiples of ten. It is possible, therefore, to buy rationed food only in multiples of ten points.

The amendment also provides that temporary food rations shall be issued to civilians who are eligible on the basis of ten points of processed foods for each seven days.

SCHOOLS MAY OBTAIN AID

The Lexington District OPA Office pointed out this week that it is possible for the schools to obtain financial aid from the Federal Government in the preparation and serving of lunches to their pupils.

To obtain this aid, OPA said, it is necessary for the schools to enter into a contract with the War Food Administration and to classify the services rendered according to the types of lunches served. Lunches are classified as A, B and C, depending upon their nutritional value.

When proper contact has been entered into with the WFA, schools may apply as new institutional users at local War Price and Rationing Boards. Food will be allotted on the basis of the number of pupils to be served and in quantities conforming to the type of lunches served.

KENTUCKY YOUTH TO SHOW CATTLE

Members of 4-H and Utopia clubs in 37 Kentucky counties are finishing near 100 carloads of cattle for the annual fat cattle show and sale to be held at the Bourbon Stock Yards in Louisville November 8, 9 and 10.

Cash prizes totaling $3,578, and three trips to Chicago and other premiums, will be given to winners in the show. Rings will include carloads, five head from carloads, calves raised by boys and girls, the best calves in each breed, and record books.

Counties finishing large numbers include Wayne, 105; Taylor and Grayson, 90 each; Garrard, Green and Pulaski, 75 each; Adair, 55 and Boyle 53. Ma counties will send 30 to 50 head each.

More than 200 head will be shown by members of Utopia clubs, organizations of older farm boys and girls. Utopia club members in Grayson county are finishing 60 head; Wayne and Garrard, 30 head each; Harrison 15, and Cumberland five.

M. S. Garside, in charge of the 4-H cattle feeding project, said the calves will be a little heavier than last year, when 4-H calves averaged 814 pounds and Utopia calves 871 pounds. Despite drought and feed shortage, many calves will be in top condition, he said.

Dairymen in Kenton county increased their milk supply by providing more and better water for their cows.

Balto rye seeded in Anderson county will save farmers thousands of dollars, it is reported by the county agent.

Trees containing about 90,000 board feet were found in 30 acres of woodland on the farm of Harold Bailey in Marshall county.

Homemakers' club members in Henderson county report canning 3,282 quarts of meat and curing 33,961 pounds of pork this year.

MARY FINNELL FARM

EMMA ROUSE ESTATE

AT AUCTION

On premises, farm located just off the Frogtown Pike, 1 mile southeast of Union, Kentucky via U. II S. 42 and the Frogtown Pike and 20 minutes from Cincinnati

SAT., OCT. 14th

10 A. M. (C.W.T.)

Miss Mary Finnell and the heirs of Emma Rouse, deceased, have contracted with us to sell this property at Absolute Auction in the following dimensions:

TRACT NO. 1—The Mary Finnell farm, consisting of 66 acres of productive bluegrass land. Every foot of this farm is in grass, and every field can be cultivated with a tractor. This farm is well supplied with water by good cistern, a good well, two springs and a pond. There is a 2.5 acre tobacco base. The improvements on this farm consist of a good 5-room frame house in good repair; good combination dairy and feed barn; milk house; two chicken houses; corn crib; and all necessary outbuildings. All the fencing is in good repair. It would take a lifetime to grow the shade on this tract.

TRACT NO. 2—The Emma Rouse Estate, consisting of 40 acres of unimproved land. This is fertile, productive bluegrass soil, with every foot in grass. There is not an acre of hill land on this tract.

PERSONAL PROPERTY—Six good Jersey cows, all fresh with calves by side; one farm team and harness; 1 mower; 1 hay rake; manure spreader; farm wagon with box bed and hay frame; 1 riding cultivator; 1 disc harrow; hog killing outfit, complete; and numerous other items including wire stretchers, corn drills, plows, rock bed, forks, shovels, crowbars, and all implements necessary to operate a farm.

HERE ARE TWO IDEAL SMALL FARMS READY TO WORK FOR YOU. FARM LAND IS THE FOUNDATION OF OUR PROSPERITY. PUT YOUR IDLE CAPITAL TO WORK BY INVESTING IT IN VIRGIN FARM LAND. JUST A SHORT DRIVE FROM YOUR OFFICE OR BUSINESS. PUT YOUR MONEY WHERE IT IS SECURE—WHERE YOU CAN PUT YOUR FOOT ON IT TODAY, TOMORROW, NEXT YEAR AND DIG YOUR DIVIDEND OUT OF THE SOIL!

Boone 4-H Champions Win Honors in District

Boone County's twelve 1944 4-H Club members competing in the District 4-H Club championship contest held in Covington last Saturday, October 14th, were awarded two district championships, five blue ribbons, two red ribbons, and two white ribbons, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent, and H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Boone, Kenton, Campbell, Bracken, Grant, Pendleton, Owen Carroll and Gallatin Counties competed in the contest.

Boone County district champions were: David King, Walton, on garden project and Mary McArthur, of Burlington, on room improvement project. Blue ribbon winners were: Eugene Geschwind of New Haven in tobacco project; Gloria Scott of St. Paul's in labor service; Barbara Lutes of Florence in canning; Jewell Vice of Burlington in Style Revue, and Kathleen Kenney, New Haven in clothing.

Red ribbon winners were: Paul Leek of Petersburg in labor service; Harold Wayne Kelly of Florence in sheep, and Flora Mae Johnson of Constance in poultry. White ribbon winners were: George Bullock of Hebron, in corn and Martha Lizer, of Burlington in foods. All the above winners were county champion 4-H Club members of 1944.

Railroader Retires

Verner D. Bailey

INDEPENDENCE MAN IS ON JOB 43 YEARS

To venture a correct guess of the thoughts of Verner D. Bailey, Independence, Ky., as he waves jauntily from the cab of his engine would prove a difficult feat.

Mr. Bailey just wound up 43 years of service with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway.

For 41 years, you might say, Mr. Bailey has been "on the go." On March 14, 1903, he was transferred to fireman, and June 14, 1906 he became an engineer.

Born Nov. 25, 1878, at Falmouth, Ky., Mr. Bailey, according to railroad files first entered service June 10, 1901, as a car cleaner.

The veteran engineer expects to settle down on his farm at Independence, where he and Mrs. Bailey moved to from Covington 14 years ago. His life there, no doubt, will follow that popularly conceived for a retired man, will earned after long and faithful service. He will supervise the farm work of tending to the garden and stock.

MRS. CLEEK TO ADDRESS UTOPIA CLUB

Mrs. J. F. Cleek of Beaver will address the Boone County Utopia Club on this Thursday evening, October 19th, on the subject, "Furnishing the Home from the Attic." The meeting will be held at the home of Mary Rector in Petersburg.

Carl W. Jones, Utopia Club specialist from Lexington, will also address the club on the 1945 program. Lucian Bradford, president of the club, announced that the annual election of officers will be held at the October meeting and that all members are requested to be present.

Chicken Supper at Piner

There will be a fried chicken supper at the Piner School House on Saturday, October 21st, sponsored by the Goshen Christian Church of Piner.

We will begin serving at 5:30 p. m. Complete supper 75 cents. Everyone invited.

A.A.A. RECEIVES 5,000 POUNDS OF VETCH

The Boone County A. A. A. office the past week received 5000 pounds of vetch seed to be distributed to farmers as A. A. A. grant of aid.

The season is getting late for the seeding of vetch according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent, Vetch however, is the best winter legume known for improving the fertility of soil where it is to be turned under the next spring.

Farmers eligible to A. A. A. grant of aid and have land to be seeded this fall should take advantage of the A. A. A. offer. Vetch for best results, should be sown on good ground and the seed should be inoculated.

Frost Kills Gardens; Crop Report From Country is Good

The first killing frost and freezing temperatures of the year hit Boone County Sunday night, October 15th-16th. Light frost hit last Friday night, but no reported damage was done.

The killing frost did considerable damage to late corn, some garden crops and also hit some tobacco that had not been cut.

The Bureau of Agriculture report received at the County Agent's Office indicates the splendid growing fall season has added greatly to crop yields this year. Estimated for the entire year, a few of the crops as of October 1st are: Burley tobacco —478,995,000 pounds compared with 390,004,000 pounds last year.

Wheat—1,192,254,000 bu. compared with 836,298,000 bushels last year.

Hay—Less than last year but not far from average.

Kentucky and Ohio were affected more by the drought than the country as a whole.

Livestock and poultry on hands this coming winter are expected to be about 15% less than the record year of 1943.

Political Pot Begins To Boil As Election Only Few Weeks Off

Candidate for Congress

Olin W. Davis

Olin W. Davis, Republican candidate for Congress from the Fifth District, has been a recent visitor in Walton and Boone County. Mr. Davis is Superintendent of schools in Dayton, Ky. and is now on an extensive speaking tour throughout the district.

MUST GIVE CORRECT ADDRESS TO GET CHECK

"Seldon R. Glenn, Collector of Internal Revenue of the District of Kentucky, requests all taxpayers who filed income tax returns for 1943 showing a refund due and who have moved and have not received their checks, to write him at Room 338 Federal Building, Post Office Box 50, Louisville, Kentucky, giving him the name and address as it appeared on the return, also the correct present address, as he is holding some 2,000 checks which have been returned for better addresses."

STEP UP AND LISTEN IT'S ALL FREE, BOYS

Democrats will throw everything but the water bucket at the G. O. P. in Kentucky within the next week an announcement of their scheduled radio time reveals.

Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler started the oratorical barrage Tuesday night and seven other party leaders are billed to follow him. All of the speeches will be broadcast from Station WHAS in Louisville.

The speakers, their dates and the time they will be on the air follow:

October 20—Ben Kilgore 8 to 8:30 p. m.

October 23—Rodes K. Myers 7:30 to 7:55 p. m.

October 24—John Y. Brown 7:30 to 7:55 p. m.

October 25—J. Lyter Donaldson 7:00 to 7:30 p. m.

October 26—Tom Underwood 9:00 to 9:30 p. m.

October 27—Senator Barkley and Ben Kilgore 8:00 to 8:55 p. m.

Many Scheduled To Use Radio Time

The hue and cry in Kentucky's political scramble increases as election day approaches.

Democrats and Republicans alike have stopped pulling their punches and now are swinging freely with the result that Old Man Apathy we have heard so much about is getting a whale of a belting in all sections of the state.

With election day two weeks from next Tuesday, the headquarters of both parties are tightening up their county organizations and making final preparations to get their vote out on election day.

Meantime the air waves resound with orators—the Democrats particularly coming up with an imposing array of speakers in the closing days of the campaign.

The state campaign chairmen haven't trotted out their claims of victory and predicted majorities yet but that can be expected any day now.

Senator Alben W. Barkley seeking reelection to a fourth term and his Republican opponent, James Park, of Lexington continue to hold the center of the stage during the passing days. Senator Barkley campaigning aggressively in all sections of the state is making his race on his own long record in Congress and the accomplishments of President Roosevelt and the national administration.

There has been critical of Barkley's record and plugs the Republican theme song as sung nationally by Governor Thomas E. Dewey.

Senator Barkley and Governor Willis have provided most of the campaign color with their question and answer—quizzes which ended abruptly when Senator Barkley heaved what he called a "record of broken promises" into the governor's lap.

Governor Willis has been doing most of his speech making in places other than Kentucky and Democrats have been openly saying the state's chief executive is timid about facing Kentucky audiences so soon after having repudiated all of the promises he made prior to last November.

An atmosphere of unity and harmony hovers over the Democratic camp and speakers of every hue and faction in the party are scheduled to be heard over the radio before the campaign ends.

Senator A. B. "Happy" Chandler started the ball rolling last Tuesday night and is to be followed by Ben Kilgore, Rodes K. Myers, John Young Brown, J. Lyter Donaldson and Tom Underwood, Lexington Editor.

United States Senator Claude Pepper and Governor Robert Kerr of Oklahoma have spoken in Kentucky and this will be all of the nationally known figures of the party to participate in the state campaign.

Republicans went the whole hog in this angle having brought Governor Dewey to the state for one speech and followed it with so many appearances of Governor Bricker, their vice presidential nominee, that the impression got around he might be running for constable.

Senator Barkley in the closing days of the campaign will be found in the wide sweeps of west Kentucky where the Democrats are strong. James Park is expected to busy himself in central Kentucky while raising his "eyes to the hills" where Republican majorities are reputed to dwell.

At this writing the national polls continue to place Kentucky in the Democratic column with 55 per cent of the vote which would mean a majority of 50,000 for the Democrats on a total combined party vote of 800,000. On this basis, the higher the total vote the greater the Democratic majority would become.

requestWHAT SHOULD ONE PAY FOR A FARM?

How much should one pay for a farm? A Kentucky College of Agriculture circular called "Farming as a Business," says:

"Records of good Kentucky farmers indicate that one should not pay more than five times the amount of an average year's gross receipts for a farm of good land (40 bushels corn yield or above). Such a farm should contain good and fitting improvements."

"For example, if one estimates that a farm will produce $2,000 worth of crops including pasture, a year, the farm might be worth $10,000 if improved with sufficient buildings and fences to care for the crops and livestock and a fair dwelling house and set of outbuildings. For soil only fair fertility the ratio should be lower than one to five."

WITH OUR
IN THE SERVICE*ESPECIALLY TO ADVERTISE

The following is one of the very interesting articles being written especially for the Walton Advertiser, by Cpl. Vernon Franklin Lipcomb, who is located somewhere in England.

BIG BEN

The proper name for the clock is St. Stephen's Clock Tower, Big Ben being the name of the bell contained therein, which is struck every hour. The tower is built on the site of the old clock tower which was destroyed by the great fire that burnt out the old House of Parliament in 1834. The building was built between 1837 and 1850. The Tower is 316 feet tall, and has 374 steps. The bell was made by the firm of Meers and Stainbank of the Whitechapel foundry in the East End of London; who have been making bells since 1570; they also made the famous Liberty Bell. The bell Big Ben was made out of the old bell of the old clock tower. The bell weight 13½ tons, and is cracked; it is due to this crack that the famous tone arises. The clock was made by Messrs Dent, and through being connected with Greenwich Observatory by electric circuit is correct to 1-1,000 of a second, should it exceed these limits, a penny is placed on or removed from the great pendulum, the difference in weight being ample to adjust the swing.

Each of the four dials are 23 feet in diameter, the figures 2 feet long, the minute spaces 1 foot square. The minute hand (of copper) is 14 feet and the hour 9 feet. The minute hand weight 2 cwt and the hour hand is heavier. The pendulum is 13 feet long beating 2 seconds.

In the base of the tower is the prison where refractory members of parliament are confined. The last being Charles Bradlaugh in 1880. The detention ends with the rising of the session.

At the top of the tower, in peacetime a light burns showing that the House of Commons is sitting.

THE REGENT

The Prince Regent was the Prince of Wales or eldest son of King George III. The King used to suffer from attacks of mental trouble, and whilst under these attacks, the sovereign rights were delegated to the Prince of Wales who acted under the title of Prince Regent. The Prince used to enjoy life on rather a lavish style, and his scandals were notorious. He resided at Carlton House, a palace which was sited where the Duke of York's memorial and Carlton House Terrace (which includes the German Embassy) now stand, beside the Mall, at the bottom of Regent Street.

It was the prince's wish to erect a country house in St. Marylebone Fields (now Regent's Park), approximately 1 mile distance, and at the same time have a road built connecting the two palaces; consequently he commissioned the great architect Nash to lay out this road in 1813; which runs up to Piccadilly, turning sharp left then taking a graceful right hand curve, and then, with one small exception, runs straight to the Regent's Park, crossing Oxford Street at Oxford Circus. Nash's street was pulled down and rebuilt after the last war. The street contains some of London's finest stores, restaurants, and places of entertainment. To the west of Regent Street, near Oxford Circus, lies St. George's Church, Hanover Square, where Theodore Roosevelt married his second wife.

In Burlington Gardens near the curve of Quadrant, is the famous shop of Truett's gentlemen's hair-dressers, been operating in the same premises since 1810.

Having crossed Oxford Circus we notice on our left the famous educational establishment known as the Polytechnic. On our right is St. George's Hall (destroyed in the Blitz), the home of the family of Maskelyne, the famous illusionists. Next door are the ruins of the Queen's Hall (London's Carnegie Hall), where the finest musicians, singers and orchestras of the world perform.

Here the road, takes a sharp left and right bend into Langham Place. The reason for this bend was that the man owning the land behind it would not sell it to the Prince Regent, and therefore the architect had to make this bend, but in order to disguise the turn and improve the view up the street, Nash erected All Souls Church with its rounded colonnaded porch supporting a steeple very much like a candle snuffer. Next door and right on the bend and running along Langham Place, is the modern building of the British Broadcasting Corporation, whose head offices and chief studios are contained therein; further up the street, will be seen adjoining this building, the cleared site for the Broadcasting House extension.

THE MARBLE ARCH

The Marble Arch, built in the year 1761, by Nash as the main gate to Buckingham Palace. It was a free copy of the Arch of Constantine in ancient Rome. The original scheme was to include a mounted statue of George IV placed on top; but the statue was erected upon completion in Trafalgar Square.

It was found, that upon completion the Arch was too narrow for the State Coach.

In 1851, Queen Victoria, had it removed to its present position to replace the Cumberland or Tyburn gate into the Park. In 1906, the railings of the park were set back in order to ease the traffic congestion. Inside the arch is a police station. Only members of the Royal family are permitted to pass under the arch.

COWS APPRECIATE PLENTY OF WATER

J. P. Jett of Robinson county, whose 21 cows produced 73,408 lbs. of milk in the first 7½ months of this year, told County Agent A. A. Williams that good water is one of the secrets of his success in dairying. He has three springs and water troughs on the farm where the cows always can get good, pure water.

Half of the farms in Robinson county need better water supplies, says Williams. Ten springs recently have been improved and as many concrete troughs made.

Hickman county farmers planted 1,040 bushels of hybrid corn this spring and will harvest an excellent crop.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

About a Kentucky Mother And Her Soldier Son

The trees were radiant with red and gold and the afternoon sun was Indian-Summer warm. Young Dan O'Neill, home on furlough, was stretched full length in the front lawn hammock. His Mother sat close by, content in the company of her only son.

"This," Dan said, "is what I call peace."

His Mother stroked his strong, bronzed hand. "Yes, Danny, it is!"

"And when I get back overseas," Dan continued, "I'm going to fight all the harder to prevent any future threats to American peace and freedom!"

I saw his Mother wipe her eyes—and swallow hard. She didn't try to speak... just then...

Well, from where I sit, that story of Mother and son further emphasizes the reason why we comfortable folks at home must not try to deprive our country of a single one of its rights and liberties... until the men who are fighting for them have their say in it in the matter, too!

"BEST FRIEND OF CHARLESTON"

MORE than a hundred years ago, perky little "Best Friend of Charleston" chugged proudly over the longest stretch of railroad in the world... the 136 miles between Charleston and Hamburg, South Carolina, now a part of the Southern Railway System.

Now, the South... and all America... reaps a rich reward from this historic achievement.

You can see it in the sleek giants that pull war-busy passenger trains out of bustling Southern Railway stations.

You can hear it in the rumble of powerful freight locomotives that speed Southern trains with the vital weapons of war.

Yes... the transportation services started by 1830's "Best Friend" are today the best friend of the farmer... the business man... the worker... the fighting man... the best friend of all who work and pray for Victory.

And when that bright day comes, there will be other important jobs for modern "Best Friends" to do. For a Southland abounding in energy and initiative... unbelievably rich in natural wealth... steadily expanding in agriculture, industry and commerce... will be needing the efficient, dependable transportation services of the 8,000-mile Southern Railway System.

Is He the UNLUCKY One?

One school child in five, on the average, has defective eyesight. And the percentage mounts to 4 out of 10 at college age. No parent can afford to neglect eyesight.

Even in these war-busy days, anyone can take these four simple precautions against eyestrain. Read them carefully and teach them to your children:

1. Do all reading, studying, sewing or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.
2. Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.
3. Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your work or book. Shut your shade eyes.
4. Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision can be greatly helped with proper glasses.

I'm a woman and a housewife. My husband works in a war plant and is making more money than ever before. Like many men and women, we have more money to handle than at any time in our married life. But thank God, we haven't forgotten that this money comes from the business of making war. Sooner or later it has got to come from the business of peace. And that is what I am afraid of.

It doesn't scare me to think that our government is spending right now many billions more than it is taking in in taxes to win this war, and that we and our children are going to have to shoulder this debt. The thing that scares me is that for eight years before the war, the same government in peace time spent twenty-seven billion dollars more than it took in, fighting one so-called emergency after the other.

In eight peace-time years they fought a depression which they claimed was the work of a Republican Administration. And after eight years and spending twenty-seven billion dollars more than they collected, we still had ten million people unemployed. And this is the crowd that is going to take up this same job after the war.

I'm a woman. I guess I'm just as susceptible to flattery and a smooth line of talk as any of my sex. But after twelve long years of the same old act, the same routine, the same jokes, the same glittering promises of paradise yet to come, I'm fed up to my ears. The talk is going in one direction and the country is going in quite another.

Men folk generally credit women with having a great amount of intuition. We've got more than that. We've got sense to look facts in the face when necessary. We may not like to do it, but we can, believe me.

And the fact we women of America have to face is that Santa Claus is for children, not for grown-ups.

I'm a woman. I know. I'm not fooled. Not after twelve years of watching, waiting and seeing this country drift into a fool's paradise. I have a stake in this country and in its institutions, and so have my two children. For them and for every mother's children I'm voting on November 7th for our Hoosier-happy Chief of the Indiana Bureau of The Courier-Journal, gets over to Louisville occasionally to report in person to his newspaper office, but he doesn't let any grass grow under his feet. Doc Ransdell is always in a hurry to get "back home in Indiana." For seven years before being made Chief of the Indiana Bureau, he held forth from the land of the Wabash and White rivers, as Indiana editor.

A. Brown Ransdell

With modesty typical of a good newspaper man, our Hoosier hot shot decries the fact that his journalistic labors lack the fire of a foreign correspondent's reports... and fail to match the eager emotionalism of Washington columnists. All of which simply proves that he is a sound fellow, well versed in day in, and day out chronicling of events. Ransdell hastens to add that he became day city editor of The Courier-Journal in 1925, just in time to help cover the famed "Floyd Collins-in-the-cave story"... a chop-licking assignment in any man's language.

Pleasantly personal, Doc's job consists of contacting Indianians whose activities make or affect the news... and to keep an eye open at all times for events that are of special interest or significance to Southern Indiana. He supplements news coverage of AP, UP, and INS, with interpretative, background and informed speculative reporting... thus insuring readers the best all round coverage of Indiana news.

OUR FARM NEWS

GIVES RULES FOR USING VENTILATOR ON BURLEY

The rule given here for operating burley tobacco barn ventilators applies only to the natural ventilation of tobacco barns. The rule has nothing to do with artificial heating.

A normal daily weather cycle is one in which the humidity is high at night and low in the daytime. The ideal curing season is one in which the average humidity over each 24-hour day is a few percent below the optimum range for good curing. The optimum range is 65 to 70 percent, which is the relative humidity that causes cured tobacco leaves to feel dry but not brittle; they will be slightly pliable but not in what one would call low case.

In a naturally ventilated tobacco barn, it is impossible to keep tobacco in good condition every hour of the day. On the contrary, the farmer expects that his tobacco will come in case during the night; but he also expects to dry it out in the daytime. What he hopes is that the average condition over a period of time will be just right for good curing. Therefore, in order to keep the average condition just right the farmer not only must watch the weather, he must also know something about the history of his tobacco; that is, how long it has been in case or how long it has been too dry. What makes the job difficult is that there are numerous times of uncertain weather when it is hard to decide whether the ventilators should be opened, or whether they should remain closed.

It is convenient to state the rule in several parts as follows:

1. Go to the barn two or three hours after sunrise; say, between 7 and 8 o'clock.

2. Observe the condition of the tobacco.

3. If it is desirable to lower the case of the tobacco, then, regardless of the general appearance of the weather, whenever the case of tobacco outside the barn is less than the case inside, the ventilator should be opened; whereas, if the case is greater than the case inside, the ventilators should be closed.

4. It is desirable to increase the case of tobacco inside the barn, then whenever the case outside is greater than the case inside, the ventilators should be open; whereas, if the case outside is less than the case inside the ventilators should be closed.

To find the case of tobacco outside the barn, keep a few cured leaves outdoors, continually under any convenient open shed.

This is the fifth of a series of articles on tobacco curing, furnished by the Kentucky Agriculture Experiment Station. The next deals with the closing of the ventilators in the late afternoon.

KENTUCKY WOMEN SEEK EASIER HOUSEKEEPING

There is a steady demand for information about reducing time and work in housekeeping, says the annual report of the extension division of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

Home management specialists of the college meet with homemakers' groups in demonstrating how work can be re-arranged, and some jobs even left undone, without affecting the morale or health of the family. Easier and better ways of housekeeping are demonstrated. Equipment is replaced so as to save steps or permit work to be done sitting instead of standing. Stoves are made so all articles can be had without moving something.

"Untold back and foot aches with resulting crossness have thus been prevented," says the college's report.

WOMEN HELP OUT IN WORK SHORTAGE

How women have helped out in the labor shortage in Taylor county is told by Farm Agent C. V. Bryant. Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Gabehart baled 7,415 bales of hay and straw for their neighbors, using a gasoline baler. Mrs. Gabehart tied the bales and blocked the baler, while Mr. Gabehart did the feeding. In the same county, Mrs. Selby Mitchell plowed an eight-acre field.

P. D. B. TREATMENT STOPS PEACH BORER

The peach tree borer, which is said to kill more trees than all other pests combined, can be controlled by placing paradiichlorobenzene (P. D. B.) around the trunk, according to the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

October is the best time to apply this material. Dirt is heaped up a couple of inches deep around the tree, and the P. D. B. crystals are poured in a circle a half-inch to an inch from the tree. Use a half-ounce for young trees, an ounce for trees 4 to 10 years old, and an ounce and a half for large, old trees. Cover the crystals with two inches of dirt.

Fumes from P. D. B. being heavier than air, sink into the soil and kill the borers. P. D. B. can be bought at most drugstores, and treatment costs from 2 to 3 cents a tree.

BUILDS 31 HOUSES FOR 93,000 CHICKS

Charles Stoker, Jefferson county, is building 31 poultry brooding houses in which he plans to brood 93,000 chicks a year. Associate Farm Agent Henry A. Quisenberry reports that Stoker expects to raise three broods 1,000 chicks in each house. Of concrete block construction, the houses are said to include the latest developments in insulation and ventilation.

GOOD YEAR IN EAST KENTUCKY REVEALED AT QUICKSAND FAIR

Exhibits at the annual Robinson Harvest Festival and Fair at the state Experiment Substation at Quicksand the last week in September indicated a good year in most of Eastern Kentucky, despite dry weather the early part of the summer. Nineteen counties sent corn, wheat, and other farm crops, vegetables, fruit, potatoes, hog, chickens, canned and baked foods, handicrafts and household and farm articles.

The corn show was considered one of the best ever seen in Eastern Kentucky. The tobacco exhibit also was exceptional. Alfalfa and lespedeza were among other crops exhibited.

The 4-H club division included exhibits of clothing, foods, poultry and other production.

Wood chopping, crosscut sawing and horseshoe pitching were included in this year's contests. John D. Vires, 64 years old, of Breathitt county, won the chopping championship by cutting an 11-inch log in one minute and 24 seconds. George Henson and Kelly Caudill, Breathitt county, sawed a 17-inch log in two in 37 1/2 seconds, thereby winning the sawing contest.

Forty-six top-flight pitchers entered in the horseshoe contest. Robert Landrum of Lost Creek took championship honors, with Jack Qualls of Jackson runner-up.

Principal speaker at the festival was Dr. T. W. Rainey of Lexington, a director of the Robinson Mountain Foundation, one of the sponsors of the festival and fair. Twenty-four 4-H clubs enrolling 700 members and 4-H club members gave a picnic at the fair.

The acreage of balbo rye in Bath county is expected to be increased from 300 to 400 percent this fall. More than 8,000 quarts of food were canned by 4-H club members in Webster county this summer.

Homemakers' clubs in Boyle county have given $30 for furnishings at Darnall Hospital, and are making 200 pairs of bedroom slippers.

FLORENCE School News

(Last Week's News)

The Florence School regrets to lose the pupils from the Erlanger district who have been asked by the Boone County Board of Education to return to their own school system because of overcrowded conditions in some of the rooms at Florence.

Miss Mary Bess Cropper of Burlington is our new County Librarian. She is at Florence every Wednesday. The following pupils work in the library at the different class periods: Ruby Dinn, Rosella Renaker, Barbara Huff, Mary Jane Yelton, Bobbie Martin, Lois Kampman and Robert Henneman.

The Boone County Band, directed by Mr. Dean Bloss played for the library at the different class periods. The following pupils work in the library at the different class periods: Ruby Dinn, Rosella Renaker, Barbara Huff, Mary Jane Yelton, Bobbie Martin, Lois Kampman and Robert Henneman.

The Senior Class entertained the Junior and Senior High School with a very interesting program Friday. It consisted of a devotional followed by vocal and instrumental music. Mrs. Eliza H. Thomas was the sponsor.

After the program the basketball cheer leaders were elected for the year. The three girls chosen were Anna Marie Caldwell, Betty Jo Jones and Mary June Newberry.

Our pupils living in the vicinity of Richwood and Kensington attended the dedication of the Richmond Honor Roll. Thirty-six names were placed on the board. Bobby Robinson and George Howard unveiled the board as all sang America. Friends of Sgt. James S. Smith, former teacher in the Florence School are glad to learn that he has recovered from an injury, received in service. He has been in a hospital in England.

ON KENTUCKY FARMS

Earl Word of Metcalfe county estimates that each bushel of hybrid corn planted, made him $100 more than the open pollinated variety.

It is estimated that farmers in Henry county will have seeded between 3,500 and 4,000 acres of balbo rye by the end of the season.

John R. Downing of Mason county received 25 cent above market price for his lambs from ewes treated with phenothiazine.

About 85 percent of the burley tobacco growers in Marshall county primed their tobacco this year.

Small plantings of onions, followed by dry weather which reduced the yield 50 percent, are reported from Laurel county.

Ross Martin of Powell county has primed over 1,000 sticks of leaves from four acres of tobacco.

In Jackson county, 1,686 farm homes reported producing three-fourths or more of their food requirements for the year.

The heavy late cutting of alfalfa in Barren county is said to be equal to two regular cuttings.

Because of the unusual amount of hybrid corn planted in Adair county it is estimated that 100,000 more bushels will be harvested than last year.

In Breathitt county, 469 4-H club members attended canning demonstrations and fall garden meetings.

News From The State Capital

Warden W. Jess Buchanan, of Eddyville penitentiary, has resigned, effective October 31, and will be succeeded by Dewey Ward, of Morgantown, former sheriff of Butler county.

The announcement has been made by State Welfare Commissioner John Quernstrom, who gave no reason for the decision of the warden to leave the post to which he was named in 1936 under Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Buchanan, 59 years old, whose home was near Morgantown, was a farmer who became sheriff in 1925 and made a notable record in law enforcement, including capture of 100 illicit stills and arrest of more than 200 moonshiners.

Later he engaged in the milling business and in 1932 came to Frankfort as an aide to Gov. Ruby Laffoon. Three years later he became a deputy U. S. Marshall for the Western Kentucky District. He quit that post for the job as warden.

C. B. Lattimer, of Glasgow, has been chosen chairman of the State Workmen's Compensation Board at a meeting of that group. He succeeds E. Poe Harris, who resigned recently to accept an appointment as judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

John Shepard, of Covington, succeeded Harris at board member. Lattimer was nominated by Claude Hammons, of Corbin, who was also appointed to the board the same day as Lattimer and there was also for the chairmanship.

Appointment of educational directors at three Kentucky penal institutions is announced by J. S. Brown, educational supervisor in the State Department of Welfare. W. Ralph King, formerly principal of schools in Lincoln County, who was recently discharged as captain from the U. S. Army, was made superintendent of schools at the Kentucky House of Reform at Greendale.

Jakie Howard, formerly principal of Bell County High School at Pineville, and assistant field director with the American Red Cross, was appointed as educational director at the Kentucky State Reformatory at LaGrange.

T. H. Likens, formerly principal of the Sharon Grove High School at Elkton, and the Caneyville High School at Leitchfield, and teacher in schools in Jefferson county was made educational director at the Kentucky Penitentiary in Eddyville.

Dr. H. T. Squifflet, of Harrodsburg, has been commissioned a captain in the Kentucky Active Militia. It was reported from the office of Adjutant General G. H. May. The order said he had been assigned as dental officer attached to headquarters of the Second Battalion of the Second Regiment of the militia.

Burgess J. Bothrum, Somerset, has been appointed to the Court of Appeals by Gov. Simeon Willis to fill the vacancy caused by resignation of Chief Justice Will H. Fulton, Bardonia, serving from the Third Appellate District.

Judge James W. Cammack, Owen-ton, will become chief justice when Fulton leaves October 16 under the court's rotation system.

Bothrum, a Republican, born in Rockcastle County and 70 years of age, has served commonwealth's attorney, circuit judge, member of the Legislature and as State tax commissioner, being named to that post in 1928 by Gov. Flem D. Sampson, a Republican.

His appointment—second made by Willis, who recently named E. Poe Harris, Cadetsburg, to succeed the late Alex L. Ratliff, Pikeville—will give the State's highest court a membership of 5 Democrats and 2 Republicans.

Miss Virginia Evelyn Engle, Berea, has been appointed State Librarian by Gov. Simon Willis to replace Mrs. Ethel G. Cantrell, Frankfort.

Miss Engle, born in McKee June 14, 1901, has been connected with Berea College since 1929 and its Librarian since 1934.

She is a Berea graduate who has taught school and taken special courses in library work, including a bachelor of science degree in library science at Western Reserve University in 1934. She will take the $3,000-a-year post October 15.

HOMEMAKERS SAVE CROP OF TOMATOES

When truck growers in Greenup county threatened to disc under acres of ripe tomatoes because of the unsatisfactory market price and the labor situation, homemakers took over the job of canning hundreds of bushels of this fruit, relates Home Agent Nell Jo Click. Of the 900 quarts put up at the Wartland community center, a large part will be used for school lunches. It is estimated that tomatoes were salvaged throughout the county to make more than 2,000 quarts when canned.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS TO FURNISH MEAT FOR ARMED FORCES

Kentucky 4-H club members who raise high-quality stock to provide meat for the armed forces will receive "Certificates of Appreciation" signed by Major General E. B. Gregory, the quartermaster general of the U. S. Army.

Included will be many of the 620 boys and girls now finishing calves for the annual fat cattle show and sale to be held at the Burbon Stock Yards in Louisville Nov. 8, 9 and 10, according to the 4-H club department at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Lexington. To get one of these certificates, a boy or girl must certify through his or her county agent that he wishes the meat from his calf or other animal to go directly to the Quartermaster Corps, so that soldiers, sailors, airmen and men of other armed services may have the best food in the world.

Members of 4-H clubs in 37 counties are finishing about 1,500 head of calves for the Louisville show.

From 28,000 acres, farmers in Carlisle county expect to harvest 1,000,000 bushels of corn.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?"

"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise'."

"Bootleggers must stop Ceiling Prices", "Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck". Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?"

"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this county. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor...plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."

...and then came the highways

AMERICA'S growth has largely followed the routes of American railroads. They penetrated the wilderness and created wealth for the Nation. Around these efficient arteries of transportation grew great cities, busy industrial centers and prosperous farming communities.

Subsequently, fine highways were constructed. The railroads not only carried most of the materials to build those modern thoroughfares, and spent large sums for separation of grades at crossings for public safety, but have actually contributed greatly in taxes for highway construction and upkeep. In 1943, for example, about $800,000 of L&N tax payments were allocated for highway purposes in the 13 states through which it operates.

Highway separations at railroad grade crossings have become increasingly important as faster-moving vehicles have multiplied. Originally, railroads were—and in some states still are—required to bear the largest part of the cost of such separations, although the public has always received the greater benefits.

Certain states have now recognized that equity calls for a fairer distribution of the costs.

OPA This Week

GAS RATIONING PROGRAM BROADENED

The Office of Price Administration has broadened its gasoline rationing program to include a number of functions that heretofore have been handled by the Office of Defense Transportation.

All operators of commercial motor vehicles that require certificates of war necessity—such as buses, trucks, taxis, rental cars, etc.—will be affected by the change OPA and ODT announced.

Under the new procedure, applications by commercial motor vehicle operators for temporary and non-recurring rationing will be made to OPA local War Price and Rationing Boards rather than ODT District Offices. These rationing will be issued by local Boards and any appeals from decisions of the Boards will be handled by OPA. Thus OPA will have complete authority over the issuance of such additional rationing.

The change is expected to improve service and be of much greater convenience to commercial motor vehicle operators, since operators will have available 5,500 OPA local Boards as compared with 142 ODT District Offices.

PRICE EXPIRATION DATE CHANGED

At the request of the War Department and the Rubber Director, the automatic expiration date for temporary increases in the ceiling prices of manufacturers and wholesale distributors of certain rubber tires has been changed from October 15, to December 15, 1944, the OPA announced this week.

PRICING CHANGE ANNOUNCED

Intermediate sellers of potatoes and onions cannot base their ceiling prices for current sales on the largest single purchase during the preceding week, the OPA has announced.

Effective October 14, 1944, intermediate sellers are required to figure their ceiling price on each individual lot of potatoes and onions received.

RATION BOOKS TO BE "TAILORED"

War Ration Books 3 and 4, when issued to replace lost or destroyed books, will not necessarily contain the same number of stamps that were in the books at the time of their loss or destruction, the OPA said this week.

Effective October 20, 1944, local and Rationing Boards will, before all expired stamps and all currently issuing a new ration book remove valid stamps that were valid on the date of application, except the last stamp or series of stamps that became valid on or before the date of application for the new book.

FLORENCE SCHOOL NEWS

Florence school has passed its first months milestone with a most successful year in the making. The new principal, Mrs. Sibbia Palmer has under her a very efficient staff of teachers, almost everyone of which, has completed at least two years of college, three who are working on their Master's degree.

They have this year, the band which is enrolling new students to its capacity of available instruments—thanks to Mr. Bloss, a most efficient director.

They have a school paper which is a credit to any school. This paper, "The Beacon," is edited solely by the pupils, even drawing its reports from the lower grades. This furnishes an active course in journalism throughout the system.

Their chapel programs are put on each week by the pupils themselves and during the year each child enrolled will be included in the programs.

Plans are now under way to increase the library extensively. They also are equipping a laboratory for science work.

A Statement Regarding the DEMOCRATS FOR DEWEY Organization in Kentucky

The Kentucky group is part of the national Democrats for Dewey organization with headquarters in Chicago, which believes that the best interests of the Democratic Party can be served by the election of Governor Dewey on November 7. Our reasons for this are briefly:

1. No president elected by either party should maintain his term of office through 16 years.
2. The Communist backing and P. A. C. Slush Fund support of the New Deal is unwholesome and un-American.
3. A postwar anti-New Deal congress set against a New Deal executive would make for a divided government and the same chaotic condition for bringing about lasting peace which followed World War I.
4. Supporting the cause of a free government is the first patriotic duty of every American regardless of political affiliation, race or creed.

If you believe as we do, help America now to regain her freedom—politically, economically, and socially. Any person wishing to contribute to this great Democratic movement is invited to send a contribution to

Democrats Confident As Election Day Nears

With the campaign slipping into its closing days Kentucky Democrats confidently look forward to election day, Tuesday, November 7 as Victory day.

They had, they declared every reason for confidence. Senator Alben W. Barkley, who is spearheading the party's fight in the state, has thus far waged an aggressive and fruitful campaign. His speeches have been good and his crowds large and enthusiastic.

Kentucky Democrats long known for their factionalism have displayed a unity in the present campaign that has surprised observers.

Party leaders of all size and stature have been and are vigorous in their support of President Roosevelt Senator Barkley and the party's congressional nominees. This has been reflected in the excellent organization, Campaign Chairman Harry Lee Waterfield has been able to assemble in every county in the state.

"We will win every congressional district but one—the ninth—is Chairman Waterfield's confident way of expressing himself concerning the election.

"We will win back the fourth district," he declares, "and where we had a close race in the seventh district two years ago, all indications are that Congressman Jack May will be reelected by a decisive majority this year."

Democratic leaders are making a particular effort to roll up old time party majorities in the first and second congressional districts where the party is traditionally strong.

Chairman Waterfield is enthusiastic over the requests for absentee ballots that both service men and women and industrial workers have made of the Secretary of State.

"The request for such ballots is a good omen. The bigger the demand, the more Democratic votes we can be assured of," Waterfield declared, and pointed out that a recapitulation of requests made for such ballots showed that them most requests for ballots were coming from Democratic counties in the state.

Senator Barkley will spend the last week or ten days of the campaign in the first and second congressional districts. In his speeches there as in other sections of the state, he will urge all Kentuckians to vote expressing his belief that a heavy vote will insure the reelection of President Roosevelt and the Democratic ticket."

4-H Champions Compete at District

4-H Club champions from Grant, Owen, Pendleton, Bracken, Carroll, Gallatin, Boone, Campbell and Kenton counties participated in the 4-H District Achievement meeting held in Covington, Saturday, October 14. Club members were accompanied by local leaders, home agents and county agricultural agents from the various counties.

The high light of the day's program was the talk by Thomas P. Cooper, Dean and Director of the College of Agriculture, Lexington, Kentucky. He stated that club work was four sided; it is the job of the Club Department and the Extension agents to bring the opportunities of 4-H Club work to the attention of club members and parents. The club members must choose to carry out the projects to completions in order to achieve. The parents' part is to encourage the boys and girls to encourage and complete the projects. The club leaders have the important part of helping the club members and in assisting with the 4-H club program in their local groups.

The County 4-H Achievement Program is a part of the State and National 4-H Achievement Programs in which 1,700,000 4-H Club boys and girls will participate on Saturday November 4th through a national 4-H radio program between the hours of 12:30 and 1:30 p. m. Dean Cooper, State Extension Director, will address 4-H Club members at 12:50 p. m. over radio station WHAS on this date.

A 4-H Club member to receive an achievement certificate must have carried on one or more approved agricultural or home economics projects in 1944, under the supervision of parents and local adult leaders and must turn in to his club a written project report. The 83 Boone County adult leaders and 68 junior captains are also eligible to receive special recognition certificates.

4-H SISTERS WIN AT BUTTERMAKING

Following a series of district contests participated in by 4-H club members from 12 counties, Irene and Lorraine Esslin, Lincoln county, were declared state team winners in their demonstration on butter making. They showed the making of butter from sweet cream, then how butter is washed, worked and packed. Marian Workman, 4-H club member from Calloway county, was individual winner with her demonstration of the use of cottage cheese in salads. Each of the winning contestants was given a $50 war bond by the Kraft Cheese Company, sponsor of the demonstrations.

RATION BOOKS LOST

Will the finder of Ration Books 3 and 4 belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Twilbee and son, Walton R2, also coal oil ration book, please return to owner.

D. L. Lusby, A. H. Gaines, R. P. Hughes and Walter D. Vest have announced the formation of a company for the construction and operation of a frozen food locker plant for Walton and surrounding territory.

A contract has been signed for construction of the plant as soon as government regulations will permit. It is hoped to have the plant in operation not later than February 1.

The building of this plant has been contemplated for some time and we are glad that arrangements have been made for the plan to proceed. The advantages of a locker plant are numerous to a farming community. One of the things which has made them so beneficial is the fact that users may have fresh vegetables, fruit and meat at any time, preserved in their original condition, by being quickly frozen at sub-zero temperatures at a cost far below the cost of the production of season. Users may raise their own produce or purchase foods when the market is low and thereby affect a considerable saving in cost. Also the freezing process preserves many valuable elements in foods which are lost by canning or pickling.

The new owners state that the actual construction of the plant will begin as soon as the necessary user sign agreement forms. Under regulations of the War Production Board it is necessary to secure advance rentals for a certain percentage of the locks of the plant before the necessary work can be started. It is estimated that construction priorities can be granted within two or three weeks after the necessary users are obtained.

All persons interested are requested to contact any one of the owners or call at the State Bank for full information.

The construction of this plant is a forward step for the community and the men responsible are to be commended for making this new service available to our people.

METHODIST CHURCH FELLOWSHIP DINNER

There will be a Fellowship Dinner at the Methodist Church this coming Sunday October 29th. Immediately after the preaching service on Sunday morning. All families are asked to prepare their tables for a noonday meal before coming to church and then bring it along for the big family fellowship meal.

Dr. S. C. Rice our district Superintendent will be with us and preach at ten o'clock hour and the pastor is asking that every member be present and that those members who have a husband or wife not belonging to our church bring them along for the occasion.

There will be no offering taken as our purpose is for fellowship and blessings as we unite together in Christian love.

The pastor, Chas. G. Dearing.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Several friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Robbins of Big Bone Sunday to celebrate the birthday of little Judy Robbins who was two years old Wednesday.

Those who enjoyed the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Beach of Napoleon, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Atha and son of Verona, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Robbins and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Snyder of Florence, Mrs. Thelma Sturgeon and daughter, Cinnamon, Mrs. Lulu Coppage and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Snyder of Union, Mrs. Omer Atha and children, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kite of near Big Bone, Miss Maude Atha of Covington and the host and hostess and two little daughters, Mr. Dick Ryan of the Beaver-Walton road called in the afternoon. All left at a late hour wishing little Judy many more happy birthdays.

KENTUCKY SWINE PRODUCTION OFF

Selling of sows during the past year brought Kentucky hog numbers down to almost pre-war levels. Fall pig production is estimated at 800,000 head, compared to 1,294,000 for the fall of 1943. The year's production is estimated at 1,862,000 head, compared to 2,730,000 head in 1943.

OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

FREED FROM GERMAN PRISON CAMP

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Coleman of Stauntonburg rejoined to hear the voice of their son John as he called from New York, after spending several months in a German prison. He was liberated by our armed forces and is on his way home on furlough.

HOME ON LEAVE

Petty Officer 2-c Peter H. Robinson of the Atlantic Fleet arrived in Union early Monday morning for a nine day leave with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Everett Robinson. Another son Pfc. Everett A. Robinson is stationed in the South Pacific with the Radio Signal Corp.

NOW IN SERVICE

Two of Union's very outstanding young men John Newman and Bobby Smith left for military duty early Saturday morning. We learn that John chose the Navy and is stationed at Great Lakes Training Center, while Bobby was assigned to a camp in South Carolina as a U. S. Marine. Union is very proud of its many boys and girls of Our Armed Forces and we extend our best wishes to each and every one of them.

Word has been received here that Pfc. Clifford Ryan who is stationed at Santa Monica, Calif., was chosen to play the part of a Chinese gunner by Hollywood scouts for the forthcoming picture "China Sky". Pfc. Ryan spent several days at the studios in Hollywood. Randolph Scott and Ruth Warwick are starred in the picture it is to be released in January.

ESPECIALLY TO ADVERTISER

The following is one of the very interesting articles being written especially for the Walton Advertiser, by Cpl. Vernon Franklin Lipscomb, who is located somewhere in England.

QUEEN VICTORIA MEMORIAL

This was erected in 1912, by the nation that form the British Empire to the memory of the Queen who had reigned from 1837 to 1901 (65 years), the longest reign of any British sovereign. It is made of white marble, upon granite base. Sir Thomas Brock, R. A. was the designer. The height of the memorial is 82 feet. The statue of the Queen looking down the Mall, is 13 feet tall, and carved from one block of marble (8 tons). Each side of the queen are groups symbolizing Truth and Justice; facing the palace is a group representing motherhood, the Queen being a mother of a large family of 9 children; two of which are still living; the Princess Beatrice and Louise. At the base of the two flights of steps leading up to the terraces are figures of bronze representing Education, Peace, Industry and Agriculture each guarded by the British Lion. Overlooking the two large foundations that surround the memorial are groups representing Science and Engineering. The memorial is surrounded by a gold plated group portraying Victory supported by Courage and Constancy. The beautiful railings of the Palace, the marble balustrades of the parks, the flower beds and carved columns and gates are all part of the scheme.

UNION

VETCH KEEPS LAND IN GOOD CONDITION

W. N. Clark of Washington county has found that hairy vetch, turned under when in bloom, makes good fertilizer, his 1943 crop of tobacco bringing him more than $500 on six-tenths of an acre. In 1941 Clark started growing and turning under vetch on land which for 18 years had been in row crops. His tobacco crop that year yielded 750 pounds and brought him $300. In 1942, his crop of 852 pounds sold for more than $400, while the 1943 crop of 1,050 pounds sold for over $500. Farm Agent Troll Young reports that Mr. Clark has used no manure or commercial fertilizer of an kind on the plot. Instead, he seeded hairy vetch at the rate of one bushel per acre and then turned it under when it was in bloom.

Life's Too Short for Idle Bickering

Bill Barry dropped in to see me one day last week. All smiles, he was, and proud as a peacock. "Just got a letter from my soldier boy overseas," he said. "Been promoted to first lieutenant, he tells me."

"Well, young Bill always was quick to catch on," I told him. "Don't know about that, Joe," said Bill. "But he's learned one thing that's mighty important in this day and age. That's to get along with others—men of all classes and creeds. Without bickering over trifles and with due allowance for the other fellow's point-of-view."

"He's learned to make his sole objective the winnin' of this war and makin' this world a better place to live in."

"Well, Bill," I said, "From where I sit that broad-minded tolerance of his—that respect for the rights of others—religious, political and social—is the thing needed most to do the job, both abroad and here at home, during these trying days of war."

"Worship for All"

WHAS

Rendering practical aid to listeners who grapple with the cares of life

WHAS is the first station ever to offer a sustaining broadcast service ... endowing religion with a full-time place on its staff.

"Worship for All" is what the name implies, a message with broad appeal to all ages, all creeds, church and unchurched alike, applying the principles of religion to major problems of the day. Heard Monday through Friday, 1:45-2:00 P.M., the service opens with a theme song especially written for it, has a brief prayer, three well known hymns and the eight-minute sermon.

Holder of degrees from Hiram College (Ohio) and the University of Chicago in religion and social sciences, Burns took a pastorate for four years, then turned to child welfare foundation work. Prior to joining WHAS he served Milligan College, Tennessee, as college pastor, dean, professor and finally president. Tempered by life, Burns has seven grown, married children with whom he recently celebrated the arrival of his 17th grandchild. "Worship for All" has been on the air only since September 1st, yet many listeners have written us their appreciation of this much needed service.

Dedicating the power of 50,000 watts to the greatest message of all time!

RADIO STATION

My wife and I were talking about it the other evening, after the two youngest had gone to bed. Mary is 10 and Bill is 8. Henry is in the service over-seas.

I said, "Mary, did you ever stop to think that our kids don't know that in America we ever had another president in the White House. Sure, they read about Washington and Lincoln and Jefferson and Wilson, and men like that who brought our country through some pretty rough times, but these men are sort of like myths to them. They're not real."

Mary said, "I know, John, and it worries me. You and I were brought up with the idea that America meant that any man could be president. Have we come to a time when anybody who even pretends he's got the stuff to lead this country isn't worthy of the opportunity? What does it mean, John?"

I couldn't answer, at least not then. But I think I know now what it means when we get the idea planted in us that out of 130,000,000 people, only one man can lead this country.

I know they had that same idea in Germany and Italy. I don't want to see it in America. Funny how can't see get blinded and can't see what kind of pie we're eating, because of some nice white frosting or a clever radio voice.

I know as well as the next fellow that there are a lot of problems ahead of us. Jobs have got to be had by the boys when they come home. To my way of thinking they'll get them one of two ways—by letting business have a chance to make jobs—or they'll get them by having the government tax and spend, and tax and spend the shirts off our backs.

That means that every cent I've got and every penny I can save, the insurance policy I took out to pay for Bill's and Mary's education, are going to have a tough time seeing Mary and me through, once this country has to depend on something besides a war that is killing our boys to put money in people's pockets.

It takes more than one man's assurance to cover that up. I remember the same voice telling Mary and every mother in America, back in 1940, that our boys would not be sent into any foreign wars. With me its like seeing my kid handed a lollipop and at the same time taking her doll. It makes me see red!

Somewhat I feel that we'll wake up before it's too late, that even the people who have liked a lot of things that have been done will wake up to the terrible price they are going to pay.

That's why I'm saying a prayer that on November 7th our government will come back into the hands of the people, by the votes of millions like me who will vote for

THE CHRISTIAN MOTIVE FOR LIVING

International Temperance Sunday
LESSON TEXT—Psalm 4:3-8; Luke 4:4;
John 8:33; Romans 12:1, 2; 13:12-14.
GOLDEN TEXT—Seek those things which are above—Colossians 3:1.

Disciplined living should be the goal of each of us. Life is not to be lived carelessly, influenced by chance events or passing impulses. Such discipline of life would keep men from the temptations which lead them into intemperance and sin.

A life can be properly disciplined, only as it is controlled by Christian motives. Such a life has:
I. Spiritual Gladness (Ps. 4:3-8). The psalmist had faced the distressing questioning of men who derided him for his faith. They were unbelievers who demanded of him what good his religion did (v. 6). He has an answer, and it is the testimony of his own experience.

Those around him sought gladness in the harvest of grain and in the wine which was supposed to give a lift to their spirits. This was their joy. Well, the man of God had something infinitely superior. He had gladness in his heart. It was not dependent on outward circumstances—it was within.

Then note, too, that it did not rest on something that happened, or on some fellow man. "Thou (God) hast put gladness in my heart." That means real joy and satisfaction.

II. Spiritual Food (Luke 4:4; John 8:33). It is delightful to have true gladness, but man needs food if he is to grow and to work. That is true spiritually, for he must have the needed nourishment of life here also.

Jesus when tempted (Luke 4:4) because He was hungry saw beyond the temporal need, and declared that life should be controlled by a higher principle. The spiritual has a place of supremacy over the physical in the life of the Christian man or woman. The body with its desires is to be subject to the definite control of the spirit, which takes its orders from God.

The explanation of the awful alcoholic debauchery of our day is found right here. Men have given their bodies the extreme pleasure and they are driven by the lusts of their flesh. What they need more than legal reform or restriction of sale of liquor (and we believe in both) is the regeneration of their souls by the grace of God in Christ Jesus. Let us bring them the gospel.

John 8:35 makes known the fact that Jesus, the bread of life, satisfies every need of men. Every normal hunger and thirst finds full satisfaction in Him. Have you tried Him as the One to meet the need of your hungry heart?

III. Spiritual Service (Rom. 12:1, 2). "Reasonable service," says the Authorized Version; "spiritual service," says the Revised Version. Both are right. The man who is really reasonable will be spiritual and will render to God a sacrificial service.

Note that it is a "living sacrifice" that is said to be "holy, acceptable to God." This is not a case of a single act of deep devotion (great as that may be), but a going on in the daily walk to live for Christ. That calls for grace and power, and He is ready and willing to give both to each of His children.

That experience with God means a non-conformity to the world, which is too little spoken of and less practiced in the church today. The one who professes to follow Christ is simply not to be conformed to the ways of this wicked world. There is to be a completely transforming experience of the grace of God, that takes you out of this world while you are still in it.

IV. Spiritual Walk (Rom. 13:12-14). Christians are the children of the morning. They walk in the light (I John 1:7). This world walks in darkness. No one needs any argument to prove that point—just look about you.

The deeds of darkness are evil deeds, and men dwell in darkness because they love evil (John 3:19). That means that the children of light must walk circumspectly and "becomingly" (that's a good word!) in this world. This may attract others out of the darkness into the light, so that they too may put aside "reveling and drunkenness," yes, and also "strife and jealousy." Those go together.

The way to victory is to be clothed with the Lord Jesus and His righteousness (v. 14). That is a real "armor of light" with which we may be protected. Note also that we are studiously to avoid making any provision for the desires of the flesh. Put such things away, and with them will go the temptation to use them. Some professing Christians need to heed this word by destroying some beverages which they may have on hand—just to give one example.

UPSET STOMACHS YIELD INCHES OF GAS AND BLOAT

"I was so full of gas I was afraid I'd burst. Sour, bitter substance rose up in my throat from my upset stomach after meals. I got ERB-HELP, and it worked inches of gas and bloat from me. Waistline is way down now. Meals are a pleasure. I praise Erb-Help to the sky."—This is an actual testimonial from a man living right here in Walton.

ERB-HELP is the new formula containing medical juices from 12 Great Herbs; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering—Get Erb-Help. Jones Drug Store.

By MILDRED KEISO
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

THE boy stood just inside the door of the crowded coach and looked anxiously up and down the aisle. In his left hand he held a paper suitcase. His right arm was in a sling. "Why in blazes doesn't somebody help the kid find a seat?" Joe Murphy fumed. The train swung around a curve and the boy and his bag banged against the wall. Joe saw him wince. That arm, of course. He jumped to his feet and strode forward. "Here, kid," he said. "Gimme that suitcase. And you come and sit with me." He scooped at the other passengers as he piloted the boy toward the back.

"See, thanks!" the boy said gratefully. "Guess you wouldn't should be riding around," he apologized, "but Mollie wrote me to come home on the train. She thought it would take too long for me to drive the truck up to Plainville."

"Been in Plainville long?" Joe asked, just to be polite.

"I've been in the hospital. I broke my arm cranking the truck," he said. "I had to have X-rays and things. Right now," he said bitterly, "when we're busy with the spring planting!"

"You live on a farm?" This time Joe's voice was eager and interested.

The boy nodded. "A little ways out of Galata," he said. "It ain't much of a town."

They sat in companionable silence for a while, then the boy leaned over and shyly touched the stripe on Joe's sleeve. "I guess you have to be pretty good to get one of those," he ventured.

"Aw, not so good," Joe answered gruffly. For the first time he was a little ashamed of that single stripe. There might have been more, he knew, if he had worked a little harder. But what the heck did it matter? There wasn't anyone to be proud of him, even if he wore eagles on his shoulders.

The train began to slow down. "Here," Joe said, "I'll carry your suitcase." On an impulse he dragged his own bag from the shelf.

"Are you getting off here?" the boy asked.

"Might as well," Joe shuttered.

A girl with wind-blown curls and laughing mouth seized the boy. "Oh, Davey!" she cried. "It's good to have you home." Then she looked up at the tall figure behind the boy.

"This is a soldier I met on the train," Davey explained. "He got me a seat and carried my suitcase." The girl held out a friendly hand. "Thank you, soldier," she said.

Joe felt his ears getting red. "That's all right," he muttered. Then he remembered, "My name is Murphy. Joe Murphy."

"Private First Class," the girl supplied. "Davey can hardly take his eyes off that stripe. I'm Mollie Evans," she added, "Davey's sister."

Joe walked with them to the truck. "You'll have to crank it," Davey told him.

"Is anyone meeting you?" the girl asked.

"No, ma'am," Joe said. "I just got off with the kid. I figured to go on by the next train."

"When you're coming home with us for supper," the girl said firmly. "No excuses. Chicken and dumplings in honor of Davey's return."

Dimples flashed in her cheeks, and Joe couldn't take his eyes off them. "All right," he said at last. "Maybe I can help your father fix that starter. Happens I know a little about trucks. My folks live on a farm, too."

But there wasn't any father. Or any mother either. There was only Granny. "Both killed in an automobile accident," Granny told him when they were alone. "We don't talk much about it on account of Davey's being so nervous."

Mollie drove him to the depot after supper. Joe groped for the words he should say. "I lied to you today," he blurted at last. "When I told you my folks lived on a farm. I've told it in camp so many times I kind of got to believing it. I haven't any folks, and I was never on a farm in my life until today."

"Do you want to tell me about it, Joe?"

"There isn't much to tell," he said. "I was raised in an orphanage in Brooklyn, and when I grew up I got a job driving a truck. In camp the fellows were always telling about their folks and the kind of homes they had, and so I told 'em my folks lived on a farm in Iowa. Then when the furloughs came all the fellows had places to go but me. I didn't want them feeling sorry for me," he said defensively, "so I went down to Des Moines and hung around. I expect we'll be shipping out pretty soon."

"I see. There was something in her voice that made Joe feel a little dizzy. "And when you get back," she said, "maybe you can come and help Granny and Davey and me run the farm. We need you, Joe," she said simply.

The train whistled to a brief stop and then was on its way. With eager step and shining eyes he strode down the aisle. Joe Murphy, Private First Class, whose folks lived on a farm.

Three Republican Administrations

WATCHED THE FARMER SINK DEEPER AND DEEPER INTO THE DEPRESSION—AND DID NOTHING ABOUT IT

THEY WATCHED FARM-PRICES, AND FARM-INCOMES, FALL, FALL, FALL—AND DID NOTHING!

THEY WATCHED AMERICAN FARMS BLOW AWAY AND WASH AWAY—AND DID NOTHING!

THEY WATCHED MILLIONS OF ACRES OF AMERICAN SOIL LOSE THEIR FERTILITY—AND DID NOTHING!

One Democratic Administration

BECAUSE IT WANTED TO HELP THE FARMER, WAS ABLE TO:

- RAISE FARM INCOME TO PARITY WITH CITY INCOMES
- CUT FARM DEBTS, INTEREST RATES AND FARM TAXES
- RECLAIM MILLIONS OF ACRES OF FERTILE LAND
- REFOREST THE NATION
- BUILD NEW HARD ROADS FOR FARMERS
- ELECTRIFY MILLIONS OF FARMS

Staffordsburg

Chaster Ballinger who has been ill with asthma for several weeks has gone to Arizona where we hope the drier climate will soon restore him to health.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hanna and son Jimmie spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hanna.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Ballinger and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Keeney spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. T.

Hamilton of Verona who had also as guests Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mills, Mrs. Sophronia Mills and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fooks and daughter Althea Marie.

Friends here are glad to learn that Miss Tina Marshall of Covington is recovering from a minor operation performed some three weeks ago.

Mrs. Clyde Richardson and son Clyde Jr. of Frankfort and Mrs. Russell Marshall of Georgetown were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Richardson.

Mrs. Urban Powers is visiting her cousins Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sweeney of Arizona.

Mrs. Morris Wharton spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Wharton of Waynesville, Ohio.

We had a good Sunday school last Sunday. Let's all come back next Sabbath and remembering that it is preaching day prepare to stay for church. Let's make our new pastor feel that we appreciate him. Why not all work for the building of good citizens, and take our rightful places as children of the King.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"That's really a great editorial you just read to us, Judge. Where did you say it appeared?"

"In 'The Stars and Stripes'...the newspaper of the U.S. Armed Forces in Europe. Kind of gives us folks back home something to think about, doesn't it, Bill?"

"It certainly does, Judge. Particularly the last paragraph. Would you mind reading that again?"

"Glad to, Bill. It says, 'We can remember the days of prohibition, when moonshine whiskey made quick fortunes for bootleggers, crooked politicians and dishonest police officials. As a result, we claim we know what we want in the way of liquor legislation and feel those at home should wait until we return before initiating further legislation on liquor control.'"

"Out of fairness to our boys over there fighting, Judge, how could we disobey such a wish?"

is QUALIFIED to sit at this table?

For YOUR sake, and for the sake of your children, it is MOST IMPORTANT to have the RIGHT man in this chair, at the peace table!

THE OTHER THREE MEN ARE CERTAIN TO BE THERE, but because of America's democratic form of government only the voters on November 7th can decide WHO will occupy the fourth chair for these United States. Franklin D. Roosevelt alone is qualified by past experience and by his highly respected acquaintance with these Allies to occupy this chair. Your vote will decide this most important issue of the 1944 election.

Save That Twinkle!

That roughish twinkle from a pair of bright young eyes! A priceless possession. Yet so often it is dimmed by needless eyestrain. Mankind grew up out of doors—where eyes had ample light from the sun.

Today, living indoors, many eyes suffer from lack of good light. Now science is "moving the sun" indoors. When the war is over, we can all enjoy bountiful indoor daylight. In the meantime, let's observe these four rules to ward off eyestrain:

1. Do all reading, studying, sewing or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.

3. Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your work or book. Shadows strain eyes.

2. Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.

4. Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision can be greatly helped with proper glasses.

When the war is over we are all going to have Better Light for Better Sight. In the meantime, take care of your eyes but don't waste light.

OUR FARM NEWS

CLOSE VENTILATORS BEFORE BARN COOLS OFF IN EVENING

A farmer that is curing burley tobacco by natural ventilation only will find that the ventilators are open in the daytime much more often than they are closed. On days when the ventilators are open, he had the problem of deciding how soon before nightfall the ventilators should be closed. It is not solely matter of protecting the tobacco from cool, moist night air. There is another point involved.

The purpose of using the ventilators is to maintain the average condition of the tobacco over a period of time just right for good curing. To obtain good average conditions it is necessary not only to dry the tobacco in the daytime but also to keep it dry for as many hours as is necessary to compensate for the time that the tobacco is in case during the night. The lower the case is at night, the easier it is to dry the tobacco in the daytime. Or to state the same principle another way, we can compensate for insufficient drying in the daytime if we can prevent the tobacco from getting too moist at night.

It follows that, as a general rule, it is desirable not only to protect tobacco from moist night air but also to maintain the case during the night as low as possible.

Therefore, assuming that the ventilators have been open during the day, and that the air inside the barn has been getting warmer and warmer while the tobacco has been getting dryer and dryer, the ventilators should be closed the moment the farmer sees that the barn will begin to cool if the ventilators remain open any longer. This moment usually occurs within two or three hours before sunset.

After the warmest part of the day has passed and the tobacco has gotten as dry as can be expected, the barn will begin to cool and the inside humidity will begin to rise whether the ventilators are open or closed. The point is, don't hasten the cooling of the barn by leaving the ventilators open too long.

The main purpose is to trap within the barn the maximum amount of heat that it is possible to accumulate during the day so as to delay, as long as possible the cooling of the barn at night.

This is the sixth of a series of articles on tobacco curing, furnished by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

NITRATE BOOSTS WHEAT AND STRAW

Ammonium nitrate applied to wheat at the rate of 100 pounds to the acre in March, on the Shay Hinton farm in Fleming county, increased yields almost seven bushels and more than three-fourths of a ton of straw to the acre. On the John Collins farm the increase was 11½ bushels and 1,489 pounds of straw to the acre. One farmer, according to County Agent James Stephens, said that $30 worth of ammonium nitrate returned increased orchard grass seed worth $300.

ON KENTUCKY FARMS

Onion growers in Laurel county sold their crops at a net average of $2.38 per hundredweight.

More than 3,000 bushels of rye were seeded in Oldham county, the largest acreage ever sowed.

A campaign "Grow Roughage this Winter," encouraged the seeding of cover crops in Madison county.

COLLEGE SUGGESTS GETTING GOOD LAND WHEN BUYING FARM

When buying a farm too much emphasis cannot be placed on securing good land says a new Kentucky College of Agriculture circular called "Farming As A Business."

"Good yields are exceedingly important," continue the suggestions of the college. "There is little profit in average yields, as costs of production equal the value of the products. Another advantage is that farms with high crop yields can usually be bought for a price more nearly in line with their producing value than farms with low crop yields."

"Many farms that can be bought for $10 an acre are not worth that amount. Such farms are not worth farming as they are, and many would not be worth improving. Fortunately many of the poorer soils of Kentucky can be profitably improved. Those that are not too steep for the use of such machinery as the mower should be improved so that good crop yields can be secured."

"If one is buying land that normally produces less than 35 bushels of corn, 15 bushels of wheat, or 3,000 pounds of legume hay to the acre, he should plan for soil improvement. He then would, of course want to make sure that such land can be improved economically, and at what cost to him."

EDITORIAL PRAISES HOMEMAKERS' CLUBS

Under the title, "Where There Is A Will," the Taylor County News-Journal, Campbellsville, recently published the following editorial:

"The work of the homemakers clubs in the county is proof that the old statement that where there is a will there is a way, is in some sense at least true. Though a home may be in the low income bracket and not so fine, the homemakers demonstrations that were in hardware store windows show that much can be done."

"That unseemly cracks in floors can be filled with a home-made filler from newspapers is odd enough. That rugs can be cleaned and given a new life right in the home and that old furniture can be given a new lease on life by a simple-to-make mixture. Such things are news to us who would have gone around to some stores trying to find crack fillers, cleaning agents and furniture polishes. And such work must be worthwhile to the homemaker of the county."

Joe Hampton of Clay county reports that three acres of Ky. 103 hybrid corn produced as much as 27 acres of other corn on his farm. Laurel county farmers housed the biggest tobacco crop known in its history.

...and then came the highways

AMERICA's growth has largely followed the routes of American railroads. They penetrated the wilderness and created wealth for the Nation. Around these efficient arteries of transportation grew great cities, busy industrial centers and prosperous farming communities.

Subsequently, fine highways were constructed. The railroads not only carried most of the materials to build those modern thoroughfares, and spent large sums for separation of grades at crossings for public safety, but have actually contributed greatly in taxes for highway construction and upkeep. In 1943, for example, about $800,000 of L&N tax payments were allocated for highway purposes in the 13 states through which it operates.

Highway separations at railroad grade crossings have become increasingly important as faster-moving vehicles have multiplied. Originally, railroads were—and in some states still are—required to bear the largest part of the cost of such separations, although the public has always received the greater benefits.

Certain states have now recognized that equity calls for a fairer distribution of the costs.

THE YEAR AUNT JENNY DIED

Ever since man became reasonably civilized, he has used some permanent method of telling time. The ancient Egyptians worked out astronomy pretty accurately, especially well when you remember they did not have any telescope. Many ancient nations had what seems to us a clumsy way of telling time. The Olympians of ancient Greece are quite confusing, about as confusing as it would be for us to measure time here by naming the President and even the year of his term. The Romans had a still clumsier method of naming the two ruling consuls of the year. Not until dates began to be counted as before or after Christ did we have a method that offers the minimum of confusion. Anyone who has tried to check back on even medieval dates will find this system pretty confusing, particularly when he gets to the time when the Gregorian Calendar was adopted, when some adjustment of days had to be made.

And that reminds me of the way things used to be dated at Fidelity and elsewhere. To say 1885 or 1891 smacked of something cold and learned-sounding. How much better and more personal it was to say that something happened the "year Aunt Jenny died," or the "year of the big flood," or the "year the locusts were so bad." Locally and for a brief time that was great, almost as great as to say in the consulship of Aulus and Publius. Of course, people at the time would remember, but poor scholars ages away, if it became necessary to probe into that year, would have a hard time determining just when any even took place.

Often this indefinite though personal way of telling time had a series of checks, however. The year Aunt Jenny died might have been the one when Bud was born, and Bud is now thirty-five. A little arithmetic would straighten out this tangle and produce a date accurate enough for any historian. Almost every neighborhood had and has local statisticians who remember everything: births, deaths, marriages, killing frosts, deep snows epidemics. If it were necessary for me to establish my birth date at old Fidelity in the late nineteenth century I am sure that I could find two dozen people still living who could give the exact date. Forty or fifty others would not recall that to be described, just how big is it? Is it as member that I was so many months or years older or younger than certain members of their family or that I was born just before or just after some lusus naturae appeared, such as an early frost or a big rain or maybe an earthquake, though I doubt whether my birth was attended by any unusual phenomenon.

In a little village far from Fidelity where I taught when I was still not old enough to vote there lived a man who in more favored times would have been valuable as a statistician. He had only the most meager education, probably only enough to spell out the items in the county paper and to read haltingly in the Bible. But he had a phenomenal memory for dates, whether they were important or not. On your birthday, even though you may have been a newcomer in the neighborhood, you were likely to be greeted by this quaint old bachelor with best wishes for many happy returns of the day. How he found out everything and then remembered was his secret, but his startling memory made many of us wonder what could be done with our minds, either for good or for ill, if we could imitate Mr. Morris.

All o' this, of course, ties back in to the remotest past, when records were unknown, but when some people held in their minds the significant facts and the literary treasures of the race. Some people I have known could quote accurately thousands of verses of Scripture, even though they had had less than an eighth-grade education. With all of our modern sophistication, we are reminded often of times when ignorant people knew much more than we now do.

AS BIG AS ALL OUT-OF-DOORS

In our accurate sciences and in such necessary accuracy as is practiced in our custom houses we use measurements that are definite and standard, the metric system. In less accurate ways we cling to our old English system of measurements, a growth of ages that puzzles anyone not accustomed to it. But in folk ways there are hundreds of ways to measure that are in no sense standardized but that give a sense of bigness or littleness or relative size. Many of these terms have a humorous sound and meaning, it is true, but still they give a feeling that no mere metric system can ever bring.

If something large is to be described, just how big is it? Is it as big as a barn door or as big as a load of hay or as big as a skinned steer? Is it as big as a washing of soap or as big as a yellow dog or only as big again as half? All of these I have heard and more, too. But the same "or being big is for something to be as big as all out-of-doors. Now that is big, sure enough. That figure should be used only to describe something like a farm or a vast track of land or a valley or a hazy city; other things are too paltry for such a waste of figure.

How are you to measure a thing that seems indefinite in size and shape? When you see a fog or other vapor in the bottom of a bright moonlight night, just how big is it? Mere mention of feet or yards would seem silly when you are thinking of something that covers the meadow and the cornfield and crops over on the next farm. Big as all out-of-doors it is for a fact, taking its measurement from space too big for us to measure with a yard stick or a plowline.

How big was the circus tent that I sat in a third of an century ago? I have no figures now and had none then. When I think of our stock barn, with its stalls for ten horses, I know it was much bigger than that, for the dare-devil drivers drove two teams of eight each around a circle in a fearful race. That ring alone must have been bigger than our barn, with the corncrib, the buggy shed, and the henhouse thrown in. And only one of the two, besides the rows and rows of seats where the open-eyed and open-mouthed spectators sat! And how big a place they occupied! Why, there were more people than could have wedged into our three churches of the Fidelity neighborhood and the schoolhouse thrown in! No wonder the tent looked as big as all out-of-doors!

How big was the Tennessee River when we saw it, where we took a load of crosses? Why, steamboats as big as three of the biggest houses in the neighborhood looked like toys out on it. The whole series of creeks in our section could have been turned into the river without appreciably making it any bigger. And people said that it was many feet deep in spots, so deep that some steamboats had sunk without so much as leaving the flagpole sticking out.

And how big was a railroad, especially one that ran from the Atlantic to the Pacific? I had seen piles and piles of cross-ties at the boatlandings along Tennessee River, thousands of ties. But someone who seemed to know computed that if each tie occupied two feet of space under the track, then it would take more than 2700 to lay one mile! With ten or twelve ties making a two-mile load to the river, just think how many trips it would take to haul ties for a mile! Some things just cannot be measured; they are literally as big as all out-of-doors.

4-H CHAMPIONS

COMPETE AT DISTRICT

Summary of District Achievements Given by Dean Cooper

9 counties participating in District.

77 county 4-H champions from the 9 counties.

11 local leaders.

4150 club members in the counties represented at the meeting.

83 local clubs in the 9 counties.

281 adult local club leaders.

250 project captains.

200,000 pounds of meat produced by 4-H members.

50,000 jars fruits and vegetables canned.

1,000 home gardens.

50,000 hours worked in labor service projects.

Dean Cooper said that these "Amazing Achievements" by the 4-H Club members are but a little part in the program of food production and food conservation, yet this little part is big and important in the war effort.

He also pointed out that there are many opportunities for trained young men and young women in the field of Agriculture and Home Economics. The demands upon citizenship in the post war period will call for greater training in all fields of work.

Winners From Kenton County are as follows.

BANK YOUR FOOD

Frozen Food Locker Storage Plant To Be Constructed in Walton

Here are the Details:

At last a contract has been signed for the construction of a Frozen Food Locker Plant in Walton. Under Government regulations it is necessary that a large percentage of the locker be rented in advance and all steps have been taken up to the point of securing Government approval. The value of locker service has been recognized by the government because high priorities are granted when it is shown that a plant is desirable in any locality.

Advantages to Consumer:

Quick frozen foods retain more precious vitamins than canned or processed foods. Labor savings of over 75%. No chance of food spoilage. You can fill your locker with fruits and vegetables when they are plentiful and cheap. You can butcher meat at any time. An average savings of $100.00 per year for each customer.

RENT YOUR LOCKER:

Since all locker rentals must be paid in advance it is suggested that you rent one NOW. It may be too late after the plant is constructed and enlargement of the plant is practically impossible.

You Can Take No Chance:

If for any reason we cannot obtain the necessary priorities your money will be refunded in full by the Dixie State Bank. It is now hoped that the plant will be in operation shortly after the first of the year, so don't wait. The rule "First come, First served" will have to apply because of government regulations. You can rent your locker by calling on A. H. Gaines, D. L. Lusby, R. P. Hughes or Walter D. Vest, the men who will build and operate the new plant or by dropping a card to either of them. Or you may call at the Dixie State Bank. Any of the above people will gladly give you more details on request.. ACT TODAY!

Rabbit-Quail Season Opens November 10 Ends December 31

Nimrods have silenced their guns on doves and squirrels and are now making check-ups on hunting equipment preparatory to the opening of the quail and rabbit season which begins in Kentucky on November 10 and extends through December 31.

Earl Wallace Director of the Division of Game and Fish, pointed out today that the only game that can be hunted at the present time are ducks and geese. All other game is now protected by closed seasons until the rabbit and quail season opens on the 10th of November. Last year the season opened on November 24 and extends through January 9, but the Legislature changed the opening and closing dates for this year.

According to reports received from practically every section of the state quail are quite plentiful this year, due to favorable nesting and rearing seasons which the quail found during the late spring summer and early fall months, and increased hunting from shortage of hunters; gasoline; tires, and ammunition. Rains in recent weeks have assured ample water supplies for the game birds and other forms of wildlife. The squirrel hunting season will again open this year as the last half of the new split-season on November 24 and will extend through December 31.

A new species of game that may be hunted this year is the Ruffed Grouse. Season opens on December 1 and extends through December 15, with a daily bag limit of 2 and a season limit of 10.

The cotton-tail rabbit is reported plentiful in a good many counties of the state.

Wallace calls the hunter's attention to the fact that the Bob White Quail CANNOT BE BOUGHT OR SOLD ANYWHERE IN KENTUCKY and anyone caught doing so is liable to arrest. The bag limit is 12 a day or not more than two days bag limit 24 in possession. Rabbits may be bought or sold anywhere in Kentucky but no person may have more than 16 rabbits in possession at any time. The daily bag limit is 8 with possession of 16—two days bag limit. A retail dealer may have in his possession a total of 50 rabbits in any one day, and a wholesaler may have in his possession a total of 500 rabbits in any one day.

LUCIAN STEPHENS

Lucian Stephens of near Waterloo passed away in his home late Wednesday following a long illness.

Services were conducted from the grave in Bellvue Cemetery Saturday at 11 o'clock with the Rev. Wm. Smith officiating.

He is survived by his widow; three sons Harry Clinton, Jr., and Luta Stephens; two daughters, Miss Mary Stephens and Mrs. William Wallace, one sister, Mrs. Walter Rector; two brothers, Charles Stephens and A. H. Stephens, all of Boone county.

Chambers and Grubbs were in charge of arrangements.

WINTER COVER CROP WILL RECEIVE CREDIT

The establishment of a winter cover crop will receive a credit of $1.50 per acre under the 1945 A.A.A. Program.

A new feature of this practice is that the payment of $1.50 per acre will be in addition to the regular 1945 Soil-Building Allowance.

This extra credit or allowance will help to pay for the cost of the seed in addition to the benefit that will be derived from having all cultivated acreage seeded to a cover crop.

The cover crop seedling may be either wheat, rye, barley or winter oats, or a mixture of these crops. The seed bed should be well prepared and seed sown sufficiently early to permit plants to withstand winter freezes.

The crop may not be harvested for grain to qualify for this payment.

GRAPE GROWERS PRODUCE QUALITY FRUIT

Four Boone County commercial grape growers produced more than 24 tons of high quality grapes from six and one-half acres of vineyards the past year according to the County Agent's Office. The growers applied from 6 to 10 recommended sprays and controlled rot and other diseases practically 100%.

The high quality crop, in turn, netted the growers the highest price on record. Growers cooperating in the quality grape production program were: Norman Herbstreit, William Moore, Robert Graves and John P. Dolwick and Son. There were several other commercial vineyards in the county but in no case where a complete spray schedule was not followed, was a quality crop produced.

Harry D. Mayhugh, Jr.

Harry D. Mayhugh, Jr., A. O. M. 3-c, age 21, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Mayhugh, Sr., of North Walton.

Petty Officer Mayhugh is now stationed at Alameda, Calif., training for aerial gunnery. He has been in service since May, 1942.

Petty Officer Mayhugh is a graduate of the Walton-Verona High School and will be remembered as an outstanding member of the basketball team.

Harry D. took his Boot Training at Great Lakes, Ill., and later served for 14 months in Porto Rico.

He has two brothers also in the service. His father is a veteran of World War I and received injuries in the "Argonne Drive."

One in New Guinea; Other in England

Cpl. Eddie G. Linton

Sgt. Thomas L. Linton

Cpl. Eddie G. Linton entered service in January 1943. He is with the eighth Air Force somewhere in England.

He has been overseas for ten months. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Linton of Walton.

Sgt. Thomas L. Linton entered the service in April 1941. He is with the 113th Engineers Combat En. somewhere in New Guinea. Sgt. Linton has been overseas ten months.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Linton of Walton.

Former Boone Co. Sheriff Passes

Herbert Snyder, former Boone county sheriff, died of a heart attack at his home in Burlington Monday. He was 68.

Although he had been in ill health the past two years, Mr. Snyder's death was unexpected.

He served as county sheriff from 1930 to 1934, and had operated a farm since retiring from public office.

Mr. Snyder was a member of the Burlington Masonic lodge. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Helen E. Snyder; one sister, Mrs. Edward Maxwell, Burlington, and two brothers, L. S. and P. A. Snyder both of Petersburg. Services were held at the residence in Burlington at 2 p. m. Wednesday. The Chambers and Grubbs Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

FEED BAG EXCHANGES

Thrifty homemakers in Oldham county are meeting the cotton shortage through feed bag exchanges. By trading with neighbors, they are able to get enough sacks of the same color or design to make many useful garments. Home Agent Lilah Henneke notes that the bags are generally fast in color and of attractive pattern, making them a worthy substitute for cotton materials usually bought by the yard.

Farm Bureau To Give Banquet

Boone County Farm Bureau directors made plans Saturday October 28th, for a banquet to be held during the month of February according to Lloyd Slekman, president. The banquet will be held in place of the fish fry scheduled for September 16th and which was postponed because of the fair.

The directors reported the county should have a minimum of 500 members. Due to the acute labor shortage, it appeared impractical to sponsor a membership campaign. All farmers who are interested in sponsoring the Farm Bureau as a national-wide farmers' organization actively supporting local, state, and national programs for farm people are urged to volunteer for membership by contacting their nearest director or office.

Directors attending the Saturday meeting were: S. D. S. Ranson, C. L. Hemphill, George Heil, J. C. Acres and John E. Criegler, H. E. White, and Lloyd Slekman.

The annual meeting at which officers will be elected for 1945 will be held at Burlington on Courtday, Monday, January 1st, at 1:30 p. m. Directors will be elected for 1945 from Constance, Hebron, Petersburg, Grant; Burlington; Florence; Hamilton; Walton; Verona and Union.

Looking Over The Beautiful Ohio

From Butler Memorial State Park, Carrollton, Ky.

By RUSSELL DYCHE, Director State Parks

Established as a historical shrine, dedicated to the memory of General William Orlando Buckner, hero of the Battle of New Orleans who was called from retirement to lead the U. S. Army to victory in the Mexican War, Butler Memorial at Carrollton has become one of Kentucky's outstanding recreational and scenic State Parks. Midway between Louisville and Covington, on highway U. S. 42, it is a mecca for vacationists from the most populous sections of the State. Its seven cabins were reserved for practically every day of the summer and early fall long before the season was on, and on weekends great crowds came to enjoy swimming, boating and fishing in its spacious and beautiful lake, as well as to roam its hills and feast their eyes on the scores of magnificent vistas those hills afford.

The Butler Homestead has not yet been fully developed as a museum, but is an attractive and interesting place. From the observation tower on the brow of the northern hill, pictured above, may be seen wide vistas of the Ohio and Kentucky rivers and their fertile valleys, while two miles of surfaced roads offer a quite scenic drive. There are many shelter houses with fireplaces, and picnic areas with grills, tables and fountains of pure water. In the woods there is much wild life, while just now the 420 acres is a riot of color in full fall dress.

The past summer, through the Highway Department, the Division of Parks purchased the former N. Y. A. buildings at Butler Memorial. Also purchased and secured from other sources has been complete equipment, excepting only the linens, for a group camp of 100 persons. It is expected that this camp will be in full operation in 1945 and will give hundreds of boys and girls, and men and women with limited income, an opportunity to enjoy a vacation at this wonder spot at very low cost. The planned expansion of the cabin area will, of course, have to await the war's end.

SMALL GRAINS SEEDING RECOMMENDED

Wheat and rye may still be seeded during the next two weeks with a fair promise of a crop next spring, according to the County Agent's Office. These are the only winter cover crops that can still be seeded and expect a dependable crop.

There has been a record seeding of small grains this fall. However, the late corn crop in many cases, has caused farmers to question whether they should continue to seed small grains.

Early seedings of small grains, especially Balbo rye, returns more pasture and saves considerable hay during the early winter and spring months. Hugh Stephens of East Bend bottoms reports his stock has been grazing a field of Balbo rye for the past three weeks. Several farmers last year reported Balbo rye saved them two months of feeding hay. Boone County farmers have a great challenge in the pasture improvement program to make maximum use of cover crops.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. C. O. Carlisle was pleasantly surprised on Monday evening of this week, the occasion being her birthday.

The guests were all masked. Lovely refreshments were served to: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Breeden, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Breeden, Mrs. Sam Hudson, and Mrs. Howard Stephenson.

All enjoyed the evening very much wishing Mrs. Carlisle many more happy birthdays.

James A. Johnson

James A. Johnson S. 1-c, age 18, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Johnson of North Walton.

Seaman Johnson is a Radio Technician and is now at sea somewhere in the South Pacific.

Seaman Johnson was a student at the Walton-Verona High School at the time of his enlistment. He took his "Boot Training" at Great Lakes and then attended radio school in Chicago, Ill., for sometime. A brother Paul Harold Johnson of the Marines was reported killed in action recently.

NEW HAVEN P. T. A. MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of New Haven P. T. A. was held at the school on Tuesday evening October 3 with Mrs. Austin Gschwind, president presiding.

All business reports were brought up to date and plans were made to present a play "The Absentminded Bridegroom" in the near future. Be watching for the date. In a very interesting pep talk Mr. Masters, our very popular principal gave us an outline of do's and don'ts for a bigger and better P. T. A. and also stressed the importance of regular school attendance.

The program, under the able direction of Mrs. H. Kirby and Mrs. E. Grater was as follows: Bible reading; Mrs. A. Gschwind, followed by prayer by piano selections by Misses Kathleen Kenney and Betty Lee Sturgeon, the reading of two very popular poems by two of Kentucky's most outstanding poets, by Mrs. Flora Masters, a birthday greeting to one of our beloved past presidents Mrs. Raymond Newman, and closing with refreshments, with Mrs. E. Grater as hostess for the evening. This made up a very interesting meeting and a vote of thanks is extended all those taking part.

Our next meeting will be held at the school at 8 p. m. Monday Nov. 6 (due to Nov. 7 being election day) so please be present one and all for our Program Committee promises a well rounded program, which will include door prizes, refreshments and a great big SURPRISE PARTY.

Mrs. Sherman Friend Pub. Com.

Election Set For Tuesday; Democrats Claim Kentucky

It will be an old time Democratic Victory that will be hung up at the polls in Kentucky on election day next Tuesday in the opinion of Harry Lee Waterfield, Democratic State Campaign Chairman.

Chairman Waterfield declared the Democrats would sweep the state by a margin of 52,500 votes or more and gave figures by congressional districts to support the statement.

"President Roosevelt and Senator Alben W. Barkley will be given decisive and impressive majorities," Waterfield said "and in eight of the state's nine congressional districts, the Democratic nominees will be elected by the overwhelming margin of winning in only one—the ninth."

"The Democrats will carry the First district by 22,000; the Second by 15,000; the Third by 8,000; the Fourth by 5,500; the Fifth by 12,000; the Sixth by 10,000; the Seventh by 6,000 and the Eighth by 4,000 of a total of 82,500 majority in the eight districts," Waterfield declared.

"In the Ninth, where Republican strength is concentrated, a majority of 30,000 votes is the most they can expect and this figure may not be reached when the votes are counted next Tuesday."

"Throughout this campaign, the Republicans themselves have shown little if any confidence in carrying Kentucky."

"Despite the appearance of Governor Dewey in Louisville for one of his major speeches and several speeches by Governor Bricker, the Vice Presidential nominee in the state, the lack of enthusiasm that resulted, convinced many of the Republican leaders that their cause was hopeless in Kentucky."

"Governor Wills has been conspicuous by his absence from the state and a majority of the speeches he has made have been in distant states where his record as a 'promiser' is not known."

"Senator Barkley has conducted a vigorous and aggressive campaign and has spoken four hours, dedicating him into every section of the state. The attempt of his opponent James Park of Lexington, to minimize the ability and accomplishments of Senator Barkley during his long service in the National Congress collapsed completely and miserably in the closing days of the campaign representing nothing more than the effort of a candidate plodding along hoping election day will soon arrive and a comedy of errors brought to an end."

"We are going to recapture the Fourth congressional district. Our party's candidate there—Major Frank Chelf is going to give a good trouncing to Chester O. Carrier who obtained the place a year ago because of disaffection among the Democrats not because of any marked ability of his own."

"Congressman Joe Bates and Jack May are going to win despite 'whistling in the dark' talk by some Republicans."

"Noble Gregory in the First; Earle Clements in the Second; Emmet O'Neil in the Third; Brent Spencer in the Fifth; and Virgil Chapman in the Sixth will all win easily and the most optimistic of Republicans have never made any claims they would carry any of these districts."

"The results of next Tuesday's election should convince the Republicans that when they win in Kentucky, it is accidental. There can be no doubt as to the outcome—it will be a smashing and decisive victory for the Democratic party," says chairman Waterfield.

SALT NECESSARY FOR ECONOMICAL GAINS

Salt is necessary for economical gains in livestock production, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Recent information supplied from the College of Agriculture shows that in an Iowa Experiment Station, one pound of salt saved 213 pounds of grain in a salt-free ration. Prolonged lack of salt will result in loss of appetite, haggard appearance, listless eyes, rough coat, decline in weight and even death.

The College warns against complex salt mixtures—forced intake of salt, giving too much salt at one time to livestock that have been deprived of salt, and liquid brine forming in the bottom of tight boxes exposed to the weather.

WITH OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

The many friends of Robert (Bob) Doane will be proud of his display of patriotism, to get back into action by joining the Merchant Marine last week, for it is to be remembered that only a short time ago he was given a medical discharge from the Army due to an injured knee. He left early Tuesday for New York where he will receive his basic training and we hope it won't be too long until Bob can realize his fondest dream, that of finding his twin brother Pvt. Russell Doane, somewhere in France when last heard from several months ago. God grant that they may meet again soon and so relieve the anxious hearts of their devoted parents Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Doane of Walton R2.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Story of Sugar Creek received a long distance phone call from their son Jack D. Story F. C. 2-c, Saturday evening, announcing his marriage to Miss Evelyn Joy Gross of Long Island, N. Y. Jack has served in the Navy for three years and was a Fire Controlman on the Destroyer U. S. S. Corry which was sunk in the invasion of France. After survivors leave at home he returned to Washington D. C. where he is attending Naval Advance Fire Control School. Miss Gross is the lovely daughter of Arthur Gross of Mt. Zion and a former Sugar Creek girl. She has been attending a nurse training school in New York.

We extend our congratulations and best wishes to this fine young couple.

Word has been received that Dwight Maddox of the U. S. Army is stationed at Camp Atterbury, Ind.

Regular messages of good cheer are being received by loved ones from A. S. John Newman, in boot training at Great Lakes, Ill.

Word received last week from Pvt. Wallace Craddock states that he is enjoying good health and is still at Camp Rucker Ala.

Word has it that John Powell Crouch, Jr., grandson of Mrs. Otis Richards has volunteered for the U. S. Navy.

Very interesting letters are being received from P. F. C. Everett A. Robinson of the South Pacific. His younger brother Peter H. Robinson, Petty Officer, returned to sea duty Saturday night after a 9 day leave with their family in Union.

PHIL CHAPMAN, HOME FROM SAIPAN, TELLS MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

Phil Chapman, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Chapman, Verona Road, writes an interesting story of his experiences on Saipan. He is also a cousin of Mrs. Vevay Webster and made his home for some time with Ross Chapman, Concord. The story follows:

Pfc. Philip P. Chapman, 26-year-old Columbus Marine, was sure the next Jap shell had his number, but instead it saved his life by freeing him from his wrecked "duck" which lay half-floundering in the water off Saipan.

"I don't want to go through anything like that again," Chapman declared last weekend while here on a 72-hour visit with his wife, Mrs. Agnes Chapman, his 10-month-old daughter and his mother Mrs. Louise Chapman.

"I don't think the attack on Japan itself will be any harder," he added. At the same time he praised the fighting qualities of the 17 to 19-year-old Marines. "They are not afraid of anything," he said.

Chapman headed for the beach of Saipan on the opening day of the invasion, June 15, driving his duck "Blue Blood" a 30-foot amphibious vehicle. The duck was loaded with a truck and 105 mm. howitzer.

There were six artillery men with the gun, an assistant driver and Chapman. While still far from shore and in the midst of high seas, a Jap mortar shell hit the rear of the duck.

"It wounded all but two aboard," Chapman declared. When it struck, the truck and gun rolled into the back of my seat, pinning me against the wheel. Fragments of the shell hit the back of my life packet and ripped it to pieces. It saved my life. Other fragments hit my right hand. My hand didn't hurt until later when I got in the salt water."

Chapman said he told everybody to get overboard as the Japs were sure to land another mortar shell smack on the half-wrecked duck. The others took to the water and were later picked up, while Chapman remained inside, still pinned against the wheel.

Thought He Was Goner
"I thought it was the end" said Chapman. The mortar of the duck was still running, but the vehicle was badly damaged and leaking. Then the second shell struck. It nipped the front of the duck and the force shoved the front end downward, giving Chapman room to free himself.

"It put the motor out of action and I took to the water in a hurry," the Marine added. He swam about two blocks to a Higgins boat and was pulled aboard. Efforts were made to save the duck, but Blue Blood had suffered too much and went to the bottom.

With his vehicle lost Chapman de-

CONFIDENCE ALONE

Cannot Win An Election! It Takes VOTES!

The election is NOT "in the bag"! Complacency and overconfidence in the outcome can LOSE the election—jeopardize the PEACE—and undermine national unity, before the war is won. If you sit back and take a Democratic victory for granted. You must WORK and VOTE for it!

If we are to counteract the poisonous deception of the Republican candidates, and their highly organized and financial drive for votes, every man and woman in America who believes in the Democratic candidates and their high principles, must WORK unceasingly, and vote unflinchingly for these men.

Get Out and VOTE! It's Your American Duty!

decided to go on with the Marine artillery unit which the ducks had been taking ashore.

"I got into a foxhole on the beach and tried to get some of the sand off," Chapman said. "We were all wet and covered with so much sand we looked like walking snow men."

For the next seven or eight days, Chapman said, he took part in the fighting ashore. His outfit hit the beach at the sugar mill community of Charan-Kanoa. Chapman said that before leaving the beach he told a buddy to tell his commanding officer that he had gone forward. But the buddy forgot or something happened to him and as a result Chapman was listed as missing for several days.

All was confusion the first few days on Saipan, Chapman said. The Japs were firing mortars from caves where they couldn't be spotted by U. S. planes and the Marines were sleeping by campfires and eating cold rations until the Seabees came ashore.

"The Seabees are sure all right," said Chapman. "They stole a stove or two—probably off the Army—and pretty soon we had warm food."

The Marine said the Army's soldiers came in to relieve part of the Marines, but failed to hold in their sector and the relieved Marines had to go back in again. All of which Chapman said, didn't set very well with the Marines.

Editor of The Courier-Journal's Woman's Page which blossoms into a full section on Sundays, knows the truth of this old adage about women's work. Her hand rocks the cradle of women's world of activities and provides a well balanced menu of fair-see-fare dished up daily for a vast and hungry audience (not all of whom are women, according to our tabulated reading reports.)

A gentle Hoosier, hailing from Hanover College, Madison, Jean served as Corydon correspondent of The Courier-Journal and Times before crossing the river to join the Woman's Page staff in 1936. When our former Woman's Page editor followed her man-of-war to officer's quarters last year, Jean was given full command where her calm disposition has proved a foil for mercurial staff temperaments.

In common with all editors, you rarely see Miss Kirkham's name in print, but her genius guides all phases of our Women's Department covering assigned writers of society, fashion and food features, club reports, special articles and Dot Tellitall. Last minute make-up, though arduous in split-second timing, insures readers of hot-off-the-wire releases. The breezy magazine presentation of the Woman's Page is testimony to the congenial collaboration between Jean and the Art Department.

THE CHRISTIAN AND THE RACE PROBLEM

LESSON TEXT—Acts 10:9-16, 34, 35: 17-28:29.
GOLDEN TEXT—Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is acceptable to him.—Acts 10:34, 35.

Now is the time to really face the race problem. It must be met, and America will see more of the regrettable hatred and violence which has already showed itself. The only satisfactory answer—the only right answer—can be found in the Word of God. On its principles we must build in solving any problem, and that is especially true with regard to the vital matter of human relationships.

How to Solve the Race Problem I. Pray (10:9).

So often we struggle and plan and work, and last of all we pray. That should be the first thing, not the last. It was as Peter prayed that we saw clearly the need of a changed attitude toward the Gentiles. Doubtless some Gentiles would also have a changed attitude toward the Jews, if they really prayed about it. In fact, all of our prejudices based on race, creed, financial or social position would look cheap and untenable if we prayed.

Conferences, efforts toward mutual understanding, education of children (and grown-ups), tolerance, all these are good; but let us not forget to pray, and to do it first. Listen to God's Word (10:10-16). Peter had a special vision, an unusual revelation from God. We no longer need such a direct communication of God's plan and purpose, for we have the written Word of God, and the Living Word who came in the person of Christ.

What we need now is to read and to hear the truth of that Word—and then to heed it. Everywhere in the Bible we find the declaration of man's equal rights. We learn that God hates discrimination or prejudice, that no nationality is unclean (v. 15) or unworthy of His grace and of our fellowship.

We know these things are in the Book; why do so many of us fail to listen to its message? We are bound by it whether we listen or not, so had we not better listen and obey?

III. Be Governed by God's Principles (10:24, 35).

"God is no respecter of persons." Why are we? The expression literally means "receiving a man's face," that is, judging or evaluating him not by what he has proved himself to be, but by his outward appearance, the look on his face. God is interested in man's heart and what is in it (1 Sam. 16:7). We should do well to follow His leading and not be controlled by the eyes, the race, or the position of a man.

Note the basis of acceptance with God (v. 35), namely, a right attitude toward Him. No matter what a man's color or race may be, the grace of God in Christ Jesus can reach him, and bring him into acceptance with God.

IV. Recognize God's Authority (17:24-26).

God made the world. He rules the world and all that is in it. He is above man, and it is He who gives man the very breath of life. That being the case, we as stand on the same level—we are equal before Him.

Everything God made was (and is) very good (Gen. 1:31). That means that He knows nothing in His nature of one group being despised and persecuted by another group self-designated as a master race.

All men are of one family (v. 26). It is God's Word. Let us believe it, and be thoughtful and kind toward the members of our own "family." We all know how disgraceful family fights are, and how they hurt. Could it possibly be any different in the family of God? Let's quit the bickering, and together work for God's glory! We can do it—for we may—

V. Count on God's Nearness (17:27, 28).

Sometimes children fight and quarrel because they know father and mother are away and will not hear or punish. Well, God is not far away. He is "nearer to us than breathing, nearer than hands and feet." In Him we (and that means all of us) "live and move and have our being."

He is here; let us not act as though He were far away. But above all, let us recognize His nearness as our life and strength, the One who enables us to live as we should with one another. We need His grace for that purpose. Let us count on it.

"We are all His offspring," that is, by creation. Then by our sin and rebellion we made ourselves the "children of disobedience" (Eph. 2:3). But, by grace, we are all children of God. By faith in Jesus Christ our Lord (John 1:12). As such, we are all brethren beloved, eager for our fellow's good and for God's glory.

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking ERB-HELP and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

Reckon They're Crazy

By EDWIN T. STRAYER
McClure Syndicate—WNU Features.

LITTLE Darling got up with tears of pain and anger in his eyes and swung his three hundred pounds at the Great Halenay. Halenay ducked, but I liked it was only by a risky margin. He was grinning though, so he still had plenty left. Little Darling swabbed his face with his huge arm, trying to wipe off the sweat. I believe he'd have given that arm to beat Halenay. Just once!

The miners were crowding around but no one dared to stop the fight. The antagonism between the two dated back a full year. The very first thing that Halenay had done, as soon as he got a job at St. Michael's, was to start picking on Little Darling, as the men called the enormous fellow. Some of them were actually sticking at St. Mike's just to see how it would all turn out. To see if Little Darling would ever give in. But why was the Great Halenay so gleeful? The tiny guy was smiling delightedly and waiting, waiting—waiting.

Little Darling bore down again. At the last possible second, Halenay took a single step in and to the side. One swing and the poor little Darling plunked down in the mud again. Without being able to hear what they said, he had a feeling that the men on the side lines were laughing at him. His fury increased by degrees. Great fat tears of rage stood in his eyes. Seeing Halenay smiling broadly with that bedeviling, serene confidence, he could have killed him with an all-satisfying pleasure. He sprang up and lunged forward like a charging bull. The little guy must have had all the stuff in the world or he'd have run from that mountain of evil. But he seemed to get results without moving around too much and it certainly exasperated the big boy.

None of us saw Halenay strike. But suddenly there was the sound of a thud and Little Darling was on his face. It looked sort of bad, him lying there helpless. After all, he was a man. And we were supposed to be men, too. But we left him stretched out, like a big helpless boy. Some of the men looked odd but still they hesitated to touch him. His head was buried in the mud that hundreds of heavy boots had been treading all winter with cigarette stubs and discarded plugs. He finally glanced around, but so feebly that I thought he was about to die.

But he hadn't die. No, by Godfrey! That bruised hulk had been thinking. Thinking! Suddenly he lifted a ham of a hand and motioned the little guy to come over to him.

Little Darling reached slowly, limply, up to the Great Halenay. Did he want to forgive? To kiss him good-bye? But, instead, his grubby fingers locked themselves around the little one's neck. To say that Halenay was astonished is to put it mildly. He seemed to be trying to keep his eyes from bulging out. It looked like his end and no one had the courage to help him. He had asked for it—now he was getting it. Yes, by his bluish face, you'd say he was getting it. There was probably just enough oxygen reaching his brain to supply the energy for one more idea. He acted on it right away. He went expertly "dead" in Little Darling's grasp. He hung there exactly as if only the warmth of his body kept him from growing rigid. So, the rage gone from his face, the big brute let him slide to the ground.

Almost instantly Halenay was up on his feet, he kept saying, "keeping away all the time. If I ever saw anyone save his breath, it was that midget miner. He kept his eyes open just wide enough to watch his playmate and he would move out of range barely in time to escape a charge. And soon the fishlike, gasping look left his face; he seemed pretty fit as a fiddle like himself. But he waited another three minutes before he took any chances. His old strength was coming back. Now it was clear that he was the cruel one. The Great Halenay grew deadly. His moving body took on a definite rhythm. His timing was actually that of a dance.

It was the first word spoken in the bout and it seemed to turn the tide. Swift as a striking snake, he proceeded to pass out the sweets. His huge opponent could do nothing. With his left hand Halenay grabbed him by the neck and with his right cut his eye open. Reversing hands for holds, he gashed his other eye with his bullet fist. Then he stepped back quickly and I could see the blood streaming down both sides of Little Darling's face.

Halenay moved in again. He sank one hard, ripping blow into the giant belly. It jerked inward and from somewhere came a deep groan. Halenay grabbed his man with both hands so that he couldn't fall. Then he put another crimpler in the same spot. That was enough! In fact, judging from a sight of Little Darling's face, it was too much. Anyone could see that there was no more fight in him.

But now that it was all over, there were tears in Halenay's eyes. I had to look twice to make sure. Jiminy, I was glad I reckoned they were crazy but at least I knew they were human too. Little Darling proved it. He looked up at the Great Halenay and said, "Blast yuh, if yuh hadn't been my own brother I'd a given yuh long ago!"

O. W. PURDY JERSEY HERD GIVEN HIGH RATING

The O. W. Purdy herd of Burlington, R2, was given a Good Plus rating by the American Jersey Cattle Club recently according to the County Agent's Office. Each cow in the herd was classified by an official judge for the club. The highest classification given a cow in the herd was very good and the lowest was good. The head of the dairy department of Ohio State University classified the herd for the cattle club.

The Purdy Jerseys is one of the oldest purebred herd in the county, having been established by W. G. Kite more than thirty years ago. This fine type herd is also backed by a great many years of production testing records.

PHILIP CHAPMAN TELLS OF MIRACULOUS ESCAPE

day. He said he was not sure. Jap snipers set off a U. S. ammunition dump and "the whole island seemed to rock like it had been hit with an earthquake."

Chapman was a considerable distance from the dump, but said he could remember going through space and hitting a tree. "Then I blacked out," he added. Two days later he came to on a boat off shore.

He had been wounded in the left side when hit by shell fragments from the ammunition dump blast.

"A Navy corpsman was beside me when I came to," Chapman said. "His name was Joe and he was from Louisville. I apparently had told him I was born in Kentucky and he stayed right beside me all the time I was unconscious."

Chapman was transferred to a hospital ship and started the journey home.

Sees Jap Suicides

The local Marine said stories of the suicide of Japanese civilians on Saipan were not exaggerated. He said he saw mothers throw their children from cliffs and then jump themselves. Some held their babies in their arms as they plunged to their deaths. Others, he said, walked into the sea ignoring pleas and assurances that they would not be harmed by the Americans.

Chapman entered the Marines in March, 1943, and went to the Hawaiian Islands last December. He arrived on the West coast Aug. 29 and was transferred a week ago to the Naval hospital at Great Lakes. His wounds are not as serious as first feared by relatives here and it is hoped that he will get a 30-day leave from the hospital in the near future.

While at Oakland Chapman was visited by Lyle, one of his two sailor brothers, and they learned they had been at Pearl Harbor and Saipan at the same time. It was the first time they had met in three years.

CONCORD

Several from here attended the S. S. Convention at Glencoe Sunday.

The farmers are busy gathering corn and digging potatoes.

Opal Beach of Georgetown College was home over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Robinson returned home Saturday after an extended visit with her mother and brother of Middletown, Ohio.

The W. M. S. will meet with Miss Ella Roberts the second Wednesday in November. Every member urged to attend.

Mr. C. D. Hughes was a caller at Russell Webster's Sunday, he is improving slowly. We hope to see him out soon. We are glad his mother is better after being so very ill.

SEEK USE OF MORE PRODUCTS ON FARM

Cooperating with home demonstration agents and working through their trained food leaders, the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics is encouraging the use of more and better milk products in farm homes.

Many demonstrations have been given of approved methods of making butter and cottage cheese. A survey showed that 1,008 dairy thermometers were purchased in 9 counties where demonstrations were given. In the same counties 2,349 families reported having made 27,502 pounds of cottage cheese and 2,876 families 81,299 pounds of butter.

Have You Been Too Busy To REMEMBER EYESTRAIN?

The war has changed our lives. We all have new duties—extra responsibilities. And too often we forget some of the important rules of everyday living. Eyestrain, for example. Children whose precious eyes are endangered by improper habits of reading or studying. We forget that one school child of every five has defective eyesight.

Until the war is over—let's at least remember these four rules for conserving eyesight.

1 Do all reading, studying, sewing or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.

3 Avoid shadows. Make sure you have good light directly on your work or book. Shadows strain eyes.

2 Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.

4 Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision can be greatly helped with proper glasses.

When the war is over we are all going to have Better Light for Better Sight. In the meantime, take care of your eyes but don't waste light.

OUR FARM NEWS . . . . .

COLLEGE SUGGESTS WAYS TO SPEED UP TOBACCO STRIPPING

Men who stripped 220 pounds of tobacco in an 8-hour day were among the 24 whose methods were studied in preparing a new leaflet of the Kentucky College of Agriculture on stripping burley. Ten of the crews studied stripped an average of 184 pounds a day a man. The lowest crew averaged 82 pounds and the best crew 220 pounds in 8 hours.

Pictures are used in the leaflet to show how stripping can be done easier and faster. The first suggestion is that the stripping room be attached midway along the side of the barn. This does away with unnecessary walking. The saving of time in two or three years would justify moving the stripping room, it is said.

A bench just inside the door where flyings and trash can be stripped also reduces walking. Further, the stripping stalks will then be thrown in a pile near the outside door of the stripping room.

Using a stripping table the right height for workers does away with unnecessary stooping or raising of arms and shoulders.

Strip one grade at a time, it is suggested, and then pass the stalk to the next worker, unless most of the stalks have only one or two leaves of the next grade, or unless the next grade is ripe.

Hold 50 to 60 leaves to the hand before tying. Many more suggestions are given, and several of them are put in pictures so they can be more readily followed. Copies of the leaflet may be had at offices of county agents, or by writing to the college.

HOMS-MADE SLIDES HELP HARVEST CORN

Short of help, many Kentucky farmers used home-made slides to cut corn this year, according to reports received at the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The college early in the season issued plans for a two-row horse-drawn cutter that could be made at home.

County Agent C. B. Elson reported a dozen or more tractor-drawn cutters used in Nelson county. With one of these machines three men or a man and two boys cut 75 to 85 shocks a day, taking turn about running the tractor.

In Calloway county, 10 horse-drawn cutters were used. John Houston told County Agent S. V. Foy that he and another man cut two acres of hybrid corn in 2½ hours. A blacksmith in Murray built four cutters which he sold for $25 each. One had a cradle attachment that stacked the corn.

Ten thousand pounds of vetch seed will be seeded in Anderson county this year, 95 percent on land to be used for tobacco. Grayson county will have four carloads of baby bevers at the Louisville Fat Stock Show November 8 to 10.

POULTRY ADDS $1,066 TO FARMERS INCOME

A summary of the poultry flock records of Joel Spencer of Letcher county shows that his hens made him an income of $1,066 above feed costs the past year. Spencer began with 230 hens in October, 1943. When prices of eggs dropped in April, he started culling, and has continued to do so every month. He now has 117 hens. His records show an average of 18 eggs per hen per month.

Farm Agent Hugh Hurst noted that Mr. Spencer keeps laying mash, yellow corn, feed wheat, oyster shells and water before his flock at all times. He also has green feed for pasture growing near the chicken house. Comfortable winter quarters and a home-made water system further encourage production.

NITRATE BOOSTS YIELD OF CORN

Increased yields of corn where ammonium nitrate was used at the rate of 100 pounds per acre are reported by Farm Agent Warren Thompson of Hickman county. On the farm of Spicer Pyle, the field treated with nitrate yielded 53½ bushels in contrast to 45 bushels where the fertilizer was not used. Ike Martin's nitrate plot yielded 56 bushels while the untreated area produced 44 bushels.

GOOD RETURN FROM MOUNTAIN ORCHARD

Despite the drought which affected production, Frank Hall of Floyd county has harvested an apple crop worth about $3,750. He reports picking approximately 1,500 bushels which he sold at the orchard for $2.50 per bushel. Farm Agent S. L. Ibbell says that the 11-year old orchard, sprayed four times this year, is in a better state of production and produced finer fruit than at any other time. Apples displayed at the Quicksand Harvest Festival received several prizes.

ON KENTUCKY FARMS

During the past summer, more than 300 ponds have been dug in Montgomery county.

More than 3,000 people attended the 4-H club window show and fair in Laurel county.

Homemakers in Muhlenberg county reported 5,072 quarts of vegetables and 7,197 quarts of fruit canned by September 1.

The crop of tomatoes for canning has been good in Fulton county, with T. C. Bryant reporting a net return of $300 per acre.

The use of lime and phosphate is reported to be a regular practice on 95 percent of the farms in McLean county.

Farmers in Marshall county have used a record amount of lime this year, 24,500 tons having been spread.

By the close of the seeding season, more than 20,000 acres of balho rye will have been sown in Logan county.

In Warren county all 4-H club members submitting records to the state fair won prizes on them.

It is estimated that 8,000 acres in Todd county will be sowed to cover crops this fall.

THE OTHER SIDE OF NOWHERE

Just as the flik have difficulty in giving accurate measurements of things, they have an equal difficulty in telling where something is located. With our multiplicity of mays and our daily hearing over the radio of places in the remotest parts of the world, we today have sense of direction and probably could tell anyone where to start to go to Guadalcanal or Tunis or Calcutta. But before mays were common and those in use only big outline maps of the whole states or countries, it was no easy way to tell directions or to indicate distances.

People who lived in remote or inaccessible places lived "the other side of nowhere." Nearly every neighborhood has such places houses or farms that somehow failed to connect with the more ordinary roads. Some years ago I went with a country doctor on one of his calls in a remote county, a very rugged one. At one place, after we had plowed his car through mudholes that seemed bottomless to me, he said he would have to leave the car and go the rest of the way on foot to the patient. I recall that he crossed a footlog and went by a path up a big hill, disappearing in a forest with huckleberry undergrowth. An hour or so later he returned saying the patient was better. I could not help wondering just what would happen if a patient were dangerously ill in such a place. I forgot to ask how the funeral could have been held if the patient had died.

Still another way of saying the same thing is "back of somebody's field." This term, though, carries with it a belittling meaning as if some smart aleck who is now showing off has forgotten that he used to live back of somebody's field. A politician sometimes uses this figure to tell his friends how humble he was in origin, not even living out on the pigpath roads or trails of the time. The same fellow always referred to his parents as his mammy and daddy and usually said they began life in a log cabin, where he, of course in order to be a great politician was born. Now, even though he might hate to admit it, he probably lives in a better house than do the voters whose influence he wants, but it sounds better to say that he grew up back of somebody's field.

While I was walking a few days ago, on a rather cloudy morning, I heard a Barred Owl hooting. That reminds me of another way of telling how far away someone lived: "down where the owls hoot in the night." The general assumption would be that such a place would be remote, probably not cleared up much, and maybe down in some dark hollow away from the evidences of civilization. From my own personal experience, both as a country boy and as an ornithologist, that would be unfair, since owls do hoot in the daytime in pretty civilized places. Not long ago I heard one in daylight from my hotel room in a county-seat town, a town that rather prides itself on being up and coming. Probably no one else heard it but me, but I suspect that the sound was so common that many a person had never stopped to think about this evidence of a place's being far away from the center of things.

One of my students years ago phoned the whole idea the best of anyone I have ever known. He said that he lived "nine miles beyond the end of the dirt road."

That ought to be far enough for the most romantic sort of life. That same boy declared that the roads to his home completely played out, then the trails got impassable, and the last few yards had to be accomplished by swinging in on a grapevine. Since that fellow is now the school superintendent in his own county, I am sure that his words were true. Anyway, he lived a long way off the beaten path.

YOUNG TURKEYS BEST

Turkey not much more than 20 weeks old are considered the best buy for persons who want mostly lean meat. A tom begins to put on a lot of fat when it is about 24 to 28 weeks old. At 32 weeks, a turkey hen may be as much as a fourth fat.

OPA This Week

EGG PRICES SET

A regulation setting ceiling prices on all grades of eggs for all seasons of the year is now in effect. This marks the first time the OPA has been able to work out ceilings on an annual basis for such a seasonal commodity as eggs. Starting October 27 through December 14 retail ceilings for large Grade A eggs in the Lexington District will be 65 to 68 cents. These prices will be the peak for the entire year.

Carryin' ga table which sets forth the exact wholesale ceilings for each week in the year, the regulation provides a seasonal downward trend beginning in January, which will reach its low point for the period from early March through May. Adjustments in the regulation still follow seasonal trends and are set at a level that will return to the producer a seasonally average price equal to or better than parity.

CHEVROLET AUTOMOBILES

Ceiling prices for used Chevrolet passenger automobiles, 1937 to 1941 model years inclusive, have been adjusted by small increases OPA has announced.

The adjustments were made following a survey by OPA, which indicated that while the original ceiling prices for other makes of cars were generally a little above January 1944 automotive guide book prices, the prices established for Chevrolet were generally below the guide book for that date. The adjusted Chevrolet prices will more nearly reflect their January 1944 guide book prices, OPA said.

"Let Me Get You Some ANTI-PAIN PILLS"

WITH YOUR responsibilities, can you afford to let a headache, Muscular Pains, Functional Monthly Pains or Simple Neuralgia slow you down? Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills have been bringing relief from these common discomforts for nearly sixty years.

Countless American housewives consider Anti-Pain Pills almost as much of a necessity in the medicine cabinet, as is flour in the kitchen cupboard. They have Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills in the house, many of them carry these little pain relievers in purse or handbag. They are prepared for these minor aches and pains that sometimes occur in almost every family—ARE YOU? Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills are pleasant to take and do not upset the stomach.

Get Dr. Miles Anti-Pain Pills at your drug store. Regular package 25 tablets 25¢. Economy package 125 tablets $1.00. Read directions and use only as directed.

FOOD POINT CHANGES

Present food point values will be retained through November with three exceptions—packaged spaghetti and macaroni "dinners" and applesauce—the Lexington District OPA Office has announced.

Effective October 29, the point value on canned applesauce will be cut from fifty to thirty points and spaghetti or macaroni with grated cheese content of the package 1½ ounces or less, will cost half a red point. If the cheese content of the package is between 1½ and 3 ounces, the packaged spaghetti or macaroni dinner will cost a full red point.

1942 AUTOMOBILES

As an aid to certificate holders in locating cars, all automobile dealers are required to post their current inventory of 1942 new and used cars held for sale. The cars must be listed by make, body type, serial number and engine number.

Dealers who refuse to sell a car to a prospective purchaser who has the cash and necessary papers may be barred from dealing in any cars rationed or that may be rationed in the future OPA pointed out.

Under the new action, the validity period of car ration certificates was extended from 15 to 60 days and are not renewable.

SHOES

Current stocks of shoes that contain no leather except for small quantities used to reinforce fabric uppers were declared ration-free this week by the OPA.

The release is confined to shoes made in this country or imported, before November 6, since the intention is to free stocks dealers have on hand without encouraging further use of leather in this type of footwear. The action will free from rationing present stocks of rubber-soled gymnasium shoes with canvas uppers that have leather reinforcements.

Every member of the homemakers clubs in Gallaway county reported planting-fall greens.

Lack of coke caused damage to thousands of pounds of tobacco in Woodford county.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Mary and I were just saying, Judge, how lucky we are here in America that we have so many natural resources to help win the war."

"That's right, Jim. When war broke out we had oil, we had steel, we had food, lumber, aluminum...practically everything we needed. There's one thing we didn't have...rubber. The enemy had that."

"But that didn't bother us for long. Soon American brains and industry had synthetic rubber by the tons rolling out of plants. That filled a critical need...you can't win a war without rubber."

"I was very much interested the other day in reading a statement made by a high government official on synthetic rubber. In it he said 'It is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry.'"

"He also said that, in his estimation, the tremendous contribution of distillers' industrial alcohol to the synthetic rubber program had not received the recognition which it deserves."

"We certainly learned something today, didn't we Mary?"

From where I sit...by Joe Marsh

Some of Us Still Think of Them as Kids

Last week Ben Ryder showed me a snapshot of his son, Jim, on some Pacific island.

Stripped to the waist, sun-tanned and strong as an ox, Jim and another flyer were relaxing with a glass of beer just after returning from one of their most successful bombing expeditions of the war.

"Morale-builder after surprise visit to the Nips," Jim had written briefly on the photo.

"Ben," I said reminiscently, "it seems only yesterday that Jim was a shy young stripling of grade-school age."

"Seems only the day before that I was courtin' his mother over Pigeon Hill way," Ben chuckled.

"Yes," I said, "and from where I sit, it seems about time that our oldsters acknowledged the full and complete rights of the men who have kept our country free—whether it's their right to enjoy a moderate glass of beer or to vote the ticket they want to."

Independence R. 1

The farmers are very busy getting their fall work done during this beautiful weather.

We were glad to see so many out to church school and also the church services Sunday at Staffordsburg Sunday to hear Rev. Thomas. He and his wife were dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hanna.

The Halloween party given at Mrs. George Binder Jr. Saturday evening was well attended and all reported a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. George Klein and daughter Mrs. Chester Ballanger spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens of Mt. Vernon, Ind. We are glad to report Chester Ballanger is much improved since he arrived in Arizona. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Mr. Donald Keeney spent Sunday with Wayne Riley.

Mrs. Lybrian Richardson and Mrs. Chester Rapp spent one day last week in the city shopping.

Mrs. Opal Shaw entertained the Staffordsburg Homemakers at her home last Tuesday.

Mr. Leslie Riley lost a very valuable heifer last week with the black leg, the farmers are getting very much alarmed over that dreadful disease and are doing a lot of vaccinating.

Mrs. Stallcup had guests from the city this past week.

We are sorry to report Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lucelyn having sold their home and are leaving the community in the near future. We hate to give up good friends and neighbors.

KEEP FAITH WITH OUR SOLDIERS

Vote Democratic November 7th

Although the end of the war not be too far distant, our loss of the peace after World War I must not be repeated!

Roosevelt, Truman and Barkley and the Democratic Party are proud of their record of the last 12 years and of their record as it affects veterans. The Roosevelt Administration has expanded and improved the laws providing for veterans of all wars. Men and women on active duty have received increased compensation, greater benefits for their dependents and job insurance and priority when the war ends.

Just as the Roosevelt Administration has a definite program for winning the peace, it also has a broader program of social benefits for all and specific assistance for the farmers.

With a proven record of 12 years progressive Kentuckians are offered a chance to continue such men as Roosevelt, Truman and Barkley at the head of the government. The alternative is men with little or no experience in keeping the United States on its enviable place in World affairs.

Soil Conservation Association Gives Meeting Schedule

A series of meetings have been scheduled by the Boone County Agricultural Conservation Association to deliver the 1944-45 Tobacco Marketing Cards, and to complete compliance reports on soil-building practices carried out by cooperators under the 1944 A. C. Program.

Tobacco Marketing Cards will be required by everyone raising tobacco this year, before the tobacco can be sold. Reports on the acreage raised with the exception of a few cases have already been reported to the office. There has been only about 2% of the producers who have reported that they have excess tobacco this year. The reported acreage to date shows that about 77% of the acreage allotment has been raised this year, and when reports are completed, the total acreage raised in Boone County will be about 2600 acres.

Cooperators have until December 31, 1944, to carry out soil-building practices under the 1944 A. C. Program, but all Applications for Payment must be submitted to the State Office not later than January, so that it is necessary to complete the compliance reports at an early date in order to make this schedule. All grant of aid material, to receive credit must be used at the end of this year.

The scheduled community meetings are as follows:
Burlington, Nov. 7—A. C. Office
Union, Nov. 8—Bank
Beaver, Nov. 9—Postoffice
Grant, Nov. 9—Bank
Walton, Nov. 11—Bank Basement
Hamilton, Nov. 13—School
Verona, Nov. 14—Bank
Hebron, Nov. 15—Bank
Petersburg, Nov. 15—Bank
Florence, Nov. 16—Bank
All meetings will be from 8:30 a. m. to 3:00 p. m. (C.W.T.) except the Petersburg Meeting, which will be from 1:00 p. m. to 3:00 p. m.

P.T.A. Thankful For Party Success

The Parent-Teachers Association of the Walton School wishes to thank all the patrons and friends of the school who helped to make the Halloween Party the biggest and best that they have ever sponsored. Over five hundred tickets were sold at the door and everyone seemed to have a good time.

The gross receipts from the party was about one hundred-fifty dollars. This money will be used by the organization for needed equipment for the Lunch Room and School.

The organization wishes especially to thank all the women who made candy, everyone who donated prizes, the judges, the various committees, and Mr. Pruett who was Master of Ceremonies. We appreciate the loyal support of the people of the community as shown by the large crowd who attended and spent their money so freely. To all of you we say "Thank You."

Mary Humphrey, Pub. Chr.

TERRACING DEMONSTRATION WAS WELL ATTENDED

The terracing construction demonstration held on the farm of John Boyer near Verona on Monday of this week was attended by approximately 35 farmers, according to the County Agent's Office. The demonstration was conducted in cooperation with the Soil Conservation Service and Extension Service of Boone and Gallatin Counties and local machinery dealers.

The use of farm terraces to check surface water erosion and increase crop yields, is a relatively new agricultural practice in Boone County. While a large part of our land is too steep for effective terracing, much land will greatly benefit. Farmers are urged to study results on demonstration farms during the next few years where terraces are properly constructed and managed.

New Walton Service Board Dedicated

The Walton Service Board was dedicated before a large crowd on Tuesday, November 7th at the Walton-Verona School with a very impressive service.

The program was as follows:
Two songs by the school children: "God Bless America" and "America the Beautiful."
Invocation by Rev. D. E. Bedinger, "Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag" by the group.

Reading by Mrs. Gaynelle Flynn, "In Am An American."
Talk by Rev. R. F. DeMoisey, Group singing of "America."
Benediction by Rev. George Carland.

There are 170 names on the board, with 3 gold stars and 5 purple hearts. Anyone knowing of a name that is not on the board please notify Mrs. Louise Rouse.

CHANGE OF TIME OF PRAYER SERVICE AT NEW BETHEL

Prayer meeting at New Bethel Church will be held during the winter months on Saturday evening at 7:30 instead of Wednesday evening. The pastor, Rev. Childress, will be present.

BEAVER PRECINCT OVER TOP

Mrs. Ruth Green, chairman of the War Fund Drive in the Beaver precinct, is happy to announce that Beaver has gone over the top by more than $100.00. Mrs. Green desires to thank her helpers, Mrs. Joe Wood, Mrs. Jake Clegg, Mrs. Robert Slayback, Mrs. Wm. Wilson, Mrs. George Baker and Mrs. Harry Moore for their help in making this drive a success.

TECH. JOHN GAULT RETURNING HOME

Mrs. John Gault, Walton, received a cablegram Tuesday stating that her son, Tech. John Gault is in California, after serving two and one-half years in the Pacific with the Army Air Corp. Tech. Gault will arrive home soon for a 30-day furlough.

Powell county 4-H club members gathered 300 sacks of milkweed pods during September.

Roosevelt, Barkley, Spence Win Election; County, State, Nation Cast a Record Vote

Three Stone Brothers Serving All Over the World

Pvt. Homer E. Stone

Pvt. Homer E. Stone, son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Stone of Walton, took his training for the Infantry in Camp Blanding, Fla. He has been in service for 12 months.

Pvt. Stone has been overseas since May 1944. He was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received in action in France, July 18.

Cpl. Ralph G. Stone

Cpl. Ralph G. Stone son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Stone of Walton, went into the Army in May 1943.

Cpl. Stone took his Anti-Aircraft training in Louisiana, Georgia and North Carolina.

Word has been received that Cpl. Stone was sent overseas a few weeks ago.

Albert J. Stone S 2-c

Albert J. Stone S 2-c of the U. S. Navy is now stationed somewhere in the South Pacific. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Stone.

Seaman Stone has been in the Navy for 10 months. He took his Boot Training at Great Lakes and eight weeks schooling in Little Creek, Virginia.

Northern Kentucky joined other section of the state and nation in re-electing Roosevelt, Barkley and Spence, all Democrats, back into their respective jobs.

One of the largest votes in the state and nation were recorded on Tuesday, with the Democrats giving President Roosevelt about a 100,000 majority in Kentucky.

Senator Alben W. Barkley was leading his Republican opponent, James Park, by about 100,000 votes.

In the Fifth District, Representative Brent Spence won over Republican, Olin W. Davis, by the vote of 45,168 to 32,617.

The tabulation in the various counties is as follows:

Boone
Roosevelt 2,451—Dewey 1,457
Barkley 2,382—Park 1,269
Spence 2,396—Davis 1,354

CHILD STUDY GROUP TO MEET

Boone County parents and friends of children will have the opportunity to study "Child Care and Training" next week. The first in the series of three monthly meetings will be held next Tuesday, November 14th, 1:30 p. m. at the Town Hall in Florence.

Miss Florence Inlay, child care specialist of the University of Ky., will lead the discussion group. "What We Want for Today's Children" will be the subject for the first meeting. The second meeting to be held December 5th, will discuss "Today's Parents—Tomorrow's Children," while the third meeting, January 19th, will study "Developing Responsibilities in Parents and Children."

Parents of children and friends will be welcome at the meeting, according to Mary Hood Gillespie, Home Demonstration Agent. The planning committee hopes that each P. T. A. group will have a representative.

Women's Club Hold November Session

The Walton Women's Club held its November meeting in the home of Mrs. J. R. Conrad.

In the absence of Mrs. J. C. Bedinger, Mrs. G. S. Carland gave the thought-for-the-day taken from Booth Washington's article in Ladies Home Companion.

Roll call by Mrs. C. S. Chambers was answered with current events. Much discussion as to the dedication of the service board was indulged in with the date set for Tuesday November 14th.

Mrs. E. Bruce Wallace was appointed to co-operate with Mr. Charles Thompson, Walton Bond Chairman to sponsor bond sales through November and December.

Miss Laura Disherson of Williamstown was the guest speaker choosing a very fitting subject the "Indian of Arizona." She so ably portrayed interest of India in English and Indian tongue by a reading of the medicine song by Gerolima, a love story between Hawk and Nistina by Hamlin Garland.

Mrs. August Carlton, president of Williamstown Club, gave a short talk as to some workings of the club.

A delicious salad course with coffee was served by the hostess, Mrs. J. R. Conrad to the following guests: Mrs. Herman Mathews of Petersburg, Ky., Mrs. W. K. Chambers of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Charles Thompson, Miss Laura Disherson of Williamstown, Augusta Carlton of Williamstown, Mrs. O. B. Brach, Mrs. Lena Steers of Williamstown, Mrs. Daniel Bedinger, Mrs. C. F. Blankenbaker, Mrs. G. S. Carland, Mrs. C. S. Chambers, Mrs. E. E. Fry, Mrs. A. H. Gaines, Mrs. J. L. Hamilton, Mrs. Clord Johnson, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. H. F. Mann, Miss Emma Jane Miller, Mrs. R. G. Moore, Mrs. John Meyers, Mrs. J. E. McCabe, Mrs. W. O. Rouse, Mrs. W. W. Rouse, Mrs. D. H. Vest, Mrs. J. L. Vest, Mrs. E. B. Wallace and hostess Mrs. J. R. Conrad.

Walton Bearcats Start Season at New Haven Thursday

The Bearcats of Walton-Verona High School will see their first action this Thursday night, November 9th at New Haven.

The team this year started practice with a few regulars left from last year's first and second teams, and an abundance of "green" material, but under the pressure of the new coach, Jimmy Vest, they are rounding into rather a smooth outfit. Coach Vest states that the boys are all being given a chance at the first and second team with right to some of first team posts being hotly contested.

The players who are trying out for the teams are: Billy R. Wynn, Guy Olen Carlisle, Tommy Kephart, Gene Roberts, Leonard Cook, Dilke Vest, Marvin Pennington, Opal Simpson, Barry Childers, Johnny Maddox, Buddy Readmore, and Jim Isabel.

This hard working squad of boys this year need your support and the very best way to support them is to be at every game and let them know you are there—Remember Thursday night, November 9, at New Haven for the Bearcats' first game.

The first home game will be with Burlington on Friday, November 17. Coach Vest announces the following schedule:

Nov. 9—New Haven—There
Nov. 17—Burlington—Here

TO OBSERVE SUNDAY AS "MEN AND MISSIONS DAY"

The fourteenth annual observance of Men and Missions Sunday, scheduled for November 12, will have the support and participation of more than 60,000 churches representing 36 denominations or communions.

Local congregations participating include the Walton Baptist and Christian Churches. Both these churches plan to have laymen share the program of the morning service next Sunday.

While the Walton Methodist Church is co-operative in this program, it observes a Laymen's Sunday later in its church year, which precludes its participation in a similar "special day" emphasis.

About 400 persons from Paris helped the farmers of Bourbon county with their tobacco cutting.

THREE TOBACCO GRADING DEMONSTRATIONS PLANNED

Matur V. Tuttle, Federal Tobacco Grader, will assist in holding three tobacco stripping and grading demonstration meetings on November 24th and the 25th, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. These meetings held just before the opening of the market on December 4th will be of special interest to all tobacco growers.

The schedule of the meetings is as follows:
Friday the 24th at H. E. White's farm two miles south of Burlington on the East Bend Road. An afternoon meeting will be held at 1:30 p. m. at the tobacco barn of Less Moore across the road from the filling station one mile south of Beaver on U. S. 42.

The Saturday morning meeting will be held at 9:30 a. m. on the farm of Albert Parker one mile north of Walton on U. S. 25. All tobacco growers are invited to attend. The meetings are of special importance to growers desiring to handle their crops to secure highest market price under the federal grading system.

Twenty-five dress forms have been made at homemaker's club meetings in Boone county this fall.

Homemakers Study "Individualizing of Clothes" in Nov.

Methods of "Individualizing clothes" will be the major project lesson for Homemakers at November meetings. The newest and best methods and tricks in fitting clothes (ready made) and patterns will be discussed and demonstrated at each meeting. This is the third clothing lesson for the new year.

Visitors will be welcome at any of the meetings. Following is the November schedule:

November 10—Walton; Mrs. H. P. Mann—11:00 a. m.
November 15—Taylorsport; Mrs. Robert Morehead—10:30 a. m.
November 16—Ballittsville; Mrs. M. M. Lucas—11:00 a. m.
November 17—Florence; Town Hall—10:30 a. m.
November 21—New Haven; Mrs. John Taylor—11:00 a. m.
November 17—Walton Colored Club—8:00 p. m.
November 14—County-wide Child Training Meeting; Florence Town Hall—1:30 p. m.

WOMEN'S CLOTHING WORK SAVES MONEY

That homemakers were saved the expense of having more than 600 garments dry cleaned when they put into practice some of the tricks of spot and stain removal learned in their conservation projects, was reported at the annual meeting of the Madison County Homemakers' Association held in Richmond. They also padded 104 sleeve boards and put 36 wool press cloths to use as they followed professional pressing methods, recommended by Home Agent Sara T. Campbell. Through remodeling, they made 528 articles of clothing useful again.

Store window exhibits of furniture before and after being slip-covered or refinished, told of the work of homemakers in this field during the past year. A total of 640 pieces were re-done. Included were chairs, divans, stools, trunks, dressing tables, sewing machines, beds and smaller articles.

WITH OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

IN NAVY

Robert L. Shields, 21 of Walton Rd. is receiving his initial Naval instruction at the U. S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.His recruit training consists of instruction in seamanship, military drill, and general Naval procedure.
During this period a series of aptitude tests will be taken by the recruit to determine whether he will be assigned to a Naval Service
School or to immediate duty at sea.
When his recruit training is completed, the seaman will receive a period of leave.

ENJOYS LETTERS VERY MUCH

The following letters were received by Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Webster from their son-in-law, Arthur Doggett from somewhere in Europe:Dear Mrs. Webster:
I had your most welcomed letter yesterday and I was very glad to hear from you. Yesterday was the first time I have had any mail for some time. You have no idea how much a letter can help over here.
Each day we look for mail and when none comes in we are very disappointed but we understand how hard it is for us to receive mail and from a long distance away.The weather has been very bad for the past week and has been raining every day. I am glad we are sleeping inside, but we go up to the front almost every day and the mud is terrible. I hope this is soon all over and I can come home, I am very tired of it over here. I think we may have to go to the Pacific after we finish here.I am making out alright but I have not seen my brother for some time, and I have no idea where he is.
I hope he is making out alright.
I had nine letters from Mildred yesterday and I was so very glad to get them. I have read them over a number of times. I have not received the package you sent me. I wrote you I think that I was now living in the heart of a beautiful city and have been here for some time. We are very glad to be inside.

As ever,

Arthur Doggett.

SOMEWHERE AT SEA

Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Welsh received the following letter from their son Sgt. Nicholas T. Welsh, Jr., who is somewhere in the Pacific.Dearest Mother and Dad, Here goes for another letter. Everything is going along fine.
Couldn't ask for much better. Our food is the best and that is no baloney. We have our own recreation in the form of music and movies.
We are rather busy but that is O. K.
I wish you and Dad could be withme and see the moonlight on the water. No artist could paint so beautiful a picture. I have found out that by seeing the wonderful things in your surroundings you forget the danger. I can truthfully say that I am enjoying myself. Larry is going to have to work fast to beat my record.Have seen quite a few porpoises playing around. They are very interesting to watch. They just keep ahead of us by a few feet and jump and dive all the time. Then there are the flying fish, they jump out of the water and glide for about 50 ft. then dive into the water. Very graceful.
Am getting so that the rolling of the ship rocks me to sleep. Have been very fortunate so far not getting seasick.Am writing this letter now as I sit on the Main Deck. There is a nice strong wind blowing the salt spray over the ship. What a life.Take care of yourselves and keep in good health.May God be your guide and protector throughout the days to come.
Your loving son,
Nickie

REPRESENTS HOMETOWN

Dear Editor,
Just a few lines to let you know that I appreciate getting the paper and to let you know that I'm O. K.
I represented the hometown in the Airborne landing over here. It seems that every campaign is represented by one of the boys from Walton.I came in by glider and am now qualified to wear the wings of a glider trooper. I was plenty scared coming over but now have the situation well in hand.Tell all my friends hello as I haven't time to write everyone.

Yours truly,

"Now that you mention it, Judge, I can see this really has been a 'war of jobs'."
"Yes it has, Fred, and the biggest job of all is the one being done by our armed forces across the sea...the actual physical fighting that is bringing victory closer day by day."
"And here at home, Judge, our job has been to supply our men abroad with the ammunition and equipment they need to finish their job. And to provide the money to buy these supplies through our purchase of War Bonds. By and large, I think we've taken our job seriously, too."

"You're right, Fred, we have. But there's one more big job we've got to do for our men over there. That is to abide by their wishes that this country should be kept the same way it was when they left it...not changed around while they're away and can't express their opinions."
"In all fairness, Judge, that's a simple request no one can afford to disregard."

THE CHURCH DURING WAR AND PEACE

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 5:43-48; Romans 12:17.

GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called sons of God—Matthew 5:9.

Everywhere men are talking about the coming peace. They are concerned lest having won a war we may lose the peace through the selfishness or the indifference of men. It is a great problem and one to which we are rightly concerned.

Why is it then that the most important factor in assuring a just and friendly settlement of the problem is left out of men's deliberations? Why is there so little (if any) thought of God and prayer to Him for the needed guidance and wisdom?

We know that there can never be an abiding peace until Christ comes to establish His kingdom, but in the meantime, we should seek to bring Christian principles to bear on the relations of men and nations. We are to show:

I. A Higher Measure of Love (Matt. 5:43-48).

The world has established its own principle of conduct based on selfish advantage. It pays to be polite to those who can favor you, to cultivate their good will by acts of courtesy and kindness. Your neighbor may be able to help you in an hour of need, so do good to him as you have opportunity.

But an enemy—what can you gain from kindness to him? Hate him, and treat him like an enemy. Christianity knows nothing of such a spirit. Even though it be necessary to fight against wicked men in order to hinder their evil plans, we need not love our love for them. Even those who desperately use us may be loved for Christ's sake.

"Consider Him that endured such contradiction of sinners against Himself" (and went right on loving them), "lest ye be wearied" (in your own love for those who bear the sad name of enemies (see Heb. 12:3)).

This is admittedly a high standard, but it is not too high for those who know the love of Christ.

II. A Higher Degree of Loyalty (Rom. 13:1-4).

An intelligent Christian is the best citizen. He knows that all government is based on the power and authority of God, and hence he recognizes the legality and authority of duly constituted governmental agencies.

No matter how much man has perverted or degraded government, yet it is in essence the expression of a ministry of God (v. 4). How deeply ashamed that should make those who regard political office as a means of personal gain and advantage, or who use their authority to permit or promote that which is against God.

Every public official should recognize God as the giver of his authority and seek the Lord's special grace and guidance in the discharge of his duties. Every citizen should highly regard the one who rules as having a power ordained of God (v. 1), for the good of the nation (v. 4).

Here then is the solution of the political problems which are causing upheaval all over the world, namely, a revival of Christian testimony and faith, for it will lead to a loyalty on the part of the people which is quite unknown where Christianity does not bring its true influence to bear.

That kind of love for men and loyalty to government necessarily brings about:

III. A Higher Standard of Patriotism (Rom. 13:5-7).

There is more to real patriotism than flag waving and high-sounding oratory. There must be a conscientious willingness to serve the nation in willing obedience to the command or the request of proper authority.

The Christian gives just that kind of patriotic support to his country (v. 5). His enlightened conscience demands it, and he responds.

Then too, there must be support of the government by the payment of taxes. Think of the thousands who are engaged in the business of evading their just share of the cost of government.

The Christian has no share in such things, for he is ready to pay his share of the expense of government as a ministry of the Lord (v. 6). No government can function properly nor long endure which does not have the respect and confidence of those governed. There can be nothing but criticism, discontent, and disobedience in such an atmosphere. We have said it before, but we say it again—the best thing that could happen to America politically is a revival of Christianity. Our national leaders ought to set the example and encourage the people to follow in repentance, restitution and God's blessing. Read II Chron. 7:14.

COOKED A FINE DINNER; THEN THREW IT TO DOG

One lady recently stated that she used to throw her own dinner to the dog most of the time. It made her sick just to look at anything to eat. She was swollen with gas, full of bloated, had headaches, felt worn out and was badly constipated. Finally she got ERB-HELP and says she now eats everything in sight and digests it perfectly. Bowels are regular and normal. She is enjoying life once more and feels like "some other woman since taking this New Compound."

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP.

World's Deepest Oil Well In West Texas Field

The world's deepest hole is known as the Ada Price No. 1 of the Phillips Petroleum company and is located 27 miles southeast of Fort Stockton, Pecos county, Texas, in the west Texas oil field. A month was required to dig the first 520 feet through hard limestone with ordinary cable drilling tools.

Once through the limestone, a rotary drill was put to work and finished the hole. At 11,556 feet trouble was encountered through high pressure gas, and again at 12,852 feet a formation of chert slowed up drilling considerably. It required four months to drill through this chert, which was 125 feet thick. A total of 140 drill bits were used, making the total for the entire well 467.

The well is 30 inches in diameter at the top and tapers gradually until it becomes 7 1/2 inches at the bottom. Immediately after the drilling was completed more than 800 threaded joints of 5/8-inch outside diameter casing were coupled together and lowered into the well. The bottom end of the casing was plugged so it was cushioned as it sank into the hole. The drilling mud in the hole helped to sustain the enormous weight of the casing—156 tons.

Fight Against Infantile Paralysis Slow Progress

The first high hopes for combating infantile paralysis were for convalescent serum, the protective antibodies of those who recently had the disease. But after thousands had been treated, it was found that those with no serum had just as high a recovery rate as the others.

Next came vaccines. One from the New York City health department was made of the killed virus of infantile paralysis. When 20,000 vaccinations were of record, there was a brief time when success was confidently predicted. Afterward it was abandoned as useless.

Then came a second vaccine, this time of live, but attenuated virus. While first results looked good, after a summer's trial, it was declared too dangerous.

The third great hope was nasal sprays, alum, picric acid and zinc. Sprays were founded on the belief that polio was contracted only through the nose, in the nerves of smell, but it was found that polio also can be contracted via the digestive tract.

Mite Menace

Individual examinations should be made for lice on hens, and, if the eggs are found, the hens should be dusted around the neck, under the wings, and around the vent with louse powder. Sodium fluoride mixed with an equal portion of talcum or four makes a good louse powder, it is said. Mites live on the hens at night, but as soon as the hens begin to stir around in the morning, the mites go back to their hiding places in cracks and on the underside of the roosts. If there are any mites you will see gray masses of tiny creatures in hidden places.

If you lift the roost, you will no doubt soon feel the mites on your own body. They won't stay long on the human body, for they feel uncomfortable. To the hen, they are not only uncomfortable, but they also suck the blood so much that frequently the masses in the cracks of the roost are red instead of gray. Hens frequently die from mite infestations, and it is impossible to lay well when the blood is sucked every night by millions of these tiny creatures.

Phenothiazine Effective

Early in 1940, workers in the U. S. agriculture department published the results of tests on three horses and one mule, each of which had been given 80 or 90 grams of phenothiazine. They found these treatments practically 100 per cent effective against both large and small strongyles and noted no evidence of intoxication. Within a few months, the drug was tested extensively in horses by workers in the United States and in England, with the result that phenothiazine has, in general, become accepted as a superior and safe anthelmintic for the removal of strongyles from horses. Since these parasites are the most common and most injurious of all worms living in the gastro-intestinal tracts of horses, the drug is of value in equine medication. In limited tests, this chemical has not been a satisfactory treatment for the removal of ascarids and is entirely ineffective against bots.

Favorite Odors

Rose, liked by 85 per cent of people interviewed in a recent survey, was the favorite odor. Tied for second place, with 83 per cent, were lilac and pine. Next in order among the first ten came lily-of-the-valley and violet, 77; coffee and balsam, 76; cedar, 72; wintergreen, 67; chocolate, 66; carnation, 65; orange, 63; vanilla, 62.

The dislikes were exhibited in a more positive fashion than the likes. No one, for example, liked the odor of perspiration, which had the lowest score on the list, but a close second came admitted they liked. The next of the ten lowest in their order from the bottom of the list were: lard, 2; rubber, 4; olive oil, 6; kerosene, 7; fish, 10; turpentine, 11; vinegar, 11; onion, 13, and gasoline, 17.

OPA This Week

AUTO TIRE QUOTA ANNOUNCED

The November quota of new automobile tires allocated by the War Production Board will be 1,850,000 an increase of 250,000 over the October quota—the OPA announced this week.

OPA said that any broadening of eligibility requirements—that is, to enable "A" ration holders to buy new tires—must wait on three conditions:

(1) Elimination of the present backlog of 850,000 approved, but unfilled, tire applications of eligible "B" and "C" ration holders.
(2) An increase in the stocks of new tires in the hands of dealers and distributors to a level of 4 to 5 million. (As of September 30, estimated inventories were at the 2,800,000 level, with compilation of September inventories not yet completed.)

(3) That the monthly rate of production be sufficiently in excess of demand, beginning with the first month of liberalization. Otherwise the demand for passenger tires might be so great that many essential users would be denied while non-essential users received tires. Not until all these conditions are met can OPA consider including "A" ration holders in the list of eligibles for new passenger car tires.

LEATHER-SOLED MOCCASINS

The time during which leather-soled moccasins with a house-slipper type of construction may be stocked as ration-free footwear has been extended through December 31, the OPA announced this week.

NEW COAL REGULATION
All dealers in coal and other solid fuels are now required to give each purchaser an invoice, sales slip or receipt, containing full information about the kind of coal sold and the price, the OPA announced this week. The new provision will be effective November 11, 1944.

This action has been taken, OPA said, to aid enforcement of ceiling prices. It will also give greater price protection to purchasers.

BASKET BALL SHOES

Basket ball shoes were released from rationing on November 8, the Lexington District OPA Office announced this week.

Boss Johnson To Speak At PCA Annual Meeting

Boss Johnson, well known speaker from Station WLW, Cincinnati, O., will speak at the Eleventh Annual Meeting of the Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association, which will be held at 1:00 p. m. on Friday, November 10 in the Idle Hour Theatre Building, Williamstown, Kentucky. Mr. Johnson is no stranger among the farmers of this territory. He has frequently appeared on programs locally, so that many know him personally as well as through his radio program, which is a favorite among the farm folk.

Reports on the progress of the Association in the past year will be presented by Mr. Harold C. Hedger, Secretary-Treasurer of the Association. The election of two directors is another important feature of the meeting. An entertaining program been arranged and refreshments will be served.

Members and stockholders of the Association are particularly urged to attend this annual meeting. The Association also extends a cordial invitation to the public and hopes that many will take advantage of this opportunity to hear Boss Johnson and become more familiar with the activities of the Association.

The Northern Kentucky Production Credit Association is proud of the progress made in the eleven years of operation and is eager to let the public know of its progress and become better acquainted with the service available. This service is extended to the farmers of the following Northern Kentucky Counties: Boone, Campbell, Carroll, Gallatin, Grant, Kenton, Owen and Pendleton.

OUR FARM NEWS . . . . .

CORN HAY MEASUREMENTS ARE GIVEN

Requests for corn and hay measurements are received almost daily at the County Agent's Office this time of the year. The following general rules for Kentucky are given:

Corn: Weighs—ear corn, 70 lbs. from November 1st to January 1st; 68 pounds from January 1st to November 1st. Shelled corn, 56 lbs. at all times. Snapped corn, 75 lbs. at all times.

Corn Measured—2½ cubic feet makes a bushel of ear corn. 1½ cubic feet makes a bushel of shelled corn.

Hay in the stack from 30 to 90 days:

Alfalfa—485 cubic feet per ton.

Timothy and mixed—640 cubic feet per ton.

Hay in the stack over 90 days:

Alfalfa—470 cubic feet per ton.

Mixed hay—625 cubic feet per ton.

208 AWARDS TO NEGRO FARMERS

A total of 208 awards for achievement were made at a fall round-up of Negro farmers and 4-H club boys and girls in Logan county. It has been a record-breaking year for production and conservation of food, according to County Agent Bennett K. Brown. Sixteen booths were used to display some of the results of the year's activities.

Reports made at the program showed that many Negro farmers who once produced only tobacco, corn and cotton are now growing other crops, raising stock, dairying and otherwise diversifying their production. They also are joining co-operative organizations as a means of improving production and marketing, it was stated.

SELLS BIG TREES LEAVES SMALL ONES

An example of the proper cutting of timber and a satisfactory sale of it by Perry Hopper on his farm in Trig county is reported by W. E. Jackson, extension forester at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics. The mature and larger-diameter size trees were selected for cutting and the smaller, younger trees left to grow. By continuing to follow this method in the future, Mr. Hopper will be able to harvest his woods indefinitely.

In this transaction, only half of the present volume of Mr. Hopper's saleable timber was cut. Yet he received as much for it per acre as he had been offered previously for a cutting in which all his timber, large and small, would have been cut, points out Mr. Jackson. Instead the mature and larger-size trees having the greatest market value were sold and the younger smaller trees were left to grow to a more profitable size for marketing later on.

PRIMED TOBACCO WHILE SUCKERING

How Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Durham and son of Green county saved ground leaves of tobacco while suckering, is reported by County Agent John H. Ewins, Jr. As they got to the bottom of the plants they primed off about three leaves and placed them on top of the plants. Then, when they went home at noon and night they put the primed leaves in the car. The next morning they struck them while it was too wet to work in the field and dried them over a coke fire.

STRIP ONE GRADE AT A TIME

Studies made by the Kentucky College of Agriculture indicated that it is a good rule to strip only one grade of tobacco at a time, and then pass the stalk to the next worker. Most of the stalks have only one or two leaves of the next grade, or unless the next grade is the tips.

4-H BOY WORKS

Jimmy Rodgers, 14, member of a 4-H club in the Freemont community in McCracken county did a lot of work between school terms to help out in the labor shortage. He worked a total of 1,580 hours in strawberry picking, plowing and haying corn, helping in the vegetable garden and doing many other farm jobs.

MANY LEXINGTON RESIDENTS WERE REARED ON FARM

Four out of each 10 households in the high-rent neighborhoods and 8 out of 10 in the lowest-rent neighborhoods in Lexington were reared on farms, according to a survey made by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station. Such a large number of rural youth leave farms for the city each year that this study was made to get information about what happens to farm youth after their arrival in cities.

"Rural people make up a large part of the population in every type of neighborhood, and at every economic level, says the report. This contradicts ideas to the effect that all youth from the farm climb to the top of the ladder of success in the city. At the same time it contradicts the opposite idea that farm people fail to make satisfactory adjustments to city life. The survey shows that farm people have entered all the economic levels.

"However three-fourths of the farm-reared people lived in neighborhoods where rent averaged less than $60 a month. Sixty percent of the city-reared people lived in these neighborhoods. Hence, rural people more often than native to the city lived in the lower-priced areas. At each economic level however, it was found that the average family income was lower for country-born people than for those that were city-born. It was found also that the farm-reared group had more limited education, somewhat larger families and they were less active in community affairs than their city-reared neighbors.

"Rural people were scattered not only among the different income levels but also among the occupations prominent in Lexington. Seventeen percent of the household who came from farms were employed in the city as laborers and operatives; 18 percent of the urban-reared householders were employed in these occupations. Seven percent of the rural migrants and 8 percent of the urban-reared householders were in professions. The chief difference between the two groups was in the fact that just one-fourth of the rural-reared householders, but only 15 percent of those born in the city were employed as craftsmen."

CORN FERTILIZER PAYS

Clois Hobbs, Carlisle county, reports a yield of 108 bushels of Ky. 103 yellow hybrid corn on bottom land fertilized at the row. Unfertilized land produced 91 bushels. At a price of 90 cents a bushel Mr. Hobbs received $15.30 for applying a few dollars worth of fertilizer.

ON KENTUCKY FARMS

J. C. Dunavent of Henry county bought vetch seed to sow 100 acres; corn and tobacco will be planted on the land in the spring.

Since January Virgil McGlamery of Harlan county has made an average profit of $40 per month on his haying flock of 125 hens.

Practically all of the 82 4-H clubs in Pike county are helping to gather an estimated 500 bushels of milk-week floss.

Members of the Ditzey 4-H in Harlan county prepare and serve hot lunches to the children in their school.

New
phenothiazine worm treatment —easy to give —effective

• PTZ Powder (phenothiazine) has been found to be effective against two types of worms in swine. It removes over 90% of the nodular worms and 60% of the common large roundworms. (Oil of Chenopodium has around 70% efficiency against large roundworms and does not remove nodular worms.) And, best of all, the higher the infestation, the better PTZ works.

• PTZ Powder is not only effective but has the added advantage that it is given in the feed. It is a single-dose treatment and is relatively non-toxic.

Clear channeling the latest livestock and produce news, he counsels farmers daily in six states . . .

JOHN F. MERRIFIELD . . . WHAS Farm Co-ordinator, plows the air with the friendly desire to improve agricultural conditions for his listeners. Backed by 50,000 watts, his advice falls on fertile soil . . . in Kentucky, Indiana, Southern Illinois, Northern Tennessee, Eastern Missouri and Southern Ohio.

Man of the soil, John hails from the tall corn state, where he rotated his crop of knowledge in Iowa State College of Agriculture with extra training in journalism and economics. Radio lured him from the moment he took a vacation job, at sixteen, as office boy in a big Chicago station. Considered one of the best informed agriculturists in the area he addresses, Merrifield belongs to fifteen farm organizations, has walked and driven thousands of miles over farm land since WHAS launched its Farm Department in 1940, upon John's arrival.

From "First Edition" digest of reports covering nine principal mid-west markets, aired at 6:00 A.M., to midday government quotations, John provides accurate and complete information. He knows farmers haven't time to write . . . yet 36,000 listeners responded when Merrifield offered in three 20-second announcements to assist in procuring radio batteries for farm sets.

A rugged, wholesome fellow, John's face lights up when he talks to farm friends, many of whom he addresses by first names. Apple of his eye is his three-year-old daughter.

Like their mail order catalogue, farmers keep John Merrifield's service within easy reach!

Tidbits of Kentucky Folklore

BY Sandra Wilson, Ph.D.
WESTERN KENTUCKY
TEACHERS COLLEGE
BOWLING GREEN, KY.

"ONE OTHER THING"

The author of Hebrews urges us to lay aside "the sin which doth so easily beset us." Whoever he was he must have known how easy it is to put off what is to be done, with excuses or with positive blindness to duty. The makers of wise sayings in all ages and in all countries have similarly told us to watch our step, especially when it becomes loitering and aimless. Folk expressions about this besetting sin are numerous, too, from the fables of Aesop to the present.

An elderly aunt-in-law of mine when trying to tell why she had failed to do everything that could be expected of a human being, used to enumerate thing after thing and then add "one thing and rather." That about settled it, for in those folk words were summarized all the indefinites that we so often lump into "and so forth" or "etc." According to her own account, she was not faithful enough in the affairs of the church, though all of us knew that she fairly worked herself to death in necessary and often painful duties attendant to Martin's Chapel Church. But since she heard every Sunday how far "we have sinned and come short of the glory of God," she felt her little mite of work looked very small beside God's vast achievement. The fact that she had reared a big family and did not have many of this world's goods meant nothing to her when she contemplated the "undone vast," as Tennessee might call it. And so she sought refuge behind "one thing and rather." Bless her old heart, if there are stars in crowns, she now has many a one for long ago she was laid to rest in the graveyard of the old church for which she labored so well even if it did seem such a little bit to her.

But my aunt's excuses are still valid even more so for most of us.

General cussedness and laziness have always been fond of adding "and so forth" or "one thing and rather." When we cannot think up a perfectly valid reason, it is easy to drift into indefiniteness. I have often wondered at the patience of the judges, who hear every day the most indefinite testimony in the world and from it must decide on the disposition of property or even on the fate of some person. How far away from the murder were you when it was committed? Just how well do you see, anyway? Do you have a reputation for exactness in telling what you have seen? What if this was a case very similar but harmless way? One thing and another may enter into what you have to say and endanger some one or may release some person who deserves punishment. However, the judge is used to such indefiniteness and has to put together what seems to be the case, regardless of the meaningless "one thing and rather."

When the old-fashioned teacher caught us doing something that "was against the rules," he instituted a sort of inquisition. It was a making how few of the children who were thick in the plot had ever heard of it. When the boys brought some gunpowder to school and hoped to blow up a dogwood tree, the charge backfired and just about ruined the small boy who was blowing on the fuse when it had apparently gone out. Though every boy in school was involved, not a single one knew anything about the explosion; the victim was unconscious and could not testify. Some of the boys soon crossed themselves up and got a licking, but the leaders were adept at it all and have not to this good day had their share of hickory limbing. "One thing and rather" saves people who did not attend Fidelity school.

NOVEMBER TIME TO TREAT SHEEP

November is the recommended time to treat sheep with phenothiazine to free them from stomach worms. A statement published by Drs. E. R. Doll and F. E. Hull of the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington says:

"Under Kentucky conditions, the flock should be treated with phenothiazine about the second week of November and again near the end of December. The second treatment is given to remove those nodular worms that have migrated from the intestinal wall since treating in November."

"If only one treatment is used it should be given in December. On those farms where ewes are bred to lamb in early January, it may be advisable to give the second treatment early in December."

News From The State Capital

Creation of a medical detachment for Kentucky's Active Militia with a view to providing physicians and dentists in case of any field duty is announced by State Adjutant General G. H. May.

In line with that policy, Major Austin R. Middleton, of Louisville, was promoted to lieutenant colonel and assigned to command the new detachment and three Louisville physicians were commissioned as majors and assigned as follows: Dr. Karl D. Winter, executive officer of the medical detachment; Dr. O. M. Gambill, medical officer First Regiment, and Dr. Fred W. Caudill, medical officer Second Regiment.

L. R. Jeanblanc, Louisville, was commissioned as captain and given a charge of clerical work of the detachment.

General May said it was planned to have physicians and dentist for each battalion, and announced four appointments: Captain John C. Rogers, Henderson medical officer and Captain Rankin D. Redmon, Henderson dental officer, Third Battalion, First Regiment; Captain Raymond D. Sander, Williamsburg, medical officer and Captain Joe B. Lovett, Middlesboro, dental officer, third Battalion, Second Regiment.

May said medical and dental officers for the other four battalions would be named later. J. Stephen Watkins, director of the State Highway Department has announced that the department's garage near Pikeville, destroyed by fire recently at an estimated loss of $100,000 would be rebuilt. "The work will be started at the earliest possible moment," he added. Meantime, an investigation of the fire which damaged irreplaceable road machinery will continue.

Watkins said that until the new Garge is built district road equipment will be kept in the department's garage at Martin, Ky.

J. Stephen Watkins, Commissioner of Highways, said that the signing of the contracts by the major airline means that the new field in Boone County would be used for commercial air transportation in and out of the Greater Cincinnati Area as soon as an administration building could be constructed and other facilities installed. He was given this information by G. Lisle Kays, Chairman of the Kentucky County Airport Board.

Defense workers whose daily trips take them out of the state during absentee ballot, according to the hours the polls are open can an opinion by Attorney General Elton S. Dummit. The opinion was given Circuit Clerk George H. Powell of Dixon.

In a letter to Mrs. Edna Collins, county clerk of Burkesville, the attorney general said civilians away from home who have not registered can do so in applying for absentee ballots. The attorney general explained the law applies equally to service men and civilians in this and other respects.

The first meeting of the Kentucky Postwar Advisory Planning Commission appointed recently by Governor Simeon Willis, has been called for Wednesday, November 1, here in Frankfort.

State Highway Commissioner J. Stephen Watkins, who was designated by the governor to call the initial conference, has announced that notices have been mailed to 25 business and professional leaders who were named to study "Kentucky's human and natural resources."

The meeting will start at 11:00 a. m., on the ninth floor of the new state office building in Frankfort, with organization of the commission and the outlining of its functions scheduled as important sections of the program.

Contract for laying a concrete surface on the Boone County Airport-Erlanger road has been let by the State Highway Department. The job covering a distance of one-third of a mile went to Ellis, Kelly and Co. of Owensboro, low bidder at $13,062.50.

Appointment of J. A. Spears as State Highway Sixth District engineer to succeed N. O. Neisser at Ashland and changes in assistant district engineers at Bowling Green and Paducah have been announced by the Highway Department. L. J. Phurber of the department's Equipment Division in Frankfort will go to Bowling Green to replace E. L. Lyons who has been assigned to Paducah to succeed O. K. Bennett resigned.

The changes will become effective at the end of this month, it was said at the highway commissioner's office here, but replacements here for Spears and Phurber have not yet been made.

Spears has been with the department twenty years, his recent job being drainage engineer in the central office. It was said Neisser asked for a transfer but that it has not yet been decided where he will go.

STRIPS 200 POUNDS OF LEAF PER WORKER

A leaflet of the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics called "Taking Down, Bulking, Stripping and Pressing Burley Tobacco," tells about a crew of four men who stripped 880 pounds of tobacco in 8 hours, or an average of 220 pounds a worker.

"More tobacco was stripped per day," it is explained, "by placing the fastest and most experienced workers at the bench to strip and place the tied hands on sticks. A worker who was less experienced in stripping but knew all grades kept the workers supplied with tobacco from the bulk, placed the sticks of tied hands of tobacco in the press, carried out the stripped stalks, and kept a supply of empty sticks near each worker. He also stripped or picked up and tied leaves whenever a worker at the bench was unable to keep up."

Crew organization of this type allows each worker to specialize in one phase of the stripping work, with the result that he becomes especially skilled."

More than 500 packets of seed mixture for fall greens were planted by 4-H club members and others in Perry county.

Homemakers in Boyd county sent homemade fruit cakes sealed in tin cans to their boys overseas.

THEY NEVER STOP WORKING

Except when you're asleep!

Someone has said that with the exception of the heart, the muscles of the eyes are the hardest working muscles of the human body. Because your eyes never stop working except when you're asleep.

Right now—with extra wartime duties and responsibilities—you're probably working harder than ever before—and that means your eyes are working harder, too. Don't neglect them. Give them all the help you can by following these rules for conserving eyesight and energy.

- 1 Do all reading, studying, sewing or game-playing close to a good light source, preferably a modern reading lamp.
- 2 Avoid glare from bare bulbs. Don't sit facing the light. Glare strains eyes.
- 3 Avoid shadow. Make sure you have good light directly on your work or book. Shadows strain eyes.
- 4 Have eyes examined regularly. If eyes are defective, vision will be greatly helped with proper glasses.

★ ★ ★

WHEN THE WAR IS OVER we are all going to have Better Light for Better Sight. In the meantime, take care of your eyes but don't waste light.

FLORENCE School News

Hallowe'en

Spooks, goblins and weird figures of all forms floated around on Tuesday as the Second, Third, Fifth and Sixth grades had Hallowe'en parties in their respective rooms. A huge humped-back witch with a live black cat turning itself around her back, roamed into each room and gave children peanuts.

Our door was piled high on cabbage night but it just as mysteriously disappeared on Hallowe'en night.

Elementary Program

The Fourth Grade under the direction of Mrs. Sarah Markberry had charge of the chapel program on Tuesday. Several numbers were furnished by the Third Grade. The devotional was conducted by the Sixth Grade.

We are glad to report that Hazel Benton has returned to school after an absence of two weeks because of a serious gland infection.

Leroy Mullins, former Florence Graduate, has enlisted in the Merchant Marines. He left last Saturday for California to begin his training.

4-H Club

A program for the presentation of awards to members of the Florence 4-H Club was given in the auditorium, Friday, November 3. James Bonar was master of ceremonies.

Norma Jean Easton was in charge of the devotional. Miss Mary Hood Gillespie, Home Demonstration agent was in charge of the Style Revue.

The pianoform worn by Nina Joyce Easton received the blue ribbon and the dress worn by Norma Jean Easton won the red ribbon at the State Fair.

Mr. H. R. Forkner reviewed the year's club work in Boone county. Mr. Robinson, assistant County Agent discussed the value of 4-H Club work.

Miss Gillespie talked about club achievements and activities. Fourteen of the sixteen exhibits at the State Fair won ribbons.

The following Florence pupils were named among the County champions: Harold Wayne Kelly, Barbara Lutes and Bernice Sobres.

School will be closed on Friday, November 10 in order that the faculty may attend the Northern Kentucky Educational Meeting at Newport.

ANNIVERSARY REMEMBRANCE of our beloved father and mother, John H. Aylor, who passed away on February 3, 1922, and Gertrude Aylor, on November 7, 1941.

GLORIA SCOTT HAS GOOD 4-H RECORD

Gloria Scott worked 249 hours in her 4-H Home Labor Service Project during 1944. Gloria, a twelve year old member of St. Paul's 4-H Club of Florence, did housework for a neighbor. Her earnings for the spring and summer were $41.00. She paid for her piano lessons with her earnings, bought some clothes, and gave the rest to her parents to save for her. Gloria reports that she found it a pleasure to work for others.

Gloria was selected county champion of Home Labor Service. The blue ribbon was awarded to her at the District 4-H Achievement Meeting in Covington in October.

War Fund Over Top; Vest Praises Effort

TO THE PEOPLE OF BOONE COUNTY:

At the moment of making this report, we have in Mr. A. B. Renaker's hands, he being the Treasurer for the Boone County War Fund, $3,244.54, with three precincts yet to remit and telephone reports from these three precincts gives us a grand total of $4,174.27. There will likely be a few more dollars. Whether or not it will reach $4200.00 is doubtful, but even through it does not go beyond $4175.00, our quota was $3,916.00 and we are now over the top to the extent of $258.27. Next week we will give to the papers an itemized statement of the amount from each precinct.

Even now, before the final result is known, I want to thank all of the workers for the energy they put forth and those whose contributions have rendered it possible for Boone County to again go over the top. While Boone County has just finished one good deed for a worthwhile purpose, the war is not yet over and we must all now prepare to put Boone County over the top again on the Bond Drive which began November 20 and ends December 16.

Boone County's quota, in this sixth Bond Drive is $479,065.00 and let us all now resolve to make Boone County the first county in the state to go over the top. We can do it if we work together.

INDEPENDENCE FIRE CAUSES $300 LOSS

A fire in the home of Edward Madden, Shaw road, Independence, last Thursday which was discovered by a passerby, caused damage which was estimated at $300, by Al Jaegers, fire chief.

It was caused by an electric iron which had been left on, Chief Jaegers said.

The blaze was discovered by Chester Coppage, Independence who with neighbors fought the fire with buckets of water before the arrival of the fire department.

None of the family was home.

Co. Conservation Committeemen To Be Named Friday

All Agricultural Conservation Co-operators have been notified of the election of community committeemen at each of the eleven communities.

Election will be held on Friday November 17, at 2:00 p. m. (C.W.T.). The community chairman or one of the other committeemen will be in charge of holding the election.

All persons who are eligible to vote have been urged to attend their community elections and help in electing the best persons to fill these important positions.

The persons to be elected in each community are: Chairman, Vice-Chairman; 3rd Regular Member; and 1st and 2nd Alternate committeemen. A Delegate and an Alternate Delegate will also be elected whose duty it is to meet on the following day, Saturday November 18, at the County A. C. Office at 2:00 p. m. (C.W.T.) and elect the County A.A.A. Committee.

The places that have been designated for holding the community election are: Beaver Postoffice; Burlington A. C. Office; Constance School; Florence Bank; Hamilton School; Hebron Bank; Petrusburg Bank; Union Bank; Verona Bank; Walton Bank Basement.

HOME ON LEAVE

Virgil A. Young, Petty Officer 2-c, better known to his friends as "Bud" is home visiting his parents on a 30 day leave. Bud enlisted in the Navy in April, 1942 and was in marinist trade school and advance school in Chicago, Ill., and Norfolk, Va., until May, 1943 when he was transferred to the Pacific. Since that time he has been stationed on an Air Base at New Caledonia, in the south west Pacific. Bud said that he had always thought that California was a long way from home but when he landed there after being in the Pacific for 18 months he felt like he was home.

TRI-COUNTY GAME WARDEN APPOINTED

Edwin Johnson, Walton was re-appointed by Earl Wallace, state game and fish director, as game warden for Boone, Campbell and Kenton counties.

George B. Kelly was also appointed by Mr. Wallace as game warden to Pendleton, Grant and Bracken counties. The 29 appointment made by Mr. Wallace, with 16 others made several weeks ago, completed the commission's warden roster except for the Sixth Congressional District.

Record Tobacco Crop Being Prepared For Market Opening

The stripping of the 1944 tobacco crop began on a wide scale on Saturday of the past week, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The first good weather to taking down the crop began with the rainy weather the past week.

The crop this year will have a wide range in quality. Some of the growers are finding they have a good quality crop while others are reporting a heavy red crop.

Growers in many instances, are confused as to the best methods of stripping and grading their crops to secure the highest grade under the present ceiling prices. Federal graders will give grading demonstrations on Friday, morning, November 24th at the farm of Hubert E. White of near Burlington; Friday afternoon at the farm of Less Moore at Beaver and Saturday morning November 25th at the farm of Albert Parker of near Walton. All growers are urged to attend these meetings.

The 2600 acre tobacco crop produced in the county this year is estimated at 2,860,000 pounds with a market value of approximately $1,144,000.

Roy W. Eason

Second Class Petty Officer Roy W. Eason of the U. S. Navy, is the son of Mrs. Laura Lemmons of High School Court.

Officer Eason entered the service in 1942 and is now stationed at Wildwood, New Jersey.

P. T. A. TO MEET FRIDAY

The Parent-Teacher Association will meet at the school, Friday afternoon at 3:00 p. m.

Members are urged to attend. Friends are cordially invited.

Somewhere in France

Pfc. Charles Tungate, 20, husband of Mrs. Geneva Tungate, of 729 Crescent avenue, Covington, and son of Mrs. John Tungate, of Morning View, Ky., is now serving with an Infantry unit somewhere in France, his family was informed.

Entering the Army in February 1942, Pfc. Tungate was sent on overseas duty five months ago. He received his basic training at Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Bearcats Defeat New Haven in First Game of Season

The Bearcats of Walton-Verona High School opened their basketball season last Thursday night at New Haven with a smashing victory. The first team winning 30 to 19.

Both New Haven and Walton started the game rather cautiously and at the quarter the score was only 4 to 4; and at the half was also knotted at 9-9; but in third quarter the Bearcats seemed to hit their stride and the third quarter ended 17 to 12. They lengthened their lead in the fourth quarter to 30 to 19. Cook of Walton-Verona was the high scorer for the local boys with the honor for New Haven pretty well divided.

Second Team Takes Drubbing

The Bearkittens (second team) were the victims of a walloping by the New Haven second team 42 to 11. The local boys seemed to have a little stage fright.

Both New Haven and Walton had a wonderful display of cheer-leading. The Bearcats played their first home game this Thursday night with Burlington furnishing the opposition.

County Democratic

Chairman Thanks Voters

We wish to take this opportunity to sincerely thank the citizens of Walton and surrounding neighborhood for their splendid support of the Democratic ticket at the recent election. It is our opinion that Boone County can well be proud of the huge turnout of voters and of the comfortable margin of victory for our present leaders. We know that President Roosevelt, Senator Bailey and Congressman Spence join us in sincere thanks for your loyal support.

R. M. (Coke) Hall, Chairman

Quota Little Smaller Than Last Drive

The Sixth War Loan Drive starts November 20 and continues through December 16th. Boone County's quota is $479,065.00 which is less than the county quota for the Fifth War Loan Drive. The quota for each precinct is as follows.

PRECINCT	QUOTA
Beaver	$18,469.91
Belleview	18,882.61
Bullittsville & Hebron	42,609.28
Burlington	65,616.18
Carlton	17,164.48
Constance	26,765.98
Florence	107,853.18
Hamilton	15,941.91
Petersburg	28,318.51
Union	38,889.98
Verona	23,636.99
Walton	76,835.99

Total Quota $479,065.00

The following issues of bonds are to be offered in this drive:

2 1/2% of 1966-71
2% of 1952-54
1 1/4% of 1947

% of December 1, 1945

Treasury Tax Savings Notes and the usual Series E, F, and G bonds with which all of us are familiar. Any Series E, F and G bonds purchased since the first of November will count on the county quota.

A. B. Renaker will continue as County Chairman, as he has done in all the past drives, and A. D. Yellon will also continue as Co-Chairman, in charge of publicity.

All precinct Chairmen who have so faithfully served in all past drives will again put forth their best efforts in raising their respective quotas.

We must not fail to raise our quota in Boone County. Our boys on the firing line are not slowing down and will not slow down until Germany and Japan are driven to unconditional surrender. Buying War Bonds is the least we can do to help. They are the best investment on earth and our government needs our money to finance the war. Everyone is expected to buy bonds in this drive.

ALKA-SELTZER BRIGHTENS MY DAY

OCCASIONALLY, I wake up in the morning with a headache. It sometimes wears off along the middle of the forenoon, but I don't want to wait that long, so I drink a glass of sparkling ALKA-SELTZER. In just a little while I am feeling a lot better.

Sometimes the week's ironing tires me and makes me sore and stiff. Then I've ALKA-SELTZER to the rescue—a tablet or two and a little rest makes me feel more like finishing the job.

And when I eat "not wisely but too well," ALKA-SELTZER relieves the Acid Indigestion that so often follows.

Yes, Alka-Seltzer brightens my day. It brings relief from so many of my discomforts, that I always keep it handy.

Why don't you get a package of ALKA-SELTZER at your drug store today?

WITH OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

LETTER TO PARENTS

The following letter was received from Sgt. Walter A. Brooks stationed somewhere in France.

Dear Mother and Dad,

Received your letter and was so glad to hear from you, as you see I am still somewhere in France, but wishing I was home.

I haven't seen anyone I know from the home town since I have been over seas.

There is plenty of talk going on now about the war being almost over and it sure sounds good to me, the only thing is that it can't end too soon for me. 23 months is a long time to be over here.

Well France is a nice place what I have seen of it. It looks like home in a few places. The French people treat us nice, they want us to come in their homes to sleep and eat, and when you can't they just can't believe it, but we try to explain that we aren't staying long.

Well mother I hope I can make that Christmas dinner but don't think so. Hoping to hear from you real soon.

Love, Walter

ESPECIALLY TO ADVERTISER

The following is one of the very interesting articles being written especially for the Walton Advertiser, by Cpl. Vernon Franklin Lipscomb, who is located somewhere in England.

HYDE PARK

The park covers 360 acres. It was called in Saxon times the manor of Eia, from which the name Hyde was derived. His estate belonged to the Monastery of Westminster and was enclosed by the Abbot.

At the east end of the Serpentine, not far from the bandstand may be seen a vase supported by a pedestal bearing the following inscription—"A supply of water by conduit from this spot was granted to the Abbey of Westminster with the Manor of Hyde by King Edward the Confessor. The Manor was resumed by the crown in 1536 but the springs as a head and original fountain of water were preserved to the Abbey by the Charter of Queen Elizabeth in 1560."

In the reign of Henry VIII it passed into the possession of the Crown (1536).

By 1637 the park was being used as a public place and for horse racing. In the year 1632, Oliver Cromwell's government sold the park to a private person who charged one shilling for every coach and sixpence for every horse, the modern value of these charges would be 10 and 5 respectively.

It was during this period that Cromwell's horses pulling his coach ran away, and he was dragged along the ground with such force that a pistol in his pocket went off, but only caused a minor injury to him.

When Charles II was restored to the throne, after the death of Cromwell, the contract of sale was cancelled, and the park re-opened. It then became a very popular place for fashion, as well as a convenient scene of military reviews. It was then surrounded by a brick wall which stood until 1726. It was about this time that the park was the scene of many cricket matches played by members of the king's court. In 1730 the wife of George II, Queen Caroline, had the Serpentine lake formed out of the river Westbourne which flows through the park.

In 1749, Horace Walpole, a politician and sometimes Prime Minister was held up and robbed by highwaymen, who were very prevalent in the park at that time. In order that travellers may cross the park in safety, they used to wait at the gates until a party had been formed so that they had safety in numbers. In 1768, for the last time, there was deer hunting in the park. King Christian VII of Denmark joining his Cousin George II.

William Pitt the elder was the first to call Hyde Park the Lunge of London. In 1784, the Serpentine was frozen and a carnival held thereon.

In 1814, to celebrate the centenary of the accession of the House of Hanover, a miniature battle of Trafalgar was held on the Serpentine. In 1825, the brick wall from where the Marble Arch now stands, down Park Lane, to Hyde Park Corner, and thence to Kensington was removed. During the reign of Queen Victoria the park became a great place for public speakers. In July 1855, it was proposed to hold a great open-air meeting in protest to the Sunday Trading Bill; the Commissioner of the police opposed it and no meeting was held. On October 14th 1855 a carpenter addressed a meeting, and finding no opposition, repeated the meeting the following week. He congratulated the audience upon "exercising their own recognized privilege of meeting in their own park." On Oct. 28th, Nov. 4th, 11th and 18th there were further meetings but they were beginning to get of a rather noisy character. No further meetings were held until 1856, upon police orders. In that year one was held to present an address of sympathy to Napoleon III for the action he had taken with Italy. At a meeting held in 1862, in sympathy of Garibaldi, certain amount of blood was spilt. In 1866 the Reform League proposed to hold a monster meeting but police prohibited it, whereupon the crowd tore down hundreds of yards of the park railings and swarmed into the Park. A serious riot then followed with the police, but it asserted the people's rights of free speech in the park. The area now used as Speaker's Corner, near Marble Arch was set aside for the purpose, and here anyone, be they rich man, poor man or beggar can get up and speak. There is only one who is forbidden, the King, who owns the Park.

THE LAST TRAIN OF WAR FREIGHT...

It will look like any other "fighting freight" you see rolling on the Southern Railway these days.

But this will be the last train heading off to war.

Then, "tomorrow" will begin... a glorious new era of peace and freedom for war-weary people everywhere. Then, tents and uniforms from Southern textile mills will become gay frocks for laughing, carefree girls. Then, strong Southern steel that made massive tanks, will build bridges and skyscrapers.

Then, gleaming Southern aluminum, miracle plastics and vital chemicals will go into the countless new products of the post-war world.

And then, the Southern Railway will be ready with the matchless efficiency and dependability which has been developed in the "testing laboratory" of total war.

Yes!... it will be a great day for the South... and for the Southern Railway... when that "last train" pulls out. For it will mark the beginning of a new-found peace and prosperity in a Southland of unlimited opportunities.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQVIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for November 19

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

CHRISTIANITY AND DEMOCRACY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 12:13-17; Romans 13:1-6; 1 Peter 2:13-17.
GOLDEN TEXT—Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ.—Galatians 6:2.

No form of government can claim divine authority, for God's Word does not prescribe any special form of government. But (and this is most important) the principles upon which government should be established are clearly given in God's Word, and the form of rule which best fits into the teaching of the Word necessarily calls for our interest and support.

We find in the Bible the declaration that men are equal in the sight of God, that government is to be a ministry for God (see last week's lesson), receiving its authority from Him and serving Him in exercising that power. Men are to be loyal to the government because they are loyal to God.

Our lesson carries forward the teaching of last Sunday. It tells us that:

The Christian Citizen Is—
I. Subject to Both God and Country (Mark 12:13-17).

His devotion to God and the things of God is to be expected of the Christian. We must admit that it is taken for granted, and sometimes that is so true there is no reality in his life. But surely if he is a follower of Christ he must be devoted to Him and to His cause.

But what about his country? That relation appears anew in the striking story of Christ and those who came to test Him, yes, to trap Him with a skillfully worded question.

The Pharisees, who hated Rome for its domination of Palestine, and the Herodians, who supported Rome in its control of the land, were enemies, but they joined forces to tempt Christ. They knew that if He said "Yes" to their question, the Jews would be angry, and if He said "No," He could be condemned as a traitor to Rome.

The trap was set, but it caught only the crafty hunters. Taking their own pocket money He declared that if they used Caesar's money they ought to pay taxes to Caesar. The coin stood for an orderly government, benefits of which they enjoyed and which they ought to support.

No real Christian will evade his duty to his country whether it be to pay taxes, to take part intelligently in its government, to defend it, to pray for it, or otherwise to show his love. One of the blots on the Christian church is the lack of civic consciousness on the part of many of its members.

II. Devoted to Both Brother and Neighbor (Rom. 13:8-10).

The Christian loves his brethren; indeed that love is one of the tests by which we may know that a man is truly born again (1 John 3:14).

But that love reaches out beyond the circle of the brethren and touches every man who has need of it. The teachers of the Jewish law had sought to circumscribe that word "neighbor," but the Lord effectively dealt with that viewpoint in the story of the Good Samaritan (Luke 10).

All the commandments concerning the vital matter of personal relationship are summed up in the one admonition, "Love thy neighbor as thyself" (v. 9). When love controls, there will be no social dishonesty, strife or ill-will. There will be no violence to the person or property of another, for "love worketh no ill to his neighbor."

This is the real "good neighbor policy." Even between nations, we need more real love and less effort to impose one another by diplomacy and good will expeditions. Let there be less political manipulation and more loving, and we shall find our neighbor, both personal and national, responding in kind. Love draws out love from another.

III. Submissive to Both the Law of God and Man (1 Pet. 2:13-17).
"Fear God" (v. 17); that is, be eager that there is no failure on your part to please Him by obeying His law. That we expect of the Christian. But we expect more; he is to be a law-abiding citizen, obeying the laws of his country "for the Lord's sake" (v. 13).

The believer may, by his godly faithfulness to his government, effectively witness against the ignorant criticism of foolish men who would have us think that being a Christian makes a man a weakling, or so other-worldly that he is useless in this world.

Our freedom in Christ is not an excuse for careless or wicked living. Not at all—just the opposite in fact. We "honor all men." How can that be done? Only by the grace of God; but by His blessing we can do it. That makes for the real appreciation of man, which is the very foundation of our democracy. If it means anything it must have as its foundation or base the supreme value of the dignity of man.

About a third of the tobacco growers in Owsley county primed some of their crop this year.

Back up the Boys! BUY ANOTHER BOND IN THE 6th WAR LOAN!

It's not over, over there—not by a long shot!

Uncle Sam can count on the fighting men to keep on fighting—and he must be able to count on you to keep on backing them, by buying extra War Bonds in the Sixth War Loan Drive, now on.

SEE WHAT YOUR EXTRA $100 BOND WILL DO:

It will help pay for the things our men must have—guns, planes, tanks, food.
It will help hold down the cost of living.
It will provide a nest egg for the future—the United States Government guarantees that you will get your money back.
It will show our fighting men that you are willing to do your part!

STRAIGHT TALK

ABOUT THE

SIXTH WAR LOAN DRIVE

AS WE MOVE closer to victory, it wouldn't be surprising if you were saying to yourself—"What's the big idea of asking for all this additional money now? Isn't the war almost over?"

No sir, it is not! Not by a long shot. Of course, for many months now you've heard mostly about the war with Germany, where our greatest effort is concentrated. That's why many people have the idea that the war's practically over.

But make no mistake about it—nothing could be farther from the truth! The Japanese war is a tremendous undertaking, and victory will come high. We'll have to fight every inch of the way.

Everything Costs More—in the Pacific War

The European war is expensive, but almost everything in the Pacific war will cost more. Take transport costs, for instance: Because of the longer distances, the same amount of freight costs 25 per cent more when shipped to the South Pacific than to Europe. And it takes twice as many cargo ships in the Pacific to support a task force of a given size because turn-around time is twice as great!

More Planes . . . Tanks . . . Ships . . . Oil

In addition, we shall need more of everything. More B-29 Superfortresses that cost $600,000 each. More P-47 Thunderbolts that cost $50,000 each. More M-4 Tanks, with bulldozer blades, that cost $67,417 each. More amphibious tanks—more aircraft carriers—more supply ships—more gasoline and oil than it took for the invasion of Europe!

Care for the Sick and Wounded

And lest anyone forget, we shall need more battalion aid stations—more clearing stations—more evacuation hospitals—more convalescent hospitals—more hospital ships.

For many, many years the sick, wounded, and otherwise disabled veterans will require medical attention and care. That's the least Uncle Sam can do in appreciation of what they've done for us.

Maintenance for Millions

Did you ever stop to think how much money it costs to maintain the 11 to 12 million men and women in our army and navy? Whether the men are actually fighting or not, they must be fed, housed, transported from one training center or battle area to another, cared for in a hundred and one different ways. That all costs money and will continue until the last man demobilized is back in civilian clothes.

In addition, millions of dollars will be required for mustering out pay, for various benefits and services voted by Congress to help the boys get started in civilian life.

These are reasons enough why patriotic Americans will want to buy heavily during the Sixth War Loan. But here are still more—

Winning the Peace—for Your Country

If we're to win the peace as well as the war, the cost of living must be kept down and the purchasing power of money preserved. A reckless inflation that would necessarily be followed by the catastrophe of deflation—with its unemployment, bankruptcies, misery and heartache—must be prevented at all cost.

Let's make no mistake—a dangerous period lies ahead. The American people have nothing to fear, however, if they show in the future the same common sense they have shown in the past, and continue to put every penny over rock-bottom expenses into the purchase of more and more War Bonds.

Winning the Peace—for Yourself

Want another important reason? Yourself! There isn't a better or safer investment in the world today than War Bonds. In helping your country, you are also helping yourself! Never in our entire history has it been so necessary to save as right now. We'll need money, individually, for education, repairs, replacements, retirement—and we'll need a lot of it.

As you can see there are many reasons, important reasons, why our Government must have the financial support of everyone, and have it for many months to come.

Let all Americans do their part—for their own sake, for their country's.

Southern Railway Gives Valuable Training

In a recent tribute to young lady graduates of the Southern Railway System's telegrapher schools, J. A. Jones, Assistant to Vice President of the railway, stated that they are "rendering vital assistance to the Southern in carrying an unprecedented wartime freight and passenger load."

"To meet a threatened shortage of telegraphers," Mr. Jones explained, "the Southern established telegrapher schools for young women at Charlotte, N. C., Birmingham, Ala., and Meridian Miss. in the Fall of 1942."

The schools are tuition free and are open to high school girl graduates under 25 years of age. Students are paid while learning and are given an intensive course in the study of telegraphy. When students have progressed to a point where they can send and receive approximately 25 words a minute and have familiarized themselves with train operating rules they are placed at stations as "cubs" where they learn the practical phases of their job."

Mr. Jones emphasized the capabilities of young women for this type of work, stating that "one student went directly from the school to a regular assignment at an agency."

Pointing out that these young women are rendering a vital wartime service to the nation, Mr. Jones predicted that "their services will be equally valuable with the return of peace because of the nationwide shortage of trained telegraphers."

50th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

OUR FARM NEWS . . . . .

PONDS FAIL TO QUALIFY FOR A. A. A. PAYMENT

Sixty percent of the farm reservoirs checked by the A. A. A. Committee the past week failed to qualify for A. A. A. benefit payments, according to John E. Crigler, secretary of the County A. A. A. Association. Thirty percent more could qualify if additional work was done on the dam or spillway.

Requirements that must be met to qualify for A. A. A. benefit payments are:

1. Selection of Site
  - (a) Drainage area above pond to be not less than 2 acres.
  - (b) Location to be where drainage from barns and stock lots will not reach the pond.
2. Dimensions
  - (a) Minimum surface area 8,000 sq. ft. at highwater mark.
  - (b) Minimum depth at deepest points 7 feet below bottom of spillway.
3. Construction
  - (a) All trees and other vegetation matter should be removed from the entire area to be covered by soil placed in the dam.

(b) A core trench should extend into sub-soil and be filled with impervious material.

(c) Slopes 3 to 1 on the upper (wet) side, 2 to 1 on the lower (dry) side.

(d) Minimum top width of fill to be 6 feet.

(e) Earth fills to be thoroughly packed during construction—add 10% to height from center to allow for settling.

(f) Spillway to be adequate to remove the maximum run-off experienced once in 10 years.

(g) Spillway to be protected from erosion by masonry or vegetation as required by slope. (Volume and velocity of water.)

(h) Protection from deposit of silt by the following method:

(1) The unbroken strip not less than 100 feet in width at any point to be maintained above the high-water mark or silt basin above main reservoir.

The analysis of the A. A. A. report shows that many farmers are failing to complete the job necessary for having and keeping a good farm pond or reservoir, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Several ponds were found lower in the middle of the dam than at the spillway while others were too shallow and did not have enough drainage into them.

Boone County, from all reports, is doing the best job of improving livestock water supply of any county in the state. Reservoirs constructed the past five years have brought thousands of dollars increased returns from livestock and have successfully brought hundreds of our farmers through recent droughts. However, failure to complete the job of construction and seeding of the dam and properly constructing a good spillway results in only one thing—the loss of the pond. The specifications of ponds to meet A. A. A. minimum requirements were set up with the help and advice of the best farm reservoir engineers in the state and have proven their importance.

The Boone County pond or farm not set up necessarily to meet A. A. A. reservoir construction program is benefit payments. However, basic principles of good construction are involved in the above specifications. The County Agent or the Soil Conservation Service offices will be glad to advise with any farmer on his farm reservoir problems. Farmers who fail to correct improper construction in the pond dams will in all probability, lose them this winter.

NITRATE PREVENTS APPLES DROPPING

Applying ammonium nitrate around apple trees tends to keep the apples from falling off, according to the experience of Frederick Beyer in McCracken county. He applied four pounds around each tree in early spring and four pounds more in June. Around five trees he used four pounds at blooming time only. Apples began dropping off the five trees in July and in a few weeks none was left. The others produced an average of about two bushels a tree.

A WALTON MAN FELT LIKE SWOLLEN BALLOON; FULL OF GAS

Recently, a Walton man stated that he used to feel like a swollen balloon after every meal. He would bloat full of gas and spit up acidulous liquids for hours after eating. Was terribly constipated. This man is one of the hundreds in this vicinity who now praise ERB-HELP. He states he was amazed at the results when he took this medicine. Now he eats what he wants without gas or bloating, and bowels are regular for the first time in years. He feels like a new man.

OLD GRAYBUCK

This essay is to be an appraisal of our old family nag, one that was so typical of the whole genus that I know that you will find here a record of your family nag, too. There is nothing generalized here, but our old mare was an institution just like yours, an integral part of the farm and the family. Her name was Gray because of her color, but we children called her Graybuck. She came into our family when I was barely three years old. My father bought her at the sale of the property of his recently-deceased cousin. For the ten or twelve years she was a fixture of our farm and in our lives.

It has been a long time since Old Graybuck lived, but somehow her individuality stands out today. She was in no sense a blooded animal, probably being a typical mixture of many breeds, as most horses then were. But she had spirit and managed to infuse a little of it into the mere human beings that she lived among. No amount of age or motherly responsibilities kept her from flinging up her heels like a colt; to the end of her days she put on many a show when we drove all the long way from Fidelity to the county seat and encountered a train. It is difficult now for me to cross the railroad at that place without feeling some of the fear that I used to have when she would threaten to tear herself, the buggy, and all its occupants into a thousand pieces. Soberly, though, I must admit that I cannot recall when anything more than a threat actually occurred. Maybe she used this method to restore some of the grace and irritability of youth. No amount of laying on the buggy whip ever taught her to take things in her stride, like buggies and wagons.

Every spring, of course, there was a new colt. When it was small, Old Graybuck was more spirited than ever. She would threaten to bite any of us who ventured too near the wobbly little fellow. Woe to the other stock that got too near the careful mother! She would back her ears and lunge with mouth wide open. Only a few movements like this taught the other animals to range elsewhere. When the colt was a little larger, we would leave it at home when we drove to some neighbor's house to spend Sunday afternoon. The old critter would prance along, nickering and threatening to turn around and seek her colt. With her to the neighbor's, but all the time she would stand at the hitching post or the tree, unthatched from the buggy to prevent her breaking the shafts in her nervousness, prancing up and down the length of the hitch rein and nickering from time to time. When the last goodbye had been said several times, we would take off for home. The whip was no longer necessary, for Old Graybuck would prance up the tallest hills and fairly fly down the steepest inclines. When we got near enough for her to see the stables, she would start a continuous nickering and even increase her speed. It took a lot of baby talk to the colt to make it understand, and again it was not safe for us to be around. Mother was first, last, and all the time.

Since she grew old and died before I became a big boy, I did not get to ride her much and never was allowed to drive her because of her spirited nature. But to her daughter, Old Mag, of blessed memory the horse I have written about and probably cried over a little in "The Old Family Nag," she bequeathed most of her merits. It was Old Mag that broke me into fullgrown manhood, with all the experiences of driving a buggy all by myself, of going courting up the creek, of driving even to the county seat, some times alone. Old Graybuck, like so many people in country cemeteries is "gone but not forgotten."

Simon-Kenton FFA
Boys Win Honors
At State Meeting

The Kentucky Association of Future Farmers of America held its annual State Convention in Lexington November 18-19.

The boys from Simon Kenton F. F. A. chapter who attended the convention were: Jack Herald, voting delegate, Billy Armstrong, who won the farming achievement in swine contest in the district last May, Paul Reinsman, Wynford Riley, Herbert Works, and Gene Kelly. Mr. Edens, adviser, accompanied the boys and also furnished transportation to the convention.

Routine business was carried on Friday afternoon. Friday evening the annual banquet was held and the state awards given out. Of the four entries Simon Kenton had, two of them won first place in the entire state. Billy Armstrong was awarded two checks totaling $75.00 by Sears-Roebuck Company, for his farming achievement in hogs. The Chapter Treasurer's book won first place, with Jack Herald receiving the award.

Saturday new State officers were elected. Also State Farmer delegates were made State Farmers. To this highest degree in the state, Billy Armstrong was made a State Farmer and received the gold pin. Billy is the second future farmer from this school to make the State Farmer Degree.

STATE CHAIRMAN
PRAISES BOONE

A telegram was received this week by County Chairman Vest congratulating Boone County on "going over" in the Kentucky War Fund Drive. The telegram follows:

"Your county joins the rank of those that have raised the quota for U.S.O., United Seaman's Service, War Prisoner Aid and Refugee Relief. It is this type of patriotism and loyalty to the cause of freedom to which we are all subscribed that will bring victory in war and peace."

(Signed) Frank L. McVey
State Chairman Ky. War Fund Drive.

The people of Boone certainly have been loyal to all causes and will receive their reward in the satisfaction of knowing that they did not let anyone suffer for their lack of patriotism—they will be rewarded.

Good News Roller Skaters

The Walton Rollerdom is being rebuilt on the same location of the old rink that was destroyed by fire last March. This new building is of concrete block construction, will be a modern rink for the skaters and spectators, and will be ready to open within a few weeks.

Watch this paper for opening date.

Would like to hear from all the boys and girls in service who have been skaters at the old rink.

C. Pruett.
Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Johnson have moved to their new home on Verona Road.

Walton WAC Races
To Save Soldier

Word has been received here that Pfc. Sarah Doane, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Doane, of Walton, saved a soldier's life several weeks ago.

Serving with the WACS at Camp Rucker, Ala., Pfc. Doane stated in her letter that a soldier was suffering from poison and she was ordered by Lt. Johnson, Medical Supply Officer, to go by auto to Montgomery, Ala., and purchase some drugs.

The Walton girl started on her way to Montgomery which is 200 miles from camp. The drug had to be back in several hours and Pfc. Doane had to obtain proper credentials so that she could travel faster than 16 miles an hour.

Pfc. Doane returned 20 minutes earlier than scheduled and the drug was administered to the soldier to save his life. She entered the armed service in March, 1943. She has three brothers in the service.

Phar. Mate First Class, William Doane, 32, is now stationed in California after serving 18 months of Pacific duty. He entered the Marines in April, 1942.

Pvt. Russell Doane, 20, is now serving with Gen. George Patton's Third Army in France. Sent overseas in April, 1944, he joined the Army in March, 1943.

His twin brother, Robert Doane, 20, is now serving in the Maritime service. Prior to his entering the Maritime service, he was in the Army but was medically discharged in March, 1944.

Advertiser Has Anniversary

The Walton Advertiser this week has a birthday, starting on her 31st year of service to people of this community. But to the new editor it is only since April 1st, but we are certainly proud of our record thus far. Here are some of the advancements made during the past year by your paper:

411 new subscribers
8 pages of all home news
31 percent more advertising
167 pictures of local people
Sent twice as much local news.

These are some of the reasons we gave for the new heading we have at the top of the front page, "The Fastest Growing Weekly in Northern Kentucky." We want to thank everyone for the wonderful cooperation we are receiving and we promise to work our fingers to the bone to give you a better paper as we go along.

The Editor

Mrs. Dora Fields and Jimmy Stone spent the weekend in Covington.
Mrs. Earl Snape and daughter spent Saturday in Covington.
Mrs. Morris Hyatt and daughter were in Covington Friday.

Rummage Sale November 25

There will be a Rummage Sale held here Saturday, November 25th in the basement of the Dixie State Bank. The sale will start at 8 a. m. and continue throughout the day.

The proceeds of this sale will be donated to the U. S. O. Fund and will do some soldier, sailor or Marine a lot of good.

The ladies who are conducting this sale say that there will be a large assortment of articles such as electrical appliances, luggage, riding boots, antiques, silverware, china, gifts, toys and many other articles.

SATURDAY OFFICE DAY FOR LABOR PROGRAM

Rev. Will Smith has announced he will be in the County Agents' Office each Saturday morning of each week to receive requests for assistance from landlords, tenants, and for custom operators interested in securing farm labor. The official time is set for the convenience of those desiring to make personal office contacts.

The farm labor assistant divides his work between Boone and Gallatin Counties and between office and field work. He advises there is a large number of both landlording and tenant applications for 1945 already on file and a list of custom operators who are willing to do corn shredding, hay baling, and other custom work. Farmers in need of this service are advised to contact the county office.

At Airport in England

Corporal Elbert Morgan

Here seen on duty as a clerk in the distribution section at an Eighth Air Force B-17 Flying Fortress base, Corporal Elbert Morgan, 37, of Verona, Ky., is one of the men charged with seeing that all orders and directives from higher headquarters and those originating within this group, are given proper distribution to all sections on the base.

Cpl. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Morgan of Verona, is a member of the 3rd Bombardment Division, which was cited by the President for its now historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of the Messerschmitt fighter plane plant at Regensburg, Germany, last summer.

Before entering service, he was engaged in farming.

Urgent Need Being Stressed In Sixth
War Loan Drive

The Sixth War Loan Drive got under way Monday to raise $479,000.00 in Boone County with all precincts organized to once more go "over the top" to keep death on the march.

No one can point the finger of shame at Boone County for failing to do its part in this horrible war, and this drive will be no exception if all of us do our part in subscribing liberally. The banks will again, lend their customers money at the same rate the bond bears in anticipation of income from some future source, not exceeding six months.

This nation has not been touched by the horrors of war and the least we can do is to purchase War Bonds which help to keep death and destruction from our shores.

OVER THERE—In Europe, the promised day of victory is at hand. But we still have the biggest part of the job to do in the Pacific! And this job will take all we've got, for we're fighting the savage, treacherous, armed-to-the-teeth Japs on coral reefs, in jungle swamps, mountain wilds, and sandy wastes. It is the bloodiest war in history—and the costliest in money.

YOUR DOLLARS IN WAR BONDS ARE NEEDED NOW

1. To help the boys in the Pacific.
  2. To keep them well fed and clothed.
  3. To provide them with medical care.
  4. To help bring them back home at the earliest possible date.
- You will not have done your share in the Sixth War Loan until you've bought all the bonds you possibly can afford—a $100, $200, $500, $1,000 or more. The most you can invest to help them finish it OVER THERE is LITTLE enough.

OVER HERE—The homes the fields, and woods are just as they were when the boys left. No ruined ruins—no shellpocked fields. Production of war materials and food has meant employment, good incomes, and an opportunity to save for future needs. OVER HERE has been a good place to live and will be a good place for boys to come back to if you put—

NOW

1. To tide over lean years and prosper when they get back home.
  2. To assure replacement of machinery and buildings.
  3. To make home improvements.
  4. To tide over lean years and provide income in old age.
- How many Bonds should you buy? All you can!—a $100, $200, $500, $1,000 or more. Every dollar invested now to help OVER THERE will be saved OVER HERE later on to help you maintain the kind of life our boys have been fighting for.

A report of sales for the first week will appear next week.

Willing Workers Class
Met Thursday Evening

The Willing Workers Class of the Christian Church met last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Jane Werber.

A delicious dinner was served to the following members and guests: Mrs. Virginia Schwab, Mrs. Florence Norman, Mr. and Mrs. Powers Conrad, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Jones and daughter, Rev. George Caroland, Miss Helen Ruth Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Johnson and son, Mrs. Tillie Huddleston and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Windell Rouse, Miss Mary Rensler, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Edens, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Rensler, Mrs. Mildred Rice and daughter, Mr. Gayle McElroy, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Meadows, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Percival, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Vallandingham and the hostess Mrs. Werber.

ROBERT FOREST OXLEY

Robert Forest Oxley passed away Wednesday November 15th at his home in Independence following a heart attack.

Mr. Oxley, and his sister Mrs. Elizabeth Selman made their home together since the death of Mrs. Selman's husband several years ago. Mr. Oxley was clerk of the town Board of Independence for many years.

Services were conducted from Swindler Funeral Home, Independence Friday at 2 p. m. with burial in Independence Cemetery. Chambers and Grubbs, Walton Funeral Home was in charge.

Sharp, keen, comfortable vision saves accidents, fatigue, and promotes fine work and production.

Although a large acreage of cane was planted in Menifee county, the sorghum yield was only three-fourths as large as was expected.

The majority of homemakers in Boyd county canned rather than stored their sweet potatoes.

3 SIMPLE STEPS TO RELIEVE THAT DULL, Ache-All-Over Feeling of a COLD

Alka-Seltzer A B C METHOD

WITH OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

RETURNS AFTER FURLOUGH

A. B. Seamah Richard N. Shelton of the U. S. Merchant Marines has returned to his ship after spending a 30-day furlough with his wife, Helen Miskell Shelton and relatives. Richard has been serving on an Army Transport Ship in the Pacific war theatre for the past year, and brought home many souvenirs from Australia and New Guinea, a Japanese dagger and some Jap cigarettes.

PRaised BY BRITISH PRESS

An Air Service Command Post, England—Recently commanded by Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, commanding general, U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe, for pre-invasion production efforts, Cpl. William Breeden, of Walton, and fellow soldier-technicians at an Air Service Command depot in England are now basking in praise from the British press.

The widely-read "Sunday Express" in a featured article pointed out that the base's output figures are "among world records," and lauded the soldiers for their part in keeping America's planes in control of the skies over Western Europe.

"It's good to know that other people think we're doing a good job," commented Cpl. Breeden. "And just to prove that praise hasn't gone to our heads, we're going to keep those production figures high."

He is the son of William E. Breeden, Walton, Ky.

WITH OLD HICKORY DIVISION

The following article was recently received by Mrs. Lloyd E. Yates from her husband who is now serving with this division somewhere in Germany. Mrs. Yates and daughter are now residing with her parents.

DR. MILL'S ANTI-PAIN PILLS

A SINGLE Dr. Mill's Anti-Pain Pill often relieves Backache, Quinsy, Rheumatism or Functional Monthly Pains—35¢ for 25¢, 10¢ for 10¢. Get them at your drug store. Read directions and use only as directed.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chapman of Verona.

The article was taken from "Stars and Stripes" the service paper: The Old Hickory 30th Division which received part of its training at Camp Akeley, has covered itself with glory in Europe.

The 30th Division, according to the U.P., relieved the 1st Inf. Div. in the vicinity of Mortain, France, Aug. 7, and the next day began the historic Mortain-St. Barthelmy defense in which the Division stopped four armor-clad German divisions which Hitler had ordered to break through to Avranches and the sea, separating the American 1st and 3rd Armies.

A drive across France followed and September 1 and 2 put the finishing touches on a march that carried the doughboys 180 miles in 72 hours to Tournai, Belgium, which later was turned over to the British.

Major Gen. Hobbs who commands the 30th Division received the Silver Star for the Division's crossing of the Rhine River in the battle toward St. Lo and an Oak-leaf Cluster for gallantry when he took personal command of a Task Force which screened the Division's advance into Belgium.

KEEPS "FORTS" FLYING HIGH

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England—The excellent maintenance work of Master Sergeant Charles Neumeister, 37, crew chief of Walton, Ky., and his fellow ground crew members enabled his B-17 Flying Fortress to participate in three consecutive Eighth Air Force attacks on supply and transportation objectives in Cologne, helping to cut off materiel from Aachen, thereby hastening the fall of the besieged city to our ground troops.

Neumeister has helped to keep his Fort in top flight condition for 23 consecutive attacks without its once having to turn back because of mechanical failure. Frequently working in cold rainy weather, and at all hours, men like Sgt. Neumeister have laid the groundwork for successful Eighth Air Force bombings of Nazi industries, as well as attacks on gun emplacements, bridges, marshalling yards and other tactical targets in support of the Allied ground forces on the Continent.

Sgt. Neumeister is a member of the 493rd Bomb. Group commanded by Lieutenant Colonel Elbert Helton of San Antonio, Texas. The group is a unit of the Third Bombardment Division, the division cited by the President for its historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt aircraft plants at Regensburg, Germany.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neumeister of Walton, Ky., Sgt. Neumeister, entered the AAF in February 1942.

WRITES TO GRANDMA

S. Sgt. Wm. M. Campbell writes a very interesting letter to his grandmother, Mrs. J. D. Mayhugh of Walton:

Somewhere in Germany

Dear Grandma and Smoaks:

Hello people. Guess this comes as almost a surprise—it's been so long since I have written you. Sorry too, it really isn't all my fault. How's the weather back home now, here it rains like cats and dogs outside. I wish you could see me now, I am in what we call a three-man foxhole, covered with logs and earth to keep out flying shrapnel from shells and any bombs that Jerry might by chance drop on us. He has had his whole air force out the last couple of nites, all six of his planes. All they are is a nuisance. Our ack-ack usually drives him off but sometimes he succeeds in getting through and makes a short run on our lines. Doesn't stay long tho, just drops his calling card and leaves very hurriedly. Our hole is about five foot deep, six foot long and four wide. Makes for a dry bed at night anyway and it is continually raining here in Germany. But, as the French say, sie la gace, this is war. Be darned glad when it's all over and I either come home or go to the South Pacific. From all the talk going around that's where all of the younger fellows are going to land. Look out for the Japs if this crew of guys get there. They will really polish them off because they all want to get home and in a hurry too. Everybody is fed up on this war deal. It's very true we all want to come home but no one wants to leave until the Jerrys are finished—that's what I suppose they call—the American way. Whenever we start something we are always there when it is over with, not leaving until it ends. That's why we have the greatest Army in all the world, never say die. There were a couple Germans the other day who came in and surrendered—one of them said, he had been to the states before the war started—said that was the worst mistake he had made in his life, leaving the old states. He could speak very good English. I still don't trust any of them tho—every time we take any prisoners I can't help but think that anyone of them might be the one who have so narrowly missed me several times. Here in Germany the danger is much worse because even the civilians may be German soldiers in civilian clothes, again the way they look at it we are out to kill their sons, relatives as well as friends so we never know what is really going on in their minds. The food and wine we used to so graciously accept in France and Belgium is passed by over here because already there have been cases known where the boys were poisoned. It's really too bad because some of the German people want to be our friends but the old adage is still true—one bad apple will spoil the whole barrel—therefore we can't really trust anyone. Gen. "Ike" has issued an order of the day that there will be absolutely no mixing of the troops with the German people. He has never been wrong yet. Guess I had better quit this rambling and go to bed, it's seven thirty now and I have to stand guard at two so I'll close and get a little shut eye.

Tell everyone hello for me and don't worry—some day I hope to be home with all of you again. Don't know when, don't know how but it will come sooner or later. Nite now and love to all. May God keep you. Your loving grandson, "Bill."

SUDAN HAY IN 6 WEEKS

Just six weeks after a field of sudan grass was sowed on the farm of J. W. Smallwood of Grant county it was mowed for hay. At that time, reports Farm Agent Hume, much of it was higher than the horses' backs. Frank Cain of Grant county had a crop almost as good.

SERVICE BOARD ENLARGED

The Boone County Service Board was returned to the courthouse lawn last week. The board had been down several weeks while being remodeled and enlarged. The center section of the board was shortened and two new wings were added. A bronzed eagle tops the center board. The board was repainted, white blackboard trimmed, in red and blue. Over 900 names, arranged in alphabetical order, were painted on the board. The contract for remodeling the board was given to Mr. and Mrs. William Moore of Hebron.

The Service Board is one method of honoring the men and women from Boone County who are serving their country.

The committee hopes that lights can soon be added to the board and shrubs planted around the base. If anyone finds that names have been omitted or misspelled, please contact one of the members of the Service Board Committee, Mrs. Albert Willis, Mrs. Parker Hollis, Mrs. Thomas Hensley, Judge Carroll Cropper, Dewey Benson, Courtney Kelly, and Mary Hood Gillespie.

PLANS DRAINAGE SYSTEM

Acting on suggestions of County Agent R. B. Rankin and Farm Engineer Earl Welch of the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics, T. A. Atreval of Adams county recently staked out a drainage system that will require 2,300 ft. of tile and surface ditches. Drainage will make several acres of good bottom land highly productive.

Lesson for November 26

THE CHRISTIAN VIEW OF INDUSTRY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 19:13-26; II Thessalonians 3:10-12.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let him that stole steal no more; but rather let him labor, working with his hands the thing that is good, that he may have to give to him that needs.—Ephesians 4:28.

Work is a blessing, and the proper attitude toward it is an important part of the life of a Christian. Industry has found its best and most dependable workers among those who believe in Christ. It has also come to realize that the strengthening of the faith of its workers makes them better workmen; hence we see all over the land the interesting development of chaplains in industrial plants. That activity rightly planned and properly conducted can be of great value to both the individual and to industry.

Our lesson rightly deals with the individual. Christianity is a personal matter, a life rather than a theory. It deals with the man rather than the mass.

I. We Are Accountable for Opportunity (Luke 19:13).

The king in this parable is Christ, who has now gone away, to return when God is ready for Him to set up His kingdom on earth. In the meantime His servants have been given that which they should be using for Him.

Two things stand out in this story. First, the fact that Jesus is coming again. There are many scoffers who deny that blessed truth (II Pet. 3:3, 4). There are many believers to whom the promise has become but a formal truth in a confession of faith or a creed. But the failure of men to recognize truth and their unwillingness to hold it precious, do not alter the fact. Jesus is coming again!

When He comes, He will have many things to accomplish, but—this is our second fact—one of the most important is that there shall be an accounting with His followers (who are supposed to be His servants) regarding the life they have lived. What will your answer and mine be in that day? It depends on what we are and what we are doing right now.

II. We Are to Be Rewarded for Faithfulness (Luke 19:16-26).

When believers stand in the presence of Christ to answer for the deeds done in the flesh (our sins were judged at Calvary!), it will not be a question of what church you belong to, or what family name you bear, or how much money you have amassed. No, the only question asked will be, "Have you been faithful in trading with the gifts, the abilities and the opportunities which God has given you?"

Note that there are three different judgments here, but all on the one ground of faithfulness. The first man represents those who with all diligence and zeal seek to grow spiritually and to serve the Lord with glad abandon. All that they have and are they give to Him for His glory and for the winning of others to Him. They will be commended by the Lord and great will be their reward!

The second man, with equal opportunity, did accomplish something, but not too much. He represents those who do want to serve the Lord but with no special zeal, no great measure of sacrificial endeavor—just "average" (what an unfortunate standard!) Christians.

The Lord is fair. He does not deprive them of their reward. In the measure that they have been faithful, they too shall find joyous service for Him. But observe that there is no special word of commendation in this case, and there is a limited reward.

The third man represents those who profess to be in fear of God. He seems to demand so much of them and they are not ready to give it. After all, they say, we want to enjoy life. Why should the Lord expect so much of us? Not only do they lose all reward, but the Lord must take away even that which He has already given.

III. We Are Commanded to Work (II Thes. 3:10-12).
From the day that God put Adam in the garden of Eden to care for it, honest work has been the lot of all mankind—yes, and his honor. There is no place in the economy of God for the man or woman who is able to work but is not willing to do so. "If any will not work, neither let him eat" (v. 10).

Apparently there were some in the church at Thessalonica who perverted the teaching of the Lord's return, who said that if Jesus were coming, any day there was no use working. They had turned the truth completely around. The point is that since Jesus may come at any time, we should all be doing our utmost to accept of Him as He is, that we may not be disappointed when He comes.

Bonnie Hahn, 4-H club member in Anderson county, has canned 7,598 quarts of food in her six years of canning.

Joe Dean of Crittenden county reports that his balbo rye produced about 50 percent more grain than did other crops.

IT TAKES PLENTY OF WAR BONDS TO BUILD B-29s

THE WAR in the Pacific is the most costly war America has ever engaged in. It's simple arithmetic. A mountain of special, costly equipment is needed. A B-29 Superfortress used in the bombing of Japan costs $600,000 in War Bonds. And this is just one of the many extra costly implements of war needed to achieve final victory in the Pacific.

That's why the 6th War Loan Drive is so important. That's why you must back it as generously as you have every other war loan drive. Invest in the next raid on Japan. . .

OLD MASTER

Sometimes I have difficulty in making my students understand the power that taboo used to have among us. As some wag has said, there used to be subjects that we did not discuss and now we discuss nothing else. Every time I come around in one of my courses to taboos and euphemisms, I have to take several minutes to explain the attitude behind many of the taboos. One, of course, is with reference to divinity.

Formerly one did not hear the word God except in church or in oaths. All sorts of substitutes were used, varying from childish to dignified. We little fellows talked about the Good Man and the Bad Man in hushed tones. But hosts of people, white as well as black, spoke of Old Master, sometimes Old Mahster, showing a Tidewater Virginia influence in sound. It was so common and so reverent that I thought nothing of it until I had been away from home long enough to discover that this mode of speech was declining in favor of more direct words. I cannot recall having ever heard of the use of Master alone, or the Master; it was always Old Master. Somehow that brought out the full significance of overlordship and loving power. There was never, so far as I can now recall, a feeling of whimsicality in this conception; God knew best and acted accordingly; it was our duty to find out His ways and then act accordingly. No ancient prophet with his "thus saith the Lord" ever got any more immediate respect than did our parents when they said "Old Master." That settled our contentions, for that time, at least.

It is well known among folklorists that people in all ages of the world have referred to divinities as old. The idea of immortality to many minds would argue immense age and therefore, signs of age, like a long white beard or flowing locks. From the most primitive savages to the aesthetic Greeks this idea of age and its attendant knowledge and power have been present. One primitive African race, I am told, speak of the "old, old ones." Long since I was a mature man, a Negro preacher in Kentucky, while lamenting the sins of his congregation declared, "The Lord is getting old and childish and ain't going to put up with you trifling sinners much longer."

Naturally, the Devil was taboo also except in church and in profane language. If all the names for the Evil Spirit were collected, it would be an excellent commentary on our taboos and our childish avoidance of the unpleasant. Some of the terms are as harmless as our childish Bad Man; some indicate a mischievousness that is not necessarily fiendish, like Old Nick; some suggest a fear of being too plain in speech, like the Old Boy. I am uncertain just what Old Ned would suggest; it was used primarily to suggest someone's raising an evil spirit, "raising Old Ned." I doubt whether many who used the euphemism knew about calling up spirits "from the vasty deep."

Were we actually more refined in those days when we feared to use the naughty word, or were we just primitive and fearful? In ancient times it was wicked to use a name unless it was to try to influence a divinity. To the initiated there was a sacred name that was never known to the outsiders; that name was in no way to be used in vain. I suspect that some of that same spirit prevailed in my earlier days, a feeling of the fearfulness of calling a divinity to witness or trifling with a sacred name.

Concord

Quite a number from this community attended the funeral of William Bingham of Gardnerville Sunday afternoon. He passed away Thursday night after a long illness. He leaves a wife and three children, his mother, father, three brothers and one sister. The bereaved ones have our sympathy.

C. D. Hughes is on the sick list. The Y. W. A. and Sunbeams met at the church Saturday afternoon. Everyone wants to attend the banquet for them Saturday night at Ten Mile, they will enjoy it very much.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ryan's daughter Sue Ellen, has returned to her home much improved in health after a stay of several days at the hospital.

Mrs. William Wilson, Mrs. George Baker and sons, left last Wednesday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will spend the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jack were honored on their Golden Wedding Anniversary Nov. 13, with a lovely family dinner prepared by their daughters, Mrs. Rouse and Mrs. Carpenter. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Scott Jack and Sally Joe, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Rouse, Jack and Buddy, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Carpenter, Margery Sue and Shirley Lue, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCabe Mrs. Sallie Belle Garrison and Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson. Mr. and Mrs. Jack were also the recipients of a number of gifts and a shower of cards from their many friends.

HENS RETURN 36 CENTS IN MONTH

Owners of 16 demonstration flocks in Kentucky, having a total of 3,285 hens, reported an average income of 36 cents a hen above cash expenses in September. This was the highest return for that month in the 13 years these flock owners have been cooperating with county agents and the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics in demonstrating the value of well-bred hens given good care.

A noticeable result of the phenazine program in Pendleton co. was the quality of late lambs, there being few cull lambs in the flocks.

IN THIS WAR the railroads have done twice as big a transportation job as in the first World War.

But they are doing another job which may not be so well known, as is shown by these contrasting facts:

In the last war, the operation of the railroads took money out of the United States Treasury.

In this one, the railroads are putting money into the Treasury.

In the last war, when the Government took over the railroads, even though freight rates and passenger fares were raised, Congress had to appropriate more than $1,600,000,000 to meet deficits.

In this war, the railroads have been managed by their owners. A far bigger and better transportation job has been done. And, since Pearl Harbor, the railroads have turned into the United States Treasury the tremendous sum of $3,250,000,000 in taxes—and today are paying federal taxes at the rate of nearly $4,250,000 every 24 hours.

And, on top of all this, the railroads in the same months since Pearl Harbor have paid for the support of state, county and city governments another $750,000,000 and are today paying state and local taxes at the rate of $800,000 per day.

That's five million dollars a day paid in taxes—ten times as much as the owners receive in dividends.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE

BEGINS NOVEMBER 27th

The 38th annual Christmas seal Sale sponsored by The Boone County Tuberculosis Association, will begin Nov. 27 under the direction of R. V. Lents, Principal of the Constance School.

On that date seals will be mailed residents of Boone County and an annual drive begun to obtain funds to aid the program of eradicating tuberculosis from Boone County.

"Many people are inclined to think such campaigns are of little importance at this time when our nation is placing its every effort behind the war program, but I cannot point out too strongly that such a belief is entirely misguided," Mr. Lents said.

Mr. Lents continued by saying, "We have three patients right now here in Boone County waiting to enter sanitariums as soon as a room can be obtained. Money will be needed to defray the expenses which are more than $2 per day per patient, and the Christmas Seal Sale is the only way of obtaining that money."

Buy as many as you can.

WAR DOG RETURNS HOME

WITH DISTINGUISHED HONORS

Gallatin County war dog returned home after 12 months service among the islands of the Pacific. Disabilities due to arthritis, brought about by damp moist climates. The dog was enlisted in the quartermaster corps October 19, 1943, discharged November 3, 1944. Service, sentry duty; owner, Harold Shelly, Warsaw.

Brownie is tawny color weight 105 pounds, alert and courageous. Received his basic training at Camp Robison, Nebr., given by Joseph Wright, a noted animal trainer, and later sent to the South Pacific where he rendered valuable service.

Mr. Shelly met the train at Sparta when he opened the crate the dog knew his master, leaping from the crate, he sprang upon Mr. Shelly, licking his hands and caressing him. A worthy soldier returns home!

OUR FARM NEWS . . . . .

SHEEPMEN URGED TO TREAT FLOCKS

Every sheep owner is urged to treat his flock during November or early December with Phenothiazine for control of nodular and other intestinal worms, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. Intestinal control is necessary for successful sheep raising. Those growers who treated their flocks last year and followed the recommended program secured the best results of any plan followed in the county to date.

Two individual sheep treatments with Phenothiazine are recommended: one now, during November or early December, and the other around April or soon after the lambing period is over. The Phenothiazine, one pound salt, nine pounds mixture, should be fed from May 1st through September.

The individual treatment calls for a 25 gram dose to old sheep, either with the drench or tablet form. The drench form is the cheaper provided the Phenothiazine suspension powder form is used.

Because of the good success sheepmen have secured from the above plan, every grower is urged to follow the recommended program. The County Agent's office will be glad to advise with any farmer on the proposed program. Failure to treat at the proper time will give less effective results.

SEWING AT HOME SAVES BIG SUM

At the annual meeting of Scott county homemakers' clubs women reported having made at home 2,763 garments valued at $5,002 and having remodeled clothing at a saving of $1,452. Members of clubs helped 503 non-members with their home-sewing problems during the year.

Three and a half acres of balbo rye two weeks old, on the farm of J. R. Dabbs in Butler county, had sufficient growth to support 26 lambs.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS GROW FALL GARDENS

In contrast to the dried up gardens of summer, more than 10,000 fall gardens in Kentucky were green through the efforts of 4-H club members. A year ago, the late J. M. Feltner, field agent for club work in Eastern Kentucky, interested 4-H club members in planting seed for fall greens. The results were so successful that the J. M. Feltner 4-H Fall Garden Project has been adopted in practically all counties of the state.

Included in the packets of seed planted by the boys and girls were siberian kale, purple top turnips, seven-top turnips, mustard greens and crimson clover. Agronomists at the College of Agriculture say the 4-Hers have accomplished two purposes, that of providing food for the family and growing a cover crop of crimson clover which will be turned under in the spring.

Bowl Cleaning Power

Of Erb-Help Medicine

One man recently took ERB-HELP three days and said afterward that he never would have believed his body contained so much filthy substance. He says his stomach, intestines, bowels and whole system were so thoroughly cleansed that his constant headaches came to an end, several pimply skin eruptions on his face dried up overnight, and even the rheumatic pains in his knee disappeared. At present he is an altogether different man, feeling fine in every way.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon felt different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP. Jones' Drug Store.

In Breathitt county, 4-H club members and leaders exhibited more than 500 jars of high quality canning in the store windows in Jackson.

FLORENCE School News

Mrs. Sarah Marksberry, our fourth grade teacher, has been absent this week because of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Geneva Souther. Mrs. Virginia Graves has been teaching in her place.

The Florence School Lunch Room has apoted the government's school lunch room program. The change became effective on Friday. Balanced meals are being served in forms of A and B grade servings at reasonable price.

A large number of new books have been added to our library and many more have been ordered. We are very proud of these books and are making every effort to raise more money for additional orders in the near future.

Practice has begun on the operetta SNOW WHITE, which will be presented by the grades near the first of December. We are very grateful to Mrs. Ralph Stith for her helpful assistance with the music. Children having a part in this play are:

Sue Slinger	Snow White
Georg Martin	The Prince
Lila Oliver	Magic Mirror
Kenneth Hitzel	Tom
Lewis Wilson	Carl
Alma Fay Clifton	The Queen
Mary F. Kendall	The Witch
Albert Martin	Doc
Billy Schmidt	Sneezy
Charlotte Fullerton	Happy
Jennie Lee Tanner	Sleepy
Jerry Dixon	Bashful
Wilma J. Rowland	Grumpy
Leonard Smith	Dopey

There have been two successful publications of our school paper THE BEACON this year. Mrs. Reimer is the sponsor of the paper. The Beacon staff is as follows: Editor, Renaker Miller; Assistant Editor, Ruth Yelon; Reporters, George Houston, Mary June Newberry, Anna Marie Caldwell and Doris Jean Taylor.

The Debating Club is a new activity this year. It was organized and is sponsored by Mrs. Thomas. The team had its first debate on November 14 at a meeting of the Parent Teachers Association. The topic was: Resolved that the legal voting age should be reduced to 18 years. The affirmative side was victorious. The team will debate against other schools of northern Kentucky.

Basketball

Coach David Caudill has been doing a splendid job of training the basketball boys and everyone is anticipating a very good season. The team won its first victory of the year over Burlington November 10.

THANKSGIVING

THIS MAY BE—THIS WILL BE—our last Thanksgiving at war. All of us have much to be thankful for, but are we thankful enough? Are we thankful enough for what didn't happen? For the bombs that didn't fall.....the Stukas that didn't strafe.....the saboteurs that didn't succeed.....the ships that weren't sunk.....the liberties that weren't lost.

Are we thankful enough for what did happen? Our glorious victories.....the forward march of American production.....the magnificent advances of our armed forces.....the successful war against inflation.....the preservation of democracy.

Have we counted all our blessings? The butter that wasn't so hard to get after all.....the cars that wore longer, the tires that wore stronger, than we ever dared hope they would.....the seeds that grew so fervently in the Victory gardens.....the repair men who worked wonders with a bit of wire and a handful of shingle nails.....the magnificent manufacturers who made pinch-hitting products sometimes better than the originals.

Take your time about this giving of thanks Take all day, take all month to think about it.

A lifetime isn't long enough to thank God for being an American!

ON TO TOKYO!

Let's all get behind the greatest march in history—the march to Tokyo—and victory!

On countless invasion fronts, thousands of your fighting men are taking up the battle cry: "On to Tokyo!" We've got to back them up with what it takes for complete victory. Remember, the supply lines in the Pacific are long and your fighting men will need more materiel than was required for the entire European invasion to crush the Jap foe.

Let's Echo that cry with BONDS!

Our boys won't quit until they've reached their goal. Let's not stop buying Bonds until we've reached ours! In this 6th War Loan Drive, the Nation's goal is $14 billions . . . our individual job is to buy at least an extra $100 Bond . . . another and then another . . . let's keep on going . . . let's keep on buying . . . let's keep on saying it with Bonds . . . I thought I knew how I would feel if you should go away.

I knew that I would miss you Dear. All through the night and day.

But oh, I never once had guessed That all I'd want to do.

Would be to live with yesterday, Just dreaming dreams of you.

I thought that I could still live on, And meet life with a smile.

I knew I'd try to do the things, I felt you deemed worthwhile.

But there is nothing I enjoy Or seem to want to do, Save just to know I am dreaming

Dear— The sweetest dreams of you, Sadly missed by your wife Clara.

Bond Drive Lagging Far Behind Previous Drives

Subscriptions in the Sixth War Loan Drive the first week ending last Saturday night for Boone County amount to $61,125.00, on a quota of $479,065.00.

This is about half the amount subscribed the first week of the Fifth War Loan Drive.

Go to your bank in Boone County and make your subscription or contact the following precinct chairmen: R. L. Green, Beaver; C. E. McNeely, Bellevue; John L. Conner, Hebron-Bullittville; C. D. Benson, Burlington; W. H. Presser, Carlton; C. Linton Hemphing, Constance; C. F. Blankenbaker, Florence; Thomas Huff, Hamilton; J. H. Huey, Petersburg; Miss Lillian Bristow, Union; G. C. Ransom, Verona; Chas. W. Thompson, Walton.

These Precinct Chairmen are serving without pay and are even paying their own expenses in these drives. Cooperate with them and help make their task as light as possible by volunteering your subscription and your services.

Boone County must not fail to raise its quota and it will not fail if every one purchases bonds.

Make your subscriptions to the coupon bonds not later than December 1st because the bonds are dated December 1st and any subscription made after that date must carry the accrued interest if the subscription is more than $1000.00.

Lets have a larger report on sales for next week.

Postmaster Makes Appeal to Public

Beginning November 27 and extending through January 1, 1945 it will be greatly appreciated by the Post Office personnel of patrons who have their mail delivered either by the rural route carriers or by the village carrier will not call at the office asking if they have any mail, but wait for the mail to be delivered at their homes.

It will be a big help if you will—
1. Not inquire for mail until the carrier has hand a chance to deliver it to you at your house, whether by village or rural carrier.

2. When you are notified that there is a parcel here for you, please bring the notice with you.

3. Mail your packages as early as possible—remember that the mail is much heavier and therefore much slower. Wrap and tie them securely.

4. When in doubt as to the correct postage, inquire before you mail your letters.

5. Be sure that your service men mail going overseas have FIRST CLASS postage on all Christmas cards—no Christmas cards going out of the country can be sent with a 1 cent stamp.

6. Put your return address on all mail going out of Walton, either parcels or letters.

Urgent Need for Radar Men in Navy

The Navy needs men who can qualify as Radio Technicians for RADAR immediately.

RADAR is the war's newest and most dramatic technical development, according to Lt. F. A. Hardy, Officer in Charge of Recruiting and Induction for Kentucky.

While secrecy shrouds the work in wartime, Lt. Hardy pointed out that it insures a good post-war job in television, radio engineering, industrial electronics or aviation for those who can pass the Eddy Aptitude Test, and the ten months intensive training that follows.

A technical background is not necessary to qualify for RADAR but a knowledge of high school mathematics and physics is essential. High School Graduates between 17 and 50 who feel that they can qualify are urged to go at once to the nearest Navy Recruiting Station for further information from the Recruiter in Charge.

Men who pass the Eddy Test, whether as volunteers or through induction, will be rated Seamen First Class at $66.00 a month, and given ten months of intensive training worth $5,000.

Most graduates of this course will be rated Petty Officers at its conclusion.

"The time to act is now!" concluded Lt. Hardy, stressing that the Covington Navy Recruiting Station provides additional information and is prepared to process applicants without delay.

All tobacco warehouse companies in Kentucky will officially open for auction sales December 11, it has been announced. The warehouses began receiving the tobacco Monday, November 20.

In a written statement to tobacco growers, the Lexington warehouses said that since a large part of the 1944 burley crop was cut late "much of it was not sufficiently cured for stripping."

"This condition no doubt will cause the grade to be lowered, thus resulting in lowered prices. Growers are cautioned to consider this in preparing their crops for marketing."

OPA announced this week that price ceilings to be set up for the 1944 burley tobacco crop will return to the grower an average of 41 cents a pound.

Reports from the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate that the 1944 tobacco will reach 1,809,827,000 pounds. This is 29 per cent more than in 1943 and only four per cent less than the record crop yield in 1939.

Carroll County's eight tobacco warehouses will officially begin in Carroll County sales at 9 a. m. Monday morning, December 11, managers announced this week. Warehouses have been receiving tobacco since November 20.

Among the loose leaf floors opening will be the Brit-Lite, Fourth Street, Farmers, Sixth Street, Big Burley Smith-Turner, Eighth Street and Henry County. Two sets of buyers will be on the Carrollton market as in previous years.

Despite heavy rains tobacco buyers estimate that the poundage sold in Carroll County will exceed that of 1943 by 3,000,000 pounds. In 1943 the Carrollton market ranked third highest in the state.

Fertilizer Dealers and County Agent Meet

Fertilizer dealers and County Agents of Boone, Kenton, and Campbell counties will meet in a joint meeting at Covington on next Monday evening, December 4th, to discuss 1944 recommendations for Northern Kentucky. Both dealers and their company representatives have been invited to attend the meeting.

The farmer has encountered considerable confusion in securing his fertilizer needs of the past two years. The County Agents representing the College of Agriculture and Experiment Station will work with the dealers in planning a program for the coming year designed to render a maximum of service to farmers.

FARMERS URGED TO TREAT FLOCKS

Boone County sheep owners are urged to treat their flocks now with Phenothiazine drench in order that sheep may go into the winter months free from internal parasites, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The present treatment properly administered is probably the most important of the whole year. Farmers treating their flocks now will use either the drench or pill form. Those farmers desiring additional information on parasite control are urged to call the County Agent's Office.

Standard Oil Company Subscribes to Bond Drive

The Boone County quota in the Sixth War Loan Drive is nearer fulfillment today due to the subscription of $2,000.00 by Standard Oil Company (Ky.).

Mr. C. E. Nelson, the Company's local Agent at Erlanger, entered the subscription for Standard Oil, and received expressions of appreciation from the Committee.

Mr. Nelson, well known in this community, stated that the action of the Standard Oil Company was taken as an expression of the genuine interest of the organization in the success of the Sixth War Loan in Boone County and in the State.

MUST HAVE SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS

With seasonal activity on the rise in the tobacco warehouses, all who expect to take jobs or are already employed in this important industry are reminded that they must have social security account-number cards. This timely reminder comes today from Frank B. Decker, Jr., manager of the Covington, Kentucky office of the Social Security Board, who urges ad warehouse employees to get their social security cards at once if they have not already done so.

In Muhlenburg county, 48 4-H club girls helped their mothers can 2,492 quarts of fruits and vegetables this summer.

WITH OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

BUDDIES TOGETHER

Although Pfc. Elmer F. Eilers, Covington, and Pfc. Leonard Phillips, Walton, Ky., lived only six miles apart they never met until the army brought them together in an induction center. Ever since they have been inseparable, going through the same camps, coming overseas on the same boat, and joining the same company in a veteran infantry regiment. The only differences in their army lives have been their combat experiences.

Pfc. Eilers was lead scout of a patrol which was fired on by Jap machine guns and rifles. He dived behind a large rock by the trail. A hail of lead chewed up dirt and gravel all around him. To get out of the crossfire, he had to crawl 30 yards back to his patrol. He was wounded in the wrist and received the Purple Heart Medal.

Pfc. Phillips, on the other hand, doesn't like excitement. Once he sat on a hill and for ten minutes watched a Jap cooling his feet in a stream below. Phillips went on watching until the Nips had finished and began to leave. Then he adjusted his sights, fired four shots which killed the Jap, and went back to his temporarily interrupted rest.

RECEIVES TELEGRAM

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Kannady of near Verona, received on Thanksgiving day, the following telegram from their son T. Sgt. Ben. B. Kannady, who has been in the South Pacific for thirty-one months. He was a member of Ohio's famous 37th Division.

"Arrived at Birmingham General Hospital, Van Nuys, California. Expect transfer to hospital closer home within ten days, feeling fine, condition not serious."

Mr. and Mrs. Kannady have two other sons overseas, Joe is on Oahu, Hawaiian Islands and Johnnie somewhere in France.

Beaver Lick

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sleet moved last week from their farm here to Walton where they have taken an apartment for the winter.

James Sleet who has been ill for the past two weeks, was removed to St. Elizabeth Hospital Thursday. His condition is reported as serious.

Jackie Johnson was brought home from the hospital Friday is now convalescent.

Miss Ruth Wade Cox and Miss Roberta Kenney were Sunday guests of Mrs. John Taylor.

W. V. Moore and family of near Burlington and Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Harris of Verona called on Miss Lennie Moore and Miss Lee Hoard Sunday.

George Baker left by plane Saturday for St. Petersburg, Fla., where he will visit Mrs. Baker and children for a few days.

Mrs. Mattie Griffith accompanied by her sister Mrs. Myrtle Fields left Wednesday for Albany, Ohio, where they will spend several weeks with their niece Mrs. Christine Aylor and children.

The Democratic voters of this precinct will meet Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. for the purpose of electing a committeeman and a committee-woman to serve for the next four years.

Miss Mary Emma Pilow, a member of the Bedford High School Faculty and two of her pupils, Miss Bray and Miss Pierce, were weekend guests of her parents Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Pilow. A nephew of Rev. Pilow, whose name we failed to learn also visited them.

Mrs. John Taylor entertained at her home here Tuesday, the New Haven Homemakers' Club for their regular monthly meeting. The meeting was conducted by the president Mrs. Cloyd Johnson. The lesson on altering patterns was given by Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Griffith. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jake Cleek and the date will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Cleek entertained with a lovely tea Tuesday afternoon in honor of their guest Mrs. Alline Lanier of Canada. Present beside the honor guest were Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCabe, Mr. and Mrs. Cloyd Johnson and son, Mrs. Robt. L. Green, Mrs. John Taylor, Mrs. George Ransom, Mrs. Will Abdon, Mrs. Ben Bedinger, Mrs. Frank Rouse and Mrs. Harry Moore.

ton Shanklin, Don and Lee Roy McKinley, Dennis and Lynelle Flynn. Larry Ray and Donna Richardson spent the week-end with their grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Klein. Glenn Riggs spent a few days with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Riggs.

TODD COUNTY FLOCK PROVES PROFITABLE

Charlie Standard of Todd county has some interesting figures to show on the returns of his investment of $382.52 made in 1938 when he bought 35 western ewes and a registered ram. In six years, he had received approximately $2,311 for lambs, $670 for wool, $49 for cull ewes and $10 for the old ram, or a total of 2,940. He still has 20 of the original ewes which he values at $180.

In Webster county, eight classes in Red Cross home nursing are being sponsored by the citizenship committees of homemakers' clubs.

Claude Andrews of Letcher county says that spraying apple trees in his home orchard increased the yield 50 per cent.

WORLD-WIDE CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP

LESSON TEXT—John 17:18-23; 1 Corinthians 1:1-3; 12:4-7, 12, 13.
GOLDEN TEXT—Neither pray I for those alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word; that they all may be one.—John 17:20, 21.

Unity among the believers in Christ is much talked about and desired by many in the church. They seek a single Christian communion in the world, or at least a gathering of all Protestant churches in one body. Such outward unity may be impossible to attain, and in fact might be quite undesirable if it did not express a unity of spirit and of true faith.

That fact, however, should not hinder us from seeking a world-wide fellowship of all believers of every race and creed in the unity of the Holy Spirit. The true church, the invisible body of Christ, is not divided, even though its members are scattered in many denominations.

We are reminded in our lesson that whatever else may be true about us, we (that is, all believers) are united in Christ. We are:

I. In the World—but in Christ (John 17:18-23).

Even as Christ was sent of the Father into the world to be the Light of the World, so we are here in the darkness of sin and sorrow to shine as lights for Him (Matt. 5:14-16). He did not pray that His disciples (and that includes us, v. 20) should be taken out of the world (v. 13) but that they should be kept from sin in the world.

So we are in the world. But let us never for a moment forget that though we are in the world we are also in Christ. He will give us—in fact He has given us—grace and glory so that we may represent Him in the world.

There is to be a oneness about believers (v. 21), not alone because of their good (blessed as that may be), but in order that the world may know and believe in Christ

(vv. 21, 23). The obvious corollary to that truth is that every evidence of division and friction between God's children is an opportunity and an excuse for the world to deny the truth of the gospel.

"Behold how these Christians love one another" was the baffled testimony of the pagan world in the early days of the Christian church. They could argue with their philosophy, and question their theology, but they had to admit that something had happened to these people which made them really love one another.

II. In the Church—but in Christ (1 Cor. 1:1-3).

The church, even in its outward form of local assemblies and denominations, has a place of great importance in the world. One could certainly not find a more wonderful body of people nor more satisfying opportunity for service than that afforded by the church.

The ones to whom Paul addressed this letter were members of "the church of God which is at Corinth," but they were what is of infinitely greater importance, "saints"—those who had been sanctified, or set apart from this wicked world, in Christ Jesus.

This glorious distinction was not theirs alone, but belonged to "all that call upon the name of the Lord Jesus in every place" (v. 2). Here again we have that fellowship and unity in the love of Christ which transcends all other relationships and which ignores the boundaries of race, color, social position—yes, even of church membership.

No matter who or where another believer may be, Jesus Christ is "their Lord and ours" (v. 2). One could shout, "Hallelujah—Praise the Lord!" for such a delightful communion of all those who love Him.

III. In Service—but in Christ (1 Cor. 12:4-7, 12, 13).

God has work to be done in the world. To accomplish that work, He gives diverse gifts to men. How wonderfully He endows and calls men and blesses them in His service! We can think of nothing more satisfying than to serve Him.

But even here we must keep in mind that the important thing is that we are not individual stars to shine in our solitary glory. No indeed, we are only a part of a great plan and purpose being carved out by "the same Lord" (v. 5). We are called, commissioned and sent by the one Holy Spirit (v. 7). We are "one body" (v. 12), baptized by the Holy Spirit into that blessed relationship, and it is that body of Christ which is at work in the world to do His will.

Nor does that in any way minimize the glory or the value of what we are called to do. On the contrary, it enhances our calling and encourages us to greater endeavor. We are not alone. We are in the Lord's service, yes; but first of all we are in Christ, and that means that we move forward with a great world-wide fellowship of those who share His precious faith.

APPLES DO WELL

Lewis Smith of Perry county estimates that he will harvest about 4,000 bushels of apples from his orchard of 55 trees this fall. He attributes the good crop to the five sprayings which he gave his trees and to the fact that the orchard is well located on bottom land and nearby slopes, says Farm Agent E. R. Russell.

'V' Is For Vision

Everybody has a part in the drive for VICTORY. Good eyesight is of vital importance. Eye strain and defective vision keeps a person below normal, when it is his or her patriotic duty to feel as well and strong as possible.

Come in today and have your eyes examined.

OUR FARM NEWS . . . . .

PROTEIN FEED NOW AVAILABLE

Protein feed, in the form of soybean meal and meat scraps, is now available from most dealers, according to the County Agents' office. Because these feeds were seldom available from dealers last year, many farmers are not familiar with the improved protein feed supply.

Soybean meal is selling between $3.00 and $3.25 per hundred and meat scraps around $4.25 per hundred.

Protein feeds are important supplements to the home grown feeds in that first, they give more economical gains and higher production in livestock and poultry feeding, and second, they are selling at prices only slightly higher than corn. One pound of soybean meal, as a supplement to corn, fed to hogs in dry lot with access to salt and ground limestone will save 650 pounds of corn. Similar savings are received in feeding other classes of livestock.

Hargis Fletcher of Magoffin co. is getting around 110 eggs a day from his flock of 130 New Hampshire Reds crossed with Barred Plymouth Rock.

SEE BETTER LOOK BETTER

Perhaps you are one of those who really need to wear glasses but don't because you fear they detract from your appearance. If you are careful to choose glasses that are becoming and have them expertly ground and fitted, they will turn their eyes into clear, sparkling ones that not only look better but see better.

LATE CORN, OTHER FEEDS

MAY CARRY POISON THIS YEAR

The large amount of immature corn in Kentucky this year brings a word of caution from veterinarians at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Soft, mouldy corn, while in itself not poisonous, may serve as a medium for the development of botulism, a poison fatal to stock.

Silage, corn stover, ear corn, shelled corn, as well as baled hay and other feeds may develop the poison. It is stated. It is especially important that corn be clean husked and that it be stored in cribs that permit enough circulation of air for proper drying. Corn stover shredded wet and put in deep bins or big piles may develop botulism.

Sometimes only a small portion of the hay, silage or grain is fatal—the last few feeds, for instance.

Botulism poisoning occurs most frequently in fall and winter, it is explained, when stock goes on dry feeds. Horses and mules are most susceptible to botulism. Cattle often can eat feeds that are fatal to horses. Hogs, and especially chickens, also may be poisoned.

The Department of Animal Pathology at the Experiment Station has observed that the following three types of stock poisoning are most common:

1. Horses and mules fed corn containing many husks and kept in large square bins.

2. Horses and mules fed fodder shredded wet and kept in big bins or deep piles.

3. Horses and mules fed oat hay.

WORN-OUT FARM IS #### MADE PRODUCTIVE

At a public sale in Grayson county in 1937 no one would bid more than $1,000 for a 170-acre farm. But Wilbur Litsey of Short Creek bought it, and then called on County Agent T. Faulkner for plans that would make it pay for itself and support his family. An appraiser for the Federal Land Bank said no one could make a living on it and then pay for it.

Under a plan worked out by Mr. Litsey and the county agent, the farm paid for itself in six years. Two fields were terraced and other land plowed and cultivated on the contour. Two and a half tons of limestone an acre were spread in four years and also the land covered with T. V. A. phosphate.

Two hundred rods of fence were purchased and built, all woods were fenced so stock could be kept out, the house was modernized and electricity installed, and two modern poultry houses built for 100 hens.

Mr. Litsey has two mules, 20 ewes, seven cows, seven beef cattle and 25 hogs. He has a small tractor to help on his farm and to do custom work.

The family garden has been a large item in this success story, says County Agent Faulkner. In seven years only 17 cans of canned products were bought.

The yield of the farm was boosted 100 percent in seven years, declares the county agent.

NEW SUGAR STAMP

Sugar Stamp 34 in War Ration Book Four will be good for buying five pounds of sugar beginning November 16, 1944. The OPA announced this week.

The stamp, like other sugar stamps now being used, will be good indefinitely for buying sugar. Other stamps, validated in the past, which also are good indefinitely for use in buying sugar are Nos. 30, 31, 32 and 33.

Sugar Stamp No. 40, validated February 1, 1944, is good for buying five pounds of sugar for home canning through February 28, 1945.

We were sorry to hear of the death of Mr. Lem Bledsoe Sr. of Warsaw, and Mr. J. L. Riffitt's sister of Lexington. Both families have our deepest sympathy.

Mrs. Roy C. Webster and sons, of Hamilton, Ohio, have returned to their home after spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Spaulding.

Mrs. Edna Peace and grandson left Saturday for Illinois to visit her mother and other relatives.

Miss Mary Sue Cox spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Riffitt and son.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Webster and baby spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Spaulding.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sanders and Mrs. Nancy Spencer of Cincinnati, have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Groves.

Mrs. Virgie Altha spent Wednesday with her mother, Mrs. Charlie Skirvin and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Miller and daughters entertained for dinner on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Beach, Mr. and Mrs. M. Odor, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Brownfield and in the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Connelly of Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lucas have been visiting relatives in the city the past few days.

LADY NEARLY CHOKED WHILE LYING IN BED— DUE TO STOMACH GAS

One lady said a few days ago that she used to be afraid to go to bed at night. She was swollen with stomach gas, which always got worse when she went to bed, and the gas would rise up in her throat after she lay down and would nearly choke her. She couldn't lie flat. Had to prop herself up on pillows. Recently this lady got ERB-HELP and now says gas is gone, stomach feels fine, bowels are regular and she can go to bed and sleep soundly.

ERB-HELP contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering! Get ERB-HELP! Jones' Drug Store.

Practically all alfalfa crops in Nelson county were cut the fourth time, the last cutting being the best in many instances.

VITAMINS

Of course everybody gets SOME Vitamins. Surveys show that millions of people do not get ENOUGH. A pleasant, convenient, economical way to be sure that you and your family get the essential B Complex Vitamin is to take ONE-A-DAY brand Vitamin B Complex tablets. An insufficient supply of B Complex Vitamins causes indigestion, Constipation, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Crankiness, Lack of Appetite. There are other causes for these conditions, but why not guard against this one cause by taking a ONE-A-DAY brand Vitamin B Complex Tablet every day? It's important—Get your money's worth, always compare potencies and prices.

10,388 TONS OF LIMESTONE USED IN 1944

Seven hundred forty Boone County farmers this year are estimated to use 10,388 tons of agricultural limestone, according to H. E. Forkner, County Agent. Sixty-five hundred seventy-eight tons have been delivered under AAA Grant of Aid.

1,810 are to be delivered and another 2,000 tons have been delivered as cash purchases by individual farmers.

The use of agricultural limestone, phosphate, conservative use of manures and good seedling practices have increased yields of Boone County pasture and hay crops several times.

Many farms today are more fertile and productive than when the first virgin timber was removed. Farmers are finding wild and unprofitable grasses can easily be replaced where proper soil treatment and seeding practices are followed.

DON'T TELL PRIVATE JONES THE JAPS ARE EASY

THE JOB IN THE PACIFIC IS STILL TERRIFIC!

THERE ARE STILL MILLIONS OF TOUGH, BRUTAL JAPS TO LICK. EVERY JAP WE KILL MAKES MY CHANCES OF GETTING HOME BETTER, AND IT COSTS PLENTY TO KILL A JAP

IF YOU think Japan is a pushover—you're fooling yourself, mister. Millions of fanatical Japanese are prepared to die for their country. Every American soldier, marine and sailor in the Pacific knows that he has a tough fight on his hands. You can't tell them their war is over! Even as you read these words, American men are dying in the fight against Japan.

Look into your heart and ask yourself honestly: "Have I stopped fighting? Have I stopped buying War Bonds because I think the war is about over?" You're not a quitter; your answer is "No!"

It costs billions of dollars a month to fight Japan

The fight in the Pacific calls for a highly specialized type of equipment. B-29 bombers that cost $600,000 in War Bonds; M-4 tanks with bulldozer blades that cost $67,417; "alligators" that cost $30,000; millions of gallons of gas. We need more and costlier equipment than any war has ever called for. And that's the reason for the 6th War Loan Drive. Just as long as a single Japanese aims a gun at our men—we must continue to buy War Bonds.

Once again you are asked to buy at least one extra $100 War Bond. Buy more if you possibly can. Not only is it for the final Victory—it's for your future. Sign up for extra War Bonds on the Payroll Plan. Welcome the Victory Volunteer when he or she calls at your home. Remember—the job in the Pacific is still terrific. We're out to get Japan in the 6th War Loan Drive!

New Ruling Puts Bond Drive Squarely up to People; Plenty to Raise

Total subscriptions to the Sixth War Loan Drive in Boone County up to last Saturday night amounted to $138,836.75. The drive closes December 16th.

Prospect for raising the county quota of $470,000.00 appeared fairly encouraging up until one day last week when the Federal Reserve Bank, through which all subscriptions are cleared, notified the County Chairman that all subscriptions were being checked to see if any represented borrowed money or were for bonds which would likely be sold on the market or turned over to some bank after the drive was over and that if any subscriptions were of this character they would be rejected. Some subscriptions of this character have already been returned to some of the banks in Boone County. This is rather a serious situation confronting our county in trying to raise our quota.

In past drives a number of public spirited citizens purchased all the bonds they could to keep, and then borrowed from their banks additional amounts in order to help out in raising the county quota. The theory of the Treasury Department is that it creates inflation to borrow to purchase bonds and then dispose of the bonds later.

Those who have always been much interested in seeing that Boone County "goes over the top" in all these drives have felt that it was better to raise our quota the best we could than not to raise it at all and thereby give comfort to our enemies because of our failure. This matter is now squarely up to every individual citizen of this county as to whether or not we raise our quota, as no special help can be expected from those who are willing to help, because of the ruling of the Treasury Department. Go to your bank and purchase all the bonds you possibly can, then if our quota is not raised you will have no regrets, as we will have done all we could under the restrictions before us.

The Federal Land Bank of Louisville has allocated $6,000.00 of their large subscription to Boone County. This allocation is based on the amount of loans they have in this county, and is not allocated to any particular precinct, but to the county as a whole.

Prominent Public Servant Passes

Walter T. Loomis, former Kenton County deputy clerk and widely known business man, died Sunday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John L. Vest, Walton, wife of Attorney John Vest. Loomis, who was 83 years old, had been ill only three days.

Loomis was deputy clerk from 1901 to 1909, at which time John C. B. Yates was clerk. He was active in Republican political circles until his retirement in 1930.

From 1909 until the time of his retirement, Loomis was secretary of the Kenton County Assessment Fire Insurance Co. He also was a former president of the Dixie State Bank, Walton. In 1930, he went to Miami, Fla., later returning to Walton to make his home with his daughter.

Besides his daughter, he leaves a son, Howard Loomis, Covington, and a grandson, Walter D. Vest, Walton. Burial services were conducted at 11 a. m. Tuesday at the grave in Independence Cemetery.

The Hamilton Funeral Home, Verona was in charge of arrangements.

Sgt. James M. Robinson

Sgt. James M. Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russel Robinson of High Street, entered the U. S. Army in April 1941. Sgt. Robinson is stationed in England having been there the past three months.

4-H CLUB MEMBERS CONTRIBUTE 29,330

Forty-three 4-H Club members enrolled in the 1944 Labor Service project contributed 29,330 hours to war food production work, according to A. D. Robertson, Assistant County Agent. The average club member worked 682 hours or an average of 85 days.

The Labor Service project was designed as a special war-time project for the boy or girl who probably did not have another suitable project but desired to do a maximum of food production work. He or she either worked for neighbors or on the home farm keeping records of work done and hours spent. Paul Leek of Petersburg, was scored the county 4-H labor champion for 1944.

ORDER FERTILIZER TO AID FARMERS

The Simon-Kenton Chapter of Future Farmers of America, in an effort to be of service to the local farmers, has ordered two carloads of fertilizer. The first will arrive on or about January 1st and the second about thirty days later. The price is $34.00 per ton at the car and $36.00 per ton delivered to your farm. A fifty cent deposit is required on each 100 lbs to bind your order. We are also handling seed corn and tobacco seed. Types of seed corn include US 103, 102, and 13. Tobacco seed includes Nos. 16, 19, and 41A. Orders may be mailed to the Chapter or phoned to Ind. 8775 or 5107. Deposits should accompany all orders for fertilizer. This deposit will be deducted from the amount due. Please cooperate and place orders at once.

Mrs. Emma L. Moody

Their 25 years service was ended abruptly and tragically in 1938, when, while home on furlough, Mr. Moody was fatally struck by an automobile in Lexington. Of their four children, the eldest is an M. D., on the staff of the T. B. Hospital in Columbus, O., the only daughter has her A. B. from Transylvania and a Pilot Instructor's rating; another is a construction foreman on a dam in Colorado; and the fourth is a Parachute Fire Fighter in Idaho.

The public is cordially invited to attend this service and hear Mrs. Moody. The members of the church, women particularly, are urged to be present.

Missionary Society Meets

4-H Projects Are Completed By 240 Girls During Year

Boone County 4-H records show that 240 girls have completed a Home Economics project during 1944. Ninety-two and six tenths per cent of those who started a project completed the work including a record. A few 4-H girls have completed their project except to turn in their written record. Achievement certificates have been given to all who completed one or more projects. Clothing was the most popular project, according to Mary Hood Gillespie, Home Demonstration Agent. One hundred and forty girls completed a clothing project. Generally this includes the making of a dress, undergarments, and one accessory. Girls in each of the 12 clubs carried clothing work.

Canning Poods ran a close second in interest of the girls. Sixty-one completed canning; while sixty completed the foods project. Home Labor Service was completed by 15 girls. Probably one of the most active groups even though the smallest, was Room Improvement. Project work for girls will be organized the latter part of January, 1945.

Bearcats Outslug Florence 32-25; Crittenden Next

The Bearcats of Walton-Verona High won their third straight game here last Friday night, against a strong Florence five. The score was 32 to 25.

The game developed into a very rough game in which it was hard for either team to work their plays smoothly.

The Walton team was handicapped early in the game when Guy Carlisle committed four fouls, forcing him to be taken out and saved for any emergency.

At one point during the first half both coaches agreed to stop the game in order to try to eliminate some of the roughness.

Second Team Loses
The second team of Walton-Verona lost their third straight to a faster, harder hitting Florence five. The next five game in succession will be played away from home, the first being Crittenden on Dec. 8th; following this will be Simon-Kenton, Dec. 15; Burlington, Dec. 19; Dry Ridge, Jan. 10; and Hebron on Jan. 12. The first home game will be January 16th with Simon-Kenton as opposition.

Fire Caused By Stove Explosion

Virginia Lee Northcutt, 5 months old and William Northcutt, 2, children of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Northcutt of Erlanger, were burned to death in a fire which completely destroyed their home. They are the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jockey, Walton.

The home, which was in a small community of Kenton-Boo, on the line of Kenton and Boone counties, was leveled by the blaze which swept through the four room, one-story frame structure.

The infants are two of eight children. They were in the house alone taking a nap when the fire started. They had been left in the care of an older sister, Gertrude, 15, while Mrs. Northcutt went on an errand to Erlanger. She and another brother, Eugene, 5, had left the babies alone just a few minutes before the blaze was discovered.

Mr. Northcutt is employed on a railroad in Detroit.

When firemen from Florence and Erlanger arrived the home was burning furiously and was out of control. Members of the Elsmere Fire Department also joined in fighting the blaze, although the town's equipment had been dispatched to Gunpowder Creek to extinguish a fire in a restaurant.

The bodies of the babies were found in the charred ruins which had fallen to the basement.

Mrs. Northcutt collapsed at the Erlanger Postoffice when informed of the tragedy. Gertrude was hysterical and unable to give a clear story of what had happened. She said Virginia had been asleep in a room in the rear of the house and William was in the adjoining front room. Four other children, Anna May, 13; Ruth, 12; Harry, 10; and Junior, 7, were in school.

Telephone System To Be Improved

A joint committee of representatives of Bell and Independent operating telephone companies throughout the United States has been formed to advance the nation-wide postwar programs which the various telephone companies have been working on individually to extend and improve farm telephone service, it was announced today.

Co-chairmen of the committee are John P. Boylan, president of the United States Independent Telephone Association, the national organization of the thousands of independent telephone companies, and Keith S. McHugh, vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company representing the Bell operating companies.

"Rural telephone service is more highly developed in this country, under the American system of private enterprise, than in any other country in the world," Mr. Boylan and Mr. McHugh said today in a statement issued by them for the committee. "However, it is by no means as highly developed as we in the industry want to see it, and the industry intends to do everything in its power to provide more service, and better service, at a cost which the farmer can afford."

"Since operating telephone companies throughout the whole country have been working on this problem, a representative joint committee has been formed consisting of a number of their most experienced officials. We believe that the application of new facilities and methods which were under development by the industry before the demands of war interrupted our research and construction program will help to bring telephone service to many new farm customers. As soon as war demands are reduced, we propose to resume and expand our research effort and, along with it, the intensive program of extending farm service which was being carried on before the outbreak of hostilities."

"Over one-half million miles of telephone pole lines serving rural areas have already been built so that more than two-thirds of all (Continued on Page Five)

WITH OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

LETTER FROM PARIS

Mr. and Mrs. Omer Dudgeon of Walton have received word that their son, Sgt. James Omer Dudgeon is still stationed in Paris, France.Sgt. Dudgeon, better known to his friends as J. O. reports that his quarters in Paris are much better than the pup tents he has been accustomed to and that the "chow" is the next best thing to home cooking.
He also writes, "The French are friendly enough and they think it funny to see the Yank Sergeants and Privates running together, picking up children and the crazy things a Yank will do.""They tell us the difference between the German and the Yank.
Many speak English and those who do claim to have kin in the states or to have been there at one time or another. Paris is more like home than anyplace I've been since I left the states.""Today purely by accident I ended up in a French cemetery. You know at home they have a casket shaped monument that sits up over the grave. Well there every grave had them, with only walking space between them. There seemed to be acres of them and it was a queer sight. Down in another section there were more graves—plain ones with wooden crosses that had only name and date plates. Every date I noticed was during the four years that the Germans occupied Paris.""Here is something else that may interest you. The French count upward from the thumb. Say if youordered a coke, you would hold up a thumb instead of a forefinger. I learned the hard way. I made an order and received two instead of one because I was holding up my forefinger.""If you want a taxi and have the money, you may get one of two things, a bike for two pulling a little trailer affair which is comfortable as well as cozy or a horse drawn buggy. Wanta Taxi?""There seems to be a lot of cars in use now. When I came to Paris there were few cars and too many bikes. Now you have to dodge both.
I have yet to see a street stop light.
Oh yes, most of the cars are charcoal burners. They have a fire box either on the front or back and this causes fumes to form into fuel. They still look queer. I notice trucks stopping so the driver can punch up his fire before going on. Fun Eh?""I must sign off for now. So long and remember I'm always thinking of you."Love,
Jim.Sgt. Dudgeon has been in the service since February, 1943 and has been overseas since October of that year.

ENJOYS PAPER OVERSEAS

Below is a letter to the Editor from Pfc. Robert S. Bagby who is with the Armed Forces overseas.Dear Sir:
I should have written to you long before now, but things don't always work out as we would like them to.
I do want to thank you for your paper you are sending me. I enjoy reading it very much. I received my first copies of the Advertiser after the finish of the Salpan operation (of which I had to take part) and they were sure welcome. It is the first time I had the opportunity to read the Advertiser of any other paper from home since I came into the service. It gives a fellow a chance to read about happenings in and around Walton and other places he knows. I have already read the names of several fellows in the service I know and have often wondered where they were and how they wer. I am glad I am one of the many that is receiving your paper and I will continue to look forward to receiving the paper and letters from home until everyone else and myself can return home after all of this is over. Thanks a million.
Your Truly,
Robert

FROM STARS AND STRIPES

We have received a clipping from Gordon R. Moore, taken from Stars and Stripes. He has been in the 28th Division since December 1941.In his letter Gordon says, "I enjoy the copies of the Advertiser that I receive and read them from one end to the other and imagine that I am at home among old familiar names and places."

From Paris to Siegfried Line

28th Division Rolled In High
First Army Hq. Oct. 2—Pennsylvania's "Keystone Division"—the 28th Infantry—headed straight for Germany to batter the defenses of the Siegfried Line after their triumphal march through the streets of Paris, it was disclosed today when the outfit was released for publication for action through Sept. 20.After capturing Percy, St. Sever, Calvados, and Gethemo and other objectives south of St. Lo, following the breakthrough in that sector, the 28th pushed eastward to capture Ger and participate in the cleanup of the German pocket west of the Seine. Conches, Le Neubourg, and Elbeuf are also listed as having been freed by the Keystone outfit.In its actions south of St. Lo, the 28th became known as the "Bloody Bucket Division," partly because of the red, bucket-shaped Keystone flash worn by the men, and partly because of a captured German officer who thought the patch might stand for that after he had seen how men of the division fought.Formerly commanded by Lt. Gen.
Omar N. Bradley, the division now is led by Maj. Gen. Norman D. Cota, former assistant commander of the 29th Division.Before embarking for overseas service, the outfit participated in maneuvers in Virginia, North and South Carolina, Louisiana and Texas. Before coming to France it trained several months in south Wales and southern England.

CHRIST IN THE HOME

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 10:4-6; Luke 10:38-42; II Timothy 1:3-6.
GOLDEN TEXT—These things I command you, that ye may love one another—John 13:34.

The American Home faces many enemies and powerful destructive influences in our day. At times one wonders whether this most important of all institutions has not so far departed from what God intended it to be that it has lost its place and power.

In such a time, it is important that the Christian church keep before the people, and especially our young people, the Scripture teaching about the home. We need to revive the old-fashioned home, with its piety, purity and high purpose in the plan of God. We begin right when we note:

I. The Plan of God for the Home (Matt. 19:4-6).

When Jesus was challenged by the Pharisees, who claimed that a man had a right to divorce his wife, He appealed to Scripture. That is the sure foundation for right thinking.

He referred them to the story of the creation of man and woman in Genesis 2:18-24. There it is revealed that in all the animal kingdom there was no creature suited for fellowship with man. The one who finds full satisfaction in the company of a cat, a dog, or horse, is just not up to normal.

Adam must have a "help meet" for him, that is, one suited by personality and gifts to be his companion. God made woman for that purpose and gave her to man. Thus He established the home and ordained that all through man's history there should be the coming together of one man and one woman in that indissoluble union of love (v. 6) which makes the home.

We have forgotten God's law, and have deliberately violated it, and have broken down the home in its very foundation. We had better begin to think seriously about the divorce problem if we are not to go the way of other nations.

II. The Presence of Christ in the Home (Luke 10:38-42).

Christ repeatedly honored the home by His blessed presence. He came to the wedding feast at Cana of Galilee, and there He performed His first miracle (John 2). He should be the unseen guest at every Christian marriage. Invite Him, expect Him, honor Him, and He will bless you.

One home in particular was a place of rest and refuge for our Lord when He was here on earth, that of His friends, Lazarus, Martha and Mary, in Bethany. He was a welcome guest, always at home in that household. Shall we do less in our households? We see mottoes in the home, "Christ is the unseen guest in this home." How appropriate!

But note that His presence in the home gives Him opportunity to teach and to direct the life of the home. Mary and Martha had both been busy about the work of the household, but Mary knew when it was time to stop being busy and sit at Jesus' feet to learn and to be blessed by His presence. She not only worked, but "also sat at the Lord's feet" (v. 39). Martha went right on working until she was distracted, and came to censure her sister.

The answer of Jesus is significant. He did not rebuke Martha. He only told her to get her life into balance. There must be work in a home, but those who make home only a workshop miss its greatest blessing. Home should be a place of sweet fellowship between the members of the family, and especially between them and the Lord.

III. The Power of Faith in the Home (II Tim. 1:3-6).

Family religion really pays. The home with the family altar, where God's Word is read as a natural and proper part of daily living, where prayer is made and God's goodness is remembered in thanksgiving and praise, that home will send forth children who know the grace of God, and are prepared to heed His call for service.

Timothy had a grandmother and a mother (one wonders where papa and grandpa were) with unfeigned faith. What a precious heritage! That was far more valuable than silver or gold, or farms or corner lots. What heritage are you giving your children?

Note the reference to Timothy's work as a minister of God in verse 6. It was by the Holy Spirit's call, and was recognized by the church in ordination, the "laying on of hands." But it is evidently closely connected with that which is spoken of in the verse before—the faith of his home. There is power in that faith to send a boy forth to valiant service for God and to keep him faithful in the day of trial. Give your boy and girl something really worthwhile to remember when they think of home. Put the power of faith in the home back of their lives in public for God.

BUT BONDS WILL HELP YOUR BOYS DO IT!

Your fighting men are paying back the Japs for Pearl Harbor, that "doed that will live in infamy." But it's a long way yet to Tokyo—where the final installment will be collected.

We, at home, can't fight shoulder to shoulder with our boys. Yet we can help today by getting behind the 6th War Loan Drive with every dollar we can scrape together. This is every American's war. Buy an extra $100 Bond—and don't wait till you're asked. For we're a tough job ahead.

Your Bonds prove that you haven't forgotten Pearl Harbor, Bataan and the thousands of other crimes against humanity, by the Jap hordes. Your Bond is an installment on what it's going to cost us to crush the Japs in the long sea lanes of the Pacific—it's going to take more superfortresses at $600,000 each, more P-47 Thunderbolts at $50,000 each—more of every type of material.

And remember, when you buy Bonds you are saving for your future and the future of your country. Don't put it off—buy that extra Bond today.

Independence R. 1

We are very glad to report Mrs. L. H. Faulkner has returned home from St. Elizabeth Hospital and is doing nicely, also glad to hear Chester Ballanger, who went to Arizona several weeks ago for his health is much better, his wife is planning on joining him the first of the year, we are indeed very sorry to loose them from our community, but hope he will in the near future be able to return, with the best of health.

Moving seems to begin a little early in our community. Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Coleman moved to Independence on Thursday and Mrs. Dawson Lacey and family are moving on the new Taylor Mill Pike, on the farm known as the Cockerell farm. We hope they will not think they are to far away to come back to our church and Sunday School as we will miss them.

TELEPHONE COMPANIES PLAN FOR POST-WAR IMPROVEMENTS

rural families in the United States can be served from existing lines. Since 1935, more than 500,000 additional families in rural areas have become telephone subscribers—an increase of 35 per cent. One of the major objectives is to continue this upward trend by making the service over existing lines increasingly valuable and attractive. This the industry intends to do to the limit of its ability.

"A second major objective is to extend service at reasonable cost to families not now reached by existing lines. Telephone industry research in the last several years has successfully developed new construction materials and methods which substantially lower the cost of building wire lines to areas not previously reached. In addition, work was started by the industry in 1938 to develop a practical system of transmitting telephone conversations over electric power lines. A similar system can be used over telephone lines to increase their capacity. This so-called rural carrier system transmits a very high frequency current over the wires. From 1940 on, experiments with this system for telephone service over rural power lines were carried forward in cooperative effort by Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Rural Electrification Administration. Before this work was interrupted by the war, it was clear that a suitable system of this kind could be produced.

"One practical effort of these development is to make it physically possible to furnish telephone service wherever there are rural power lines and no telephone lines. The telephone companies plan, in cooperation with R.E.A. cooperatives and with power companies serving rural territory, to determine the full extent to which rural carrier telephone service can be used economically and effectively.

"The telephone companies also plan to study the possible application of microwave radio systems to rural telephone service and to make use of this and any other new method which will be helpful in service to the farmer."

OUR FARM NEWS . . . . .

DANGER AHEAD FOR NEW PONDS

There is danger ahead for a number of the more than 300 new ponds or farm reservoirs constructed in the county this year, according to H. R. Forkner, County Agent. The danger is a number of these new ponds were not completed when the bulldozer operator left the farm. Additional work in practically every case, is needed to be done on the spillway; the dam should have been seeded and if there were low points in the dam, these must be filled in. Many dams of newly constructed ponds will wash out this winter unless these important features are properly handled. Ponds should be treated with Soda Ash where it is questioned as to whether or not the pond will leak.

The County Agent Office and the Soil Conservation Service Office are glad to advise with farmers on their farm reservoir and pond building problems. However, it is the responsibility of the farmer to see that the operator or contractor builds the dam according to the recommended plan. The agents in no way, have financial obligations to contractors other than general education and recommendations as to general routings.

Two or three of the present operators are making plans to move their equipment in the near future to the Walton, Verona and the Union, Big Bone road areas. These three sections have a number of farmers desiring custom operators for pond building work. Farmers along these general routes are urged to contact the operators in their territory or if in question, call either the S. C. S. or County Agent's Offices in Burlington.

TObACCO CROp QUALITY LOWER

The 1944 tobacco crop will grade lower than any crop in recent years, according to Maury V. Tuttle, Federal tobacco grader, who assisted the County Agent's office in three meetings the past week. Practically every crop this year has some house burned and damaged leaves that will not grade with the clear tobacco.

Tuttle urged growers to strip and grade their crops according to uses. Flings or the unsound, light weight lower leaves used for granulars, should be kept as a distinct separate grade; trash and lugs are used for cigarette cutters and may be stripped together with no great injury; bright leaf used for pipe tobacco should be kept in a separate grade as should the red leaf and tips used for chewing tobacco. This year's crop will not permit the mixing of grades as the grades as found on the stalk are distinct. Where the mixing is heavy, the Federal graders are forced to give a lower grade than would otherwise be the true market value. Tuttle advised that two distinct grades of lugs are found this year on most crops and these should where practical, be stripped separate. It will pay most farmers to keep their damaged grades separated.

Good attendance was recorded at all three meetings held in the county the past week. Growers were of the opinion that except for damaged grades, each grade would sell at or near the ceiling price.

CINCINNATI MAYOR ASK FOR SEAL DRIVE

Mayor James G. Stewart, of Cincinnati, has issued a proclamation calling attention to the opening of the annual Christmas Seal sales campaign and urging the public to give generous support to it.

The Christmas Seal is not only the symbol of the fight against tuberculosis, it is an agent for the control of the disease. Accomplishments made possible in the past through funds raised through the sale of the brightly colored little stamps fully justify the support of this campaign.

It has been estimated that there are a half million active cases of tuberculosis in the United States. It is estimated that 500 members of the armed forces are being discharged every month because of tuberculosis. Approximately 150,000 men and women have been rejected for military service because preinduction examinations revealed tuberculosis.

Christmas Seal funds help to discover cases of tuberculosis through X-ray and early diagnosis, and thus protect the community. These funds go directly to those who have the white plague and are not financially able to aid themselves.

All this adds up to the fact that we must take a hand in the fight to control this insidious disease. We can help by buying Christmas Seals.

"JUMPING" A YOUNG LADY FROM A BUGGY

It was about forty years ago that it happened, but somehow the room on this near zero night gets too hot when I remember how warm I was then. You see, I had my first experience "jumping" a young lady from a buggy. There has to be a first of everything, whether it is as embarrassing as this one was or not.

Emma was the niece of my sister-in-law and was visiting her aunt, across the creek. On a certain day she was to come to spend the day with my sisters. I was despatched to get her. The roomy old family buggy, big enough to hold an oversized father and mother and several of us children only a few years before, and the old family nag, familiarly known as Old Mas, constituted my equipment. I do not recall how Emma ever got into the buggy at my brother's, but I know that we also had as a passenger a long crosscut saw, which stuck under the seat and extended a long way out behind. As we drove over rough places on the way to Father's I had to hold the saw by reaching back. That almost overcame the little ten-year-old girl, who was fearful we would meet people on the road, with all sorts of danger that gossip would say that I had my arm around her. I got her to Father's without any such adventure, though, and easily turned her over to my sisters and mother, who thronged around the buggy and saved me the trouble of helping her out.

At the end of the day I was to take her back to her aunt's. Whether the crosscut saw was a passenger again I cannot remember. Anyway, on the way over I planned how gracefully I would help the lady from the buggy, just in the fashion practiced by another one of my brothers. He owned a narrow Hume-tight buggy and drove a slender-bodied, high-stepping young horse. He could cut the buggy around to one side, spring out over the wheels, and run around to the other side in nothing flat. He would extend his arms at the approved angle, his girl would place her hands on his arms, and then there would be a graceful swing of the dainty girl to the ground. How we saucer-eyed youngsters enjoyed all this as we watched it repeated by every young couple who came to Sulphur Springs Church! I had never practiced the act, but I knew I would make a perfect score. When we got to the older brother's, he had come out to the yard gate to meet us. I swung the buggy around, leaped over the wheel, ran around, and extended my arms at a studied angle. Just then my brother said something: I looked around, with my arms still in the air to catch the young lady. When I looked back, there was no young lady; she was fairly running through the gate, ten yards away, having crawled out of the buggy and under my arms, without so much as creaking the buggy bed or the step. It took me some fraction of a second to realize that I had failed to do the graceful thing: my arms still extended into space, as if reaching for the young lady. And then I did the only sensible thing: I jumped into the buggy, seized the whip pronounced "whup!", and put Old Mas through all her two gaits as we burned the wind and stirred up the dust down the lane. The temperature rose beyond any known summer heat, I did not say ugly words, but at the way home I vowed to do something desperate to cover up my embarrassment and make the young lady sorry. I planned to run for President, down myself in the creek, or become a famous orator. Since my brother, usually a cruel tease, did not mention the whole affair, for

OPA This Week

GASOLINE. Motorists who use gasoline illegally to travel to winter resorts face the loss of their mileage ration.

OPA is now preparing an enforcement program to prevent illegal use of ration stamps in winter vacation travel. Motorists who misuse their rations, will be called before hearing commissioners who have the power to revoke not only the supplemental "B" or "C" rations, but basic "A" rations as well.

In a statement issued by OPA, it was pointed out that the millions of patriotic drivers throughout the country, who are abiding by the mileage regulations and getting along on tight rations so that all may share fairly the scarce civilian supplies, have every right to expect OPA to shut down hard on those who obtain gasoline unfairly for non-essential trips.

CIGARETTES

The rationing of cigarettes is not contemplated since both WFA and OPA agree that rationing at this time is completely impractical, according to a statement issued by OPA Administrator Chester Bowles.

Tax records show production for domestic consumption excluding all production for shipment overseas is now greater than in any year but 1943. This year's production, while 15 billion less than 1943, is still over six billion more cigarettes than were produced in 1942 for domestic use. Demand for cigarettes has increased sharply since the war began. This is due partly to increased buying power, as well as three-shift work schedules in many war plants and the strain of wartime living.

TIRES

The requirement that local War Price and Rationing Boards post a weekly list of applicants granted ration certificates to buy new tires has been canceled. This action was effective November 22, 1944.

Instead, local Boards will make the names of persons granted new tire certificates available to any interested persons.

Verona

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Spennenberg of Worthville have come to Mr. and Mrs. John Boyer's to spend a few months with them, while Mr. Boyer is working in the warehouse in Carrollton.

The Baptist W. M. S. will meet Friday to observe the December week of prayer.

Mrs. Rose Hamilton entertained on Sunday with a family dinner in honor of her son and wife Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton of Paris.

Word has been received that LaVerne Ryan is to be sent overseas. Mrs. W. C. Wilson formally of Verona, but now with her daughter Pauline Riley of Cincinnati, was operated on at Jewish Hospital, Cincinnati, Nov. 28th and is getting along very nicely. She formally nursed her aunt Mrs. J. N. Blackwell, but had to resign on account of ill health.

Staffordsburg

The community was saddened to learn of the passing on Saturday evening at St. Elizabeth Hospital of Walter T. Loomis a long time resident. Tho he moved from this place some 29 years ago it was always home to him and as long as he was able he returned to visit.

Rev. Thomas filled his appointment Sunday evening.

The young people of the church met at the home of Miss Reva Richardson on Monday night.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Mrs. Morris Wharton and Donald Keeney spent Sunday afternoon with Dr. and Mrs. Joe Pingsley of Melbourne, Ky.

Mrs. J. B. Richardson spent Saturday in the city shopping.

Butchering seems to be the order of the day around here.

Don't forget Sunday School we had 47 present this week. Come! The lessons are on timely topics. Let us pattern our thoughts and lives on Gods word.

Burley Averages
$44.59 in Kentucky
On Opening Day

Burley sales held on 19 of Kentucky's 21 markets Monday established an opening day average of $44.59 per 100 pounds.

A total of 9,212 pounds were sold with growers receiving $410,750.59. The State Department of Agriculture did not receive immediate reports from sales at Glasgow and More Cave.

The Cynthiana market where 394,450 pounds were sold for $188,551.40, established an average of $47.80 which was the highest for the day. Lexington's 21 warehouses sold 2,239,502 pounds for $1,026,442.71 to record an average of $45.79. Last year, the average there was $48.31 with 2,278,552 pounds sold. The state average for the 1943 season was $47.03.

An average of prices today on a limited number of representative grades follows:

Leaf: Good tan $53, good reddish tan $46, fair reddish tan $40, fair red $30.

Loss: Fair tan $46, fair red $43.

The WPA said the prices of most grades were practically identical to those last year.

Walton Sergeant Receives Honors

7th AAF HEADQUARTERS, CENTRAL PACIFIC—Technical Sergeant Robert F. Horton of Route 2, Walton, Ky., was awarded the first Oak Leaf Cluster to the Distinguished Flying Cross and second and third Oak Leaf Clusters to the Air Medal during a recent 7th AAF presentation ceremony which was presided over by Major General Robert W. Douglas, Jr., and Brigadier General William J. Flood and Ernest M. "Mickey" Moore, in the Hawaiian Islands.

Sergeant Horton, a radio-operator on a 7th AAF B-25 Mitchell bomber, arrived in the Central Pacific in October, 1943, and has seen combat action over the Gilberts, Marshalls and Carolines. He was returned to the Hawaiian Islands with his bombardment group which has been active in the combat zone since December 1943.

A 1940 graduate of Hamilton High School, Sergeant Horton was cited for meritorious achievement in flight. "As a member of a bombardment type aircraft," the citation reads, "he displayed high professional skill, courage and devotion to duty which exemplifies the highest tradition of the Army Air Forces."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Horton, who live in Walton.

MRS. MINNIE SHADLER

Services for Mrs. Minnie Shadler, 70, Sanders Drive, Elsmere, who died unexpectedly Wednesday at her home, were conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Chamber & Grubbs funeral home, Walton. Burial was in Highland Cemetery, Ft. Mitchell.

Rouse Re-elected Chairman of Boone County Red Cross

Irvin Rouse was re-elected Chairman of the Boone County chapter of the Red Cross at the Annual open meeting, held Thursday night, December 7, at the Burlington School House.

Other officers elected were: J. B. Helzer, Vice-chairman, Mrs. Roy Nestor, Secretary, and Judge Carroll Cropper, Treasurer.

The Executive Committee for the coming year was also elected and is composed of Mrs. Emerson Smith, Mrs. Edward Rogers, Mrs. George Kottmeyer, Mrs. Allen Gaines, Mrs. Robert Eastman, Mr. J. B. Helzer, Mr. Chester Goodridge, Mr. Howard Huey, Mrs. Albert Willis, Mr. John Ryle, Mr. Bill Allen, Mr. Fred Hamilton and Mr. Kirtley Cropper.

Music for the occasion was pleasingly furnished by members of the Burlington School Band.

Home Production Chairman Mrs. Joseph Huey, reported shipments of knitted garments had been made in April and August, 144 filled Army kits had been sent to soldiers, and that there were now on hand 288 kits to be made and sent out in January.

Treasurer, Judge Cropper, reported that in the last, Drive $870.00 had been collected, of which $500.00 had been sent to National Red Cross. Local expenses are increasing and now amount to around $300.00 a month much of which goes into Home Service work.

Junior Red Cross Chairman, Miss Mary Bess Cropper, reported that they had collected a large amount of pop corn to be sent to the Hospital at Ft. Thomas, and she requested that anyone having electric corn poppers to donate, please send it to her to be forwarded to the Hospital, as it is not possible to buy new ones now. Junior Red Cross has made 200 menu covers for the Christmas dinner at Ft. Thomas, and has pledged the making of 182 educational boxes for children in Liberated countries.

Mrs. W. M. Townsend, Chairman Camp and Hospital Committee, explained that this was made up of only 5% Red Cross but 95% Community, and invited all organizations (Continued on Page 4)

Sgt. Bill Campbell Receives Citation

STAFF SERGEANT WILLIAM M. CAMPBELL (then Sergeant) 35680712 Corps of Engineers, Engineer Combat Battalion, United States Army, for heroic achievement in action against the enemy. During the landing operations on the coast of France on D-day, the boat commander of the demolition crew of which Sergeant Campbell was a member discovered, upon reaching and affixing charges to his assigned band of obstacles, that a band of underwater obstacles was unattended, with no provision made for its clearance. The boat command immediately sent Sergeant Campbell, with a small detail, to demolish these obstacles. Sergeant Campbell led his men under heavy enemy artillery and machine gun fire back down the beach, and, waist deep in water, successfully removed the band. Sergeant Campbell through his heroic action and devotion to duty, cleared the obstacles that would have impeded landing craft. His courage and resourcefulness contributed directly to successful landing operations in that particular section.

Sergeant Campbell has a great many friends in Boone county.

Christmas Dinner At Verona School, December 29th

There will be a Christmas dinner at the Verona School House Friday evening, December 29th. Serving to start at 6 o'clock.

The dinner is sponsored by the Verona Homemakers' Club to aid the Boone County Camp and Hospital Service in furnishing a room at the A. A. F. Convalescent Hospital at Ft. Thomas.

Total subscriptions up to last Saturday night, in the Sixth War Loan Drive, in Boone County amounted to $190,015.50, on the quota of $479,000.00.

This is the last week of the drive which ends December 16th and unless individuals come forward with heavy subscriptions this week, this county will not begin to reach its quota.

An agricultural county like Boone is handicapped, due to the restrictions laid down by the Treasury Department, in that individuals are not permitted to borrow money with which to purchase bonds in large amounts. It appears that large corporations in other sections of our country are permitted to enter large subscriptions, regardless of the fact that these corporations owe the banks large sums of money, and are thereby causing quotas to be reached by reason of these large subscriptions, but from all reports these quotas are not being reached through individual subscriptions.

Boone County does not have any factories or corporations through which to secure large subscriptions but we do have many individuals who are able and who are willing to subscribe for bonds in large amounts and help this county reach its quota, but the ruling of the Treasury Department will not permit them to do so. It is argued by many that if it is permissible for corporations to make large subscriptions and still owe large sums of money, individuals should have the same right and privilege.

These large corporations do not have the surplus funds to invest in bonds and hold them any more than individuals have and the record will show that within 60 to 90 days after the drive is over, many thousands of dollars worth of these bonds will be back on the market or transferred to banks at a nice profit to these corporations. Communities in which these large corporations are located can boast of having raised their quotas, when in fact they have not done so any more than Boone County has done.

The War Finance Committee has done, and is still doing, all it can to raise Boone County's quota unless it is given the same right and privilege as granted to large corporations in industrial centers, Boone County will fall far short of its goal of $479,000.00.

The ruling of the Treasury Department favors the large industrial centers and is against the agricultural sections as far as the raising of quotas is concerned.

Thomas Brewster T-5 is on the fighting front in Italy at the present time. He has been in the fighting since the invasion of Africa.

P. T. A. TO MEET FRIDAY

The P. T. A. will hold their Christmas meeting Friday December 15th at the Walton-Verona High School at 3 p. m.

A special Christmas program will be presented and refreshments served.

WITH FIRST ARMY IN GERMANY

Pvt. Elmer C. Webster who is somewhere in Belgium sent the following article to his parents Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Webster of Verona, R.I.

Mr. and Mrs. have also received the Purple Heart Medal awarded him for wounds received in action.

General Hodges took security wraps off another of his divisions today and disclosed for publication the 5th Armored Division (Victory Division*) was one of his ace outfits which stormed across France after the American breakthrough the rear of St. Lo. This Division entering combat for the first time in the drive across France was in forefront of spectacular American operations and helped make a lot of tank history.

ations and helped make a lot of tank history.

In the first twenty days of combat the 5th drove 400 miles to the Seine River and was one of the Divisions which swept South from Contances and then hooked North from Le Mans to set the Palaise Argentan trap, which gave Von Kluge's 7th Army such a terrific mauling. Military men will be charting that Armored Campaign for years. Fifth Armored Division started this operation from assembly areas in Normandy Hedge bordered fields on August 1, 1944. Tanks plunged through the St. Lo gap and roared South to drive deep into enemy held territory. The Division proudly boasted that this operation was the first time a full American Armored Division had been used in exploitation mission behind enemy lines.

To accomplish this mission, the Division thrust 150 miles South, then continued 100 miles to Le Mans, then turned and drove 50 miles North to Argentan. Tanks of the 5th were first into both Le Mans and Argentan and were the first Armored astride the main highways to Paris.

Between Argentan and Gace, the 5th had one of the toughest battles of the drive. They fought Germans for three days as pincers of the trap closing in on the 7th army which was struggling to escape to the east. Then the armored wheeled and pushed on to the Seine river. In this drive the division lists 2600 Germans killed 4300 prisoners of war, with it's own casualties light.

Across the Seine, the Victory Division kept wheeling to the East and fought it's way to Luxembourg, and when tanks wheeled into the city, the prince of Luxembourg rode with the Division Commander, Major General Lunsford E. Oliver. Luxembourg gave the tank men a rousing welcome along with the Armored Infantry and quickly recognized the prince of the Grand Duchy.

They stormed his jeep and carried him on their shoulders through the streets.

Now this is all so far, as you know we can't make a history in one day, just a little by little, but we will finish it before we quit regardless. So for now I must say so long.

With all my love
Elmer

HOME FOR CHRISTMAS—three words that a nation has treasured, will always treasure.

Home for Christmas—a promise made in letters, a promise in joyous reality. It's ringed about with fir and holly, and the glorious aroma of roasting turkey, cranberries, plum pudding, steaming mince pies. It's blessed with kisses, trimmed with love. . . it's engraved on every heart.

And this year, the words themselves have a truer, deeper meaning. The beloved circle of family faces may not be quite complete. But we can hope with you—we can pray with you—we can know with you there'll be another joyous Christmas when all the boys and girls will BE HOME!

FHA RECEIVES FIRST APPLICATION FOR HOME LOAN BY RETURNED VETERAN

The Kentucky Office of the Federal Housing Administration has received its first application for an FHA insured mortgage from a returned veteran who desires to purchase a home with such a loan supplemented by a loan for equity to be insured by the Veterans Administration under the G. I. Bill. It was announced today by Roscoe R. Dalton State Director of the Federal Housing Administration.

"The purchase of a home by a veteran may be the most important financial transaction of a lifetime," said Mr. Dalton. Most of these returned veterans like other Americans will be inexperienced in the intricacies of a real estate transaction. A mistake in the nature of bad buying or over-buying can cause the returned veteran much grief even after he has returned to the "home front." The danger of making such a mistake is especially acute under present market conditions in many areas. The veteran should have all the protection that can be given from everyone involved in the transaction—the broker—the builder—the banker. The Federal Housing Administration with its sound system of unbiased appraisal will do its part.

"The purchase of a home is a genuinely serious business deal for any American family and discharged veterans will be no exception to the rule," Mr. Dalton stated. Veterans are therefore urged to take sufficient time to readjust themselves to the business life of the home community and especially to find employment and an income before attempting to avail themselves of credit facilities provided by the G. I. Bill.

CHICKEN AND SAUSAGE CANNED FOR OVERSEAS

Twenty quarts of chicken and 40 quarts of sausage for overseas boxes were a part of the canning which Mrs. Ed Jelf of the Edith Lawrenceburg Homemakers' Club in Anderson county did this year. Mrs. Jelf, named the champion canner of the county, cans about every day of the year. When it isn't fruit and vegetables, it is meat and poultry she is canning. She not only puts up food for her family of three, but for her three daughters, her neighbors and friends.

To be found on her own storage shelves this winter are 180 quarts of meat, 500 quarts of soup and vegetables, 320 quarts of fruits and fruit juices, 220 quarts of tomatoes and tomato juice 55 pints of pickles and 36 pints of pimentos. For her preserves and jams. Mrs. Jelf uses cane syrup instead of sugar. Her summer squash, sweet potatoes, greens, cucumbers and peppers.

News From The State Capital

Agreement to appoint J. O. Matlick, Louisville, to manage the 1945 State Fair has been reached by the State Fair Board, Agriculture Commissioner Elliott Robertson has announced.

Matlick, a member of the board, expressed a desire to become manager if no statute bans a board member and after the meeting had ended Robertson said he received informal word from Attorney General Eldon S. Dummitt that Matlick legally could serve.

The board voted to retain J. C. Wehrley as assistant manager and Miss Ann McCrocklin as secretary and tentatively decided the fair should be held in Louisville next year September 2-8, ending Saturday night with the horse show finale.

The State Board of Agriculture has adopted a resolution urging appointment of livestock inspectors by fiscal courts in every county of the state. State Agriculture Commissioner Elliott Robertson reported that his lists show only twenty-one of the State's 120 counties have these inspectors, and that they were needed to work with his department's field agents and other officials in preventing disease and in carrying out the board's regulations.

The law requires that the inspectors be named by the Fiscal Courts subject to approval of the board and that the counties shall pay them. Robertson pointed out that they should be veterinarians but if none is available in a county, a leading farmer who knows something about disease of cattle can be chosen. They could be a great help to the livestock sanitary division, and at the least could report outbreaks of disease such as hog cholera and rabies.

In order to accommodate visitors on a year-round basis, Dupont Lodge the official inn at Cumberland Falls State Park, will remain open all winter, Russell Dyche, Director State Parks announced today. Many people are taking advantage of the opportunity to visit Cumberland Falls during the fall and winter holiday periods, Dyche said.

The first goal of the newly organized Kentucky Lake Association will be approval by the Kentucky state legislature of an appropriation for the development of the proposed state park on Kentucky Lake near Eggers Ferry Ridge.

Harold Brownings, Commissioner, Kentucky Department of Conservation, said today that the Tennessee Valley Authority has leased to the State Division of Parks free of charge, the most attractive land along the lake for the park site, but its development into a park will require the expenditure of state funds. Water and sewage disposal systems must be built and many other facilities for the benefit of visitors must be provided.

Hundreds of gardens in Harlan county were covered with green fall crops which supplied food at the same time they provided cover crops.

Great Christmas Carols Work of Inspired Clergy

Since that first Christmas when the angels sang "Glory to God on Highest," music has been a vital part of the holiday season, schools, churches and homes ring with joyous hymns and songs. The first singing of carols in the streets, we are told, was in the year 1224.

When we think of Christmas we think of the pictures we see on Christmas cards of houses almost buried in snow, candles burning in windows, and carolers grouped around a doorway, singing with all their hearts to the distant peal of church bells. Christmas must have been picturesque in those days, no automobiles whizzing by, just the merry jingle of sleigh bells.

"Hark, the Herald Angels Sing" was written in 1730 by Charles Wesley, younger brother of John Wesley, who founded the Methodist denomination, but was not published until 1856. Inspiration for the poem came to Wesley as he walked to church one Christmas morning.

Bishop Phillip Brooks, rector of the Holy Trinity church in Philadelphia, was asked by his Sunday school children to write a Christmas song, so in 1868 he produced "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem." After writing the hymn, he went to the church organist and asked him to furnish a tune. The organist, Lewis H. Redner, says the air came to him in a Christmas dream, and it was finished for the next day's services.

But most beloved of all Christmas music is "Holy Night, Silent Night," written, we are told, by Father Josef Mohr, who found himself without means of music for the Christmas services because mice had eaten the bellows of the church organ. Father Josef was greatly troubled over the calamity, and as he returned from administering rites to a dying woman he stood on a hilltop, at midnight, and it came to him that it must have been just such a silent night that the Christ child was born, so he went home and composed the words to our famous Christmas hymn.

Then, of course, it needed music, so he went to his old schoolmaster, Franz Gruber. And so Franz played his guitar and Father Josef sang a Christmas hymn that will never die. Few think of this lovely hymn without remembering how we watched our radio dial at Christmas time for its rendition by one of the most beloved of singers, Madame Schumann-Heink.

Oh, those were days of simplicity, when rector casting about for suitable Christmas programs turned poets, and organists turned composers to furnish the music, music that goes on forever.

They would, indeed, be gratified if they could hear our present Christmas day programs, pouring out of a little cabinet in the corner, their labors of love have come a long way from that steel guitar and a gentle voice replacing a nibbled bellows, they'd be surprised to learn their flock now does its Christmas shopping to their inspirational tunes.

St. Nick Shied From Attention for His Gifts

The stocking custom is said to have started with St. Nicholas, original of Santa Claus, a Greek bishop, Nicholas of Myra, who lived in the fourth century. He was both generous and shy, and he was thanked for the presents he was continually making to those in need. Once he climbed to a roof top and dropped a purse of gold down the chimney so that he would not be seen. The money, instead of falling in the fire, lodged in a child's stocking that had been hung up to dry on the mantelpiece.

His act became known, and thereafter whenever unexpected gifts came from unknown sources they were attributed to St. Nicholas.

THOMAS E. RYAN

In the sudden and untimely death last week of Thomas E. Ryan, Verona neighborhood lost one of its best loved and most highly respected citizens. About three months ago, he was injured in a fall, from which he never fully recovered.

Mr. Ryan was born, and lived his entire life near Verona. He was the eldest son of Mrs. Kate, and the late Joseph Ryan.

He was one of the most loyal and devoted members of St. Patrick's parish, and his sorrowing family have the great consolation of knowing that he is now enjoying the reward of a life well spent in the service of God.

He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Maddin Ryan, four sons, and four daughters: Hubert, Bernard, and Alfred of Verona and Francis of Dayton, Ohio. Mary Kate, of Illinois Mrs. T. Poland of North Carolina, Irene and Sister Francis William of Melbourne Ky. He also leaves, besides his mother, two brothers, Larry and Charley, and two grandchildren.

The funeral was held on Wednesday morning and the large number of friends and relatives who attended the Requiem Mass, which was celebrated by the pastor, the Rev. John Jobst, gave ample evidence of the high esteem in which Mr. Ryan was held by those who knew him. Interment was in the Catholic Cemetery.

RED CROSS ELECTS OFFICERS AT OPEN MEETING

(Continued from Page 1) in the County to join with the Committee in its present undertaking of furnishing one or two lounge rooms for the convalescent soldiers at Ft. Thomas Hospital.

Mrs. Carroll Cropper reported that the Special Services Committee was now sending five volunteers to Ft. Thomas each Tuesday and one each Saturday to work in the offices. She explained that not all workers had to have special training, and invited all persons interested in helping to register with this Committee.

Mr. F. S. Dixon, Red Cross Field Director, in terpreted the meaning of Red Cross. He said its first duty was to the sick and wounded, and its second duty was to act as a link between the armed forces and the home. He urged that plans for the future be made now, and emphasized that Red Cross was basically a volunteer organization, its strength lying in its chapters, most of which are in small communities.

In Pike county 675 packages of seeds for fall gardens were distributed to 4-H Club members.

Total receipts for the homemakers market in Christian county the past year were $7,180.

More than 500 tobacco growers in Rockcastle county reaped from 100 to 1,500 pounds of tobacco this year.

IN THIS WAR the railroads have done twice as big a transportation job as in the first World War.

But they are doing another job which may not be so well known, as is shown by these contrasting facts:

In the last war, the operation of the railroads took money out of the United States Treasury.

In this one, the railroads are putting money into the Treasury.

In the last war, when the Government took over the railroads, even though freight rates and passenger fares were raised, Congress had to appropriate more than $1,600,000,000 to meet deficits.

In this war, the railroads have been managed by their owners. A far bigger and better transportation job has been done. And, since Pearl Harbor, the railroads have turned into the United States Treasury the tremendous sum of $3,250,000,000 in taxes—and today are paying federal taxes at the rate of nearly $4,250,000 every 24 hours.

And, on top of all this, the railroads in the same months since Pearl Harbor have paid for the support of state, county and city governments another $750,000,000 and are today paying state and local taxes at the rate of $800,000 per day.

That's five million dollars a day paid in taxes—ten times as much as the owners receive in dividends.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of Ora Jane Burden who died, Dec. 22, 1932 and Henry Ellis Burden, who died Dec. 28, 1943.

My life is made sad in the month of December

For it brings back memories I shall always remember;

God came one day and took Mother, so true

And in just eleven years, He called Daddy, too.

I try not to grieve, for I'm sure God knows best.

For their work here is done, and they are at rest;

I shall cherish the years they gave me their love

And I pray we shall meet in that Home up above.

Pick Toy That Will Help Develop Youngster

Safety features, durability, educational and recreational values, attractiveness—these are the factors to consider in selecting a toy, according to Phyllis B. Davis, assistant extension specialist in child development and family relations at the New Jersey college of agriculture, Rutgers university. It is also essential to consider whether the toy is sufficiently advanced for the child, or so far beyond him that he will tire of it before he is old enough to appreciate it.

"A healthy, normal youngster ought to have a year-round diet of play things—it's a definite mistake to confuse and spoil him with a shower of toys at Christmas, when the stress should be on giving rather than on receiving," Mrs. Davis advises parents. "The wiser idea is to give him his toys gradually throughout the year, as he is ready for them and needs them. A young child should have a variety of play things. However, he'll only become distracted, destructive, and disorderly if too many toys are always within his reach. All he needs are a few at a time."

Just as there are different types of toys for each age level, so there are toys that serve different purposes in each age group, Mrs. Davis points out. There are manipulative toys, toys for physical development, balance and skill, toys for dramatic, imaginative play, toys to teach arts and handicrafts, and toys to encourage an interest in nature, science, hobbies and pets. A child needs some of each in the form best adapted to his age level.

Toys for babies should be selected primarily from the standpoint of safety. They should have no sharp edges, no loose parts small enough to be swallowed. Animals with eyes glued or pinned on, toys covered with poisonous paint or made of glass or china are also taboo. The best choice is something that can be washed when it becomes soiled.

Wartime Santa

Santa Claus moves into Orlando, Fla., traveling by tank. It might have been that Santa remembered last winter's threatened meat shortage and feared for the safety of his reindeer.

Proper Signing of Mr. and Mrs. Cards

A perplexing etiquette problem in this season of sending greetings is that of how to sign husband-and-wife Christmas cards.

There are two types of cards, formal and informal. Formal ones are usually engraved as a visiting card would be—with Mr. and Mrs. Informal cards, printed or signed by hand, ordinarily follow this rule: It's best to have the husband's name first, the wife's second and the children's, if any, afterwards. For example, "John and Martha Jones and John Jr." If there are just husband and wife, the person signing the card writes his or her name second.

Never send a card without a Mr., Mrs. or Miss Prefixed to the name of the person addressed; never use an initial for the first name.

Early Christmas

There is no mention of a Christian observance of December 25 as Christmas before the fifth century. There is, in fact, no record to indicate what date Jesus was born. Various researchers have set the day as January 6, March 25, May 20, April 19 and November 17. In order to win Christian converts away from their observance of the pagan mid-winter festival, early churchmen induced them to observe the birth of Christ Jesus at that time instead. Thus in time December 25 came to be established as Christmas.

Was Hael!

The forerunner of today's Christmas aggro, "Was Hael!" (from "Was Hael!"—"Your Health!") was inherited from the early Saxons of fair Lady Rowena's day. The ambrosial concoction itself, served from a large, gold, silver, porcelain or turnedwood "green-glass" vessel, was a rich wine, spiced and sweetened and with roasted apples floating on its top. "Was Hael!" was "apple-toddy" in our early Colonial homes.

332 FARM RESERVOIRS CONSTRUCTED IN 1944

Two hundred thirty-five Boone County farmers in 1944 had a total of 332 farm reservoirs constructed at a total of $39,840.00, according to H. R. Forkner, county agent. This year marks the years greatest progress in the county's farm reservoir building program started six year ago.

The program is continuing with thirteen bulldozers and one drag line now available for operation in the county. All farmers desiring services should be able to secure custom equipment in the near future.

More than one thousand reservoirs or ponds have been constructed since the start of water supply improvement program.

Farm reservoirs or ponds have proven the cheapest and most practical source of improved water supply. Many farmers are constructing special watering trough and piping water to their dairy barns.

The farm reservoir construction program started six years ago as an Agricultural Extension improvement project has received the active support of J. C. Acree, Soil Conservationist and of the local Soil Conservation district. This work has saved local farmers thousands of dollars through the selection of improved sites and in training both farmers and operators in principles of construction of water tight cores through dams and types of dams and spillways necessary for successful farm reservoirs.

LADY'S STOMACH WAS LIKE A GAS FACTORY; MEALS TURNED TO GAS

One lady said recently that her stomach used to be like a gas factory! That is, when she ate a meal it seemed to turn right into gas. She was always bloated, had awful stomach gas pains, daily headaches and constant irregular bowel action. Now, however, this lady says she is FREE OF STOMACH GAS and she says the change is due to taking ERB-HELP. Her meals agree with her. No gas or bloating after eating. Headaches and constipation are gone. "Oh! what relief!" states this lady. "Why don't other gas and constipation sufferers get Erb-Help?"

PULLETS LAY WELL

Noah Reece of Adair county was getting an average of 30 eggs a day from 68 pullets by the middle of November. They were fed a laying mash, mixed grain and oyster shell, and kept in a roomy laying house built two years ago from plans furnished by the county agent. Fed a balanced ration, some of the pullets began laying when 4½ months old.

PRECOOKING URGED IN HOME CANNING OF MEAT

All kinds of meat can be preserved by canning, provided the home-maker uses care and exactness. Meat should be precooked before packing in glass jars. Precooking browns, shrinks, and develops a better flavor and heats the meat, according to Mary Hood Gillaspie, Home Demonstration Agent. The jar is much easier cleaned when meat is precooked rather than placing raw meat in the jar.

Farm housewives may have a variety of meat throughout the year by canning several kinds of meat during the winter season. Beef, pork, lamb and chicken are all good meat for home canning.

Enough time should be allowed between killing and canning for the carcass to be thoroughly cooled. Meat canned from a well cooled carcass always has a better flavor. Beef, veal, pork and lamb should be wiped with a clean, damp cloth before canning. Housewives usually remove the bones (except in chicken, spare-ribs, and small game) to make it easier to pack the meat in jars. Frozen meat does not make the best quality of canned product.

One pound of meat is allowed to each pint. Pieces should be cut suitable for canning before precooked. Precooking may be accomplished by browning in a skillet on top of the stove or in the oven. If one is canning a large quantity of meat, some can be browned in the oven and some on top at the same time. The meat should only be nicely browned before placing in jars, this requires 5 to 10 minutes.

A bulletin on "Home Canning of Meats" may be obtained from the Home Demonstration Agent's Office, Burlington 412.

1945 CENSUS TO START JANUARY 8th

R. D. Adams, Area Supervisor for taking the 1945 Census advised the County Agent's Office Monday that field workers will start taking the Census in Boone County on January 8th. He urged farmers be advised that Census information supplied by individuals have no connection whatever with taxes and are used to supply Census information as required by law. Farmers are urged to give as accurate as possible information so that a true picture of the overall agricultural situation will be presented.

Mr. Adams further advised that he has need for a number of enumerators or Census takers for Boone County. Those who would be interested in employment in this work should contact him by mail at Warsaw, Kentucky, Box 208.

The first trench silo in Grant county was built this fall by R. M. Lucas and filled with late corn and cane.

RECORD PRODUCTION FOR BROTHER, SISTER

Many a meal will be enjoyed by the Jewell family in Hickman county this winter because of the combined efforts of a brother and sister, W. A. and Mary Queen Jewell both of whom are 4-H Club members. In a garden 200 by 200 feet, W. A. grew a variety of 45 vegetables from which he sold more than $256 worth. Mary Queen put up 1,282 quarts of vegetables, fruits and meats, canning not only for her family, but for her neighbors as well. In addition she prepared meals and kept house during her mother's illness last summer. Both W. A. and Mary Queen were winners in the district 4-H achievement rally day at Paducah.

Mrs. W. L. Harrell of Grayson county displayed at the annual homemakers' meeting a variety of 28 vegetables, all of which she had grown.

CHRISTIAN LIVING AT ITS BEST

LESSON TEXT—Galatians 5:22-23:10.
GOLDEN TEXT—If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit—Galatians 5:25.

Life and profession must be in accord. To follow Christ means more than embracing a creed, or following a ritual; it calls for daily living of the highest type.

Herein Christianity differs from all other religions. It is a living faith in a living Lord—which produces a living testimony. Such a life is:

I. Spiritual (Gal. 5:22-23).

The Christian receives his new life through the ministering of the Holy Spirit. Since that is true, "let us also walk by the Spirit" (v. 25). Every child of God (not just a few, as some suppose) is to live this kind of spiritually fruitful life.

The works of the flesh, horrible in their wickedness and lust, are listed in verses 19-21, and then by striking contrast we have the fruit of the Spirit in the life of the Christian. Note the distinction: work is something we produce; fruit is something that grows.

Walking in the Spirit the Christian finds in his life the inward graces of love, joy, and peace. These then express themselves outwardly in long suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, and self-control. The Spirit-filled man is not only a good man, he lives a good life.

II. Gentle (Gal. 6:1).

Christianity is not harsh and unforgiving toward one who has sinned. Certainly there can be nothing but stern condemnation of continued, flagrant, impenitent sinning. But toward the one who has failed, the winsome attitude of loving restoration should be the first reaction.

There is good reason for this, for God is kind, and Christ would not quench the smoking flax (Matt. 12:20). Then who are we, weak and fallible human beings, to treat an erring brother with hardness?

III. Kind (Gal. 6:2-5).

We are to help the brother in need, lift his burden and bear it for him (v. 2). At the same time we do not go around expecting anyone to bear your burden (v. 5). Ask God for grace and bear it yourself. If your brother helps you—good. If not, do not be offended. Too many Christians expect others to help.

Then there is the need for kindness in thinking of oneself, and one's neighbor. Pride is self-deception (v. 3). It puts God against us (James 4:6). We will have no time or occasion to judge our neighbor if we honestly appraise our own life (v. 4).

IV. Honorable (v. 6).

While the Christian will not be seeking any glory or reward for himself, he will always be honorable in caring for those who serve him in the gospel. Salvation is free, and no true preacher or teacher of the gospel would set a price on it. But the necessities of life must be provided, and it is the obligation of the one who is served to "communicate" of that which he has to his teaching brother.

It need hardly be said that if the church had obeyed this and similar admonitions found in many places in Scripture, we should not have the disgrace of an underpaid ministry, of an understaffed church, and of missionaries waiting to go with no money to send them. Let us be honorable about this matter.

V. Consistent (Gal. 6:7, 8).

There is an inexorable law which brings only the harvest which is planted. Too many Christians are trying to reap the fruit of spirituality when they have sown only the seed of indifference and worldliness. It can't be done!

Self will is always struggling against God's will in the life of the Christian. Sowing to the flesh means yielding to self. And the result? Corruption. Yes, even in the life of a Christian. How much there is of that, and how it hinders God's work!

There is here the important truth that the one who sows to the Spirit reaps eternal life. That speaks of salvation itself, but it also speaks of spiritual development.

VI. Diligent (Gal. 6:9, 10). It has been said that we have three classes in the church—workers, jerkers and shirkers. The shirker does nothing. One wonders whether he is really saved, since there is no sign of life. The worker is the one upon whom one can always depend. The jerker is the one who takes hold mightily, and then is gone when you most need him.

Christian living at its best calls for consistent, persistent, diligent application to the work of God—not only today, but tomorrow, and the next day, and the next!

Note the suggestion of special thoughtfulness toward our fellow Christians (v. 10). Some folk operate on the opposite principle. They treat their fellow believers with a little extra coldness—a special degree of suspicion and criticism. That surely is not Christian living at its best.

Play Safe

According to the best authorities, the minimum daily A, D and B Complex Vitamin requirements of the average person are: A, 4,000 USP Units, D, 400 USP Units, B1, 233 USP Units, B2, 2,000 Micrograms, and approximately 16,000 Micrograms Nicotinamide. The required amounts for other B Complex Vitamins have not yet been established.

It was Christmas Eve, 1914, between Armentiers and Arras, while Gordon Highlanders huddled in trenches when somebody remembered the day.

"Jim, let's sing," one said to Private James Sutherland-Watt of Norfolk, Va.

Jim pleaded off, but someone else started "Silent Night, Holy Night," and soon Jim and the whole Scot regiment had joined in.

When the last refrain subsided, from the opposite trenches arose other voices - at first in "Silent Night." Then all night long Christmas carols rang from trench to trench in strange tongues while cannon and flares from other sectors lit the sky.

At the customary "zero" hour, the British soldiers saw gray-clad figures making their way out of the opposite trenches. A few shots were fired. Then it was seen that the Germans carried no arms. Scots leaped from their trenches, likewise unarmed, only to be ordered back.

Reindeer Often Figure in Northern Myth and Legend

Reindeer figure often in northern myth and folklore. One version of the legend of Wayland, the smith, Wayland and his two brothers leave Finland for the south on their reindeer-drawn sleighs. The mountain elves try to stop them and Wayland's brothers lash their reindeer to force them by the elves. Angry because the three are deserting their homes, but even more because of the blows given the patient deer, the elves curse the two brothers, singing:

"Because Slaghd struck his reindeer Because Elgel struck his reindeer Our hatred shall follow you."

Wayland they also curse for leaving Finland, but because "he struck not his reindeer" the curse is milder. The two brothers die violently and tragically, but Wayland, after many troubles, wins back the wife he had lost and becomes the "Smith of the Gods."

Cave of the Nativity

Now Religious Christ

The "stable" in which Christ was born does not conform to the modern conception of the word.

In Biblical times, places of shelter were hewn in rocky ledges. Jewish travelers, frequently housed in such caves, welcomed joint tenancy with beasts because of the extra warmth provided by animals' bodies.

The birthplace of Jesus was such a cave. Now a grotto beneath Bethlehem's Church of the Nativity, the entire surface has been elaborately ornamented. Pilgrims to the shrine often wish, nonetheless reverently, that its original simplicity might have been preserved in which eternal stars "Looked down where He lay The little Lord Jesus Asleep in the hay."

Influenced Customs

The Germans, perhaps more than any other colonists, influenced Christmas customs in the United States, which celebrates Christmas more extensively than any other. Our concept of Santa Claus is wholly from Germany, and the Christmas tree in the home is another custom that came over with German emigrants in the last century.

In Dance Measure

Christmas carols were in dance measure at first. The word carol comes from "corolla," a ring, because the song was for a ring dance.

Old Custom

Christmas caroling was a thriving custom in England of the fourth century.

Yule Log

From pagan Scandinavian worship of Thor comes the Yule log, lighted with a brand from last year's log.

Carrollton Market Has High Weekly Average of $47.72

The highest weekly average $47.72 for the first week of sales on Kentucky burley markets was established at Carrollton, according to figures released by the State Department of Agriculture.

A total of 3,471,669 pounds were sold at the Carrollton warehouses. Cynthiana's average of $46.97 was second highest in the state.

The state average was $44.52 on the sale of $2,547,835 pounds of leaf throughout Kentucky for $23,395,475.73 during the first week, which the State Department said saw extremely heavy sales.

In comparison with last week, the statewide average shows a $2.14 decrease for the first week. However, an increase of 23,229,892 is seen in the volume of sales. An average of $46.66 was recorded as 29,317,943 pounds of leaf were sold for $13,679,697.32 last year.

An average of $45.56 was established at Covington in the sale of 713,654 pounds of Burley last week for $325,139.51.

Mayville had the largest first week in its 36 years of sales. A total of 5,029,074 pounds of tobacco was sold for $229,607.68, and at an average of $44.31.

The Lexington market, largest in the state, disposed of 11,940,160 pounds during the five days of selling last week for an average price of $46.50.

The War Food Administration in its weekly news report on burley sales throughout the nation, said that around 15 per cent of the crop was marketed the first week. This figure was based on the estimated 1944 production of 488,000,000 pounds, which is the largest crop on record.

IN PACIFIC

James R. Reed, seaman second class, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Reed of Independence, is somewhere in the South Pacific.

Seaman Reed, who received his boat training at Great Lakes is a graduate of Florence High School.

MORNING VIEW GIRL NOW WITH SPARS

Evelyn V. McCay, yeoman third class, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forney McCay, of Morning View, Ky. is now serving with the SPARS at the U. S. Coast Guard Barracks, Washington, D. C.

A graduate of Simon Kenton High School, Independence, Yeoman McCay is believed to be the first northern Kentuckian to join the SPARS. She was an employee of the Crosley Corp., Cincinnati, prior to her entering this service.

Ensign Day Killed In Plane Crash

Mrs. Sallie Day of 19 Edwards Ave. received message late Saturday that her son Ensign James G. Day U. S. N. R. had been instantly killed in a plane crash at Oxnard, California where he was completing training as a pilot. He was a member of the Navy Hell-Cat Squad and had been stationed at Oxnard for the past two months.

Ensign Day received his wings at Corpus Christi, Texas in June 15th, 1944.

He graduated from New Haven High School in 1940 and was a young man of excellent qualities.

He leaves his mother Mrs. Sallie Day, two sisters Mrs. Lawrence Madden of Walton and Mrs. John Paris of Lexington, two brothers, Hubert Day of Beaver Lick and William Day of Miami, Fla.

This community greatly sympathizes with this family in their great loss.

WILLING WORKERS MEET

The Willing Workers Class held its December meeting and Christmas party in the home of their teacher Mr. C. W. Ransler and Mrs. Ransler.

Following a delicious covered dish supper, featuring turkey and all the trimmings, a short business session was called to order with the president, Mrs. W. W. Rouse presiding.

Rev. George S. Caroland conducted the devotional.

The business meeting was adjourned and all members present.

One Friend To Another...

It's good a friend . . . as the good old city knew, or any other good old city, town or borough, in the good old world"—A Christmas Carol.

These words of Charles Dickens express exactly what this newspaper tries to be to the people of this community.

Because it is during the season of Christmas that the strength of friendships is most evident we choose now as the time to express our resolve to continue to be worthy of the friendship you have shown us.

In turn we wish for you the most Merry Christmas you have ever had. Despite the anxiety and worry which the war has brought to many of our homes in the past year, we urge you to remember that the bells of Christmas were ringing long before the warriors of wrong rose up and they will be ringing still when the scars of this generation's conflict are healed and forgotten.

Make faith in such thought your closest companion during this Christmas season.

Let friendship and faith then keynote our Christmas this year.

With such solid foundations our wish for you is certain to become reality—

A Merry Christmas

CPL. ELSTON NOW WITH ENGINEERS

Cpl. Sherrill Elston, husband of Mrs. Alberta Elston, of Independence, Mo., recently arrived in France for service with the Army Engineers.

He has been in the Army since Oct. 7, 1943, and he received his basic training at Camp Claiborne, La.

Before entering service he was employed at the Formica Insulation Co., Cincinnati. He is the father of a daughter, Sherry Lee.

Pvt. Edward L. Pennington

Pvt. Edward L. Pennington, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Pennington of Walton.

Pvt. Pennington is now stationed in Camp Shelby, Miss. with the Infantry. He took his Basic training at Fort Riley, Kansas. He entered the service March 1944.

Pvt. Pennington attended the Walton Verona High School and was an outstanding member of the basketball team.

Bearcats Lose Two During Past Week

The Bearcats of Walton-Verona have taken two straight defeats in the last week. The first was from Simon-Kenton Pioneers who won by the score of 47 to 42. This was one of the best games of the season, with the result in doubt right down to the last.

The second defeat came Tuesday night at the hands of Burlington there. Burlington took advantage of a badly injured Bearcat team and trimmed them 30 to 25.

The next game will be with Dry Ridge on January 10th at Dry Ridge. The first home game will be Simon-Kenton on January 18th.

Sgt. Stanley R. Allen U. S. M. C.

Sgt. Stanley R. Allen U. S. M. C. age 23, entered the Marines in July 1944.

He took his Basic Training at New River, North Carolina and Parris Island, South Carolina.

Sgt. Allen has been stationed in the South West Pacific with the Marines for 22 months.

OPERA IN EAST SUNG BY BOONE COUNTIAN

A Boone countian was one of the singers as the Opera Department of the Julliard School of Music in New York presented four recent performances of "Don Pasquale" in the Concert Hall there.

He is Robert Young, of Union, who sang the role of the notary.

Sgt. McElroy Killed In Action in Europe

The entire community was saddened Monday morning when Mrs. Hazel McElroy received a message from her son S-Sgt. Lloyd De Shay McElroy had been killed in action in Germany on December 4th.

Sgt. McElroy was 22 years of age. He was a graduate of Walton-Verona High School, and a student of Georgetown College. He was one of Walton's finest young men and a member of the Walton Baptist Church.

He went into the service two years ago and received his training at Camp Dorn, Miss. had been overseas for the past 2 1/2 months.

He leaves his mother, Mrs. Hazel McElroy, a sister, Emma Lou McElroy and three brothers Gayle, who is at present employed at Wright Aeronautical Plant, Lockland, Ohio. Lt. Stanley Lee McElroy who has just completed special training at Liberal, Kansas, and a younger brother Eugene McElroy.

CHRISTMAS SERVICE AT CONCORD BAPTIST CHURCH

The Christmas service at Concord Baptist Church next Sunday evening will be one of special beauty and interest. There will be a variety of music, devotional messages, and pageantry. Everybody is cordially invited to worship with us. The church will fill early, so note the opening hour.

The pageant to be given was presented about ten years ago at Concord and some of the people who played parts then will appear in the same roles this time. These are presenting their parts with a deep spirit of gratitude to God for letting them live and serve Him the past decade.

There will be a white-robed choir of about thirty-five voices. A closing note of patriotism will be sounded. The entire service will be deeply spiritual and a very worthwhile experience for all, both audience and participants.

Remember the date and hour, Sunday December 24—7:30 p. m. A welcome always awaits you at Concord.

WALTON WITHOUT WATER

Residents of Walton were without water Tuesday and Wednesday following the breaking of a large water main at Main Street and Verona Road. City schools were closed.

John Stephenson, city water supervisor, said workmen were trying to repair the break as soon as possible. Many homes are without heat due to lack of water.

NO ADVERTISER NEXT WEEK; OFFICE CLOSED

As has been the custom for the past few years, we will suspend publication next week. This being the only chance that the editor and family have of a vacation. The Advertiser office will be closed the entire week starting Christmas Day. We wish everyone the very best of everything during this holiday season!

Boone Misses Quota By Only $64,084; Reason Given

The final report of the Sixth War Loan Drive in Boone County shows 898 subscriptions for a grand total of $414,981.00, which is $64,084.00 short of the quota of $479,065.00. A number of people in the county stood ready to make up this shortage but the Federal Reserve Bank, through which all subscriptions are cleared, would not accept the subscriptions. Neighboring counties in the greater Cincinnati area were able to raise their quotas by reason of large subscriptions being entered by corporations, regardless of the fact that they were owing large sums of money. Boone County was denied this same privilege to individuals and therefore our quota was not raised, because few corporations are located within our boundary.

Subscriptions of banks do not count on quotas.

Subscriptions to Series E, F and G bonds through this month will continue to count on the drive.

The Chairman desires to thank all members of the County committee and their workers for their splendid work in this drive and to have them know that the only reason our goal was not reached was because of the unfair ruling of the Treasury Department in an agricultural county like Boone.

WALTON-PENNINGTON ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Walton of Upper Sandusky, Ohio announce the engagement of their charming daughter Garland to Pvt. Edward Leon Pennington of Camp Shelby, Miss.

Miss Walton is a graduate of Sycamore High School, Sycamore, Ohio and of Triffin University, Triffin, Ohio. She is now employed in a secretarial position in the Procurement Branch of the Dayton Signal Corp. Procurement District, Dayton, Ohio.

Pvt. Pennington is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Pennington of Walton, Ky. He is now stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss. with the Infantry.

Pvt. Pennington is a popular member of the younger set of Walton and will be remembered as an outstanding member of the Walton-Verona basketball team.

Cpl. Bill L. McGladdery

Cpl. Bill L. McGladdery is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hansford McGladdery of Walton, Ky.

This picture was sent to the Editor from the Army Air Field at Harlingen, Texas stating that Cpl. McGladdery has received his Aerial Gunner Wings.

Hearty and cheery
And happy and true,
An ever so fervent Merry Christmas to

when beaming faces tell that Christmas is very, very near, we are reminded again of the supreme value of friendship. He who has no friends, though he may have amassed a fortune, cannot be happy.

We have many friends in this area—friends from many years back as well as friends who have become friends during this past year. These friendships are a great source of pride and happiness to us.

Xmas Tree Selling Grows Into Million Dollar Industry

The Christmas tree trade has progressed from the stage when the householder cut his own tree to a well-organized million-dollar industry.

The most popular species of tree for Christmas use is the Balsam fir which ordinarily accounts for about 60 per cent of the total Yuletide demand; spruce accounts for about 25 per cent and Douglas fir 10 per cent. New England and New York State shippers market their trees in New York city, Boston, Philadelphia, Washington and other important eastern cities. Trees cut in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota are sold in Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis and other large cities of the Middle West. Oregon, Washington and California ship their trees (Douglas fir) to points on the Pacific coast and as far south as Tucson, Ariz., and Austin, Texas. In recent years appreciable numbers of Douglas fir trees have been sold in Chicago and even in eastern markets.

Most Important Market.

New York city, which is by far the most important market for Christmas trees requires about 250 carloads annually. About two-thirds of the New York demand has normally been supplied by Canadian shippers who also send large numbers of trees to Boston, Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago.

The carload lot Christmas tree business in the principal cities is generally handled by two or three jobbers or wholesalers who in turn sell to retailers. However, in many instances small growers of trees such as farmers, market their own trees and largely supplement the local supply. In recent years there has been a definite trend toward tree standardization. Tags attached to the trees identify the distributor and show height class.

Foresters recognize the Christmas season as a boon to the economic practice of forestry, provided the trees are cut without excessive waste and in such a manner as to keep the land continuously productive. Properly done, the harvesting of Christmas trees is sustained timber yield on a miniature scale. The cutting of Christmas trees on many forest areas allows which growth would otherwise be wasted. In other instances the use of some marginal land for the growing of a Christmas tree crop yields a profitable income, especially as a side line for farmers in many parts of the country.

Christ's Christmas Tree Concealed Holy Family

Mary, forced to rest during the Flight into Egypt, sought refuge within the hollow trunk of a huge pine tree.

Towards evening when the soldiers of Herod approached, the tree lowered its branches and concealed the Holy Family.

The Infant Jesus blessed the old pine and, according to legend, by cutting a pine cone lengthwise, we may still see the imprint of His hand.

Appeal For Volunteers

An appeal is being made to the women of Boone County, through the Red Cross to volunteer for work and service at the Ft. Thomas Army Air Force Convalescent Hospital.

The work consists, at the present, of general clerical work, filling, checking cataloging books, reception desk, etc.

We would be glad to have women with a knowledge of typing but it is not essential. Miss Wagner, the Red Cross Field Director at the Hospital, prefers accuracy to speed, and the work is not hard. No matter what you can do, they need you. Boone County has promised to send a group of volunteers each Tuesday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. and each Saturday afternoon.

As soon as the hospital is fully established there will be more we can do, as they expect to have a thousand boys by Christmas. Later we may be called to assist in Canteen work, which will be to serve lunch meals, buffet suppers, or lunches on special occasions.

We are told that a Red Cross chapter is only as strong as its volunteers, so register now in this very fine and vital work. Write or telephone Wednesday or Saturday morning from 9 until 12 noon or Monday, Tuesday or Saturday evenings from 6:30 to 8:30 p. m.

If you write, please give information about what you are best suited to do.

Mrs. Elizabeth Goodridge Nestor, Florence, Ky., Chairman, Special Volunteer Services, Telephone Florence 84.

There will be a Christmas dinner at the Verona School House Friday evening, December 29th. Serving to start at 6 o'clock.

The dinner is sponsored by the Verona Homemakers' Club to aid the Boone County Camp and Hospital Service in furnishing a room at the A. A. F. Convalescent Hospital at Pt. Thomas.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SALE SHORT

The Boone County sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals is way short of the goal according to a statement just issued by R. V. Lents, chairman of the committee in charge of the sales. Before the sale began, 800 was the goal set, and according to Mr. Lents' reports from other committeemen the goal is 40% short.

Mr. Lents stated further that unless a spurge of purchasers of the seals send their dollars to him that the program of the Boone County Tuberculosis Association would be badly jeopardized. "The organization is now spending more than $3 a day to aid tubercular patients in the county, and with the funds on hand this cannot be kept up long," he said.

If you have not already done so send the money to pay for the seals that were mailed to you in late November. Also buy seals from the school children.

OUR FARM NEWS

4-H BOY OBSERVES FARMING OVERSEAS

Roger Souder, Grant county 4-H Club boy, writes that he is using every chance to observe farming in foreign lands. He spent several afternoons and evenings with a farmer near his camp in England. He was especially impressed by the up-to-date methods on English farms. In France Roger was surprised with the productiveness and beauty of the countryside.

HYBRID CORN WINS 4-H CHAMPIONSHIP

Growing hybrid corn which averaged 65 bushels to the acre, and which produced a third more than an open-pollinated variety, won for David Begley of the Hyden 4-H club in Leslie county the championship at the district 4-H achievement contest at Quicksand. David grew 12 acres of Ky. 102 yellow hybrid corn.

In preparation for it he turned under a cover crop, added 3,000 pounds of phosphate and used two tons of barnyard manure on some of the less fertile spots on his field.

BOY'S LONG HOURS BRING HIM HONOR

Harold Wayne, 4-H Club member of Robertson county, worked 1,941 hours in his labor service project, carrying off the district championship at Morehead. Harold worked in a hatchery where 70,000 chicks were hatched, grew 14 acres of tobacco, milked two cows twice daily, cared for a flock of 50 breeding ewes fed five hogs, raised 1,400 chicks from which 550 laying hens were saved, harvested hay, cleared bushes from 18 acres of ground and helped cut fuel with a cross-cut saw for three days.

BURLEY ACREAGE IN PURCHASE INCREASES

A recent survey shows that almost 4,000 acres of burley tobacco are now grown by more than 500 farmers west of the Tennessee river in Kentucky, most of the burley being grown in Ballard and McCracken counties. With a large part of the tobacco being marketed in Hopkinsville, Louisville and Athens, Tenn., Farm Agent Joe Hurt of McCracken county says growers are becoming alarmed about getting trucks to haul their crops to such distant markets.

Robert Shaw, manager of the Henry Fisher farm in Jefferson county, reports that only 15 pigs were lost from 15 litters farrowed on sloping floors.

FARROWS FALL PIGS IN BROODER HOUSES

Brooder houses are made to do double duty, on the farm of W. E. Dudley in Aror county, by using them for farrowing pigs in the fall when there are no chickens in them. The only thing done to them is to place a guard rail around the inside, about 10 inches from the floor where the pigs can keep from being crushed. R. B. Rankin, county agent commends the idea to all farmers who raise fall pigs.

CITY-REARED GIRL ENJOYS 4-H CLUBS

Born in New York and living most of her life in large cities, Marna Perry, 13, spoke of the annual meeting at the Oldham County Homemakers' Association on the joy of being a 4-H Club girl and living in the country. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Perry, Oldham county.

"Living in the country would not be complete without 4-H Club work," she said. "Club work gives you a pattern to live by. It touches all parts of country life and makes it more interesting, stimulating and worthwhile."

Heavy yields of corn have been reported by a large number of farmers in Trigg county, many yields approaching 100 bushels to the acre.

Miss Viola Clarkson, Casey county 4-H Club canning champion and district winner, canned 1,037 quarts of fruits and vegetables last summer.

What Was Legend of Star in the East?

"The New Testament does not guide us in attempting to identify the 'Christmas star,'" Dr. Dinmore Alter, director of the Griffith observatory, Los Angeles, Calif., states.

"We know what the heavens appeared like 2,000 years ago and there is only one reasonable theory for the announcement of the Wise Men, who said, in Matthew 11, 2:

"Where is He that is born King of the Jews, for we have seen His star in the east and are come to worship him?"

"In B. C., there was a grouping of three planets—Jupiter, Saturn and Mars—which might have provided the ancients with their long-awaited sign of the Nativity."

"One year earlier—7 B. C.—Jupiter, Saturn and Venus were similarly grouped."

"What makes the astronomer pause at accepting this theory is the passage in Matthew which reads, 'The star went before them.' That, many scientists assume, must have been a psychological rather than an actual visual impression."

Mince Pies Were Symbolic Of Magi's Visit to Manger

The Christmas mince pie had a Christian symbolism in the beginning. The pies represented the gold, frankincense and myrrh brought by the Three Wise Men to the manger; the crust symbolized the gold, and the mixture of spices the frankincense and myrrh. Originally the pies were made oblong and followed the shape of the manger.

There was a superstition that there was no luck in store for the man or woman who did not eat a mince pie at Christmas. To eat one, it was believed, was to be sure of having at least one happy month. To enjoy a year of happiness, a person had to eat one pie on each of the twelve days after Christmas.

Late Christmas

There are still millions of Christians who observe January 6 or January 7 as Christmas. They allow for the 12 days difference in the old calendar and the new. The Eastern Orthodox observes January 7. In North Carolina one church group observes January 8, as do a number of other sects.

Theme Changes

The Nativity theme in Christmas carols gave way to the sentiment: "Bring us in good ale."

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for December 24

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

THE GROUND OF UNIVERSAL JOY

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:8-12; Hebrews 1:1-4; 1 John 1:1-4.
GOLDEN TEXT—Behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all the people.—Luke 2:10.

What would you like for Christmas? Could anything be better than to find for your heart and mind that spiritual safety, certainty, and joy which transforms life? Well, that is exactly what Jesus came to bring mankind. It was the first Christmas gift, and it is the best gift this year too.

I. Safety (Luke 2:8-12). Men need deliverance from their sin. They needed it when Christ came. They need it today. They must have a safe refuge, one in which they may rest secure.

All the efforts of this world to meet man's need are vain. As Joseph Parker put it: "The world did not want an adviser. The world had advised itself almost into hell. The world did not ask for a speculator. Everything that man could do had been done, and men sat in the darkness of their own wisdom. The world did not want a reformer, a man who could change his outward and transient relations, an engineer that would continually devote his time to the readjustment of the wheels and the pulleys and the various mechanical forces of society. The world wanted a saviour."

Jesus came as Saviour. The good tidings revealed to the faithful shepherds were to be "of great joy to all people" because they presented the One who could bring them redemption from sin.

That revelation is ready to be made again this Christmas, and as it came to the shepherds at their work in the field, so it may come to you on the battlefield, in camp, in the air, under the sea, in the kitchen, the factory—yes, anywhere. We rightly go to our churches to worship on Christmas Day, but let us remember that Christ is everywhere, seeking each one—yes, knocking at your door. Will you let Him in? Then you will have Christmas indeed!

II. Certainty (Heb. 1:1-4). God has spoken through the centuries in the messages of many faithful servants. We do well to give heed to God's Word through them. But after all they were only servants. This message of redemption is so vital and fundamental that God sent His Son, Himself the Redeemer, to declare it.

How final, and definite, and blessed is that truth. The heir of all the eternal glories of God the Father, and Himself the effulgence (or the shining forth) of the glory of God, has spoken God's last word—His certain word—about redemption from sin.

We all know how full of uncertainty the world is, how our own minds are distressed by the very uncertainty of countless things about us. What a precious gift from God to realize anew the absolute certainty we have in Christ. He came to save, to satisfy, and to keep us.

Note that He has all the needed authority and power to carry out His loving purpose (vv. 3, 4). He who "made purification of sins" for us to believe, is divine. He has all power. He is glorious beyond our ability to describe. He is God. We can rest in perfect assurance in His redemption.

III. Enjoyment (1 John 1:1-4). "God knew the need of man for real joy if life was to be pleasant and profitable. Being a Christian was never intended to be a somber, doleful business. No, indeed. "These things we write," says John, "that our joy may be made full."

What did he write? By inspiration of the Holy Spirit he wrote of Christ, "the Word of life." He had seen and known Him, the Redeemer. He had fine and uplifting fellowship with Him, and declares that we too (as believers) share in that fellowship.

One of the bright and glad things about the Christmas season is our fellowship with our family and friends. It brightens the whole holiday season. How much more delightful is the fact that we have fellowship with the Father and with His Son, Jesus Christ."

The "Word" really "makes" Christmas! Many will be separated from family and friends this year, but Christ is there, and they may have the most precious of all friends with them. The empty place around the family table will be filled (if we wish) by the Lord Himself. Let's keep Christmas with Him as the unseen but nonetheless real Guest. In fact, let us do even more than that, let us count Him into the intimate fellowship of our family circle (and two can make such a circle). That is what He wants to be—to you and to me—this Christmas Day, 1944.

May his joy be yours in full measure. That is the wish of the writer of these lines, and it goes from his heart to the very last reader who may be in the uttermost part of the earth. A blessed Christmas to you!

Chimp Christmas.

The two performing chimpanzees of the Philadelphia zoo are guests each year at a Christmas party. Here one of them finds that the apples and carrots decorating the tree are very tasty. One of the chimps plays Santa Claus at the annual affair.

Serving of Boar's Head

One of Old Yule Customs Of the customs that grew up around the Christmas festival in Merrie England, the serving of the boar's head was one of the most stirring. It endures to this day at Queen's college, Oxford, where the 60-pound tusked head—a lemon in its grinning jaws—is borne in on a great silver dish, escorted by trumpeters and candle bearers. It is served up with a wonderful flourish of music and mustard at the high table where sit the dons.

In the olden days there was an appropriate chant, half carol and half ritual, that the gentlemen used to bellow at the moment the dish touched the board:

Then set down the vineyard,
The fig to the vineyard,
Let Bacchus crown his fall.
Let this boar's head and mustard
Stand for pig, goose and custard,
And so ye are welcome all.

God Rest Ye...

God rest ye merry, gentlemen,
Let nothing you dismay,
For Jesus Christ, our Savior,
Was born upon this day.
To save us all from Satan's power
When we were gone astray,
O, tidings of comfort and joy,
For Jesus Christ, our Savior,
Was born on Christmas day.

AS WE APPROACH the beloved anniversary of a great Event we are reminded again of the many Christmas seasons we have seen come and go. Time has changed everything except friendship.

We are proud of the fact that we number among our customers many of the town's "oldest inhabitants"—friends who have become dearer to us with the passing years.

Once again we say Merry Christmas to all.

The Season of Christmas

EVER THAT SAME STAR

★ The wise men saw it over the hills of old Judea... it glows in the Christmas sky tonight, though clouds may obscure the heavens. It is a beacon of hope in a world in which there is ever so much room for improvement. Its spirit travels around this earth, encouraging, sustaining, and beautifying.

Our Christmas greeting to every man, woman and child in this community... a greeting as warm and hearty—we hope—as if it were made to each in person with a friendly smile and a shake of the hand.

Merry Christmas!

WHAT stancher tree than the oak, and what stancher friends than ours? Each year at Christmastime we realize more keenly than ever that our success in this community is deeply rooted in the firm soil of friendship. We cannot tell you in so many words how much these friendly associations mean to us, and how we cherish them. But we know you will understand.

In this spirit of appreciation we send our sincere good Christmas wishes to you and to all these dear to you.

Fiber Glass Leg Found Strong and Durable

Artificial arms and legs, half fiber glass and half plastic, have been developed to replace the lost limbs of American soldiers. These are literally glass limbs, since the fiber glass, with strands so fine they are singly invisible, impart most of the unusual and desirable qualities.

A fiber glass leg is strong, with a tensile strength of nearly 40,000 pounds per square inch. A glass leg is said never to squeak. It holds bolts and metal attachments firmly, and doesn't get out of line.

Having great resistance to termites and other insects, to water, body acids, surface wear and changes of heat and cold, they can be given plastic coatings to simulate the color and texture of flesh.

An advantage is the speed of molding to shape and size. Compared with 12 hours used by an experienced craftsman to sculpture seasoned English willow for a knee to ankle section, the glass-plastic can be molded in 15 minutes.

Sort Eggs

As soon as eggs are brought from the poultry yard or the market, they should be sorted, and any cracked or soiled ones removed for immediate use. The keeping quality of eggs is seriously affected by rough handling, changes in temperature, dampness, dirt on the shells, unclean surroundings, and fertility. Fertile eggs tend to spoil more quickly than those that are infertile, for even room temperature (70 degrees F.) aids the development of the embryo in a fertile egg. Eggs, therefore, are best kept in a covered container in a dry, clean place where the temperature is not above 60 degrees. All eggs should be washed, but not until just before using, because water removes the protective film on the shell that hinders evaporation, the entrance of bacteria, and the absorption of odors.

Sheep Treatment

Experiments conducted by the U. S. department of agriculture and by workers elsewhere in the United States as well as in Canada, Australia, England and Denmark, have established the effectiveness of phenothiazine for the removal of several species of nematodes from the digestive tract of sheep. It is effective against the common stomach worm, the lesser stomach worms, the bankrupt worms, the hookworm and the large-mouthed bowel worm. Unlike other anthelmintics previously available for use against parasites of sheep, phenothiazine is also effective against the nodular worm. The drug is slightly effective for the removal of the tread-necked strongyles and the whipworm, but is wholly ineffective for the removal of capillaries, tapeworms and liver flukes.

Barn Murals

Canadian barns have recently shown a new lease on life with the appearance on their otherwise drab surfaces of painted murals. "Pastoral and other scenes are proving more popular than the former paid advertisements," says the report. "Enterprising artistic painters, encouraged by a possible desire on the part of the farmer to escape excess profits taxes, have sold him the idea of preserving, and at the same time beautifying the otherwise uninteresting sides or ends of his barn. One painter, having completed over 100 barns, reports the average lengths of murals as from 40 to 70 feet with his price approximating $100 per job."

HOW TO DO FARM CONCRETE WORK IN WINTER

By observing a few simple precautions farmers can do concrete work as satisfactorily in the winter as in summer—besides having more time and more help.

Heating the sand, gravel and mixing water requires no complicated equipment, just things available on the farm.

Protecting fresh concrete from freezing for four or five days can be done with straw or hay.

Write for free folder on how to make necessary concrete repairs and improvements in spite of cold weather. If you need help, see your concrete contractor, ready-mixed concrete producer or material dealer.
